Miscellaneous.

THE SQUIRE'S MISTAKE.

Squire Dudley was in his garden pulling weeds in the pursuit of [illegible] on the morning when he took a fancy to Ruth Lee's pretty face. She came down the road looking fresh as a new-blown rose in her plain calico dress and straw hat. Her brown hair, cut quite short, blew all about her face in little rings and her blue eyes and bright cheeks made her as pretty a picture as one often sees. Squire Dudley saw her just as she came opposite the strawberry patch and called out 'Good morning,' in his brisk, cheery way.

'Good morning!' she answered. 'You almost scared me, Squire Dudley. I didn't see you until you spoke.'

'Pleasant morning, isn't it?' said the Squire, coming up to the fence. Ruth had halted in the road.

'It is beautiful weather,' answered Ruth. 'I told mother it was too pleasant to stay in doors and started off on a visit.'

'Are your strawberries ripe yet?' said the Squire, wondering that he never had noticed what a fresh, charming face Widow Lee's daughter had, before.

'Our strawberries,' laughed Ruth, 'we haven't got one. Our old rooster got in one day, about a week ago, and picked all he could eat, and then coaxed the hens in, and between them they ruined our strawberry crop.'

'Too bad!' exclaimed the sympathetic Squire. 'Here, have some of these, Ruth. They're just ripe enough to be good.'

He picked some great clusters of ripe berries, and handed them over the fence to her.

'Thank you,' said Ruth, smiling. 'How nice they are. Mother was making great calculations on her strawberry jam. She was terribly vexed when she found out what the hens had done.'

'I've got lots to spare,' said the Squire. 'I will send some over to your mother.'

'She would be much obliged to you,' said Ruth; 'if you have more than you want—'

'Plenty of them,' answered the Squire, 'plenty of them. Can have them just as well as not.'

'I must be going,' said Ruth. 'Good morning.'

'Good morning,' returned the Squire, looking after her as she went down the road. 'I declare there ain't a prettier girl in town than Ruth Lee. I wonder some of the fellows haven't got her away from the widow. If I was young now—'

Squire Dudley stopped suddenly. An idea flashed across his mind. 'I am fifty,' he said at last, after thinking quite hard for some minutes. 'I am fifty, but I don't look it. I do not see why I shouldn't try my luck, after all. Girls as young as Ruth don't consider men that I am. I am sure I could make any man a good wife. Her mother is one of the finest women in the state, and Ruth has been her daughter up to know how to work, and be saving and prudent. I'm sure we'd be a good housekeeper. Mrs. Brown says is old and fussy, and rumored what the cost of living ain't half living. I do believe I will marry her, if she will have me. Maybe Charley Lee will say it is best, but I won't heed it.'

The Squire fell to weeding out his strawberry bed again diligently, and kept thinking about Ruth all the while. Long before dinner was ready he had fully made up his mind to propose marriage to Ruth, and bring home a new housekeeper and mistress for the great house where mistress had been dead for ten years or more; provided of course, that Ruth didn't say no, and the Squire thought there wasn't much danger of that, though why he should be so sure I cannot say.

'Don't you think we need a housekeeper?' he said to Aunt Charity that afternoon, as they sat on the veranda. The Squire evidently saw some new feature in the old house, for he kept his face turned away from Charity's as he spoke.

'A housekeeper?' asked Charley. 'We have got one. What do you want of more I should like to know?'

'Yes, I know,' answered the Squire, turning red in the face, and beginning to get a little uneasy; 'but Mrs. Brown is not such a woman as we need. She doesn't take any interest in the work as—a woman would who—who had more interest in it.'

After which extremely logical argument the Squire got more lobgety than ever.

'I understand that,' answered Charley. 'If she had a personal interest in the place, and in being prudent and keeping things up she would do better than she does now. Now she gets her pay for work, and that's all she cares for. It is all we can expect of her.'

'Just so,' said the Squire, glad to know that Charley agreed with him so far. 'I have been thinking this morning that the best thing I could do would be to get some one who would take a personal interest in the matters. I don't see as you intend to get married, and if you won't I do not know but I had better.'

The Squire breathed easier. The worst was over with.

'You get married?' exclaimed Charley in utter surprise. 'Why, I did not know that you ever thought of such a thing.'

'And I haven't till this morning,' exclaimed the Squire. 'I got to thinking about it this morning, and the more I thought about it, the more I thought it a good plan. You haven't any objections?'

'Of course not. You can do as you think best. If you deem it advisable to get a wife I have nothing to say, further than the hope that you will get some one who will make you happy,' answered Charley.

'She will, she will, I am sure,' said the Squire very decidedly.

'May I ask who it is to be?' inquired Charley.

'I—I have not asked her yet,' answered the Squire red as a rose. 'I'd rather wait till I get sure of her before I tell who it is. She might say no, you see, and I should feel rather cheap.'

Prudent Squire Dudley. That afternoon, [illegible] he had picked the strawberries, and directly after tea started off across lots in the direction of the Widow Lees, with the berries on his arm. It was dusk before he got the widow's, for he walked slowly.—He had very busy thoughts for company. He was wondering what it was best to do. Should he propose at once to Ruth, or should he see her mother first and talk with her? He concluded that the last was the wiser plan. As he opened the gate noiselessly he heard voices in the other corner of the garden, and stopped a moment to see if it was the widow and her daughter.

'I never had an idea of it before,' said a voice, which he recognized as Charley's; not the least in the world. He said he had not thought anything about it until today. I could not find out who he had in view. I hope it is not old Miss Sharp. She'd like to get somebody.'

The Squire broke into a profuse perspiration at the idea of having Miss Sharp for a wife.

'He said he didn't see as I ever intended to get married,' went on Charley. 'I did not tell him I had got me a wife picked out, but I wanted to. I am sure he would approve my taste in making a selection.'

'What nonsense,' laughed a clear, pleasant voice; Ruth's voice, the Squire knew the moment he heard it. 'If I am going to be your wife, I want you to quit laughing at me in that sly way, pretending you are flattering me all the time.'

'His wife! Good gracious!'

The Squire was so taken by surprise that he came near dropping his strawberries. So it was all settled between them. And he had come near proposing to his son's intended wife. He felt cold all over at the thought of it. How lucky that he did not take Charley into his confidence and tell him who he had concluded to marry.

'I declare,' exclaimed the Squire, 'I have made a mistake of it somehow. The rascal got the start of me. I would like to know what I'm to do? I have told him I intended to get married, and if I don't, he will always set me down a fool. Dear me!'

The Squire was in trouble. Another bright thought occurred to him. There was the widow. After all she would be more suitable for him than Ruth would have been. She was somewhere near his own age. A fine woman. A smart woman. She would make a fine mistress for his empty house. Why should he not marry her since he could not have her daughter?

'I will do it,' exclaimed the Squire, bound to go through with the matter since he had got so far.

He knocked. The door was opened by the widow, round, fat and rosy.

'Why, Squire Dudley! good evening,' she exclaimed. 'I hardly know you at first. You have not been here in so long. Come in; take the rocking chair, and let me take your hat.'

The widow bustled about and got the Squire a chair and deposited the berries on the table, before he happened to think of his basket.

'O! Ruth told me your strawberry crop had proved a failure, so I thought I would run over and bring you a few. Strawberry short cake don't go bad this time of year.'

'I am a thousand times obliged to you,' said the widow, taking the basket. 'I was so provoked to think the hens should eat mine, such a nice lot as I should have had.

'If you want any for preserves, come over and get them,' said the Squire; 'we have plenty of them. Mr. Brown don't won't do anything with them, except we use them in the season of them, I suppose.'

'I want to know?' exclaimed the widow. 'You ought to have them done up, they are so nice in winter. I would like to get some for jam; and if Mrs. Brown won't take care of them, I will do them up on shares.'

'I wish you would,' said the Squire. 'Things are all going to wreck and ruin about my place. It is not to be expected that a hired woman will take any interest in affairs; and here he sighed deeply.

'No, that's so,'

It was strange that the Squire had not found out how things were going to wreck and ruin before. Mrs. Brown had been there ever since Mrs. Dudley died.

The Squire and the widow kept up a very brisk conversation, and at the end of an hour he was more deeply in love with the widow than her daughter, and began to wonder how he had been so blind as to overlook such a delightful woman so long.

By and by the widow bustled out, and presently came back with a pitcher of last year's cider and a plate of cake.

'Do have something to eat. If I had known you were coming I would have made a cherry pie. I remember you used to like my cherry pies,' said the widow.

'I—I wish you would come and make cherry pies for me all your life,' blurted out the Squire, turning red in the face again. 'I—I came to ask you to marry me, Mrs. Lee.'

After which innocent falsehood, the Squire felt decidedly relieved.

'I am sure I had as leave marry you as any man,' answered the widow blushing and looking as pretty as rose.

'It is all settled, then,' cried the delighted Squire, and kissed her plump lips, just as the door opened and Charley and Ruth came in.

'Allow me to make you acquainted with my housekeeper,' said the Squire, bending very low to hide his red face.

'And allow me to present my wife that is to be. You take the mother and I will take the daughter,' answered Charley.

I am happy to say that under the new administration things are no longer going to wreck and ruin.

Capt. Williams Gives the Precise Cause of the Disaster.

The agent of the Associated Press had an interview to-day with Capt. Williams on several points brought out during the investigation.

Reporter—Capt. Williams, it has been reported in Halifax that when you left Liverpool you intended to call here for coal, and that preparations were made here to supply the Atlantic. Is that so?

Williams—No; it is utterly untrue. I had no intention of coming here until the engineer reported the coal running short.

Reporter—How do you account for the extraordinary consumption of coal? The English managers say the Atlantic had a much larger quantity on board than she usually consumed.

Williams—Probably that is true as to the quantity, but about half of it was English, which is of inferior quality, where we generally use Welsh coal. Had all the coal been Welsh the quantity would have been more than sufficient to carry us to New York.

Reporter—What about the provisions?

Williams—we had an ample supply of all stores except salt fish for the Catholic passengers. On the Friday previous to the wreck they had complained of the scarcity of fish.

Reporter—You have said your observations on Monday placed you 150 miles from Sambro at 1 p. m. and the subsequent logging gave the position as 40 miles south of Sambro at midnight. Morris Head, where the ship struck, is said to be seven miles further west. Do you consider that the error was in your observations or in your logging?

Williams—In neither. Both were. I am [illegible] correct. But the strong current north and west carried us beyond distance and caused the disaster.

Reporter—Then do you say that the [illegible] make between one and six o'clock struck a few minutes after 5 o'clock?

Williams—No. From our position at 1 p. m. Sambro light and Morris Head were about equally distant—48 miles. I mean to say that the ship impelled by the current, ran that distance between midnight and when she struck.

Reporter—Then the current was the proximate cause of the disaster?

Williams—Yes.

Bonaparte and France.

John W. Dawson, in the Overland Monthly for April, gives his opinion on the Bonapartes in France as follows:

Napoleon I is still an enigma. He either could not, or would not, remain at peace with the world; but while he exalted the glory of France, he strained her resources and exhausted her population. Napoleon III was the best ruler that France has ever had. The material benefits which he has bestowed upon her she will never lose. The easy resources with which she now responds to the exactions levied upon her after the prosperity of his time. Her reverses would never have occurred if his policy had been followed, and they have been mainly produced by those who abandoned it in its integrity only by committing treason to France.

We are told that Imperialism was buried amid the late disasters of France. We are assured that Bonapartism disappeared from history with the 'Man of Sedan.' If a striking picture, which has captivated all the letter writers and many of our editors, could extinguish a dynasty or overwhelm a great cause, Imperialism would be dead indeed. But coincident with this entombment of Sedan, is the emphatic fact that Gambetta's decree for the election of a National Assembly deprived the Imperialists, as a body, of the right to be candidates; and that Thiers dares not, to this day, permit the eldest male representative of the Bonapartes to remain in France! The cowed authorities in France would not allow the people to elect Imperialists to the National Assembly at Bordeaux, nor will now permit a Bonaparte to remain in sight of the people! Why does this corpse cause so much trouble to the survivors?

In truth, this phrase concerning the Man of Sedan belongs to the blackguard side of current talk, affects neither men's imaginations nor their judgments.

The French people have a great legendary symbolic. They know the Napoleonic legend by heart. Death has kindly placed Napoleon III on the pedestal beside his great predecessor in the memory and imagination of the French people. Both covered France with glory; both were deserted by politicians; both betrayed by traitors; both died in exile. The history of such is complete beyond all future accidents, and it matters not whether any one of their name or race shall ever again bear rule in France. But nothing is more likely than that a few years hence, when the next Government of France shall have been overturned by the next Parisian mob, the people will return to the only family which has ever consulted or trusted them and call the Prince Imperial to the throne as Napoleon IV.

Bronson Pronounced "Not Guilty."

Bronson has been acquitted of the murdering of Jeremiah Sweeney. The trial has been a well contested, and, in all particulars, a fair one. The counsel on both sides could not well be excelled for talent or ability. Money has been freely spent, and every legitimate exertion put forth by friends of the dead man and of the defendant. We consider the sentence of 'not guilty' as just, and in accordance with the law and the facts presented. After the full report of proceedings published in the Times, it is needless for us to go into any detail of the circumstances of the case, but from those circumstances we consider that Bronson's innocence of murder is clearly shown. We think that Sweeney rightly deserved the death which he received, and we trust his merited fate may deter other scoundrels and bullies of his stamp from vainly imagining themselves (because possessed of extraordinary brute force) beyond the reach of all punishment for their outrages. This is a common mistake with this class. Let them take the present lesson to their hearts, and realize that in this age the generation muscle is not God!—Grand Rapids Times.

☞ The loss of the Atlantic adds another to the list of instances of doubt as to the safety of iron vessels when sailing by compass. The first iron steamship ever loaded in England was wrecked in the Channel, and an investigation showed that her loss was attributable solely to the deflection of the compass, caused by the attraction of the iron in her sides. The compass of an iron vessel requires special adjustment to overcome this attraction, but science has not been able to conquer nature so completely that there is perfect safety yet. A New York scientist is of the opinion that the Atlantic was lost because her change of course, when Captain Williams decided to run for Halifax, was a matter not taken into account in the adjustment of his compass, and he shows that the swerve of a quarter of a point in the needle was sufficient for a deviation of fifteen miles, which is more than the extent of the miscalculation which led to the disaster.

The tendency of our people to try to make money out of notoriety is well illustrated in an offer made to the little boy—the only child—saved from the Atlantic, to travel with a show. It was refused.

The Recent Indian Tragedy.

Too late for publication last week, came the information of the brutal murder of General Canby, connected by the United States forces arrayed against the Modocs by Captain Jack, their Chief. The peace commissioners, appointed by the treaty, were also assassinated; and the Canby deed was committed under a flag of truce while the opposing parties were negotiating for peace. Thanks added a crime to the long list of sanguinary evidences of the cruelty of the Government Indian policy. Our cultured class and rulers call on the punishment of every Indian outbreak toward the general Government, concentrated upon him. Pueblos and half bred have been distributed, while the real Indian should have fell upon. We regret that the Government has ordered the severe punishment of the Modoc race.

A terrible railroad disaster occurred at Stimpson, Ky., on the 19th. A passenger train ran through a bridge and fifteen persons were killed and several wounded.

Late Suicidal telegrams to the several citizens bearing the Modoc murderers of Gen. Canby and the Peace Commissioners, "Nothing short of their prompt punishment will satisfy the cries of justice or meet the expectations of the Government."

Both of the recent judicial elections held in the Nineteenth and Twenty-fifth Districts in this State resulted in the election of the Republican candidates—Samuel P. White and John W. Stones—by small majorities, and personal considerations have greatly affected the results.

Gen. Grant finds time from economy in the State Land office, perpetrated during the administrations of Edmonds, and the Governor has addressed a message to the Legislature on the subject. It appears that Edmonds sold several thousand acres State land which belonged to the Government and thereby obtained money to pay his attorney fees earned by him to facilitate the transaction.

Colonel E. Pierce Doan, who is appointed to the command lately held by Gen. Canby, is an Indianian born in the year 1824. He was one of the first shooters on Sumter when that fortress was enclosed by Beauregard, and held high command during the war, but the war for the suppression of the rebellion. It will be remembered that in this and kindred General Sullivan, of regular service, with a brevet of Brigadier-General.

The largest steamship afloat on the Great Eastern has recently arrived in New York from Brest, named the Ville du Havre. She is 420 feet long and has the best breadth of beam, while her actual carrying capacity is 2,500 tons. For her engines are compound, direct acting cons of 1,200 horse power each, manufactured at Newcastle, England, since the Franco-Prussian war, and with the exception of the bed plate, which was broken in transit, the engines worked admirably during the entire voyage. Another steamer has been constructed in Glasgow and is now nearly ready for sea. She is of 3,000 tons burden, and is to be named the Pereire. She is also fitted with compound engines, and will be placed in the Havre and New York service.

Among the wonderful features of this interesting period, Africa is coming in for a large share of attention. Within the past few years the veil which has hung for ages over the "Dark Continent" has been lifted, and we are beginning to learn something about those vast regions which have been for so long a time a terra incognita to the civilized world. Mr. Stanley has recently returned from a journey across Africa, and Dr. Livingstone is now engaged in a similar journey, the results of which are looked for with great interest. Recently an article appeared in the London Times, which has excited much attention, and which, if correct, will be of great interest to the Christian world. It is from the pen of Mr. Hyde Clarke, and is entitled "Ophir and Punt." We have not space to give the article in full, but will present a brief abstract of it. Mr. Clarke says that the Ophir of the Bible is identified with Sofala, on the east coast of Africa, and that the Punt of the Egyptian monuments is identified with Abyssinia. Mr. Clarke says that the Egyptian monuments show that the Egyptians had a regular trade with Punt, and that they brought from there gold, ivory, ebony, apes, and peacocks. Much the same articles are mentioned in the Bible as being brought from Ophir by the navy of Solomon. Mr. Clarke says

The Charlevoix Sentinel.

WILLIAM A. SMITH, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

SATURDAY, - - MAY 3, 1873.

☞ The Senate, the last day, passed the House bill increasing the duty on tea.

☞ A bill has been introduced in the United States House of Representatives to provide for the construction of a light-house some point in or near Windsor to Detroit.

☞ The general appropriation bill for the eighteen months ending June 30th, 1874, reported to Congress, is $1,000,000 in excess of the estimates sent in by the President during the past year.

☞ The Detroit Post says that by the payment of mortgages and other claims the county is $72 poorer. The supervisors have positively but little over the $5,000 in their treasury at present, and the county orders are selling at 2 cts. on dollar.

☞ The number of the stages of the new Grand Avenue Bridge, Detroit, is rendered necessary by the increased height of the superstructure over the old. The measurements that were given out of 16 feet from the floor of the bridge to the crown of the arches, is found to be incorrect. The measurement should be 20 feet 6 inches.

☞ Nearly one-half of the living in the City of New York are compelled to occupy tenement houses, and the influences that have pursued them, if he does not close it up, he will have to be removed to the prisons. On account of the scarcity of the rental property, the landlords are compelled to accept any tenant they can get. Recently, and especially since the Chicago calamity, rents have gone very much higher. Hay will soon be retailed per bunches to cost $1.00.

☞ Hon. Jacob Weaver, the Republican member of the Iowa House of Representatives, who was elected Speaker of that body, by having a majority of one, the result of his initial experience among the lobby-agents who infest the State-house. The precise effect he will have upon the legislation of the session remains to be developed. The lobby-agents are not entirely dolts themselves in many respects, and they will probably find a way to get around Speaker Weaver's majority.

☞ A Detroit letter to the Free Press says that Senator Chandler has been offered $50,000 for his interest in the Detroit Post and Tribune, but refuses to sell at that figure. The Senator's interest is said to be worth $100,000 to $150,000, and he is not the man to sell out for a song.

☞ A Washington dispatch says that the Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Office is strongly in favor of amending the prescription-liquor law and concentrating the business of retail in the hands of druggists. The present system has, as it now stands, a merely nominal restriction, and is a source of great profit to the liquor-dealers. The present law is also in the way of selling drugs unadulterated, as druggists are compelled to compete in selling adulterated liquors, or else forego the profits of the liquor-trade.

☞ The president of the Moline Plow Company is possessed of the most extraordinary and elaborate correspondence. It encompasses with it a network of high sports, among which are a number of sporting editors of the great sheets and no winner's list escapes him. He is a liberal subscriber to the Detroit Free Press, and is delighted with Mr. Bickham's letters. Speaking of them, he said: "Bickham is a genius. He has the most extraordinary knack of making a letter interesting. I am a subscriber to the Detroit Free Press for the express purpose of reading Bickham's letters. I would not be without them for twice the subscription price. I have a standing order with the publishers to send me a copy of the paper containing each letter, and I read them with the greatest pleasure. Bickham is a genius."

☞ The Legislature of Illinois has passed the Chicago relief bill, appropriating $2,000,000 to the city, and authorizing the issuance of bonds to that amount. The bill was passed by the Senate by a vote of 31 to 15, and by the House by a vote of 77 to 56. The bill provides that the bonds shall be issued in sums of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000, and that they shall run twenty years, with interest at six per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually. The bonds are to be issued as the money is required, and the proceeds are to be applied to the payment of claims against the city for the relief of the sufferers by the fire. The bonds are to be issued to the Governor, and by him delivered to the Mayor of Chicago, who is required to give bonds in the sum of $2,000,000 for the faithful performance of his duties.

☞ A dispatch from Rome dated the 18th says: "The Pope after walking into town on quiet pass, is now in a better appearance. Hears no more how to behave, the time of his return and the direction he pays harmonious as usual to mention from making regrets. It is feared the solemnity of the Pope compromise. It is believed that his death will be kept secret until the exercises has found a successor, to avoid the interference of Germany and Italy. All the Cardinals are now now now at the Vatican. There are 200 Papal troops in the city, and orders have been given to allow no one to enter."

☞ A dispatch from Yreka brings news from Lava Beds to April 21. There is nothing particularly interesting. Col. Perry's cavalry returned from a scout unattached, convinced that the Modocs have left Lava Bed. Donald McKay reports no Modocs encamped at Big Dave, four miles south of the lower Lava Beds. The Modocs must come off for water. McKay's Indians are posted to pick them up. It is the settled opinion that we will be required to disband the Modocs. The captured squaws say that in the first fight we killed 18 and wounded about the same number. Lieut. Boyle's skull and shoulder blade were broken by a rifle ball, and he is failing in strength. Lieut. Wright is still suffering from his wound. Capt. Jackson's company, consisting of 30 men, is now en route from Fort Klamath to Lava Beds. Capt. Jackson's company is mounted on Cayuse ponies, and will be used as scouts. Gen. Canby has ordered Capt. Perry to Fort Klamath with his company of cavalry, to remain there.

☞ The completion of the Moline Plow Company's new building is the occasion of a holiday in that city. Hundreds of people visited the building during the day. The new building is a large and substantial one, and is filled with the latest and most improved machinery for the manufacture of plows. The company employs 300 men, and has a capacity for turning out 1,000 plows per day. The new building is 100 feet wide by 300 feet long, and is three stories high. The engine is a 200 horse power, and is the largest in the city. The company has been doing a large business, and the new building is a necessity.

☞ Judge Ward was drove at Hillsdale on the 16th by H. Mellmont, Democratic Chairman, in relation to the Adams character, the exact of majority having caused by the work. He commended the conduct of Democrats and Democratic Committees, but some dissatisfaction was expressed with the manner of conducting the campaign from this time forward. Hillsdale gave 1,253 to the ticket, 1,000; carrying the county by majority of 253, leaving no ticket at midnight. Hereafter cards might be counted, but an examination of the returns to save the trouble. It should be remembered that two years John Bowers fourth officer, as to be suspended three months.

"Theory of "Taking Cold."

Professor Rosenthal gives the following explanation of the pathogenic action of exposure to cold. Suppose the interior of a living body suddenly to be exposed to an excessive cold, some portion of the surface of the body, or to some one organ of the body. The first effect of the cold exposure will manifest itself in a contraction of the cutaneous blood vessels and in a slight more or less rise in pressure and in the rate of the blood current in the vessels. Now, it is clear that the sudden contraction of the cutaneous blood vessels must cause an increased resistance to the flow of the blood through the capillaries of the skin, and, consequently, an increased pressure in the arteries. This increased pressure must be propagated to the interior of the body, and, as a consequence, the blood will be driven with greater force into the internal organs. Now, the increased pressure in the arteries will cause the blood to flow more rapidly through the capillaries of the internal organs, and, consequently, the blood will not have time to part with the same amount of heat to the surrounding tissues as it would if it were flowing more slowly. Hence, the blood will be warmer than it would be if the cutaneous blood vessels had not contracted. Now, the blood is the great heating apparatus of the body, and, consequently, the warmer the blood is, the warmer will be the tissues which it supplies. Hence, the internal organs will be warmer than they would be if the cutaneous blood vessels had not contracted. Now, the blood is the great heating apparatus of the body, and, consequently, the warmer the blood is, the warmer will be the tissues which it supplies. Hence, the internal organs will be warmer than they would be if the cutaneous blood vessels had not contracted.

Bees in the Spring.

A fine season opportunity is going to produce all readers with some of the great bee secrets. Bees are very much like men in some respects. Each species seems to have its own peculiarities, and the study of each species is the study of the whole. Those who have studied the habits of bees most closely will find no cause of complaint in their pets, but will find them very docile, and, when properly managed, very profitable. Bees are of all kinds of insects the most easily managed, and the most profitable. Bees are of all kinds of insects the most easily managed, and the most profitable.

A Missouri Methodist Convention—of Indiana Medicine Magnate.

One of the most interesting of the characters raised upon the Mosher war is Bob Watts, a Missouri Methodist, who believes in not calling if Emerson and Beecher are to be classed as heretics. In a religious argument of an unreasonable character one Adams engineers years ago undertook to convert Watts to the Methodist faith. Bob turned his back upon the flaming bottle any of Texas and listened to the former for the benefit of the great mixed up. He let him run a long chapter of the wickedness and broadest gushing accounts of undying all-atonement, her sandstone ear—Watts then gave Brother Adams the world—spoken by preachy eyes we know not, but the fact that he has lived so to let those who gang years would not mention the example of Hours the Hell good, and setting her up in the temperance business, shows that he must like the pretty well.

Bob is a sanctimony, and has a decided tendency for morals. He came down with a new suit of clothes once, and his wife, wishing to upbraid him for his extravagance, asked:

"What can pay for those clothes?"

"Ham Jacks," was the reasonable answer.

One day a fellow came into the store with a two-year-old colt, and a living time. Bob greeted him kindly and bade him to come into the counter and to be sociable. Soon all in the room got around much at exchange the last 999 games or so, and for a dollar's worth of tobacco. Watts sold it to a boy to which they fellow hauled and played cards, but Bob cut no key on Brother Adams. He knew Bob's becoming too much discouraged, walked into the room one day just in time to hear him say: "Well, Adams, I'll play you for the two you where the ten a mare—I've put fifteen two fifty-cents, fifteen bones—"

"Hold, stop!" said the disheartened man, with a sigh of infinite despair, "keep your mare—I've won fifteen two dollar four, three by the Whitewhite got my baby chestnut in the house!"

From that hour Bob experienced a thorough reformation. He took the names of all his acquaintances who would not board—and a fellow's hustle on one quarter, and ran his youngest boy around to get paid for the debt. Any society he formed the drink of cards brought the same thing—a quarter in the family board—and sent to Yorks for Bill Mc-Cassell to send him one six packs more. And how are the mighty fallen! Sentinel up into the cut of custom up for any six which from before dinner up to a hundred or so.

MILLIONS Rise Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a new Fancy Drink, Short Foot Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the palate called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER, and a LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Remedy and Thorough Renovator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as Tonic, possessing also the peculiar merit of acting on all secretions and excretions, relieving congestion or inflammation of the liver and all the abdominal viscera.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases originate in Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which, in their action as purifying agents, are all powerful in the eradication of disease.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors of the blood, of whatever name or nature are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages, English, German, French and Spanish.

Do not suffer Worms to prey upon your vitals, but use the remedy that will free you from them.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Tumors, Ulcers, Abscesses, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Mercury Diseases, Fever Sores, Scaly Skin, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Inflammations, and all Scrofulous complaints, will find in these Bitters a purifying, healing and invigorating principle. They act directly upon the blood and organs of digestion, and in their purifying effects upon the system they are unequaled.

Directions for Use, and symptoms in all diseases will be found in the printed matter.

Bring us sunshine, bring us flowers,
Welcome, heavenly May.

We present to you dy patients
Hear me the most wonderful,
And the cheapest medicine,
Ever used by mankind.

It is purely vegetable,
Therefore no alcohol enters

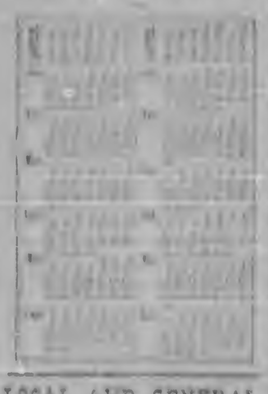
CALENDAR FOR 1873



LOCAL AND GENERAL.

A Paper-mill has once more not yet been fully accomplished last week. But was done before yesterday. The capture of the steamer Charlevoix and some of the crew with her, by the British authorities during their Fishery difficulties in Canadian waters. A portion of this work was put on shore at Beaver Island, but they found many more, and also have taken through since not as much as expected. The ... the ice has not been a greater area than usual, so to put us very much ahead of last year. And accordingly ...

From the extensive report of the Fisheries Commissioners published in Detroit, we learn that the catch of Whitefish in the waters of the Straits of Mackinac, Lakes Michigan and Huron during the season of 1872 was 1,500,000 pounds, or about 500,000 pounds more than the catch of 1871. The catch of Trout was 1,000,000 pounds, or about 200,000 pounds more than the catch of 1871. The catch of Herring was 1,000,000 pounds, or about 500,000 pounds more than the catch of 1871. The catch of Sturgeon was 1,000,000 pounds, or about 500,000 pounds more than the catch of 1871. The catch of Pickerel was 1,000,000 pounds, or about 500,000 pounds more than the catch of 1871. The catch of Perch was 1,000,000 pounds, or about 500,000 pounds more than the catch of 1871. The catch of Suckers was 1,000,000 pounds, or about 500,000 pounds more than the catch of 1871. The catch of Eels was 1,000,000 pounds, or about 500,000 pounds more than the catch of 1871. The catch of Muskellunge was 1,000,000 pounds, or about 500,000 pounds more than the catch of 1871. The catch of Bass was 1,000,000 pounds, or about 500,000 pounds more than the catch of 1871. The catch of Catfish was 1,000,000 pounds, or about 500,000 pounds more than the catch of 1871. Bridging Detroit River.

The great increase of the lakes are just now ... over the proposal ... to be built railway bridges over the Detroit and St. Clair rivers. Some time ago the new Canada Southern Railway ... against the construction of a bridge from the Canada shore across Detroit river to a point opposite Trenton, Mich., below Detroit. Here the river is narrowest and an island midway of the channel does away with the necessity of a draw. Where the plan of a bridge was broached the promoters ... intending to build a railroad connecting the opposite ... at a point across the river from that point to Windsor, on the Canada side, and as such on the proposed tunnel under the river at Detroit was abandoned.

The owners of vessel property, however, ... that the building of these rivers ... at a time when, at their interests, ... they had an opportunity to act on the ... conveniently if long processing ... the work. ... to the situation of affairs at present, but both sides are watching ... the railway ... and the vessel ... opposed. ... A ... produce ... from ... to the Michigan ... thereby ... the ... and ... have been ... ing from ... on the ... to ... the ... of ... the ... bridges ... Lake ... It is said ... the ... vessel ... from ... are ... when ... the ... have ... a ...

Even the ... admit ... of ... it ... to keep the ... in ... at all ... The ... that the ... stops ... the ... the ... and ... them ... the other at all to the banks. If a ... were across the channel and the ... should ... the whole fleet in ... a ... to pass would be in great ... of being sunk or stranded. The ... say that the increased danger ... cause an increase of insurance rates, ... would necessarily be followed by ... profits to the shipping interests. ... that they think that the building of ... bridges is a serious blow at the commerce of the lakes, and that the blow is ... by and in the interest of their great ... railroads, the railways. As a consequence they feel somewhat excited about the matter.

The railways, on the other hand, claim ... the proposed bridges will not impede ... at all. They say that the draws ... to be constructed on the sliding plan, ... can be easily and rapidly operated. ... question ... is one of great im... to both ... and vessel ... The bridges would certainly benefit railways materially, but, if they are to be ... at the expense of our lake commerce, a ... opposition will be made to the bridges. The Government has ... engineers to examine the plans and to report whether, in their opinion, navigation will be impeded or not. The bridges will probably depend on the report of the engineers.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

To Distinguish Good Calico.

The cost of a yard of calico is a matter of considerable importance to the consumer who studies economy; but unfortunately there are those who in wishing to practice frugality, deceive themselves into the idea that because an article is low in price it must necessarily be cheap. The result of this is a demand upon the manufacturer for low priced goods, and he, to keep pace with the wants of his customers, introduces into his wares, when practicable, certain preparations calculated to hide the flimsiness of the products he is thus called upon to supply.

The system of "dressing and finishing," as it is called is practiced at the present time to a greater extent than ever it was before, owing to the enormous advance in the price of cotton of late years. The most common calicoes are "dressed" with flour, china clay, etc., and are generally so artfully filled with one or other preparations as to be very deceptive to the inexperienced eye.

When however such a ... comes to be washed the ... "size," as it is ... frequently called, disappears, leaving a soft, flabby and loosely-woven texture in the hand, while the water ... which it has been soaked is almost thick enough for ... purposes. The finest "makes," on the contrary, contain ... any flour and should never appear ... for a soaking in the washtub.

In order to ascertain to what extent a piece calico is finished, we have but to rub a small portion of the piece to be tested ... between the finger and thumb of each hand, for this ... the powder ... As the Manchester men say. If it be of the most common quality, a quantity of ... will be extracted, and we shall soon see that the threads are left as far ... as those in a skein, crossing each other unevenly, and on places going off, as it were, in tangents. Thus, if we draw out a single thread and pull it asunder, it will be found to break with a snapping. If, on the contrary, the calico is a good one, scarcely any dressing will come out of it ... rubbing it; the threads will appear closely woven together; a single thread drawn out will rather burst than snap when pulled asunder, and the separate ends of such thread will present a fluffy appearance, while the whole piece will be firm and elastic to the touch.

The Annual Local Election will be held on the second day of March, 1874.

Among the wonderful discoveries that have been made in this age of progress, is the fact that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will, with certainty, relieve and cure the most severe cases of Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption. Many of the most eminent physicians of the country have given certificates of its virtues, and Lumbermen and Travelers should be provided with it. Manufactured only by J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by druggists everywhere.

An Amendment of President Lincoln.

Mr. Lincoln, on the occasion of his inaugural, was asked to be sentimental and characteristic. With a talent McKinley's Georgia record for sentiment and characteristic, he made the following amendment to Barney H——: In a moment of passion and intoxication he struck his friend Barney H——. Barney was one of the hard characters of the command, and it was a——— man who had the sentimental instinct in as few as he had the gravest of his days. Barney H——, in the exercise of his profession, was the recipient of many confidences, and he was extended to outside outlets hunters and poachers.

The original suggestion to name the Union armies and navies after the animal creation was made by Mr. Lincoln, and Adam to the last day. According to Hackenburg, Pierrot, Noble, Sly, Lizard, Lightfoot, and many others of the same kind, were in the original of the scheme. Some of the names were not adopted, but the Pierrots, Lizards, and Lightfoots were, and the phraseology of the Lincoln order, in the beginning of the war, read:

"An Antelope of Artillery, a Bear of Cavalry, a Bull of Infantry, a Fox of Sharpshooters, a Hyena of Pioneers, a Jackass of Engineers, a Lion of Artillery, a Mule of Cavalry, a Panther of Infantry, a Rhinoceros of Sharpshooters, a Tiger of Cavalry, a Wolf of Infantry, and a Zebra of Engineers."

Lincoln's original idea was to have a menagerie of pets and mascots, and he was very much disappointed that the suggestion was not carried out. He was a great lover of animals, and was a——— man when the sentimental instinct was in as few as he had the gravest of his days. Barney H——, in the exercise of his profession, was the recipient of many confidences, and he was extended to outside outlets hunters and poachers.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

PURELY CALIFORNIA

WALKER'S

VINEGAR BITTERS

Warner, Proprietor. R. H. McDonald & Co., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 Commerce street, N. Y.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the inebriate to drunkard's graves, but are the true Medicine of Life, made from the pure juices of the roots of California, free from all Alcoholic stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, curing all diseases from Vitiated Blood, or any organ wasted or weakened.

No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, as they contain the Medicines to make all healthy, and the vital organs supplied with new blood.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver in Bilious Diseases, and is an unfailing remedy in all diseases of the Digestive Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Bitters have no equal.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Bad Head, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which impart fresh vigor and tone to the whole system. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative powers.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed by the use of such simple, safe and efficient remedies as Walker's Vinegar Bitters.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, these Bitters have been unequaled. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

THE DETROIT

Weekly Tribune.

POST 1872.

Enlarged and Improved.

The Detroit Weekly Tribune, one of the oldest papers in the State, has been greatly enlarged and improved. It is now a first-class newspaper of six columns, and contains forty-eight columns of reading matter. Each of the pages sold is now a fifty-six column newspaper. The publishers are determined to make it the best Family Newspaper in the State.

Its market reports increase in its size, and improve in the amount and variety of the matter it contains, and it is now the cheapest in the cheapest subscription price, which remains at the rate of $2.00 for single subscriptions, and $1.50 for subscriptions in clubs of twenty or more.

WILL. M. CARLETON,

The famous "Farm Ballad" Poet, is a regular contributor to its columns, and during 1873 will furnish from one to two of his "Farm Ballads," written especially for the Tribune. The fact that he is engaged with no other paper, and that all who have read with such rare delight his "Betsy and I are Out" and "Out Among the Corn, Nancy" etc.

The Detroit Weekly Tribune is also a carefully edited journal, which publishes in a readable form all the news of the week. It is a good family paper, especially attractive to all interested in agriculture. Michigan interests receive special attention, and it is the only paper which gives any general news concerning the State. Politically it is Republican, but it is conducted with a liberal spirit, which permits to its readers a large degree of freedom in thought and opinion.

Its Agricultural Department is under the charge of an experienced and practical editor for the interchange of opinions and facts among its subscribers.

With the present circulation of the Weekly Tribune exceeds that of the combined weekly editions of all the other leading Detroit papers, and will unquestionably be greatly increased during the coming year.

It is published on the new four octlinder steam press of the Tribune establishment, which is the only one of the kind in Michigan.

Poetry.

SOWING AND REAPING.

Sow with a generous hand;
Do not stint the seed;
Where you mean to reap the most
You must sow the deed.

Scatter the seed and fear not—
A law is well established;
What matter if you scatter wide?
Do not your forbearance brand?
Sow while the sun is shining,
For the hungry must be fed.

Sow—while the seeds are lying
In the warm earth's loosen bosom,
And you warm tears fall upon it;
They will stir to their quiet sleep,
And the green blades rise the quicker
Fertilized by the tears you weep.

Sow—and speak onward, onward,
Where the stony light appears;
Where is a spot of the poorest's dwelling,
Is your own heart's trembling fears.
You shall reap in joy the harvest
You have sown in cares in tears.

INTEMPERANCE.

AN ESSAY,

BY MISS ESTHER A. STAGG.

Intemperance is undue excess in any kind of action or indulgence. It might be applied in undue exertion of body or mind or to an indulgence of appetite or passion, which is injurious to the person or contrary to morality. We will treat our subject with reference to habitual indulgence in drinking spirituous liquors. All excess is positively injurious. Worldly pleasures when indulged in to any excess, seldom or not anything more noble and elevating, and we find after a time that it is almost impossible to satisfy the desire, and that longing for excitement becomes a burning fire in the breast, which overpowers every thought of higher aims, and we are often led to do what we know to be wrong, in order to accomplish our end. Sleep, when indulged in to excess, will, after a time, destroy the mind, leaving it more dull and sluggish. Eating, too, may be carried beyond nature and what is the effect? A glutton! And what is more degrading? Hurried out from society, a glutton is considered little better than the brute creation. Excess in dressing, that it may not destroy so speedily, nor its effects be realized so readily, it is a more certain destroyer than any other we can mention, as it deadens the sensibilities weakens the powers of restraint, and silently destroys both body and soul. Paul says "He that striveth for the masters, must be temperate in all things." Inasmuch as he that must shoot here who desires to win, especially over himself; and man can gain this victory unless he know how to use his abilities, and use them to advantage. Take, for illustration, a piece of machinery. If it could see its bearings, it knows its power. So also with man. If he works contrary to his nature, he defeats himself. Strong drink is a poison. It is an instance on record of an old viper of sixty, who called upon a doctor to get a remedy for inflamed eyes. The doctor prescribed total abstinence. The old viper's eyes got well, but he died of starvation. Perhaps you will say that this is an extreme case. But I say that it is not. It is absolutely devoid of a sense of fear. He used to ride in and out of the cars and on the Soldier's Home at all hours of the day and night until, after he was shot at, we invited upon his leaving a body guard to see him safely off. Now, I do not suppose that he was without ambition, but he never let it lead to the use of an obligation or the sense of right.

Otherwise Baker gave me an illustration of that quality in Mr. Lincoln the other day. I remarked,

"What a man!"

When the draft just previous to Mr. Lincoln's reelection was ordered, leading politicians of Indiana, appointed a committee of which Gov. Baker was one, to wait upon the President. They remonstrated with him upon the draft, but Mr. Lincoln feeling in a man to be relieved for having drafted, ordered the draft to be enforced. Baker, when he found he could not prevail with him upon the draft, said:

"Mr. Lincoln, you are making a mistake. You are going to lose the election."

Mr. Lincoln replied:

"Gentlemen, I am not a candidate for reelection, but the regiments are needed, and the draft must be enforced."

Baker, who was about a mile and a half from Warren's place, says that he was on the road to the train he carried a fork of hay to his cattle in the stable, and on returning to the door, suddenly saw the morning mail handed to mail, with a officer's overcoat on, standing in the path between the house and the barn. At once the eye everything was so real about the appearance of this breakfast that he had not the least doubt of the matter, and when the neighbor addressed him with some familiar expression or greeting, he replied in a manner that at once let the party addressed, and asked: "Why you here? Why you not over there?" Gentlemen replied that he was not the right man to address. "Then you are not," said the boy, "I am not the boy I was a minute ago." This fact, and the fact that Lincoln replied to a petition for the draft's position was set at rest, to which the man was hurriedly from the stand. The camp which, but yesterday, was for leaving Harper's Ferry, was now for remaining. But the General commanding appeared on the balcony of the commanding officer's quarters, and ordered, and by one hour's movement of the regiment was exempted some from the telegraph lines. No that, though he was not a candidate for reelection, and

The Grand Secret of success in everything, is to have a purpose, and to work for it. Have plenty of pluck, but don't depend on it alone. Have brains, and use them, but don't depend entirely on them. Have money, and use it freely, but don't trust to it. Have friends, and rely upon them, but don't impose upon them. Have health, and preserve it, for without it what is life worth? Have all these, and you will never get over the fire of October, 1871. In this connection I may mention the fact that I am now selling more goods than ever before, and that my business is increasing every day. I attribute the success of my business to the fact that I keep the best goods, sell them at the lowest cash prices, and treat all my customers alike. Don't forget the place, 100 LEWIS Block.

SATURDAY, - - MAY 10, 1873.

☞ The Vienna Exhibition was formally opened by the Emperor of Austria.

☞ An account of the recent defeat of the U. S. forces by the Modocs will be found elsewhere.

☞ Bird-hounds were used in Florida in the war with the Seminoles, and it has been proposed that the Modocs be rooted to the same way. This course is not favored by the War Department, and Gen. Sherman thinks it would be rather a disagreeable kind of warfare even with the Modocs.

☞ The people who have such tender sympathies for Indians especially for Modocs, are just now seeking to exculpate them for their treacherous murder of Gen. Canby, the assertion that they hatred their treachery of the white man. Capt. Wright some years since, having murdered a party of Modocs, while having an interview with them under pretense of friendship. The facts in the case, however, afford little comfort for the sentimentalists. The Modocs two days before he was killed, had massacred a party of emigrants in cold blood. Capt. Wright overtook them about sundown, and the Modocs proposed to hold a council of peace, to which he agreed in good faith, the council to be held in the morning. During the night, however, one of his scouts crawled into the Modoc camp and overheard the Modocs planning to attack suddenly the whites after they had taken seats in the council, and murder them. Capt. Wright accordingly patrolled them attacked them before daylight and hungly disposed of them. So much for the Modoc wars. The views of Gen. Indian's burning treachery of the whites is too absurd to be entertained by any one who is not a bloodhound. Those who pin their faith to such a story should read the narratives of the massacre at Dorset and Fort Smallman, and the Fort Dearborn slaughter in Chicago.

☞ Garfield is the only all Ex. since he was forced to flee, in 1832, when only 25 years old from his native State, on account of his share in Mazzini's conspiracy against the King of Sardinia. He escaped through his and a cannon as extraordinary vicissitudes and perils, and it is strange that one who has been in the thickest of nearly every war for the last forty years and has taken the second officer than any other living man, should not perish by the sword, but escape to die a peaceful death. He has fought in Africa for the Bey of Tunis, and in South America for the Republic of Rio Grande. He has been a fallen shoeblack in New York, and a farmer in Cayenne. He was foremost in the defense of his native country when invaded by the French under Louis Napoleon, and had barely had time to change sword after the last battle when he was discovered fought fighting the Hungarians, and against Austria. In this adventure he received his only wound. He fought bitterly for the unification of Italy and the overthrow of the Papacy, and engaged with equal zeal in the Austro-Prussian war of 1866, and the Franco-Prussian war. The latest phase of his versatile career was his appearance as a deputy for Paris in the National Assembly in 1871. He seems tired of fighting, at last, and has also been spending his time on his farm in Cayenne. He is now 66 years old.

☞ A fearful accident happened at Dixon, Ill., on the 4th. The following is the dispatch: "The rite of baptism was being administered in a number of recent converts in the bed of Rock River, at this place, at a point on Rock River, just below the Freedom iron bridge. About 200 persons, including many ladies and a number of children, had gathered on the bridge to witness the ceremonies. Suddenly, without warning, the bridge gave way and precipitated the living freight into the stream below. The scene which ensued was indescribably terrible, as the struggling victims frantically endeavored to free themselves from the ruins of the bridge and from each other. Large crowds of people on the banks rushed wildly to and fro, many of them so distracted as to be unable to render any assistance. Others, more self-possessed, speedily brought rope, planks and boats, and went nobly to work to rescue the living and recover the dead. Some of those who were on the bridge when it fell, were so near the end that they succeeded in swimming ashore, while others were extremely active in this respect. At least 50 lives were lost. The number cannot be correctly ascertained, but it is certain that over 40 bodies have been taken from the waters of the Rock River. Many were rescued from a watery grave. Others were not so fortunate. Fifteen bodies were found in one spot."

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29, 1873.

REPRESENTATIVES IN SPECIAL—The time is very reckless, indeed, to venture on any speculations relative to the future government most likely to be finally adopted in unhappy Spain. Nothing is more common than to hear the assertions made that the Spanish people are not prepared for a republic. This may be very true; but pray, what other form of government is better suited to their present condition? To discuss the subject by saying they are unfit for self-government is, to say the least very unphilosophical. It is only a view of the surface. If we want to know the true condition of Spanish society we must look deeper. If we do this we will most probably find the real truth to be that both Europe and Spain are just now undergoing a sort of process of transition from one condition to another, from one species of civilization to another. This transitional state is a peculiar one. During this period it must be kept in remember for either monarchy or democracy to meet with even moderate success. They have advanced too far to show of their being permanently overturned by a king, but they have not advanced far enough to be able to control themselves. All forms of government are, perhaps, equally impracticable at this time. America found the task to have far from easy. It was the worst still for Old Carlos should he succeed in causing himself to be recognized as sovereign. The telegraph informs us every day of difficulties attending the attempt to establish a republic.

There are many things to be regretted in connection with the present condition of affairs in that country, but such things are unavoidable. No people can progress from monarchy to democracy, from slavery to freedom, without undergoing this transition, and having this period they must suffer. Misery can only be bought with a price. With Federalists, or Unitarians, Red Republicans and Serfists, poor Spain will achieve its freedom at the most terrible cost. But there is no use in Americans but what will say it is worth all it costs.

MILITARY CRITICISM.

It seems to be the favorite pastime of certain newspaper editors to criticise unfavorably the actions of military men. Persons who scarcely know how to shoulder arms and who would be utterly incapable of superintending a right wheel do not hesitate to express positive opinions concerning the proper method of conducting a campaign. General Gillem is being severely censured because he hasn't caught and scalped Captain Jack before this time. Demands are made for his removal and the substitution of a more capable officer. What a pity the War Department don't send for these knights of the quill! After reading some of their most scathing articles, one naturally inclined to think it is the easiest thing in the world to subdue those ignorant savages, and wonders why such chieftains are retained in command after having made such palpable blunders.

We heard so much of this sort of criticism during the war of the Rebellion that it has become positively disgusting. Those who know best the character of those Indians and the nature of the ground over which the fighting took place have from the confidence in the early termination of the present troubles. They realize a prolonged struggle before Captain Jack is "Hung Jack" dead. Captain Jack has selected a portion of the country from which it seems next to impossible to dislodge him. Three military officers have never studied formal campaigns, except in the French, of which one carries a sword from its scabbard, except against the traditional mosquito, and the other never drew a pistol in battle. If they refuse to surrender on the discovery to demand, or not coming the Indians to trouble forthwith there is no good they hesitate themselves to death before their wishes are gratified.

THE INDIAN POLICY.

In these days when everybody is discussing the Indian question, no correspondent is allowed to pass by so important a subject without notice. A great deal of guessing has been done concerning the probability of a continuation of the peace policy, and a great deal of sure advice has been rendered to the President. Notwithstanding the universal cry for blood, notwithstanding the demand for extermination, it is very probable that peace will be our policy. If any change in the present Indian policy is made, it will be in the direction of still greater leniency. The Modocs have decided it superior to any of the other tribes in market. ☞

ALVIN C. GILLEM.

THE MODOC DISASTER.

The Official Report of Col. Gillem.

WASHINGTON April 30—Gen Sherman today received the annexed dispatch from Gen. Strickland:

LAVA BEDS April 28—11 the 29th Major Green, commanding the camp on the west side of the Lava Beds, ordered Lieut. Harris, of the Fourth Artillery, and a party of Warm Spring Indians, about 50 soldiers, and 10 Indians to make reconnoissance in a southwesterly direction about four miles from camp. The party left camp about 12 o'clock, reached the designated point and were resting. The Indians had been seen, suddenly the party was fired upon by Indians, upon reaching the lava chasm, the bodies of Capt. Thomas and Lieut. F. Howe, of the Fourth Artillery, and Lieut. Howe, U. Wright, of the Twenth Infantry, were found. Lieut. Arthur Cranston, of the Fourth Artillery, was not seen found, and it is supposed they killed him. Lieut. Geo. M. Harris and Acting Assistant Surgeon B. Semig were severely, perhaps I hope not dangerously, wounded. Fourteen enlisted men were killed and wounded. All the officers and most of the men remained together and fought like heroes, but the Indians had gained the advantage of position. The wounded and officers will be sent to Yreka tomorrow. The bodies of four warriors have been found and removed to the position. Capt. Mendenhall's report from Headquarters, and is expected to join us the 30th. The Indians occupy a position on the rocks, about four miles south of their camp. It will be impossible to surround them with the force at our disposal. The disposition of the Lava Beds is about 30 miles. Ten Pines is open ad to-morrow.

ALVIN C. GILLEM.

How Darkness Came to the Lava Beds—His testimony.

LAVA BEDS, Sherman and, after conference with Acting Secretary Robinson telegraphed to Secretary Belknap and Interior, in way of consultation as to the future of the Indians.

Tunthunder and What Came From It.

The New Brunswick Times says: A citizen of New Brunswick who had been afflicted with a painful toothache for a long time, concluded at length to have the tooth pulled. It had decayed somewhat, and a very small hole was visible at one point. Into this aperture he inserted a small piece of cotton saturated with laudanum, thinking that would relieve the pain. It did not, however, but on the contrary increased it. He rubbed it with laudanum, and put it in a little deeper and took it home with him. The pain had been so intense and protracted that he concluded to examine very thoroughly the tooth which had evidently been so much. A very careful inspection of it revealed nothing strange or peculiar. It was apparently sound at every point but one, and to that minute was the perforation that it would not admit the insertion of a delicate needle. He finally took a hammer, struck lightly with it, and the result was terrible—but what a sight! It was perfectly hollow and simply concealed within was a worm of deserpt much larger than an ordinary pin. Upon exposure to the light it tried to fix itself (as it naturally) and ran across the table with great speed. It seemed to have no eyes for it ran against every object that it passed before it. At length it run off the table falling to the carpet, and in trying to recover it he accidentally stepped upon and killed it. He describes it as being a most wonderful looking animal, and differing essentially from anything he had ever before seen or heard of. He concluded that it could not have been there that it was generated in the drawing tooth, and that it must have come from the inside

VINEGAR BITTERS

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made to Please the Taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. In cases of Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys and Bladder, in which these Bitters have no equal. For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by a disordered condition of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Bad taste, Foul Breath, Sick Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will be given for a case of this kind, or for any disorder of the Stomach, Liver or Bowels, when these Bitters will not benefit. They are a mild Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the combined virtues of all the best remedies known, and are compounded from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, the Medical Wonder of the World. No person can take these Bitters according to the directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Poetry.

THE LOST ON THE "ATLANTIC."

For months and years with penury and want
And heart-sore misery did they drag on,
And in my cell, was raved from earnings scant,
To buy, some future day, the God-sent hope.

They tend this crowded streets of heavy tones,
Of filled from road to rest the wearied brick,
And in the shadow of the golden crowns
They groaned for sunshine and the health it yields.

They turned from homes all cheerless child and man,
With kindly footings only for the rail,
And for the liveliest lives, plodded on and on,
That prayed and stayed, unwilling at their will.

They filled on their faces to the Lord,
And read His answer in the westering sun
That filled them not as a shining word,
And overflowed and as the rivers ran.

They looked their last, whipped, on Swedish tide,
On German villages and Russian wild,
Like breaks that grow from many seaward rolls
The greatest stream flowed out from Irish Valley.

Their grief at parting was not all a grief,
But closer wreathed with blessing in cause
When from full store the spared the rich re-lief
To garden all the dear ones left at home.

What knew they not—but they cried, the great
That turned our lives has sunny beneath
Is but the shadow
Before her under the looming Promised Land.

Alas! when shown in many ways in words,
How weak are we to read God's awful lore!
His breath protested on the stormy path,

His handkerchief them in the parting sea,
And gave bright tissue to the burial cloth;
His water bore them where they sailed to go,
Then swept them onward from the very beach!

Their house is reached, their feasters are now
Their bundle full is over, their rest has come
A land was promised, and a land is given—
Heroes—but before suffering cannot honor.

PROCEEDINGS

LITTLE TRAVERSE, Mich., May 12, 1873.

The Board was called to order by the Clerk.

On motion of H. Sucee, John S. Shurtliff was elected Chairman for the ensuing year.

The following were present, viz:

Emmet—John S. Shurtliff.

Little Traverse—Paul Wasson.

Bear Creek—Hyacinth Sucee.

That on the above 12th day of May it was stipulated and agreed by the Board of Supervisors of said county of Emmet on the part of said County, and Mrs. Anna Downing for herself, to arbitrate the matter in difference in price of the jail built by one Dennis T. Downing. Said stipulation set forth with the County Treasurer.

On motion of John S. Shurtliff, John Wasson was appointed arbitrator on the part of the county of Emmet. The undersigned arbitrators in the matter, Emmet county of the first part, and Anna Downing of the second part, decide as follows: That Emmet county pay Mrs. Anna Downing for

Jail labor and material.....$425 00
Nor jail.....10 00

Arbitrators.

On motion of the Chairman the Clerk was ordered to draw on the County Treasurer in favor of Anna Downing for the above amount.

It was resolved that the matter rests for taking assessment be as follows, to wit:

First lands to be assessed at $2.00 per acre; cleared farming lands to be assessed at $2.50 per acre; Timbered lands to be assessed at $1.25.

The Clerk presented a bill from John McKay for the survey of the Cheboygan and Little Traverse Swamp Land State Road which was ordered placed on file.

A petition being presented from the widow of the late T. M. Downing, to wit: That on or about the 9th day of Oct. 1871 her husband became possessed (through the Board of Supervisors of Emmet county) of a County order to the amount of twenty dollars on account of Cheboygan and Little Traverse Swamp Land State Road. The said T. M. Downing being drowned by the sinking of the propeller Lac La Belle on or about the 14th day of October 1872, that at the time of his death the verily believes he had said order in his possession. Now the deponent prays the Hon. Board of Supervisors to issue another order for the amount of $20.00.

On motion the Clerk was ordered to draw a duplicate order on the County Treasurer, for the amount of twenty dollars in favor of the said widow.

The following claims were presented and allowed by the Board, viz:

John Shurtliff, services as Judge of Probate.....as Clerk.....	$2 50
Paul Wasson, " " "	2 50
John Wright, services and mileage as Assessor for Emmet Co.....as Justice.....	4 00
S. Morris, services as Constable.....	4 25

There being no further business before the Board, the Board thereupon adjourned sine die.

JOHN S. SHURTLIFF, Chairman.

HENRY A. ROLLIN, Clerk.

MY WIFE'S NEW BONNET.

"Mrs. Jacksparrit," said I, "if you love me do not ask me for money. Times are hard unexceedingly hard Mrs. J., and I have not as I can do to make both ends meet."

"But, my dear William, I have worn this bonnet all winter, and it really does not look fit to wear again," urged my wife.

Now there is one persistency about my wife, my dear sir, which really annoys me, because I know it is entirely original with her. Ordinarily she addresses me as Mr. Jacksparrit, or W. H. Jacksparrit, or just Jacksparrit, but just as sure as she is in want of a new bonnet, or a new dress, or a cloak—I never saw a woman that could go through more bewildering changes, cloaks, hats, etc., in a given time, without repeating her persistency—just so sure she begins her petitions with my dear William; and she says it in such a way, and with such a smile, that—well, really, I cannot speak, you see, I always come down with the stumps.

"I am very sorry, my dear Clara," said I, very sorry, indeed about that bonnet. I cannot remember the time when I have been so out to the bottom as I am now at night of that bonnet, but I am very much afraid that you'll have to wear it to church once more to-morrow."

"And is it for that I married you, William H. Jacksparrit? cried that superbly beautiful woman, as she crossed to centre. "Was it for this I left my happy home, where I was surrounded with every luxury that kind love could supply?"

"Confound your kind uncle!" said I, for you see I was losing my temper, although it generally the last thing I do lose it, for there is nothing that will rile the sweetness of my disposition as quickly as to know or to find that the woman I love has a want that I cannot satisfy. That is the kind of a man I am.

"Yes, confound your uncle!" I repeated, while Mrs. Jacksparrit glanced at me with all the ferocity of a lioness upon the never did me any good, and withstanding the fact that I have had his bronze in my face nearly every week since we were married. I have heard from enough of your uncle, Tom Hoggart, and of the families among the gold mines of Australia, and the diamond fields of South Africa. I would like to see some of his gold and diamonds and I would like to see him too, Mrs. Jacksparrit. I don't want to express a single doubt of your veracity my dear, but—now my jog off if I don't believe your uncle is a fraud.

Mrs. Jacksparrit uttered a little scream, and with even a chair. He could not have treated me so, she murmured, burying her face in her napkin.

"No, of course he wouldn't," said I fortunately I know who you refer to. I don't know that your uncle Abraham Dodger would not do, and now, just for variety, I would like to know where he would do if he was in my situation.

"Oh, why did I not marry him!" to me," said Mrs. Jacksparrit.

"That is just what I would like to know," said I.

"O you brute!"

"O no, my love."

"Are you going to buy me a bonnet?" stamping his little foot.

"I would coin my heart into dollars—"

"Will you buy me a bonnet?"

"But my dear, I need every cent of money I can raise in the world in my business—"

"W. H. Jacksparrit," (sobbing and determined) "I must have a new bonnet this evening."

"I hope you may get it," said I, and with that parting shot I took up my hat and walked out on the mosses.

Now, my dear reader, I wish to inform you that notwithstanding the conclusion you have arrived at from reading the foregoing conversation, I am really one of the tenderest hearted men you ever heard of; and furthermore, I have no hesitation in saying that in my own opinion, no man ever loved a woman with such intense intensity as I love Mrs. Jacksparrit, and I would do anything to make her happy; but when a woman will not be satisfied with the very best a man can do, why she may go to the devil.

That was what I said to myself that morning while making my way to my place of business, little thinking what an amount of agony was in store for me, little dreaming that a few short hours would find me the most miserable man in the city.

I may as well tell you here, before going further, that I am the senior partner in the firm of Jacksparrit & Tuttle, pork merchants, and I do not object to gratifying your curiosity so much as to inform you that the pecuniary affairs of the aforesaid firm were in such a ticklish condition upon this particular morning, that a failure was not only probable, but imminent.

Tuttle met me at the store door.

"Well, said I.

"We can get through to-day, but God help us to-morrow, I have heard every cent that I have."

We went into the store together, and were soon engaged in our customary duties, meeting our customers with smiling faces as though we were entirely unconscious of the fact that we were standing upon the brink of ruin.

I think it was about ten o'clock, that afternoon, that happening to glance out into the street, I saw my wife passing by the door, and, perhaps you can imagine my surprise upon discovering that she wore the identical bonnet—one of the most gorgeous and expensive kind; and I thought—although it may have been my imagination—but a smile of triumph illuminated her beautiful countenance as she passed the store.

I had hardly time to recover from my surprise when Captain Dodger passed me as I stood in the door looking after my wife, and unthought that a smile of triumph illuminated his countenance too.

Now I am not of a jealous disposition naturally, I believe; though, for that matter, Ophelia declared that he was not, notwithstanding the fact that we were seen him smothering good looking young women upon the slightest occasion, but I do not think that I was jealous of Captain Dodger at that time, though it is possible that I was just a little suspicious, you know, like a imbecile.

How were the facts: Dodger was an old lover of my wife's. He was handsome, winning, agreeable and wealthy. For some unaccountable reason, Miss Hoggins chose my wife, (maiden name) and rejected him and accepted me. It was not exactly suitable to suppose that she had regretted it. Only that morning she had said, O, why did I not marry him? meaning Dodger, and now at two o'clock in the afternoon she was parading the street in a new and costly bonnet, with Captain Dodger looking close behind her.

O, no; I wasn't jealous; but I would have given twenty-five dollars at that moment to have known who bought me wife's bonnet, and the more I thought of it the worse I felt about it, until at last—although I assure you I was not jealous, I was sorely up to a pitch of—well, we will say nervousness, then rendered me decidedly unfit for business, although it was impossible, in the existing state of affairs for me to leave the store until a very late hour that evening.

It was nearly eleven when I started for home. I had taken the purse cure as first, but they were to-now for me, for I was in a nervous to all said, and as I got out into the street, I found that I was pleased to see that a form was forming in my chamber.

My darling is waiting for me," I said forgetting for one moment my suspicions.

"But, lang it," cried I, as they all rushed each upon my word, "where did she get the splendid bonnet?"

By this time I reached the house. How it was all dark—they had even turned out all the gas in the hall, and no light was to be seen save that gleaming from my chamber window, and as I raised my eyes perhaps you can imagine what were my feelings when on the shadow of a man distinctly outlined on the curtain? I was sure it was a man, because he was taking off his coat, I yelled. This is too much. If Captain Dodger chooses to give my wife a new bonnet, it——"

At this moment the shadow took off his vest, and I seized my revolver and rushed up the steps of the house, intending to shoot the captain in his tracks.

I assure you I was not myself, and I am not a bloodthirsty individual, and I don't make a practice of murdering every man that happens to smile sweetly upon my wife, but I thought that this was such a thing as going too far in these things, and this shadow has certainly got beyond all reasonable limits, considering that my wife was a married woman. Do you not think so, gentle reader?

With my revolver in one hand and my latchkey on the other, I attempted to open the door, but it was locked. I think I did get a little jealous then, and if my memory serves me I think I made some remarks about the perfidy of women, and declared my intention of waiting no longer on my shoulders.

Excited as I was, it was very difficult for me to make any plans for entering the house without disturbing its inmates. I was in such a terrible rage that it is a wonder to me now that I did not break the door down, and rush up to the apartment of Mrs. Jacksparrit and her military lover; but by a powerful effort I restrained myself and everyone cautiously around the house. I had the good fortune to find a window open in the basement, through which I crawled into the kitchen—but as I was not very well acquainted with that locality the moment I stepped away from the window I stumbled over a chair, and my revolver coming in contact with the table, on one of its chambers was discharged, and the report, of course, woke everybody in the house.

O I have the women screamed! and I could easily distinguish Mrs. Jacksparrit's musical soft above the rest.

My only fear was that Dodger would make his escape in the confusion, and so I sprang up stairs, revolver in hand, hoping to intercept him in the front hall.

The women were still screaming, but they did not care to leave their beds, and above all the general chaos I could hear a man's voice commanding them to be quiet and he would protect them.

But Mrs. Jacksparrit would not be quiet. She was positively sure that they would all be murdered in their beds—and she was honest in the screaming; and O! how she did scream. I wonder that her cries did not penetrate my heart—but I suppose it was hardened by the thoughts of Dodger and her infidelity.

At last amid the uproar I distinctly heard his footsteps on the stairs and saw through the gloom his tall form cautiously descending toward me.

The hall was dimly lighted, for I had left it in darkness, and as I raised my revolver I took deliberate aim and fired.

Then, within the hall, springing toward him, and intending to catch the villain in my arms, all-sound I did.

Yes, I caught him and he caught me, and satisfied with that, he began beating me about the head with a heavy cane, my first-hour of which nearly stunned me.

It was my turn to scream then, for I thought that I couldn't do anything else, so my assistant held me so tightly in his arms that I thought I would be for me to move.

"Mercy, mercy, spare me, and I'll never do so any more. You can take Mrs Jacksparrit, I cried, with anguish in my voice.

"What's that," cried my wife, running down stairs with a lamp in her hand, for she had recognized my voice at the first call. "You here, William Henry?

"Ha, ha," laughed I, and my powerful assistant holding his cane ready for another blow.

I beckoned at him.

He let it lodge—I cried.

Dodger? Why the Lord Tom, just come back from——

"I what a confounded fool I have been, I groaned. Has your new bonnet——

"Never You bought it for me, of course," rejoined my wife.

And you put him into our chamber to sleep, and it was not Dodger I shot—I saw on the window curtain after all. O, what a long I have made of myself, and—O, how my head aches.

Well, said Uncle Tom Blogstar who was just beginning to understand the case; Well, I think, Mr. Henry William Jacksparrit, however bad the pleasure of meeting you before, allow me to express my opinion that, if you do not know any thing to be jealous of such a wife as you've got, I am glad your head does ache and I am pleased to.

If I will never be jealous again," said I, and then I took my wife in my arms and kissed her, and she said she would forgive me.

But O, woman Henry, you do not know what a love of a bonnet I've got."

And it cost me a great deal more than it would if I had bought it, said I.

But it isn't to-day I reminded at home while my wife attended to my wounded head, and I have not heard a word more from the deceased fowls with a great deal more money than he know what to do with,

☞ Four of America's best men have died within two weeks. Chief Justice Chase died on the 8th, of paralysis; Hon Oakes Ames and Hon Jas Brooks members of Congress, about the same time, of apoplexy; and Hon Jas A. Orr, Commissioner of the U. S. to Russia, died on the 5th in St Petersburg of congestion of the lungs. The Chief Justice was buried with great pomp and ceremony.

☞ Captain Belfridge, convicted before the United States to examine the possibility of connecting the two oceans by a canal across the Isthmus of Darien, has returned to New York from the theatre of his labors, and not without having been in a great measure, if not entirely successful. He has returned with a definite proposition to make looking to worthy cause for the two great bodies of water. The route determined on by Belfridge will require only twenty-eight miles of canal and three years of time to do it. The expense of the work is estimated at $70,000,000.

☞ At a recent meeting of stockholders and directors of the Continental Improvement Company, it was stated that there were negotiations pending for the building and completing of the Muscogee and Durango Railroad, which got a land grant from the State Legislature last winter of a million or more acres of valuable land in the Upper Peninsula, by the Grand Rapids and Indiana, the Northern Pacific, and the Jackson, Lansing and Saginaw Companies jointly. Gen. Cass stated that should such a bargain be made the road would be finished in two years, ready for traffic the whole length, from the Straits on the eastern terminus of the Northern Pacific.

☞ The last romance concerning Napoleon III. comes from an English letter to the Paris Figaro. The writer asserts with absurd earnestness that the Emperor is not dead, but by means of a chloroformed pistol and a dummy he slily got away from the rebellious, went to a small London hotel, with his papers all in order, cut his moustache, shaved off his imperial, and put on an artistic wig. Hence the mysterious trip taken him to Prussia, where he is said to be traveling about at leisure, studying the situation of affairs, and reserving himself for a coup de theatre. The letter including a dispatch from a person who declares that he was met and recognized at the Faubourg St Honore. It is to be hoped that this is the first and last attempt at imagination in this very choicely direction.

☞ The horrible calamity at Dixon, Illinois, on Sunday, the 4th inst., was the result of a curiously, but also enough genuinely, harmless thing to turn, to witness the initiatory ceremony of admission by immersion. The baptism of converts called a number to witness the ceremony. Many of those stood on a structure called a Trestle bridge, over the Rock river. Not over 200 persons [illegible] when the bridge gave way, precipitating the people into the river. The Chicago Tribune says it is impossible as the subject "The Baptism of Death."

☞ The news from the steamship Polaris, which sailed from New York June 30, 1871, under the command of Captain C. F. Hall, the well known Arctic explorer, is given in full in our telegraphic dispatches, and a discouraging to very further attempt to explore the Northern Polar regions. The Captain is said to have died in October, 1871, of apoplexy, and the command devolved upon his next officer. The strange accident which separated a majority of the crew, with the only boats which it had left, from the vessel itself, and the history of the rescued party is proven to fill by the dispatches. The fact of the thirteen who were on board the Polaris is yet unknown, but there is great reason to fear that they will perish in the frozen seas. Their number is too small to enable them to manage the vessel as it should be and the fact that they are scattered seas, should the vessel be disabled, or should it be crushed in the ice, increases the precarious and desperate character of the situation.

☞ Ten boys have lengthened to thirteen hours of recreation in a single week, all who were of a good record at each end, and some people have started out enough, now, to do all the work they require in one hour. Our longest day will be the twenty-first of June, when we shall have fifteen hours and seventeen minutes between sunrise and sunset. We cannot compare in that line with some of the European countries however. At Archangel on the upper dog has seventeen hours and the shortest seven. At stockholm, the longest day has nineteen hours and the shortest five. At St. Petersburgh the longest has nineteen and the shortest five hours. At Finland, the longest has twenty-one and one half and the shortest two and one-half hours. At Wardhouse in Norway, the day lasts from the 21st of May to the 23d of July, the sun not getting below the horizon for the whole time, but skimming along very close to it in the north. Point Barrow, in Alaska, the most northern piece of dry ground in the United States domain enjoys sunshine a day and a night and a half without a break, and better than all the long days it has a [illegible] when the sun does not set for [illegible] days. Mount Thomas, farthest of four islands [illegible] in the Atlantic, has a day [illegible] of three months, while the [illegible] has a night [illegible] of the same length. Still [illegible] Spitzbergen, [illegible] Greenland, [illegible] Iceland, [illegible] Lapland, [illegible] Siberia, [illegible] Russia, [illegible] Sweden, [illegible] Norway, [illegible] Scotland, [illegible] Ireland, [illegible] England, [illegible] Germany, [illegible] France, [illegible] Switzerland, [illegible] Austria, [illegible] Italy, [illegible] Spain, [illegible] Portugal, [illegible] Africa, [illegible] Asia, [illegible] America, [illegible] Australia, [illegible] Europe, [illegible] Asia, [illegible] Africa

Potato Culture.

It is not to be expected that all potato growers will agree upon any one system of culture. Many answers have to be given to several questions in regard to the subject before any one farmer will adhere to the best methods. Some of the questions are: Is it best to plant whole potatoes or cut them? Is it best to plant deep or shallow? Shall we cultivate often or not? Shall we hill up or not? Shall we cover with straw or not? Shall we plant in rows or hills? Shall we plant early or late? Shall we plant in the same ground every year? Shall we manure the potato crop? Shall we cultivate when the vines are wet? Shall we plant in the dark of the moon or when the moon is full? Shall we plant in the spring or fall? Shall we plant in the morning or afternoon? Shall we plant on the north or south side of the field? Shall we plant on the east or west side of the field? Shall we plant on the top or bottom of the ground? Shall we plant on the level or on a ridge? Shall we plant on the north or south side of the fence? Shall we plant on the east or west side of the fence? Shall we plant on the top or bottom of the fence? Shall we plant on the level or on a ridge? Shall we plant on the north or south side of the house? Shall we plant on the east or west side of the house? Shall we plant on the top or bottom of the house? Shall we plant on the level or on a ridge? Shall we plant on the north or south side of the barn? Shall we plant on the east or west side of the barn? Shall we plant on the top or bottom of the barn? Shall we plant on the level or on a ridge? AGRICULTURAL.

Benton Sentinel.

Agriculture is and always must be the leading interest of the world. Without it the dearest property of the city would no rent. Without it the mighty family of customs would not receive its daily bread. Every one is vitally interested in its success. How can we ask the privilege of throwing out a few suggestions on the subject, through the columns of the paper, were it not that agriculture is the oldest of all the arts to the operation has been very slow, and it must, in as a business point of view. Agriculture has never had any feeling man with good observation, left to start out into professions, to trade, to speculation, or to some one of the many modern contrivances for getting rich without the due process of honest labor. The living has created, and consequently has limited pursuits that agriculture does not receive much notice? But now with good success can promise it. The days in the classroom are but short carving. It is the pride, hope and well-being of the whole people to encourage it successful farming in trade, manufactures, or any of the professions. We never can lose the brain in civilized, whether by study or education, but whether by study or education, has influence of need be. These considerations of exciting without much fuss, burning are not confined to farming. The great source in the wonderful development of modern civilization is genius, and every man, and woman or child. In the first place, farmers must be sure need that their pursuit is one that demands intelligence for its successful prosecution. They must expressly understand that one must have more knowledge of all overlooking subjects, natural and necessarily depends upon intention. They need to thoroughly appreciate with the conviction that all the wealth of the globe can not flow in one direction at once, and that the world is not to be governed by one class or one set of opinions and no such class. Those who and why they are such the physiological or oppression pattern and society passing at once day. Have an farmers ever considered such a system founded upon such basis? If so why feel ashamed of it? If they would remove the evil they complain of, why not more. If they would help only others on a general activity to elevate them, by example, by and reasoning out with such effort, to interest their every phase of agricultural pursuits? Let the minds of earth, and farming be intelligent individuals; not only of the city they endure, but of their cause, every great thing, and conducive to the absorption of wealth into the hand of two or three overgrown monopolies, to the ruin of the liberties of the people, but the true theirs at character. A simple organization will suffice at first, and will be found to work well. Its virtue, and augment all that is required. Meet at some central point, select honest persons from every township, and if there is a large county, let it be divided into districts, and let each district send Representatives from each township to the county meeting. Let these delegates form a county organization, and let each township send Representatives from each district to the State meeting. Let these delegates form a State organization, and let each county send Representatives to the National meeting. Let these delegates form a National organization, and let each State send Representatives to the World's meeting. Let these delegates form a World's organization, and let each nation send Representatives to the Universal meeting. Crisis in France.

On the 24th Paris resigned as President of France and Marshal MacMahon was elected for 7 the succession. The change has taken place with no excitement. Public order prevails throughout France. His Marshal on assuming the duties of the office said: "I will stay [illegible] the Constitution, the dignity of the country, and the independence of the nation. I will not abandon the post of honor and danger to which you have called me. I will defend, with all my power, and with all the means which the law gives me, the rights confided to my care. I will transmit them entire, if I can, at the end of my term, to the regular authority which you shall have chosen." The Duke de Broglie succeeds Thiers as Minister of Foreign Affairs. The Republican party is disheartened, but not disposed to give up the struggle. The Legitimists are jubilant, but will probably be disappointed in the end.

Sandusky Bunkers & Dry Dock Company, organized to take charge of the Dry Dock there, is still in force.

A well authenticated case of rattlesnake bite is reported from Cass county, Mich. The victim recovered.

Mrs. Jameson, a widow of Battle Creek, Mich., has received a number of her pieces, among which is "Hail Columbia," which she composed at the age of seven.

The General Court, with a couple dozen of eight hundred men, leaves shortly for Fort Hale, to escort the Northern Pacific Railway army corps party through the country occupied by the Sioux Indians. The Bismarck band of music will accompany the party. Col. Forsyth will command the escort.

Thus far this year there have been 2,000 immigrants from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, 1,000 of whom have passed through Quebec. The latest arrivals number 200, and were composed of 50 families.

Mrs. Hannah A. Fowler, of Battle Creek, Michigan, has received a number of her pieces, among which is "Hail Columbia," which she composed at the age of seven.

Taking Up Carpets.

The Utica Herald remarks that the annual nuisance or raising up, and whipping, and shaking, and laying down of carpets is upon us. It is one of the penalties we pay for the luxury of a home, and we suppose we ought to submit to it without complaint. You go home one day in spring, and at supper-time your wife tells you that the time has come, and that you must help her. You groan, but you know that nothing else will do, and you tell her that you will help her. Then you go down town and tell the boys that you cannot come to work and must have a day to yourself, and you hate it like the mischief. Your wife is good about it, and she tells you that you have been working too hard, and that you must have a day's rest. You feel a little better, and you go to bed early, and get up in the morning feeling like a new man. You have half a mind to whistle as you go down town, but you don't, for you remember that you have a day to yourself, and you feel like a boy let out of school. You get down town and tell the boys that you are going to work, and you feel as though you could lick a dozen men. You work like a beaver all day, and when you get home at night you are ready for your supper, and you eat it with a relish that makes your wife happy. You

☞ Boston has been visited by another destructive conflagration and $1,200,000 of property was destroyed.

☞ Lieutenant Gen. HER ALT. Duke of Argyle, for New York, where he took the steamer Adriatic for Europe, where he will spend the summer. It is reported that he will visit the Holy Land during his summer and will not return till winter.

☞ The Marquette & Mackinaw railroad Co. for which a land grant was appropriated last winter, are negotiating for the building of the road by the Grand Rapids & Indiana, Jackson, Lansing & Saginaw and Northern Pacific. Jos. H. Gon Case states that should such arrangements be perfected the road will be completed from the Straits to the eastern terminus of the Northern Pacific in two years. Success to the enterprise.

☞ The postal cards cost the Government $1.26 per thousand. The one hundred million for which it contracted will therefore cost $126,000. It proposes to receive, transport and deliver these everywhere in the country for one cent each, which will bring into the Postoffice department $1,000,000, a profit of $874,000 over the cost of the simple card. Whether there is profit in it after paying the six pence of the service is a question which experience will answer best.

☞ The Duke de Broglie, Prime Minister of the new Cabinet of President MacMahon, is not the one who forty years ago sat at the head of the country under the monarchy of Louis Philippe, but his son Albert. The grandfather of the present minister was guillotined in the reign of terror of 1793. His maternal grandmother was Madame de Staël. He is strongly in sympathy with the Orleanists, and his appointment looks toward the restoration of the Orleans family to the throne of France.

☞ What shall be done with the Modoc chiefs who have surrendered themselves? Are they to be treated as prisoners of war or simply as common criminals? If the theory that the Modocs are an independent nation is correct, then the surrender of Hogen Charley, Hooka Jim, and the other vagabonds and murderers who have given themselves up, entitles them to comparative immunity. But this theory has never been fully adopted by the United States Government, and its partial adoption has always been confined to the Senate and Congress. The true theory is that every inhabitant of the United States is amenable to its laws and to the laws of the State or Territory in which they are. These two are, without a possibility of a doubt, accomplices in the treacherous murder of General Canby and the Peace Commissioners. Let them be tried for this murder, and, if found guilty, then suffer the penalty of the law. Or, if it is objected that they surrendered as military authority, and that they should not be given up to the civil authorities, let them be tried by a court martial, and, if found guilty, shot.—Detroit Tribune.

☞ A monster expedition is said to be on the tapis to raise the steamer Atlantic. Work was took some 21 years ago near Long Island, and stranded while in tow of Ogdensburg. She lays quietly in 162 feet of water. The wreck was visited by Harrington about 1865, and an express company's safe secured. The Western Wrecking Company, of Cleveland, have secured title to the wreck. Mr. Brehaman a member of this wrecking company, has undertaken the monster job of raising the wreck. He is to have the use of the wrecking steamer Alice Strong, which is the sparmate on board, and to receive $5,000 besides half of the value of the steamer and contents on board when raised. Preparations for the undertaking have been made on a large scale. A 14 inch wire cable 600 feet long will be placed around the bottom of the wreck, to which, will be attached 80,000 pound of 7-16 chain to connect with pontoons. Boston shows will be 500 lifting barges which will be sunk to the wreck and attached to the main cable. The expedition, with 22 men will leave for the wreck about the first of June.—Buffalo Express.

☞ The Modoc war has at last come to a close. The entire Modoc tribe has been captured but four. Jack and two others. The following is the concise clause of the celebrated account ordering their execution: "Ordered, that said Jack and the others be first duly sworn, and then be taken to the place of execution, and there shot to death with guns in the hands of a sufficient military force, and that the bodies of said Jack and the others be then delivered to their friends for burial." Jack and two others escaped. Dr. Cabaniss, of Yreka, captured, as some say, who has long been acquainted with the Modocs went up among the rocks and made peace negotiations. All the Indians, including Jack, agreed to come in. Cabaniss, stopped with them last night. A few minutes since Scar-faced Charley, old Schonchin, and 10 warriors surrendered. Jack and three others decamped by night.

I, the Capt. Jack is captured: The intelligence cannot but serve to encourage.

☞ The Chair of Geology, Zoology and Botany in the State University, made vacant by the resignation of Prof. Winchell, has been filled by the appointment of Dr. Hilgard, who has accepted. Dr. Hilgard is a native of Germany. He came to this country when quite young, and spent his boyhood here. He returned to his native country and entered upon his university studies at Heidelberg, from which institution he received the degree of P. H. D. He at once took a high rank as a scientist, and on his return to this country is connected himself with the geological survey of Mississippi, and was soon appointed State Geologist, and finally professor of the natural sciences in the State University of Mississippi, which position he will create by accepting the one tendered him here. THE CONTROL OF CONGRESS.

It is yet rather early in the season for taking observations in the field of politics though we can occasionally catch glimpses of the movements of the actors, and unanimously detect modifications of the forces operating beneath the surface. A careful study of the positions occupied by the leading journals of the country is valuable as that it assists in examining the sagacious foreshadowing of all these persons into one opinion. As a general rule any man a few weeks ago. It is also to be observed that a considerable number of such journals are now speaking of the power to attempt to organize a new political party as an idle and absurd movement. So it may be regarded as quite certain that the contest will be between the Republican and the Democratic or reasonable opposition.

The issues of the campaign are complex so easily foreseen because the subject is a more complicated one. It is not at all probable that an issue can be defined on the question of indemnification to which both parties are likely to occupy somewhat the same ground. Neither will dare abandon the cause of the monopolists. Each will insert a plank in its platform favoring a policy in opposition to monopoly generally. The tariff question will not be pressed to any new extreme, nor is it at all probable that either party will change from its usual position on this subject.

The platform of principles adopted by the recent State Republican Convention at Columbus, Ohio, may serve to indicate the probable position of the Republican party throughout the country. This platform consists of nine resolutions, which may be condensed briefly, thus: the 1st softens to the sparmate on board, and to receive $5,000 besides half of the value of the steamer and contents on board when raised. Preparations for the undertaking have been made on a large scale. A 14 inch wire cable 600 feet long will be placed around the bottom of the wreck, to which, will be attached 80,000 pound of 7-16 chain to connect with pontoons. THE QUEEN'S FORTUNE.

The Beauties and Beauties of Queen Victoria and the Royal Family — No Grand Display of Jewels.

Queen Victoria is one of the richest women in the world. Her private fortune is estimated at $20,000,000. Besides this she has a large income from the civil list, which is voted her by Parliament. The Queen has a large number of palaces, and is the owner of the Isle of Wight, where she has a beautiful residence. She is also the owner of Balmoral Castle, in Scotland, which is a favorite place of residence with her. She has also a residence at Windsor, which is a very large and magnificent building. The Queen is very fond of Windsor Castle, and spends much of her time there. She is also the owner of Osborne House, in the Isle of Wight, and it is said, bought jointly with the Prince Consort. The Queen is probably the richest private individual in the world. She has a magnificent income, and has probably saved a large portion of it. She has also been the recipient of many valuable presents from her subjects, and from the rulers of other countries. Her husband, the late Prince Consort, was also a man of great wealth, and left a large fortune. The Queen has a number of children, and they have all been married to persons of wealth, and have received large fortunes with their husbands and wives. The Queen is also the owner of the diamonds which belonged to the late Prince Consort, and which are among the most valuable in the world. She has also a large number of diamonds which belonged to the Crown, and which are worn by her on state occasions. The Queen is also the owner of the Koh-i-noor diamond, which is the largest diamond in the world. It is said to be worth $2,000,000. The Queen has a large number of other diamonds, and is probably the richest woman in the world. She has a large number of jewels, and is probably the richest woman in the world. "ARE YOU A MASON."

I am one of a band
Who will faithfully stand
In the breach of affection and love;
I have knocked at the door,
Once wrenched out your post,
And there for admission I stand.

By the help of a friend,
Who sustenance did lend,
I succeeded an entrance to gain;
Was received in the Work,
Commenced from the First,
But not without feeling some pain.

Hoping conscience was quiet
With a secret quite tasteful
With cord means how I will trace;
Then secured, I trusted,
To leave it untainted,
What I then intended to do.

Very soon in the Third
I made known my request,
And "Light" to command did attend;
Which he I present,
In the form revealed,
A Master, and Brother and Friend

Thus far I have stated,
And simple details,
What happened when I was made "free,
And as "parents" did insist,
And was "initiated" again
To a solemn and ancient degree.

Then onward I ascended
That I might be "skreened,"
And forever loose from sinning my feet,
When, behold! a bright flame,
From the point of which came
A voice, which my eyes did assail;
Through the "veil" I then went,
And received it in sight
The mysterious message to hail;

By the sign, grasp, token,
Emblematic, well outlined my mind,
In the depths of their meaning,
And most earnest study,
For the lessons now my bodies bless;
And by "labor" and toil,
I obtained and did spoil
Which are kept for me Perfect with due care.

Having thus far arrived,
I make record
Among valiant Knights to appear
And as pilgrim and Knight,
I went ready to fight;
Nor Satanism heeded I fear.

For protection divinest
Thrown around in my breast;
For the helpless and orphan I feel;
And my secret I conceal
Which the sign of distress reveal.

Thus I close I revealed
That which I have sealed
As a Mason, wherever I go.
I pray one of a band
Who will faithfully stand
And brethren wherever I go.

Miscellaneous.

SOME INCIDENTS OF THE RECENT TORNADO IN IOWA.

At Sugarcreek, fourteen miles from here, the storm was observed, according to the appearance of opinion, about three o'clock in the afternoon. Had not seemingly reached as much as a mile in length, when it came down thick and fast in a straight line, the air being unusually calm and outside the disturbing influence of the tornado, which was about two miles away. The sun did not fully set, the credulous powers of many, and were there no concurrence of testimony, I would hesitate to commence. Mr. J. V. Henry, a commissioner on the Rock Island Railroad, a man of truthfulness, stated that he was in a drug store, where several were picked up, wrapped, and recovered. One of them weighed seven and a half ounces, and was ten inches in circumference. A gentleman had one weighing eight ounces, and so on.

Three hours for the largest to melt. They were found on large limbs of trees, transparent and solid. Some were round as a cannon ball; some eight inches like an egg; others were flattened like a pancake. Another gentleman, who came with a distressing sound like report of a pistol. No one was in the streets at the time, as it was too much for us to stand by one of these curious collected missiles. Horses tried to dodge them, and in doing so broke away from their hitching-posts, and dashed wildly through the terrified town. Some that one stricken fell into the air of the "one hoss clay." Windows were broken and much smart injury done in various ways. The only serious injury to stagger mankind, like far away thunder, or the noise of a train of cars moving rapidly over a bridge. The tornado struck the dominion of death from the vicinity of Hayesville, in Lancaster township, Keokuk County, and far from the town of Sugarcreek. Mr. James Craig, an old citizen of that place, states that two clouds seemed to come together, unite and move rapidly in a northeasterly direction. The first obstacle it encountered was the Lower Schoolhouse in Sugarcreek township, about two miles in extent. The teacher and scholars barely noticed the darkening sky, when hail began to fall, and the sound of its approach ing cyclone smote their ears like a concentration of thunder. They were frightened but did not anticipate serious danger. Suddenly the building was lifted from the ground, tumbled around and carried twenty feet away, where it was laid down right side up with care, as if the house living felt that there were within precious immortal lives that should not be sacrificed. The inhabitants of the building hardly knew what had happened before the destroyer passed in search of other victims. The children were bruised and cut by the falling desks and seats, but none were seriously injured.

On swept the irresistible column, announcing its approach by the same loud roar, which brought the people of Lancaster to the doors. They saw it in the distance—a dark, crowded, ominous mass, moving with appalling swiftness.

Many ran to their cellars. Others sought shelter out-doors. Others ran from their houses and fences and fields. Others fled in their carriages. Others remained in their houses, some of which were crushed in the fall. Others were swept away with the debris. Others were carried away and borne through the air. Others were carried away and borne through the air. Others were carried away and borne through the air

☞ The evidence in regard to cases in connection with the Modoc war has been forwarded to the Commissioners at Washington.

☞ The Modoc prisoners will be tried by a military commission, and not by the civil courts.

☞ Gen. Meadows, from Texas, died the other day from the bite of the Moccasin snake. He was the first and most prominent citizen of Texas that succumbed to the bite of that reptile. He was a brave man, and a gentleman.

☞ Mr. Mackenzie, who will cover up the Modoc war, recently lost a dear son, by the upsetting of a pleasure boat into which he had jumped for the purpose of rescuing a lady who was in danger of drowning. The lady was saved, but the brave young man was drowned.

☞ A terrible tornado visited Long Branch, New Jersey, on the afternoon of the 18th inst., and did much damage to the cottages and other buildings. The storm lasted only for a few minutes, but the destruction of property was very great.

☞ The murder of Mumford in Washington is now in New York City on requisition papers. It is one of the most remarkable cases in the history of our criminal courts. Public sympathy is not very much with the murdered man, and the murderer will be the most favored one known in criminal history if he escapes punishment.

☞ The Republicans are very busy attempting to discredit another candidate for President. Their last move was to charge that Gen. Hancock was a Democrat. Well, suppose he is a Democrat, what of it? Is that a crime? Is it a disgrace? Is it a reason why he should not be elected President? Democrats are not ashamed of their party, and they are not ashamed of their candidate. Democrats are willing to stand by their party and by their candidate, and they will do it.

☞ A terrible tornado visited Long Branch, New Jersey, on the afternoon of the 18th inst., and did much damage to the cottages and other buildings. The storm lasted only for a few minutes, but the destruction of property was very great. Among the principal sufferers were Mr. Arthur Williams and Miss Jennie Pitney, whose cottages were blown to pieces. Mr. Pitney was severely injured and his wife and daughter were also hurt. It is said that the storm was the most severe that has visited that locality for many years.

☞ The murder of Fisk is generally expected in New York and has been awaited a new time since. It has already, as it will be remembered, had its trial and has been convicted on oath. It therefore appears to be not at all unlikely that the street may talk, but may get his deserts that way. The case as it stands is rather a reflection upon the legal clerks of the country, which endows by an almost every case that we have had for many years, and in fact it is not unusual to find a case in which the murderer is allowed to go free.

☞ The steamer Manhattan, which was recently launched at Wilmington, Del., is the largest vessel ever built in the United States. She is 420 feet long, 50 feet beam, and 40 feet deep, and will carry 4,000 tons of freight. She is to be run between New York and Liverpool, and will make the trip in seven days. She is to be fitted up with all the modern improvements, and will be a splendid vessel.

Potato Bugs.

Advice from the farmers in all sections of the country, as that potato bugs promise to be quieter than ever before, the present season. To many then, the following from the Michigan Farmer, written by Prof. A. J. Cook, of the State Agricultural college will be timely and welcome news:

I experience more than Paris Green to save my potatoes from the ravages of the potato beetle. Take Paris green for the bugs. Yet in the rational and time to spray, I agree with a friend who gives the following recipe: Take Paris green and flour—one part of the former to six of the latter—put in a tight sack and pull it into a dense cloud, which I attach to the end of a long broom handle. Then I go into the potato field, and when the dew is off and vines dry I raise the broom so as to allow the cloud to settle on the vines. Shaking the broom a few times will be sufficient. I have practiced this method for two years, and find it very effective and economical. I use about one pound of Paris green and six of flour for an acre. I prefer to use the broom rather than the bag, as I can more readily see when enough has been applied. I go both sides of the rows at once, and can thus go over a large piece in a short time. I have used this method for over thirty years, and find it very effective and economical. I use about one pound of Paris green and six of flour for an acre. I prefer to use the broom rather than the bag, as I can more readily see when enough has been applied. I go both sides of the rows at once, and can thus go over a large piece in a short time. I have used this method for over thirty years, and find it very effective and economical.

That Unfortunate Danbury Boy.

When a boy is in haste to go some where on his own account, he is apt, after the long road has been chosen, to say to himself: "Now I will be smart, and get there in a hurry." Then he starts off on a run, and after a few rods he comes down on a stone, or runs against a post, or falls over the other. Then he finds a rock in each hand, and a stone in each pocket, and a stick across his shoulders with bundles, and started for the same place, and he will go in a walk, and consume the time, the nurse skipped out in an endeavor to recover it he will be found about starting down to the same spot. Experience will by and by teach him that he can't get ahead of time by running, and that the best way to get there is to start out in time and walk right along. Then he will not be apt to run against a post, or fall over a stone, or run the thorn in all and spend the rest of the day picking the thorn in all and spend the rest of the day picking the thorn in all and spend the rest of the day picking

Pine River to be Dredged.

Commissioner Nettleton returned from Cheboygan on Saturday last, after having made a contract with Messrs. Corkin & Stickley for the dredging of Pine River, and work will be commenced on or before July 15th. The terms of the contract are such that it is confidently expected, after a careful estimate of our resources, and the present condition of the river, that before September 1st we shall have a depth of nine feet in the channel. Our people are rejoicing over the good results of the negotiations and are expectantly looking forward to the inauguration of the work. Charlevoix soon will be out of the woods.

Personal.—Sheldon Pease, Esq., of the firm of A. Fox & Co., of this place, has been spending a few days in our village.

—Dr. M. L. Leach, of the editorial staff of the Grand Traverse Herald, paid us a friendly visit yesterday. The Dr. formerly resided at Charlevoix, and he meets with many familiar faces.

Lumber from Cheboygan.—Cheboygan in the Straits of Mackinaw is shipping the greatest amount a large quantity of lumber, a considerable portion of which goes to Detroit and other points further eastward. The facilities for loading at the above place are good and cargoes are having dispatch to four a week.

Missions.—Charles F. Ruggles a Government Land Locator, writes from Surgeon Bay to Gen. W. Crosier of Detroit:

"The Marquette Peninsula was explored by most of the crew on the boat of Lake Superior and has proved a perfect success. He will go on to the Bay de Noc and to the Menominee. These papers are having their two to four a week.

Commissioner Dennison.—One friend of the Independent, with whom we had occasion to cross horns several times last winter, generously continues to correspond with us, and we have become accustomed to read his paper with interest. It is imposing in appearance, and is evidently doing a good work for Cheboygan. Let us clasp hands across the bloody chasm, Brother Robinson, and forget past differences.

Ice Rapids Low Water.—We paid a short visit to these works on Monday last, and found everything nearly ready for a start. The hoisting engine was just being tested, preparatory to commencing its work. The, we understand, was the last piece of machinery to be tested. Everything being ready it was expected to get into heat on Tuesday. In reading charcoal the company are very successful. A pit had just been taken out when, yesterday, 129 bushels to a board of wood—Argus.

Shot and Murdered.—The first attempt to transport coal by rail from this place has failed. Fifty locomotives, which started West from Washington with 50,000 in cars constructed for the purpose, found upon reaching Cumberland that the mining firm were supplying the last the train took his cars to the Potomac and put them still alive, 20,000 in number, into the Potomac at that point. He is now in Washington preparing to sail for Michigan with a second stock.

Why?—Why is it that the friends and patrons of the Sentinel do not take more interest in sending in items of interest that occur in their respective localities? Some time ago a prominent Physician of the East, and a relative of T. J. Meech Esq., of Norwood, was lost in the woods near this village while out hunting, and remained lost from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until eight o'clock the next morning. It was by the merest accident that we heard even these particulars at this late Tragic.—A private communication from Rev. A. C. Turner, Postmaster at Grand Rapids and editor of the Epworth Herald, informs us that himself and family will be among the party of a dozen will spend about three weeks among our lakes and rivers during July. We understand Attorney General Ball will be among the party. Another party of eight is expected from the same city, and Chicago sends word to prepare for a squad from that village, while other places are making preparations to pour all their sporting gentry into our lap during July and August.

The Fountain City House.—Mine host Cooper and assistants are busy renovating the capacious house from cellar to garret. He has lately converted his large third story hall into eight commodious sleeping apartments, and has them furnished, like the rest of his house, in neat and comfortable style. Mr. Cooney informs us that his house has a capacity for the accommodation of one hundred guests. Rooms and board have been engaged for the incoming season by parties coming from all directions. This fact reminds us of the growing popularity of Charlevoix as a fashionable summer resort. Our scenery, healthfulness, and excellent sporting facilities are giving Charlevoix a national notoriety.

The tug Minnie Warren is to tow the dump scows for the steam dredge, which commences work in Pine River the 10th.

V. The Summer's Work.

As we continue to see our gravel, clay and sawdust and surveying company at work and to look daily for a contract at Charlevoix, we naturally look about us for a boat, and the question with which every citizen is constantly busy, and which almost every stranger asks, is, "Where is the boat?" Will we finally have a boat in a prosperous and growing village and agricultural region. Our natural resources are rapidly developing, and people begin to realize the fact that Bradlington was "a safe and profitable commodity." That there were enterprises and valuable discoveries among the hamlets and the expanding, after Captain Bull's death, and that Bradlington and Tyson were deeply committed against each other, is doubtless true, and for that very reason Tyson's story about Bradlington should be received with some allowance. And how the promising object of our journey since the latter sunshine. The ever-active mind is inclined to consider only the light it sheds within a narrow circle of its profundities, and that good things are the flowers of local and personal interests in the people of the county. While these are important things, they are comparatively weak when compared to the power it wields as upon a subject in which are centrally reflected the advantages of the region, infinitely portraying the progress in all its developments of human activity. The photographed in its coloring, the Sentinel, extracts the attractions of the region to the people of all classes—to the poor and the rich, the capitalist and the laborer. What our journal has already done in this direction is but a small part of what we do will be proportionate to the encouragement which support it receives.

The Polaris Report.

The report of Hon. George M. Robeson, secretary of the Navy, and the gentlemen associated with him who have been engaged in the investigation of the Polaris expedition, is certainly calculated to allay with the emphasis of final play which entirely arose from the incompetence and conflict of views previously published. The gentlemen who have examined the case are splendidly satisfied that the death of Captain Hall was due solely to natural causes, and that no one was to be blamed for it. They also considered that the separation of the Polaris from Captain Tyson's party on the ice was a matter devoid of accident, and that neither willful nor penal the other. Except upon these points very little of special importance is made known by the report, and the full history of the voyage of the expedition which has not already been given to the public. The story of the expedition, as briefly told by the report, and its of kind history of part of it. It proceeded in the best disposition of Captain Tyson, however, as the fascination and interest which attends every narrative of perilous exploration and discovery, and quantities of new and additional information in regard to the geographical and Millions Now Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the palate, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Lovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off gradually all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, unless their bones are destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs worn beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestive or Inflammatory diseases of the Liver, and in all Diseases of the Digestive Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, in young or old, married or single, at the Dawn or Turn of Life, these Bitters display so decided an influence that a improvement is soon perceived.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases as are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

They are powerful to cleanse the system of all poisonous matter when other cathartics, and even other bitters, fail. One bottle will prove its superior claims to such.

Scrofula or King's Evil, White Swellings, Tumors, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of whatever name or nature are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms lurking in the system of so many people, are effectually destroyed and removed. For a description of complaints and directions, every one suffering from the presence of worms in the system should have a copy of our Almanac. Its certificates show the appalling fact of the great number of worms that infest the human system, and the suffering and misery they cause. Every year many thousands fall victims to the popular delusion that there is something else needful, or as good as our Vermifuge. Don't be deceived. Get only Dr. Walker's Vermifuge. Don't be persuaded to take anything else. Don't be put off with any pretense. Don't let your life be endangered by worms when you can be relieved by a few bottles of Dr. Walker's Vermifuge.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are compounded with pure Spirits and the Tonic properties of the Roots, Herbs, Barks and Berries used in the manufacture of these Bitters are extracted therefrom by our California Process, which is the only perfect method ever discovered. By it the medicinal properties of the ingredients are obtained in a more concentrated form than by any other process. Hence Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are more powerful to cure than bitters made by the usual process of steeping or decoction.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestive or Inflammatory diseases of the Liver, and in all Diseases of the Digestive Organs.

A Lucky Southern Widow.

During the late war a citizen of Savannah named McIlhenny purchased a large amount of cotton and stored it in or near that city. When Savannah was taken possession of by the Yankees, that cotton was taken possession of in the name of the government of the United States, and confiscated. Before and during the war, McIlhenny was a man in affluent circumstances, but, like thousands of others, the close of the war found him reduced to poverty. Since then he has lived and has been making her own living by personal exertions. She came to this city, where she has earned a support principally by her needle and has never murmured at her lot. By advice she was induced to put in a claim at Washington for the cotton belonging to her husband. The services of lawyers to aid the government were promised to prosecute the claim. Mrs. McIlhenny did not put in her claim and wait for the cotton to sell, but, as stated above went to work to earn an honest living. Some days ago her lawyer at Washington telegraphed for her to come on and get the money, as the claim had been granted. She started for Savannah last night, and on procuring the money, returned to Atlanta, bringing the entire amount in gold with her. This is noble, but plain justice, and we congratulate the worthy lady on her good fortune.—Atlanta (Ga.) Sun.

Keying's Opium Test.

When Keying was sent down some time with the Chinese embassy, to the United States, to investigate the opium smuggling, he began by investigating the Treasury Department at Washington, and that he carried all the cigarettes to a room in front of the White House, and there burned them in the presence of the President and Cabinet, and then declared that there was no opium smuggling to be brought to his notice. This was the only way of finding out how many of these cigarettes contained smuggled opium. The next minister they found that they were not to be left to pursue the same line of conduct. Not a cigarette could now be found in the United States. Keying's opium test.

Troubles in Germany.

Germany is supposed to be the most stable government in the world, but even with it the Iron Chancellor has had serious troubles. Bismarck, who is about to resume his position as minister, has had his share of the Iron Frame, and is about to resume his position as minister, has had his share of political troubles, there is hungry on the Rhine, a rise of 24 per cent. in the price of bread, a loss of general confidence and hope in the future. There are not wanting good judges who say that the signs of the times in Germany are not better, while those of France are called—London Justice.

Graveyard Wit.

An Irishman who had been employed at a Lexington cemetery one time, never was known to work a single day. After receiving the amount, the paymaster, the following solo on his flute, remarking at the same time that he would be in every day during the war: "Yes," said he, "he will command work for me when I'm ready to begin." "And you have the audacity to apply to a Federal cemetery for work when you were a rebel?" inquired the paymaster. "Yes, replied the Irishman: "I helped kill them so I think I had a right to help bury them."

Not knowing the sting of a bee, and giving chase to his tormentor, he succeeded in knocking him into the water, and believing he had drown with a stick with one hand, and taking a pin from his shirt collar with the other, he stuck the pin into the water to the sweet morsels of revenge. FROM now until harvest we should like to get frequent trustworthy crop reports from every town in the county. Information regarding wheat, hay, corn, oats and barley is especially desired. Of course each farmer is sufficiently desirous of knowing about the crops elsewere, to furnish information regarding those in his own neighborhood.

THE deepening of the river, to which we have so long looked forward, is soon to be commenced. It is as inevitable as the rising of the sun, and it can only be temporarily retarded by any influence that may oppose it. While this is true, we hope the work will be prosecuted with a view to peace, and in a non-offensive manner. Because the law grants us many rights, let us not exercise them to the detriment or damage of any individual or firm if the object can be effected without. Hence is much more desirable than war, even if our strength is greater than that of an adversary.

That Report.

We have lately been shown a copy of the report of P. Casgrain, the Government Engineer who made a survey of Pine River during the summer of 1868. Although it may have been, in the main, strictly in accordance with requirements, we find many points which are grossly unjust, and wholly untrue. The estimated cost of the improvement is $200,000, and Col. Wheeler, in transmitting Casgrain's report to the Secretary of War, remarks that "from the location of the harbor and the width of channel, he is of the opinion that the Interests of commerce do not require that the place be made a harbor of refuge." We should not have differed with him in this view. But he further states that "the head of Round Lake is connected with Pine Lake by a narrow, tortuous, and shallow stream three-fourths of a mile in length, and that the bed of the river is marl, clay, gravel and stone." He states that an attempt was made to open a straight cut eight feet deep across the narrow sand beach, and thus effect a change in the river channel; but owing to the nature of the ground, which is clay and gravel, with occasional boulders, it was found very expensive, and finally abandoned." His estimates for piering, piling and dredging are proven exorbitant by counter-estimates of competent calculators. His statement concerning the length and condition of the upper river was erroneous, as it was but a few rods over a quarter of a mile in length, and contained no considerable amount of stone. The present channel is but about sixty rods in length, and contains nothing but loose sand. His statement concerning the improvement at the mouth of the river was also incorrect. The work was also abused for want of the necessary funds, and not because of the clay, gravel and boulders." The work was subsequently accomplished with but little labor. From the fact that these errors must become obvious to the official who is to report, the further the present season, there is nothing in the report detrimental to the cause, provided it is understood by him that a harbor of refuge is not required, but a moderate appropriation to carry on the work commenced by our people and the State, to an extent that shall be responsive to the growing commercial wants of the county.

THE Revenue Law now authorizes the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to see as all taxes not promptly paid when the taxpayer commences business, and Collector Bailey has been instructed to report to the Commissioner the names of all persons now doing business as Liquor Dealers, or dealers in tobacco, snuff or cigars, who have not paid their taxes, and they will be assessed the taxes and heavy penalties. Tax payers should take a note of this.

THE M. E. CHURCH.—We have been shown the plan of this church, and if the building looks as well as the draft it will surpass any church building in the region in architectural beauty. The size is 34 by 52 feet, and it is built in gothic style. The spire will have an elevation of 75 feet from the sills. It is the intention of those having the matter in charge, to complete the building by the first of September.—Northport Tribune.

MR. [illegible]—Charles P. Ringler, a Government Land Locator, writes from Sturgeon Bay to Hon. W. Crosier as follows: "The Muquito Preventative you prepared for one of my men on the 16th has been in use to this date and has proved a perfect success. It proves as you said to the black flies as to the mosquitoes. Please prepare and forward by bearer, five pounds. [11 6

[illegible]—Work upon the revenue cutter Andrew Johnson at Milwaukee is about completed. The repairs have been very thorough, embracing several new frames, new outside plank part new ceiling, new guard beams, new deck beams, new deck, bulwarks, etc. Several changes have also been made in her interior arrangements, which will render her more comfortable and convenient. She has also been thoroughly rolled, and will now last a number of years longer. The cost of the repairs will be in the neighborhood of $15,000.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

STEAMER FOR PINE LAKE.—We are happy in being able to announce the arrival of a steamer for Pine Lake. On Monday last the Annie, owned by Capt. Wm. Mees & Son, arrived and her Capt., Jas. Mees, announced it as his intention to remain if the people gave him sufficient encouragement. On Tuesday he gave a free excursion to the head of South Arm, and has made two trips per day since, getting a good list of passengers and considerable freight. Inasmuch as a steamer of this kind is much needed in this place, we hope our people will encourage the enterprise in every manner possible. She is 60 feet in length by twelve feet in width; has a neat and commodious cabin, and makes good time. She will lay up at Charlevoix, making two trips on Monday to the head of Pine Lake remaining two hours at Charlevoix, to give the people an opportunity to trade. Saturday two trips will be made to South Arm in the same manner. On other days she will make a circuit of the entire lake.

CHARLEVOIX.—The Grand Traverse Herald of last week says: "Of all the little towns scattered about the lake shore in the northern part of the State perhaps there is none combining in its situation more of the elements of beauty than Charlevoix. The crystal clearness of the rapid stream flowing through it; the exquisite beauty of Round Lake, with its terraced banks dotted with white dwellings of the embryo city; Pine Lake with its fringe of wood land, and its setting of gently undulating hills falling away in the distance—all combine to form a picture that cannot fail to charm one who has in his composition a particle of appreciation of the picturesque. Nor is Charlevoix without its natural advantages, regarded from a utilitarian standpoint. Its harbor only needs the improvement which the government has often extended to less promising harbors to make it one of the best on the lakes. Stretching away inland to an indefinite extent is an immense tract of [illegible] as yet partially settled, a large proportion of which must of necessity be tributary to the village. Both village and country exhibit evidences of steady, healthy growth. Many places can be found, no doubt, more attractive to those to whom scenery making is the chief aim in life, but, all things considered, we know of no place in this wild, northern region offering greater inducements to one who desires to make a pleasant home, in a pleasant country, among an agreeable people, where he can enjoy life as well as toil to its worldly substance. If, however, this brief notice should tempt any one to turn his steps in that direction, he should not forget that Charlevoix, in common with the other towns in this region, is only just out of the woods, and lacks, and for years to come will lack, many things which our artificial civilization has taught us to regard as essential to enjoyment. Those who come to the Grand Traverse region to catch trout and have a good time should extend their excursion to Charlevoix. All of which is vouched for by the assistant editor of the HERALD, who has just returned from a visit to that attractive town."

King of The Blood.

FOR SWELLED NECK AND ENLARGED GLANDS Cure.—For several years past I have been badly afflicted with Goitre, or Swelled Neck, and it had become so bad that an effort to raise my arms above my head produced a choking sensation, which was almost unendurable. After trying several remedies with no benefit, I was advised to try KING OF THE BLOOD, which I did, and the effect has been almost miraculous. I took nearly seven bottles and it has not only cured my neck, but greatly improved my general health. I have not felt so well for years. I have been troubled from childhood with fatty tumors on my arms, and I can see the wonderful effects of your medicine upon them, for they have already begun to diminish and I think if I continue on with the medicine they will entirely disappear.

With gratitude, I remain,

CHARLOTTE S. SMITH, Columbus, Pa.

Restoration of a Nose.

In one of the German medical periodicals Dr. Malfatti describes the treatment of a man whose nose had been cut off by a saber. The wound was through the middle of the cartilaginous part of the bridge of the nose, dividing the left ala about its posterior third, the septum through its middle, and the right ala two lines behind the anterior angle of the nostril. The piece cut off was taken up from the place where it lay on the ground, cleaned it with cold water, and reapplied being inserted in its place by means of sutures. After the injury, a dry scab began to form on the left ala, and extended in the course of three days over nearly the whole nose. Healing went on steadily and now careful examination is required to detect and trace of the injury.

The Drought in the East.

The effects of the drought are much more damaging in this section than many suppose. During the entire spring there has been a lack of rain, and the prospects for summer crops are anything but flattering. The hay crop on the uplands will be very poor, and the farmers are hanging on to all the stock of old hay that they have on hand, in hopes of high prices next fall and winter. Oats look very poor, but at a good soaking rain would grow them a life before the harvest. Rye is not much affected as yet. The straw will be of a good length, but the continued dry weather may have this crop nothing but straw. This pays, however at $20 per ton. Potatoes and corn are the only things that have not suffered as yet, and the latter is growing vigorously. Fruit of all kinds has been damaged, more or less, and the growth of vegetables is greatly stunted. The crop of strawberries has been comparatively small, while fears are entertained that there will be a great scarcity of other summer fruits. We need rain, and the prayer of both grower and consumer is let it come.—Flag Trust, June 20

Northern Lake Superiors—An Interesting Region.

The Milwaukee News says Hon. Nat. Clark, of Wisconsin returned Saturday from an excursion of about four weeks into the region north of Duluth and Lake Superior. Leaving Duluth in a mail boat to west to the north shore of the lake, a distance of more than a hundred miles from Duluth, going thence northward on four days in succession, he explored a portion of the country never before visited by the foot of a white man. During this four days he partly crossed twenty lakes in a back country. He says the country there is entirely mountainous and covered without a habitation. The timber consists of scattering pine, white cedar, spruce, fir, tamarack, hemlock and yellow birch—Yellow birch predominates. The mountains are nearly all granite. The streams are nearly all subterranean. The lakes swarm with fish, mostly speckled brook trout. The principal wild animal inhabiting this region is called by the Indians the caribou—half elk and half ox—weighing from 100 to 500 lbs. Its horns branch like that of an elk, and are flat like those of a moose. These animals swarm in the whole region. No deer is to be found there now, and none has ever been seen there. Fur animals abound—bear, otter, beaver, mink, brown and stone martin, and fisher. Partridges and "spruce pheasants" are also plenty. The latter is a bird of great beauty, of purple, green age, and shape resembling the English pheasants. They are as tame as the domestic chicken. Two lakes big enough the Canada line, and here the iron crops out on both sides of both lakes, and is abundant, and in quality ranges from 45 to 60 per cent. of pure iron. A few Chippewa Indians inhabit this region, but game is so plenty that they rarely penetrate any portion of the country except along the banks of the lakes.

The Beecher Scandal.

It is time for ignoring or investigating the whole business. This scandal has run on in a one way long enough. If the Plymouth Church are ready to overhaul it and pronounce a verdict, they should do it. If not the thing should stop—and justly Mr. Beecher has been guilty of more unscrupulous practices than is exemplified in this particular affair, and still remember, in extenuation, the great temptations of both his temperament and his position. And the towering balance of his virtue and his noble service. If only those who are without sin, or only those who have contributed more to the moral and intellectual elevation of their fellow men throw stones at Beecher, he will escape without a bruise. Let us wish and proceed to something more profitable.—Springfield Republican.

The Attacks on the President.

Whatever else may be said about criticisms of the Administration at Washington, it is evident that the papers who have attacked the President have hurt themselves more than anybody else. Rightfully or wrongfully, the people augment treatment—make themselves very comfortable under his management of their affairs. They trouble themselves very little about the outrage in Lame Deer, or the lynching in St. Louis, and his bull-pups at Washington do not bark at him. The people have got to pay into his kitchen every day and time out what he has for dinner. Evidently, there is a feeling of unity in the Chief Magistrate of the nation which will not down at the bidding of politicians who are anxious to succeed him. Neither is it gratifying as an evidence of the growing stability of popular opinion.—New York Graphic.

Russia's Peaceful Revenge.

"Ten Sailors have launched an iron-clad vessel in the Black Sea. The event itself seems a trifling one, but it becomes of importance, when it is considered that the launching of the vessel is a sponge with which Russia will wipe out the humiliation achieved by combined France and England in the Crimean war. One of the points which was secured by that conflict was the vacation of this sea by Russia, for the reason that its occupation by that power was a constant menace to Turkey, while jealousy England and France occasioned them very little inconvenience in maintaining. But today, France has ample own affairs to attend to, and England is so much alarmed at the progress of Alexander, and is so sufficient sickness demanding its presence at home—especially in Ireland—and caring for the sick man of the Orient. Egypt is not given to fighting of late, and Russia will probably have little trouble in the movements of the Black Sea. And thus, as long as the Czar lives, he can do nothing to arrest the Russian occupation of the Black Sea. And thus it happens that the launching of that iron-clad revenges Sebastopol, and proclaims all the defeats and humiliations which Russia sustained in the Crimean war comfort.

Marriage Among the Apaches.

Even these, rudest colored relationships. The Apache Indians have a touch of refinement in marriage to them. From a delightful letter from San Francisco by the John C. Carmany, we take the following account of their courting customs; every young girl is at liberty to refuse a suitor for her hand. The father, mother, and brother are prohibited from interfering in her choice. Her person is at her own disposal. After a brief courtship the lover makes a formal proposal by offering so many horses. Horses are a standard of value among Indians. As the squaw does all the work, horses are accepted as an equivalent for her labor. When a young warrior is enamored, he fastens the horse near the wigwam of the squaw whom land he seeks, where he he is left four days. If she fails to feed and water the horse during that time, the master is rejected; but if she accepts his offer she grooms and loads it, cares for the horse, and then ties him to the wigwam of her lover, as much as to say, "I am willing to be your slave and do your work." At the marriage the sages and anchems meet together, and the bride is not unfrequently loaded with forty to fifty pounds of silver and copper trinkets.

Worries Over Many Things.

He is a happy mortal who each night of his life is not haunted by fears and worriments but thieves break into the house to disturb his slumbers;

Or, lest to-morrow will be a stormy day which will interfere with important engagements;

Or, lest the bill for his last suit of clothes will be sent in before the money to cover it can be collected;

Or, lest the pigs will creep under the garden fence and root up the cabbage plants;

Or, lest the dirt in the next yard is thicker and richer than the carrots and turnips yield better than his own;

Or, lest brother swindles will be considered name heard in class meeting;

Or, lest he will not live always in poverty;

Or, lest the house will take fire, and be burned forth with singed garments;

Or, lest the morning paper may announce the failure of the big bank where his money is deposited;

Or, last somebody may say something that about which his neighbor will believe;

Or, lest the tonic may be stuck by lightning;

Or, last sometimes he will get his just deserts, and have to begin at the commencement of the ladder of fortune, and try working up on an honest plan;

Or, lest the feathers may change during the night, and he have to send for a tailor before breakfast;

Or, last there may be a frost that will nip the buds and kill off the fruit;

Or, lest the baby may fly to the creeps.

For a fact, he who is not worried over many things is a marvel, who has time and inclination to meditate to alleviate the real troubles of those around him.

Those who are so utterly loaned up in self, as to first, and first continually lest imaginary ills may interfere with personal happiness, are too selfish to observe the needs of others around them.—Elm Oyton.

A very remarkable case of resuscitation, reaches Galignani's Messenger, has just been reported at the hospital in the Arcade Grace. A man had hanged himself in a garret in the Rue Saint Jacques, and had already been cut down and examined by the medical men, he was pronounced to be dead. The clinical lecturer, however, ordered him to the last experiment, and he opened the chest and attempted artificial respiration, but without success. He then applied the pole of an electrical battery to the pneumogastric nerves, and passed a strong current at intervals of four seconds. Soon after some signs of respiration, appeared, and in five minutes the cardiac pulsation was perceptible. The epiglottis was tunnelled, and the tongue had to be drawn out with pincers to save a passage for the air. A few ounces of blood were obtained from the medi-oephalic vein, the blood jugulars contracted, the signs of life became more and more manifest, a few drops of alcohol were administered, some carbonate of ammonia became visible without the aid of electricity, warmth returned to the feet, the pulsation in the carotid arteries recommenced, and the patient was saved.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Invigorators," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, unless their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been unusually successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by Dyspepsia or Constipation.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They regulate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in clearing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when; keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Save a distinguished physician of the East, who has devoted much time to Chemistry, all kinds of Worms, or Entozoa, that infest the human system. It is not more the healthy elements of the body that support life, than that there are certain destructive forms of animal life that will subsist only upon the former. Destroy the minute parasites that cause the disease, and health must result. Medicines, as vermifuges, do not always free the system from worms; but these Bitters will free it from worms like the sun does from dew.

The Two Travelers and the Oyster.

Two travelers, as wandering they roved
Across a barren waste on the ocean,
Each hoping to find
Some food for the mind,
Or else for the stomach's devotion,

Each thought of the other, and said:
"Now I'll be bound
If I don't get more than
My share of what's around."

☞ England is sending over money to pay the Alabama award, and we are positive how up that noise of Uncle Sam's hands and protest them to the Treasury.

☞ The Pope has many crosses to bear but none equal to that which he bears up with the greatest fortitude and resignation, that is the ex-Queen Isabella in exile at Rome. It was a fitting retribution.

☞ Mr. Walworth will live prodigiously now. Since his residence in Saratoga, and an wealthy attended Charlevoix on at the prince chapel. By special request he visits were answered to be on hand when his compound will be in the office of the clerk of the other department.

☞ Last week at Tawas, in Iosco County, there was made up the largest raft of logs that has ever been towed across that lake. The raft contained 2,800,000 feet of logs. The dimensions are as follows: Width 141 feet, length 1,000 feet, thus making a surface of about eleven and a half acres.

☞ While the Sentinel sees nothing in England that he wishes to import into this country, except the price in which the goods are worth to him. For three ladies, one English and two American, he has offered $100,000. The English gentleman is occupying her name at number.

☞ Indianapolis exactly in that State, now boasts of a wild man. He was caught in the woods near that place, but a board nearly two feet long, four an over his body from one to two inches in length, two on raw meat, and bark. He a dog. His captors propose to start out exhibiting him.

☞ Mormon counsels in Utah are actually considering the abandonment of Brigham Young by one of his wives. One of the deserted wife and has left him talking with her a large amount of property. Mr. Young, who has retained counsel, and intends to sue for divorce and permanent alimony. He has may be expected to give good reasons before revealed of the mysteries of Salt Lake City.

☞ Scottish matters are becoming hot. A dispatch announces that a large Carlist force has been defeated in Government troops at Igualada, on the journey of Barcelona, after a battle of six hours, during which the fight was frequently taken and lost by the opposing forces. The number of dead and wounded left upon the field was so large that a "religious" every hundred in the town were pressed into service for their removal.

☞ The recent discovery that the Archives containing the secret history of the rebellion have been stolen has caused a sensation in Washington. Three papers had been deposited by Secretary Stanton, and their existence was known to but few. They contained important facts connected with the history of some of our prominent men, which it is probable would not be safe then to make public.

☞ One of the most important acts in the annals of the State of Michigan, particularly of those northern counties is one recently commenced in the United States District Court at Detroit, at the request of the Hon. A. Dew Mcintosh. Railroad Company, against the Supervisors of Otsego county. It is an application for an injunction to restrain the Supervisors from assessing and taxing the lands of that Company in Otsego county, under the law of last winter. The attorneys on both sides are among the ablest in the State, and this suit will undoubtedly be made the test case to settle the question as to whether Railroad lands can or cannot be taxed.

☞ Strange rumors are afloat about an agreement between the Emperors of Russia, Germany, and Austria in part annul to the political existence of the Sick Man of Turkey and administer upon his estate. The last report is that an amicable meeting of the sons of Eastern Europe has already been decided upon, that the outlines of the plan were sketched at the meeting of the three Emperors last year, and that the arrangement of the details was the object of the recent journey of the Emperor of Germany, to St. Petersburgh and of the Czar to Vienna.

Rathbun Items.—The Traverse Bay Eagle says: The propeller City of Traverse brings this trip 300 tons of railroad iron from the rolling mills at Milwaukee, to be used to complete the iron ing of the main line of the D. M. & C. R. R. to Little Traverse Bay. This is the first installment of a lot of 2,000 tons which is to be shipped here from the same point.

A Raid into Charlevoix.

Having occasion to make a sort of Methodist call into the interior of Charlevoix county, a short time since, we had an opportunity of making observations in some portions of the county we had not seen before. Normandy, just over the county line on the Boyne shore, is a thriving little lumbering country for that portion of the country. Confirmed and hardy and lumber and all the staple articles of export, carried on by Meach & Co. They stand on a good commercial business. The country around is one of the best farming sections we have seen, and has the largest extent of improved lands we have noted in any one section.

On this state road for several miles north of the county line, between Antrim and and Charlevoix, there are no improvements, or nothing in which to speak of, and lodging both for conditions of the road and the character of the country in general. The thousand to appearance of the newer of our country, one might come to the conclusion that it is not a sort of neutral ground between two hostile nations—and so it is, for entirely in the jurisdiction of Charlevoix it might be inferred as the owner of that government in keeping their hands as much as they can to handle apart from Antrim, and to render it more difficult for her own people to engage in commercial contact one with foreigners.—As these settlements can leave no foundation in fact, we hope to see that portion of the territory soon occupied by settlers who will not only be educated, but take pride in improving such an important highway and thereby secure favorable intercourse and exchanges.

At Harnell just three we reach the heart of the improved portion of the country and leave there to the north and, at the mouth of Pine River, we find good improvements, good roads, and every indication of prosperity among the inhabitants. At Harnell a Mr. Bond has started a new and even fine creek running through his place, which will be a great accommodation to the people in the surrounding country. Here we strike off from the state road and reached for several miles to the south east, on the bonus. Traverse we pass we found numerous settlers, with good improvements, ravens from five to twenty-five acres each, many of them possessing considerable of cattle and stock. Among those we met the farms of Mr. Kellogg, now of Elk Rapids, and Mr. Andrew Medges, one of Wilson at the head of French lake. Mr. Medges having purchased to engage per month in the manufacture of wagons at Wilson, and on his farm on very reasonable terms and No. 168 of land Office cost him of that people.

We also came to a school house in full session, right here in the wild forest where one would scarcely dream of seeing such evidences of civilization.

The New Dog Law

DOGS TO BE TAXED AND LICENSED AND COLLARED.

It appears, contrary to what has been reported, that the dog tax and license bill passed by the Legislature at the last session did become a law, being approved by the Governor on April 30, and it takes effect ninety days from the end of the session, or July 8th. The following is the text of the law:

AN ACT to Provide for Licensing the Keeping of Dogs:

SECTION 1—The People of the State of Michigan enact, That every person who shall own or keep a dog shall procure a license therefor from the clerk of the township or city in which he may reside, for which he shall pay to such clerk as follows: For a male dog one dollar, for a female dog three dollars; which license shall run and be in force the day of its date to the 1st day of April next, thereafter. He shall cause the dog to wear around its neck, during the life of the license, and no longer, a collar distinctly marked with the owner's name and registered number.

SEC. 2—The clerk, or proper applicant shall make out, in form to provide, and issue such license. It shall be dated, shall contain the name of the person to whom, and a description of the dog for which issued, the sum paid for it, and a statement of the time when it will run out. All licenses for any one year, commencing the first day of April, shall be numbered consecutively in the order in which issued, commencing with No. 1. The clerk shall register in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, the name of each licensee, description of his dog as to the license, the number of the license, and the amount paid. The said clerk shall, on request, permit any police officer or constable of his township or city to take copies of such register. The clerk may retain twenty cents for each license given by him, and shall pay the balance of the money received for licenses into the township or city treasury; and the moneys received for licenses for any one year, and from fines for its non-payment, shall constitute a fund for the payment of damages which any person or persons may sustain by the killing or wounding of sheep or lambs, by a dog or dogs, within such township or city, during such year.

SEC. 3—When any person shall be damaged by the killing or wounding of his sheep or lambs by a dog or dogs, he may call on a justice of the peace of the township board, who shall proceed in view of the sheep or lambs so killed or wounded by a dog or dogs, he shall make a certificate thereof in writing, stating the amount of damage sustained by such person, and shall deliver the same to the clerk of said township or city, who shall file the same in his office and record it in the records of the township. The said justice shall receive for his services in each case the sum of two dollars, and ten cents for each mile necessarily and necessarily traveled by him in performing such services, to be paid out of the aforesaid fund, on the order of the township board or proper city officer or officers.

SEC. 4—At the annual meeting of the township board in each year, and at a meeting of the Common Council, of each city, in March or April of each year, the said board or council as the case may be, shall examine all certificates of damage filed by the clerk as aforesaid, during the preceding year, and if satisfied that in any case or cases the certified damages are excessive, they may reduce the same to such amount as they may consider just, out of the fund aforesaid, if it be sufficient for that purpose; and if not sufficient they may order a proportionate payment of each claim. If anything remains of such fund, after satisfying all claims on it as aforesaid, it shall be apportioned among the several school districts of such township or city, in proportion to the number of children therein, of school age: Provided, That no payment of damages shall be made, as provided for in this section unless the party applying for the same shall make it up year in the satisfaction of the township board or Common Council, that he has made all due effort and has not been able to obtain satisfaction therefor from the owner or owners of the dog or dogs which shall have done the damage. And provided further, That if any dog or dogs for which a license or licenses shall have been given by the clerk of any township or city, shall kill or wound any sheep or lambs, or any adjacent township or city, and the owner of such sheep or lambs shall not be able to obtain satisfaction therefor from the owner of such dog or dogs, the damages so sustained may be collected and paid out of the license fund of the township or city by the clerk of which such license or licenses were given, in the same manner, and subject to the same proceedings, as insofar as may be, as if such damage had been done in such township or city.

SEC. 5—Whoever shall keep a dog contrary to the provisions of this act, shall forfeit the sum of ten dollars to be received with costs, in an action of debt or assumpsit in the name and for the use of the people of this State.

SEC. 6—Any person may, and it shall be the duty of every police officer and constable of any township or city to kill any and all dogs going at large, and not licensed and collared according to the provisions of this act, and such officers shall be entitled to receive from the township or city treasury fifty cents for each dog so killed by them.

SEC. 7—In cities having no pound, the officer who shall have the custody of the records of the Common Council, shall have power conferred upon and perform the duties required by the clerk, by this act.

SEC. 8—All acts or parts of acts, inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

Approved April 30, 1873.

Silver.

It seems that the "Silver Islet" mines discovery near the north shore of Lake Superior a few years ago, are proving to be among the richest in the United States. The ore grows richer as they go down upon it, and the vein shows signs of increasing strength as they approach the shore from the Island. The average now is $1,500 to the ton, gold value, and 224 tons have been shipped to the Wyandotte silver smelting works since the opening of navigation. $50,000 of fine silver has been sent to the mint to be coined since June 5th. $200,000 has been spent in building coffer dams, piers and miners' houses, and what seemed to impossibility to the old Montreal Mining company, the working of the mine, has been accomplished by the energy of Captain Wall.

Dogs.

Medical men may well puzzle their brains over a singular case which has recently occurred—or rather, which has recently come to a climax. About three years ago a Mr. Hall of Elmira, New York struck his head against a beam in his barn, and made unconscious. He quickly recovered, and apparently no serious consequences resulted from the accident. Soon afterward he removed to Scranton, Pennsylvania, where he engaged in mercantile business. A short time ago he was suddenly seized with a peculiar pain in his head, followed by violent spasms which continued for some hours. When these had ceased he obtained a great night's rest; the next morning his actions greatly puzzled his friends, who finally discovered that the memory from the date of the accident in Elmira was entirely gone. Time was a blank to him during those years. He recognized his wife and oldest child, but two children born within the three years were as strangers to him. In a few days his mental and physical vigor returned, but the singular gap in his memory remained. Mr. Hall could scarcely be made to believe his own condition, but all efforts to awaken some recollection of that black space of time seemed in vain. Hopes are entertained, however, that memory will in some way be restored.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias issued out of the Circuit Court for the county of Wayne in the State of Michigan, to me directed and delivered, against the goods and chattels lands and tenements of John J. Brown, I did, on the 19th day of July, A. D. 1873, duly open and take all the right, title and interest the said John J. Brown of, in and to the following described piece or parcel of land, to-wit: Section No. Five (5) in Township No. Thirty-three (33) North, of Range Eight (8) West. The whole of said above described land being situate in the County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan, with all the rights and appurtenances thereto belonging, I shall sell at public vendue, at the front door of Fox & Rose's Hall, in the village of Charlevoix, (the place being the place of holding the Circuit Court for Charlevoix county,) to the highest bidder, at the office aforesaid, on at Ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, all the right, title and interest which the said John J. Brown had on the day when the said writ was delivered to me, or at any time thereafter, in and to the above described premises, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the said writ of execution, with interest and costs.

Dated, July 12, A. D. 1873.

DR. RANSOM'S

LIVE SYRUP AND POLYPODIUM

HONEY SYRUP

Dr. Cox's Hive (Croup) Syrup has been known at least for the last fifteen years as a remedy for Colds and Coughs far older and better reputation than any other Cough medicine ever offered to the public. It is known as the Original Syrup of Squills, and a formula may be found in every medical dispensatory.

Dr. Ransom's Hive Syrup and Tolu is the ingredients for Cox's Hive Syrup, combine Balsam of Tolu, demulcent of Slippery Elm, and Licorice, a combination that must commend it to every one as a remedy for Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, and Colds, needs but an introduction.

Hive Syrup is Carefully Prepared under the personal direction of a regular Physician of over twenty years' practice, whose title is attached to the directions on the bottle.

Its taste is very pleasant and children like it.

Every family should keep it as a ready remedy for Croup, Colds, &c., among the children.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO., Props. Buffalo, N. Y.

DR. J. R. MILLER'S MAGNETIC BALM.

INTERNAL

It cures as if by MAGNETISM. Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Sprains, &c. We therefore very properly call it "Magnetic Balm." It is a vegetable preparation. It has no equal for Cramp, Cholera, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic and all Bowel Complaints.

Its timely use will prevent Colds, Croup, Diphtheria, Quinsy, and all Throat Troubles.

When properly used, Fever and Ague and other Malarial diseases of the Southern and Western States are easily broken up.

Nervous Pain, Sick Headache, and Rheumatism are cured in this mild manner that others have failed. Toothache, Earache, Burns, Chilblains and Frosted Feet, are relieved by its use.

The genuine has D. Ransom, Son & Co.'s name blown in the bottle, and Dr. J. R. Miller's Magnetic Balm blown in the glass. Examine closely, and buy none but the genuine.

ROSADALIS

THE GREAT ALTERATIVE AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

It is not a quack nostrum.

The ingredients are published on each bottle of medicine. It is used and recommended by Physicians wherever it has been introduced. It will positively cure and blood diseases, RHEUMATISM, ERYSIPELAS, SALT RHEUM, GOUT, SCIATICA, BRONCHITIS, SYPHILIS and MERCURIAL DISEASES. ROSADALIS will cure ERYSIPELAS and all diseases arising from an impure condition of the Blood. Send for our ROSADALIS ALMANAC, in which you will find certificates from ministers of the Gospel, and others.

SCROFULA

Dr. R. Wilson Carr, of Baltimore, says he has used ROSADALIS in his practice and other cases with much satisfaction.

Dr. T. C. Pugh, of Baltimore, recommends it in Dyspepsia especially in connection with diseased Blood, saying it is superior to any preparation he has ever used.

Rev. Dabney Hall, of the Baltimore M. E. Conference South, says he has been so much benefitted by its use, that he cheerfully recommends it to all his friends and acquaintances.

Cravens & Co., Druggists, Jeffersonville, Va., say it never has failed to give satisfaction.

Samuel G. McFadden, Manufacturer, Tennessee, says it cured him of Rheumatism when all else failed.

THE ROSADALIS IS CONNECTION WITH OUR

KROMER'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

will cure Chills and Fever, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, &c. We guarantee ROSADALIS superior to all other Blood Purifiers. Send for Descriptive Circulars and Almanac.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN JURUBEBA BLOOD PURIFIER

is the most powerful cleanser, strengthener and restorer of vitalizing tonic of medicine known to Materia Medica.

It is especially adapted to constitutions worn down and debilitated by the warm weather of spring and summer, when the blood is in its active circulation, frequently gathering impurities from congested and torpid organs, a thing of all the vital organs and is manifested by Tumors, Eruptions, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, &c.

When weary and languid from overwork, and dullness, drowsiness and inactivity take the place of energy and vigor, it is time to go to Nature to build it up and help the vital forces to regain their comparative power.

In the heat of Summer, Nature's Liver and Spleen do not properly perform their functions; the digestive and blood-making organs are inactive, producing weakness of the stomach and intestines and a predisposition to bilious derangements.

DR. O'BILLS.

EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

Is prepared directly from the South American grass, and is positively safest of all these difficulties; it will cleanse the system from poison, strengthen the digestive powers, and remove all mental gloom from nervous and depressed invalids.

It should be freely taken, as Jurubeba is recommended by medical men as the most efficient Tonic, Bitter and Restorative known in the world. Send for Circular.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Marine Report

Our Progress in Development.

All projects of internal improvement that bring new and remote communities to enjoy equal advantages for trade and commerce with those upon the sea board, have a strong tendency to developing the various interests upon which an industrial and commercial people depend for success in the pursuit of prosperity and happiness. Such projects also have a wide and far extending influence beyond their location. Consequently regions so favored are noted for rapid growth and improvement, and the accumulation of wealth. Where an agricultural region is so favored, and under the influence of a free Republican government, education is encouraged, and the intellectual and moral improvement of the people advanced. The accountant, the merchant, or the tradesman will ask: Is there any change for the better coming upon this community, in the line of which you speak? We answer, yes! The steam dredge, the sounding of which is heard from day to day, excavating the river bed, speaks of a great change for the better. Soon the work enacted and free ex vigulore of Round and Pine Lakes will be practicable to most lake and river craft. The fact of the quiet security of all shipping on the waters of Round Lake will make it an inviting region for railroads to resort for freight. Who will say that the ability of carrying craft to navigate Round or Pine Lake will not been great benefit to the region? And this accomplished, other projects will, no doubt, be unfolded to our view, and be pursued to completion. Even now there is a railroad in process of construction that will pass the head of Pine Lake at a distance of six miles, and very soon a silk factory will be seen down upon us from the flag staves; and when these projects become realities, who can doubt their permanent and beneficial effects upon business interests generally. We have not set spoken of the manufacturing interests that are likely to settle down among us, though ere is the most important. Suffice it to say that every step forward made in works of internal improvement is a more urgent and a more satisfactory invitation for other branches of business to fall in and work in harmony together. With such a view we leave a versifying to encourage us. We ever, that the duty of the hour is to be industrious, to practice economy, to keep out of debt; and all so living, will find themselves buoyed by the rising tide of prosperity and the growth in the value of real estate, to a competence of wealthy goods in this life, and enjoy in fair measure in old age.

The Detroit Evening gives a flattering account of the Indian Treaty at Mackinac. It says the Indians were very much pleased with the liberality shown by the Government in the matter of annuities, and that they are now all the members of the tribe and will be the same thing up to a date [illegible] which time the Grand River Indians will be entitled to their annuities. All the money paid to the Indians will be expended in the State, as they will not be required to leave home, as in the past, in order to receive their annuities. The Indians were also pleased with the liberality shown by the Government in the matter of the Mackinac Military Reservation, which will be turned over to the State, and will be used as a public park. Tax Sales.—The Auditor has been directed by the Auditor General to the pages to which to publish the Tax Sales of the counties of Charlevoix, Emmet and Manitou.

Bridges in Town.—By reference to the new advertisement elsewhere it will be seen that we have a permanently located bridge among us. We hope he will be encouraged by a liberal patronage.

Bon. Wm. A. Howard has declined re-election as President of the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad. He leaves soon to take charge of the land department of the Northern Pacific Railroad.

Belmont.—Rev. Geo. L. Cole requests us to state that the last Quarterly Conference of Charlevoix Circuit will be held at the parsonage on Saturday, Aug. 9 at 9 o'clock a. m. All members of the Conference are requested to be present.

Camp Meeting.—Camp Meeting commences at Pine Lake landing on Wednesday and continues over the sabbath. The steamer Annie will leave the village at 10 o'clock each day, direct for the Camp ground. Half fare will be charged during the season.

Pine Lake.—One of the best located farms, very near the lake, near the Depot and dock at the head of Pine Lake, with large crops and good stock will be sold on reasonable terms. For further particulars, inquire at Law Office of H. H. Green, or of Mr. Vogel on the premises. [11-6]

Pearen's Mill.—The steamer Annie, plies regularly at this place on her trips up Pine Lake. Mr. Parker is extending his dock out into deep water, and will erect a commodious warehouse on it, for the accommodation of grain and freight. Mr. Parker expects to do a lively business in grinding this fall.

Booze Jail.—One of our Hibernian citizens, a Knight of St. Crispin. Was arrested on Tuesday for being drunk and disorderly, and by the concerted efforts of three officers was lodged in jail. In the morning, however, it was discovered that the bird had flown—leaving, with existence of outside dog through the grout floor-ing. He was re-arrested Tuesday morning made to tell where he procured his liquor, and finally paid.

Another Large Vessel.—The Detroit Tribune says: The largest sailing vessel ever built on Lake Michigan launched down on Monday night in tow of the tug Geo. N. Brady, her towbill amounting to $600. The vessel is the George Murray, launched a short time since at Manitowoc, and is of the following dimensions: Length, 260 feet, depth 14 feet, beam 34 feet. Her carrying capacity is said to be 50,000 bushels of wheat. She was built by Geo. S. Rand, for J. B. Blanson, of Racine.

Fire Engines.—Mr. Parish and family are about to start for Florida in the yacht Mary Ellen, by way of the Fox and Mississippi rivers.

Our Progress in Development.

All projects of internal improvement tending new and remote communities to enjoy equal advantages for trade and commerce with those upon the sea-board have a strong agency in developing the various interests upon which an industrial and commercial people depend for success in the pursuit of prosperity and happiness. Such projects also have a wide and far extending influence beyond their location. Consequently regions so favored are united for rapid growth and improvement, and the accumulation of wealth. Where an agricultural region is so favored, and under the influence of a free Republican government, education is encouraged, and the intellectual and moral improvement of the people advanced. The homesteader, the mechanic, or the tradesman will ask if there any change for the better coming upon this community, in the line of which you speak? We answer, yes! The steam dredge, the working of which is heard from day to day, excavating the river bed, speaks of a great change for the better. Soon the much-trusted and free navigation of Round and Pine Lakes will be practicable to most lake and river craft. The fact of the great security of all shipping on the waters of Round Lake will make it an inviting region for sailors to resort for freight. Who will say that the ability of carrying craft to navigate Round or Pine Lake will not be a great benefit to the region? And this accomplished, other projects will no doubt be undertaken in our view, and be prosecuted to completion. Even now there is a railroad in process of construction that will open the head of Pine Lake at a distance of six miles, and very soon a lake shore railroad will come down upon us from the Bay shore; and when these projects become realities, who can doubt their permanent and beneficial effects upon local interests generally. We have not yet spoken of the manufacturing interests that are likely to settle down among us, of which room is the most important. Suffice it to say that every step forward made in works of internal improvement is a more expert and a more satisfactory invitation for other branches of business to fall in and work in harmony together. With such a view we have everything to encourage us. We say, then the duty of the hour is to be industrious, to practice economy, to keep out of debt; and all we bring will find themselves heirs of the rising tide of prosperity and the growth in the value of real estate, to a competence of wealthy goods in this life, and enjoy an easy decline to old age.

The Bridge.—The bridge across Pine River has been discontinued for general use. The passage of the steam dredge through it took out two of the piles, and of course destroyed that portion of the structure supported by them. Upon close examination, what remains of it proves to be entirely worthless, and the idea of repairing it has been abandoned. The question of the erection of a new bridge now comes home to us with caution, and a special session of the Board of Supervisors has been called for Friday next, to take the matter into consideration. The erection of a structure which is essential to the safe and unconfined travel to and from any portion of our county by either land or water, should receive the support of the whole county. It is the only gateway to the vast undeveloped resources of the county, and every lake township is vitally interested in its conclusion. The construction of a new bridge is just as essential as our river improvement now in progress.

Discovery & Care.—The Progress in response to our late item concerning these gentlemen, says: "We are glad to endorse the above compliment to Messrs. Daugherty & Carr, from their home paper. If they need reference as to their skill and reliability, they need look no further than this place, where their work for the Iron Company is now going on in a most satisfactory manner. Success to them."

Mysterious.—Charles F. Baggley, a Government Land Locator, arrived from Saginaw Bay to-day. W. Goudey accompanied him. Mr. Baggley is of the opinion that Pine Lake will be made a favorite resort for sailors. He says that the Bay shore is a beautiful country, and has the appearance of being well settled. He left on the steamer Jenkins for Detroit.

The Two Travelers and the Glider.

Two travelers in summer time,
Found near the sea-coast side
And one he was a merchant man,
A seaman was the other.

To some it can't be told,
Nor of the coming thought,
But how I found the other man,
And as the picture stated.

The first a seaman like in mind
Of wonder, I discover'd
The second was a merchant man,
And yet he loves to sail.

Both took their seats in the glider,
And as the glider moved,
Each one of them he gazed he,
But took no notice of the speed he.

Taking the quarrel they entered,
Into a quarrel each they,
Each one of them he gazed he,
Each one of them he gazed he.

He took the other in the mind
And he was of a wondering,
Which had not been entirely formed
To mind for purposes then.

The other he was a merchant man,
And he was of a thirty years,
He was a man of wonder,
And that was how he found it.

The seaman he was not good for
To be a man of wonder.

Miscellaneous.

"GEE."

I have often heard it said that a man is never ashamed to own a mistake, and I am willing to admit that I have been caught in that category more than once; but I never was so much ashamed of myself as I was the other day when I found myself in the wrong, and had to own up to it. I was driving a pair of horses attached to a wagon, and was on my way to the post-office, and, as I had a number of errands to do, I had to stop frequently. I was in a hurry, and was not very careful about the manner in which I stopped, and, as the consequence, I found myself in the wrong. I had to back my horses, and, as I was doing so, I called out "Gee," which is the word I always use when I want my horses to back. I had not gone far when I found that I had made a mistake, and I called out "Haw," which is the word I always use when I want my horses to go ahead. I had not gone far when I found that I had made a mistake, and

Steamers [illegible] Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sunday [illegible]

Steamers of Traverse City have only eight sailings each week this season.

Hoxsie, Lee & Co., of Traverse City, advertise four only very days from Detroit, via Sault Ste. Marie.

Camp Meeting.—The summer classic will have its closing ceremonies for the season proper at 9:30 a. m., and 4 p. m. to-day. It is an excellent opportunity for those living to attend.

Gen. W. Cameron has just received a [illegible] supply of finer candies, Kennedy's Diamond Confectionery, and Sterling Mixture (50 that will not cost). Next arrival [illegible] next week.

The steamer of Manistee running and in fact along the Lake shore are almost hourly discovering the discovery of [illegible] Lake. The Detroit Free [illegible] of it as the Chicago Times?

Rink Rumors.—The Herald says: The boys of Hannah, Lay & Co. and Smith, Parkin & Co. have purchased the Howard Brothers store for $11,000 and [illegible] Fitch and Alfred Ashmun of Cleveland, for $10,000.

Messrs. Carpenter & Sons' mode of doing business—quick sales and small profits—seems to meet with general favor. Judging from the busy appearance of their store. We feel sad [illegible] there is only [illegible] town.

The Boyne Investment continues with vigor. The bridge is now the month, working its way slowly, but steadily into Lake Michigan, leaving an unobstructed channel behind it of ten feet in depth. The work will be completed early in the coming week.

For Sale.—One of the best located farms, very rich and near the Boyne and about at the head of Pine Lake, with [illegible] and good stock will be sold on reasonable terms. For further particulars, inquire at Law Office of H. D. Green, or of Mr. Vinet on the premises. 16 tf.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Wisconsin arrived in town Thursday from Beaver Harbor, having in custody Anthony O'Malley, and Mr. Busby, who were in some way mixed up in the scrape on the Island last year. They are sureties, however, that the matter will come favorable to them.

Steamer Atlantic Ruined.—The wreck of the steamer Atlantic, which was sunk off Long Point, Lake Erie, by collision with the propeller Oglesburg, in 1851, by which disaster many lives were lost, lost at length been nearly raised by the company which took in hand the work.

Extension.—The W. T. Co's propeller Dodge plies is making a round excursion trip from Buffalo, having on board John Allen, Jr., President of the line, and about twenty other fine-haired gents of Buffalo. They stopped here Tuesday, and the entire party, including the ladies made a trip up the lake on the Chanie.

The contractors on the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad are pushing the road to completion with all possible speed. The construction train is now running within 33 miles of Little Traverse, and the grading of the line, except ten miles, is substantially finished to that town, a distance of 137 miles from Grand Rapids. The entire grading will be finished and iron laid by the first of October next.

Personal.—Messrs. A. B. Turner and P. F. Harrington, of the Grand Rapids Eagle, are in town, and will sojourn here a week or two, wheeling away the hours with the cool and inviting reel. Their cost to [illegible] already betokens true enjoyment. Cooper's "grab" and Dr. Jordan's front must suffer.

—The Right Rev. Bishop Burgess, of Detroit, was in town this week. He is making a circuit of his Diocese.

—Tug Manistique Cases.—The party which left out from Detroit for Mackinaw a few days since, on board the steamer Morton City, to lay the telegraph cable across the Straits to Point St. Ignace, were unsuccessful in the undertaking. On taking soundings the bottom was found to be so uneven and rocky as to render the success of the undertaking too hazardous and uncertain of durability. Another point was selected, when it was discovered that the cable on board was too short by about one mile in length. The additional length will be manufactured and the cable laid.

Lighting the Lights.—The light-house that ought to have been built on Point Au Sable on appropriation of Congress for that purpose, has been furnished at Point Aux Barques about two miles further down the shore. Relative to the selection of a site on Point Au Sable it is [illegible] considerable to call this a "lighthouse at Point Au Sable," and the selection meets with a general feeling to every one here. The proper place would be on the outer end of the dangerous reef that exists here. There located, it would be an exact guide to the entrance into our harbor, and would guard against [illegible] possible as to the location of that vessel destroyer. The reef extends about three-fourths of a mile to the northwest of the site chosen.

Contemplative.—The afternoon and evening convent in this village to transact business of great importance to our harbor and commercial interests. A mass meeting of the people of the Lake region has been called by citizens to consider the propriety of opening the upper river to a harbor of refuge, and from the tone of the resolutions among the people we judge that the prospect is serious. We hope that our people will not, on their eagerness to open the upper river, neglect the proper opening and protection at the mouth of our harbor of refuge, without which the improvements above will be in vain. The whole convention is of the Board of Supervisors to discuss the harbor question. It is to confirm what disposal the Board will make of the matter.

Lights Ordered.—The rule in Chambers' Atlas recently established for [illegible] and vessels carrying lights would [illegible] from that given by us a few days since, and is as follows: All steamers [illegible] carrying and when under way must carry a bright white light at the [illegible] and head and all other vessels must carry a light at the [illegible] or near the [illegible], and another on a mast near the stern or on the flag-staff at the stern, the latter being at an elevation of at least 20 feet above all other lights on the steamer. All steamers must carry a green light upon the starboard side and a red light on the port side. The most brilliant of steamers rigged for carrying on [illegible] visible at a distance of at least five miles on a clear dark night, and the lanterns to be so constructed as to show a uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of twenty points of the compass, viz: from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on either side of the ship. The [illegible] and [illegible] of steamers not rigged for carrying sail to be visible at a distance of at least five miles on a clear dark night, and the respective lanterns to be so constructed that the green light shall show a uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of twenty points of the compass, viz: from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on either side of the ship, and that the green lights shall show a uniform light all around the horizon. The colored side lights to be visible at a distance of at least two miles on a clear dark night, and the lanterns to be so constructed as to show a uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of twenty points of the compass, viz: from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on their respective sides.

Home Sentinel.—

The news here has made its appearance in Charlevoix County, at the forms of W. S. Baker and Clark Shipman, totally destroying a piece of late wheat and oats for the latter. They are now moving their a piece of fall wheat which, however, is too ripe for their use. In crossing the Lake where there is no obstruction to their travel, they move about one yard per minute; but after several days' march they few are are yet twenty rods into the woods. But there been grain in their line of march to doubt they would have made better time. Thus coming, they are evidently native to this region, as farmers may look for their return; but if they put in their appear-

A Man's Experience in His own House.

This is a peculiar position of affairs in overlooking in the night and listening like a mark in your house. This was the case with Mr. Howe, an Essex street, Leeds trade. As soon as he detected the noise, which appeared to be down stairs, he gave a cry, and all the household in a good deal of excitement. He was evidently convinced of the reality of the disturbance, and was certain that with the children, who were in bed, it was his duty to descend, and assist if he could. What he found was evidently a false alarm, but how different it was to what he expected. All was Tunneling the Rocks Mountains.

Two Boxer (Del.) News says: A party of men on foot last Monday passed through the Rocky Mountains on a prospecting tour. Many years ago, prior to the cause engine, but the parties who were in the party were unable to find the entrance. The other day, however, the members of the party succeeded in finding the entrance, and after penetrating a distance of about 100 feet, came to a large body of pure gold. The party were unable to make it larger owing to the want of powder, and so they left it as it was and came home. The party were accompanied by a number of Indians, who were very much surprised when they saw the gold. They said that they knew where it was, but were afraid to tell the white men, as they thought they would be killed. It is supposed that the Indians will now show the white men the way to the place.

Eleven Girls in Trousers.

Eleven girls in trousers, and all members of the Freshman class of Cornell University, are the latest novelty in the way of a college class. The class is composed of girls of the Freshman class of Cornell University, and all of them are dressed in trousers, coats, and vests. LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Marine Report

For the week ending Friday noon Aug 15.
Friday.—Propeller City—up.
Monday, 11—Steamer Sheridan.
Tuesday, 12—Mallory—up.
Thursday, 14—Columbian; Burrows.

Send in your job work.

Watch for Draper's new advertisement next week.

The steamer Sheridan has been tied up for the balance of the season.

For Whooping Cough is raging among the children throughout the county.

Prosecut.—I. D. Hathaway, of this village, returned on Thursday from Fish Lake.

The Fountain City will make an effort to enter Round Lake on Friday next. So says Capt. Gribbon.

Free.—H. Morgan has commenced the job of filling up the space between the south pier and the shore.

New arrival of stationery, boot blacking, violin strings, boot pencils, inks, etc., at Geo. W. Crocker's Medical Hall.

Exposure.—Commissioner of the State Land office, who has kicked up such an excitement for the past two years, was in town this week.

F. Murray has raised $17 among the railroad lands at the head of the lake, for the purchase of a library for the Star Sabbath School near the head of South Arm.

River Improvement.—As we go to press the steam dredge is about finishing up at the mouth of the river. We now have ten feet of water from Lake Michigan to Round Lake.

The Bridge.—The report of the proceedings of the Board of Supervisors elsewhere will fully explain the situation of the bridge question. As it now stands, we must use the old structure until something turns up."

The Mayer Line, arrived on Thursday evening, and was towed into the harbor, where it discharged freight at the docks for several of our merchants. She will take on a load cargo of lumber for Milwaukee.

Lumbering Note.—The agents of the Patent Cedar Scrub Lightning Rod, have been in town during the week and have erected rods on the new residences of Hon. S. S. Dixon; the residences of Hon. E. A. Green, M. J. Stackman, Ezra Campbell, Mr. McHale, Jackson Ingalls, the Sentinel office and the residence of the publisher. Their advertisement will appear next week, and a more extended notice.

The Lectanau Tribune says:—Manitowocko, a member of the Ottawa tribe of Indians died at New Mission, Tuesday, July 29. He was one of the most noted of his race in this part of the country, and was universally known as the Doctor, or "Medicine Man." He attracted attention to himself by wearing his hair in the Iroquois style and ornaments of silver. It is said that he was present at the Indian massacre at Chicago in 1830, but was always friendly disposed towards the whites, and advised his people to live peaceably with them and conform to their customs. Latterly he had Dood's kidney life, and it is not known that he had a single sore-rigg ache. May his spirit be at rest in the happy hunting grounds.

The Body of the Late Frank L. Kiser Found.

On Wednesday evening an Indian, wading along the beach between Norwood and Antrim, found a human body, having been apparently thrown up by the action of the waves. Information of the discovery was at once conveyed to Justice Knight, who held an inquest Thursday morning. The body was entirely unrecognizable, and was only identified by Kiser's name in one of the boots. Mr Washburn, of this village, upon hearing of the discovery, dispatched a team for the body, which arrived yesterday. The clothing, and consequently the flesh remained upon the body, but upon those parts exposed—the head and hands—no flesh remains, the naked, glaring skull being all there is left of Frank's once sunny countenance. The body was temporarily interred, to await the further action of his relatives in Wisconsin.

The Sierra, of this village, and Hon. Campbell, of Beaver Harbor, have started out to search for a schooner that was sunk by collision with the propeller Milwaukee sixteen years ago, for the discovery of which one thousand dollars has been offered. The is said to be the only person who knows her whereabouts.

Distinguished Visitors.—Senator John A. Logan of Illinois, Gage, the proprietor of the Chicago Sherman house, Fairbank, the lard man, and other distinguished gentlemen, were passengers on the Belvidere, on Thursday, and walked up to our village. The Senator was immensely pleased with our harbor, and believed that we were deserving of an appropriation. They will visit Pine Lake before returning to Chicago, and upon a short issue in waiting.

Piers Rebuilt.—A will be seen by the proceedings of the Board of Supervisors an appropriation of $1,000 was made for the opening of the upper River. The mass meeting held on Saturday pledged $500, and enough more will probably be raised to swell the amount to $1200. The commissioners appointed by the Board will soon negotiate with Capt. Stuckney for the dredging, and enough money will be realized to construct movable breakwaters at the head of the River. The work will undoubtedly be commenced within ten days.

Religious.—Rev. Geo. I. Cole requests us to state that there will be a two days' meeting held on the farm of Mrs. O Fisher, opposite J. Inwood's, beginning on the 22d inst., at 6:00 p. m. A general attendance is desired.

—Rev Mr. Cole will preach at the school house to-morrow at the usual morning hour.

—Rev. Geo. W. Wood, of this village, exchanges pulpits to-morrow evening with Rev. Mark Hemenway, of Norwood; consequently, the latter gentleman may be expected to preach at the above hours or in this village at the usual evening hour.

The Garden Crosser.—This is probably Henry Ward Beecher's opinion; for the Christian Union of which he is editor being asked its opinion of croquet playing, answers as follows:—We think it is amusing to women, agreeable to men, and fascinating to ministers. For all persons who need gentle exercise, it is even better than billiards; indeed it is a kind of field, or billiards "game in grass." Anybody that is not too proud to play croquet ought to dress up in starched linnen, put in a bag, and hang up like a suit of Sunday clothes and not let out till meeting time."

Chairvoyant.—The last number of the Scattard speaks very hopefully of the growth of that place which promises to have being made, clearly foreshadow. The steam dredge is now at work deepening the river and making a channel for the entrance of large vessels into Pine Lake. They have called a special meeting of the Board of Supervisors to come an appropriation for a new bridge in place of the old one, and everything looks favorable for the future. They also need a good passenger steamboat on their lakes, and we hope they will have one for another year."—Petoskey Bay Reporter.

The brother of the Progress is informed that we have a fine little steamer on Pine Lake that fully meets the wants of the people, making daily trips to the head of Pine Lake and the Arm.

The Army Worm.

Bangs, Mich., Aug 11, 1873.

Editor Sentinel:—

I observed in the Sentinel of last week, a communication in regard to the appearance of the army worm in the Town of Norwood. The first information I had out of that visitor in the region, was last year. It appeared then in the month of June on the farm of W. C. Mears, in this Town. It was first discovered in an old chopping literally covering the logs and ground. In moving making a noise more like the rustling of silk clothing. They moved from that location into an adjoining oat and cornfield, passing through and nearly demolishing both and disappearing in the adjoining timbered land and have not been seen or heard from since in the this Township that I am aware of. I am credibly informed that a similar scourge has visited the fruit orchards of some sections of the State of New York. Stripping them of their foliage, and some orchards nearly or entirely for years. About 25 years ago an army worm visited the whole orchards of Vermont doing considerable damage. I believe our army worm to be a smaller worm and do not think it is likely to do much damage among us.

Yours,
C. Sorin.

PROBATE ORDER.—State of Michigan County of Charlevoix, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix, held at the Probate Office in the village of Charlevoix, on Friday, the eighth day of August in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three. Present, Hon. Delos Cook, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Warren Ingalls, deceased, Lorenzo Wilcox having filed in this Court his petition praying that it may be granted to him or to some other suitable person, administration of said estate, be granted to the County Treasurer of said County, there to be kept in the Probate Office, to the value of fifty dollars, and show cause, if any there be, why the several amounts should not be allowed. And it is further ordered, that said Petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Sentinel, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county of Charlevoix, four successive weeks, previous to said day of hearing.

CHRISTIAN LOVE.

BY TRUE HASTINGS, MT. VT.

Christian love to friend—and foe
Only by one means we show
Let us be what we would seem
In word and deed, in thought and dream.
Actions only language express
Which is true and which is less.
Words are cheap—deeds are gold
Actions only can be told.

With no other facts we see,
I am as good as you or he.
Let us then be what we are,
Leave ourselves to God's fair care.
Let us then be what we seem
In word and deed, in thought and dream.
Christian love to friend—and foe
Only by one means we show.

GUELDEN'S LAST DRINK.

AN INCIDENT OF A CONFLAGRATION.

I have traveled the road many a time by day and night, over since it was laid in the fifties, and I've had a thing to say to nearly every station on the line. It was a pretty waste in a small passenger car by myself, but I always had a dollar or two for the boys, and the boys spoke of me as one of 'em. To the day my wife was engaged, nothing with all those years and more, that's made a case more unusual than interesting, and I never reckoned my leisure evenings passed unpleasingly or otherwise; I was the lonely bachelor, with a home wherever I hung up my hat.

I have nothing to say of my calling, only that it hadn't room for timidity. Grinding out a living on the road requires nerve and grit, and a feeling of no more of the contingent as likes to be entered in the ledger of the Recording Angel. I've assisted to snatch the time of day or moment, Greenby was ordered, when and where with my Eye, A. No. 1, and I've been a passenger of one sort, more or I know, we were good friends. But I'm coming to it.

I've started in driving to the Railway Scientific Guide, Dandelion.

Never heard of it, said I.

We must open a fortnight," she replied head-over-ride good humor. We were practical, therefore, men of some sort, and I'll propose you, if you like?"

I was tired of cards, long and I had I knew that I should ought to be worth about every day that we should be in sights or days to himself, and the club would have one evening a fortnight from now, I said.

I will ask her. If she likes it, you."

Ask whom?" he said.

Jane," I said.

Of my own half sister! He's silly, every man's self would have said. Can't open you, say, dear," and we should have no cure at all," said I naively.

That I made no answer. At home I said, one said:

I shall miss you, Ned, but you deserve such things, and if Grandy thought it, may must be superior men."

So I said yes, and Grandy proposed me Thursday for night I went with him to the reason. The real business of the evening was the supper.

All had always been a delightful man. I don't know what effect was would have on me but coming in drink more of it than I had ever before at the early table, I found it put me down after so many glasses I wanted, and after so many more I did.

I noticed the somebody else, the wants were so ready. My blank cream-it and gave me a cup of coffee, which I drank, indulged in sequence, told stories and some cause to pause. I heard somebody say, Guelden, with his tan words in your Dan the wine with you."

I was sure of it when three hours after I stumbled upstairs to find Joe waiting for me, with his baby on her breast.

"You've been deserting me," said Joe; I suspected it, but was sure. A friend and child cannot be dealt like a thing.

Which means that I do," said I.

"Another time me," said Joe as she looked herself and baby to the spare bedroom.

One night I was dressed in my Sunday suit, ready to go to the club, when Joe stood before me.

Ned," said she, "I never had a fuss with you before. You have been kind and good and loving always; but I am not going to go out to-night. My wife and child were sore. What delirium, or wicked cost, it be?

"Why, I tried to more—there was nothing the matter with me. I was in my own room; opposite to me was a grin, in which my child was shown. My wife and child were sore. What delirium, or wicked cost, it be?

"Why, I tried to more what has happened."

"It is time o'clock, said Joe, 'You have been in such a state from that rush that I could not make you. You seem ill to manage when at home people I can, but I haven't any liquor. You go to it all right."

"Oh, here, old man, it makes no difference who you are; give me a drink, show me a man who can give me a drink, show me a man who can give me a drink, show me a man who can

☞ The number of those killed or who have died of their injuries by the recent collision on the Chicago, Alton and St. Louis Railroad is eighteen, and several of the others are dying, others who were injured but still survive, and probably also six.

☞ It is now believed that there were at least 200 persons on board of the ill-fated Potomac River steamer, which was crowded to many only 100. The dead bodies of eighty-two of them have thus far been recovered.

☞ A Washington special says that the proceedings of the court-martial in the case of Capt. Nash and other Modocs was received at the War Department on the 17th. It is believed that the worst found their guilt plainly, and sentenced them to be hanged.

☞ Six hundred French importations are at Cedarhurst lately, and orders for the 1st day of the late Emperor. Prince Louis Napoleon made a speech, in the course of which he said: "Hunting my self as an exile near the tomb of the third time, I represent the teachings which will be summarized in the motto, govern for the people, by the people." The Prince was kindly cheered, and the meeting was most enthusiastic.

☞ The cause of the insurgents of Spain is growing weaker day by day, and that of the Republicans stronger. Differ ent causes have united to bring on this result; yet the growing strength of the government at Madrid, the surrender of Carlist leaders, and the continued siege of Another, will do much to help on the Republican cause. In view of the events of the last two weeks there will now be no basis for recognition by foreign powers. And thus there is no cause to apprehend at the present any serious obstacle to the formation of a strong power at Madrid.

☞ A letter from Allegan to the Detroit Post says: "Buyers from Chicago are already purchasing the peach crop of our lake shore towns and many Orchards have already had their prospective crops bought and payment made in cash. Our gentleman, Mr. Sanford Shumway, sold the product of his 20th trees for $600, and I am informed that Mr. A. S. Dyckman, of South Haven, Van Buren county, was offered and refused $10,000 for his crop. Mr Dyckman has now sold the premium for having the largest and best bearing orchard in the State."

☞ The marriage recently which the Duke of Edinburg is to receive to-night be considered a loathsome duet in life for my young man. It is only $125,000 a year but it is $125,000 a year more than the largest salaries of the Irish Judges of the Supreme Court of the United States, and is more than the present aggregate salaries of the President of the United States and of the seven Cabinet Ministers. It is monstrous, and no very strange that there should be some clamor at the generosity of the English Government among those who are agitating for Republican Improvements and simplicity in British establishments.

☞ What a farce to call the Government of France a Republic! Twenty newspapers in the provinces have been suppressed within a month. The late Emperor never dared to venture on such reckless and unfortunate despotism. "President" McMahon is proving himself a fit tool for the restoration of any of the royal tarpins that seek a home in the Tuileries. Whether his influence will be realized without a civil war remains to be seen. It is possible that the Republicans of France may not be ground down without a struggle.

☞ A Berlin correspondent says one of the reasons for which it is said to be considered in the death of the German Emperor The apprehensions about his case arose not so much from specific attacks of illness as from various signs insignificant when taken apart, but full of significance when grouped together. The journey to St. Petersburg, it is said, a bad effect on his constitution. He returned rather tired after a long round of dissipation and ruinous railway journey. Soon after the Shah arrived in the palace began to exhibit a little part of what was called E. persons suffering brought on by the excessive fatigue of the past. It was supposed at one time that his illness was feigned in order to escape ceremonious visits to the Shah of Kings. After the departure of the Shah the Emperor retired to Potsdam, where, he had seemed to be slightly benefited, suffered heavily from the effects of the heat, and only after an hour he was brought to consciousness. The Emperor is peculiar and interesting, and has a married dread of being alone, and is disturbed over the contemplation of the extent to which the government has become involved in a war with the Holy See.

☞ Rev. W. H. Money killed 10 deer in the Adirondacks in July and the Albany Journal calls upon him to discharge forth for taking so many of the game laws. It is reported that, before sailing for Europe a few days since, Mr. A. T. RAILROAD DISASTER.

Eighteen Persons Killed and Twenty-Five Injured.

Odyssey on the part the State of Illinois enjoyed an extraordinary meeting from which railroad horrors such as have occurred in other parts of the country and in France in 1871, not probably there is to occur in the United States in which so many men and boys employed on the railroads assisted to aid in and succor the wounded and dying on a grim scene of time. The cause of accident is of daily occurrence and it is strange that more than one victim is sacrificed at a time. Yet, the ground that during any year broken a thousand feet, but the number of victims, having on it more, been killed and mutilated this degree, by the carelessness and ignorance and inattentiveness of employees of railroad companies, or by the failure of everything by the affiliated persons and railways the employees. At such a meeting, however, it would be proper to call in the aid of the earnest brains of the nation of those accidents be brought to an end. Inquiry those of victims of an accident, what is further, and most wanted is the punishment by the public. Then, when Chicago roads have kept spine with those in other parts of the country in the relief associations they have opened up and their families right but, the horrible occurrence of a whole one hour such as has occurred elsewhere. On that date, now at night was the anniversary the providence of a train for the Chicago, Alton and St. Louis Railroad is ten miles from this city, was the scene of an appalling catastrophe.

The eastbound express which the accident comprised a number passengers and a number of cars is known as "night express," and it does not stop at any station between Bloomington and Alton, a distance of 110 miles. The train at the place passed a number of freight cars standing on the side track, and the night was dark and rainy. Just as the express train reached the middle of the Mianey cutting, which is nearly a mile wide, a man around the curve came to the engineer, it was all too certain that the terrible accident took place.

The night passenger train No. 4 of the Chicago, Alton and St. Louis Railroad, which left this city at 9:40 o'clock on that Saturday evening was more than usually well filled with passengers. It left the depot promptly at the appointed moment, but for some reason it started two minutes behind time, and it was not until it reached the Mianey cutting, which is nearly a mile wide, that it got under full speed. At that point, about 10 miles from this city, the train ran into a freight train which was standing on the main track. The night express was going at the rate of about forty miles an hour when the collision occurred. The locomotive and the baggage car were thrown from the track, and the engineer, fireman and baggage master were killed outright. The express car was also thrown from the track, and the smoking car was thrown on its side. The passenger coach next to the smoking car was thrown from the track, and the rear end of the car was left on the track. The other cars remained on the track, but were badly damaged. The passengers in the smoking car were almost thrown from their seats by the shock, and many of them were thrown to the floor of the car. Those who were in the rear end of the car were also thrown from their seats, but were not injured. Those in the coaches, who were in the front end of the car, were also thrown from their seats, but were not injured. Those who were in the rear end of the car were also thrown from their seats, but were not injured. Those who were in the front end of the car

A Ghostly Visitation.

The Davenport, Iowa, Gazette vouches for the absolute truth of the following, the time of each occurrence and names are given:

One of the leading citizens of South Davenport had an only daughter who was to be married exactly one day previous to the wedding ceremony of Queen Victoria's daughter.

His children one only was married, and every means and information was set in motion to make the occasion one long to be remembered. The father of the bride was overjoyed at the prospect of such a brilliant match, and everything went on swimmingly until the night before the wedding, when the bridegroom elect was found dead in bed.

Costumes at Rome.

Senor Castelar, in his new book on Italy recently issued, says that the costumes of the young men and women, to be seen in Rome, are as picturesque as they are varied. Some wear the old Roman costume, a mere piece of cloth, which they arrange in various folds according to their taste. Others wear the old Greek costume, a piece of cloth thrown over the left shoulder and fastened on the right side. Others wear the costume of the Middle Ages, and others that of the Renaissance. The latter is the most common. Women wear a piece of cloth on the head, which they arrange in various fashions.

Advice to a Broken Hearted Lady.

A broken hearted young lady writes to a weekly contemporary to know what she should do, and a prompt reply comes with Grateful Debtor; all Saints can remember having done. If you have been deceived in the man you'll always think you were not loved by him. All attachments are not worth a thought. Be masterly deserted her, and, in consequence, and her experience of human cussedness when its passions are thwarted will at once show where he deserves pity and where contempt. Then you'll be able, as the palmist was gratefully told, to number the paternal half sovereign among your blessings.

Lessons in Discount, by which a man can discharge pecuniary obligations at the present day, are thus given by the Boston Post: "Mr. Jones owes you a thousand dollars, due in six months. He comes to you and says he will pay you now if you will discount it for him. You say you will do it at ten per cent. He

The New York Times says: It is a common remark at sea, when a vessel is in a storm which can finally withstand them, if they are united by cordial sympathy, and have the practical foundation to endure their common hardships, to spend money and accomplish their work with little noise.

The Northern Michigan Exploring Company, which has been at work for some time past, has completed its survey of the Menominee River, and has found a practicable route for a railroad from the mouth of the river to the Iron Mountain mines. The road will be about 30 miles long, and will cost about $1,000,000. The company will commence work at once.

The Democratic papers are making a great deal of capital out of the fact that Secretary Richardson has been appointed Commissioner of Internal Revenue. They say that he is a Republican, and that his appointment is a violation of the civil service reform principle. But they forget to say that he was a Democrat when he was appointed Secretary of the Treasury, and that he was appointed by a Democratic President.

The Democratic organ in this city recently announced that Hon. Jeff. Davis, of Montcalm, had been appointed by President Grant Collector of Internal Revenue for this district. The fact is that Mr. Davis was appointed by President Johnson, and has been retained in office by President Grant. Mr. Davis is a Democrat, and has been a Democrat all his life. He is a good man, and a good officer, and we are glad to see that he has been retained in office

Burning of a Steamer on the Potomac--Over Forty Passengers Jump Overboard and are Drowned.

In Senator Wadsworth, of Washington, with 150 passengers and a crew, burned off Mount Vernon, Va., on the night of the 30th. Many of the passengers jumped overboard and were drowned. The fire originated in the Assembly of Twelve with the steamer Jacob Bell, which was lying at the wharf at Washington, and soon communicated to the Wadsworth. The passengers on the Jacob Bell, numbering over 200, were all taken off in safety. The Wadsworth was a new boat, built in 1872, and valued at $200,000; insured for $100,000. The Jacob Bell was also a new boat, built in 1872, and valued at $100,000; insured for $50,000. The fire originated in the hold of the Wadsworth, and was caused by the explosion of a lamp. The boat was burned to the water's edge, and sank in about half an hour after the fire was discovered. The Jacob Bell was towed to Washington, and will be repaired. The Wadsworth was owned by Capt. Thomas Parker, of Washington, and was insured in the Columbian Insurance Company, of Georgetown, D. C., for $100,000. The Jacob Bell was owned by Capt. The Rise and Progress of Our Nationality.

A century has nearly passed away since the British colonies took action on the United States of America, and there is a time and season for everything. Then was brought into being a nation, which, in the course of one hundred years, has become the most powerful and prosperous on the face of the globe. Then was established principles of government, which, although not wholly unexceptionable, are the best that have ever been devised by the wit of man. Then was established a form of government, which, while it secures all the rights of the people, at the same time affords the most practical and most stable and the most economical system of government that has ever existed. Under the fostering care of that government, in the course of one hundred years, this nation has grown from a few millions of people, scattered over a narrow belt of country on the Atlantic coast, to a population of more than forty millions, and dwelling in peace and prosperity from ocean to ocean. Then was established a free system of trade between the several States, which has resulted in the creation of a domestic commerce, the like of which the world has never before seen. Then was established a system of finance, which, while it has been exposed to the shocks of adverse legislation, has yet survived them all, and has, in the end, secured to the people a currency sound and convertible, and of such uniform value throughout the length and breadth of the land, that the most ignorant may handle it without fear of loss. In the period that has elapsed since the first foundations of that government were laid, the people have not been without their troubles. Twice they have been compelled to appeal to the sword in defence of their liberties. Twice they have been compelled to wage war against domestic foes, who sought to overthrow the government established by their fathers. But they have come out victorious from the struggle, and the government has emerged from the ordeal stronger than ever before. Abuse of Cows Lessens Cream.

At the June meeting of the State Board of Agriculture, Mr. Lewis an old experienced dairyman, said: "I have to-day in a good deal of pain to test the value of my milk that I have worked into cheese. I have graduated glasses for the purpose; and I have found a cow, whose uniform percentage of cream was 15 per cent, reduced to 4½ in 12 hours—not from any change of food, but from a little excitement. You, gentlemen, who make butter, be careful to adopt my plan, and always treat your cow kindly and gently; never get her excited, because every ounce of excitement will take from her such cream per cent as cream. I have known a cow abused by a local dairy, reduce cream per cent as shown above. It is astonishing what excitement has on the percentage of cream in the milk and a cow produces. When her udders are full of milk, and she is excited, she will put a large amount of fat into the milk; and if she is abused, she will put but a small amount per gallon of the cream.—Report of the Massachusetts Board of Agriculture.

A Masonic Lodge in Jerusalem.

The attempt to organize a Masonic lodge in the city of Jerusalem, under American auspices, which has been long on foot, bids fair to succeed. Last week we announced a few days ago from Mr. John Skirrow, who was one of the leading spirits in the movement, that he had received Master's degree, under the city of Jerusalem, and appointed a committee, duly qualified under the regulations of the Grand Lodge of Canada, to confer the degrees of Master Mason, Mark Master, Past Master, Most Excellent Master, and Royal Arch Mason, and to organize the lodge. The dispensation Master Lodge, No. 780, to the end second, reads: To the Grand Lodge of Masters Masons, under the city of Jerusalem, and dominated Constantine, Greek Empire, Asia Minor, Syria, Egypt, Arabia, Persia, Turkey in Europe, Russia, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Italy, Spain, Portugal, France, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Great Britain, Ireland, Scotland, Canada, United States of America, Mexico, Central America, South America, Australia, New Zealand, Polynesia, Africa, and all other countries of the world, under the Grand Lodge of Canada, A. DR. A. TRASK'S

INFLAMMATORY DISEASES.

Dr. Trask has engaged for twenty years in a course of experiments upon the medical properties and power of Magnetism, and has succeeded in producing a combination of Magnetism with Vegetable Extracts, which greatly increases the power of which is responsible for the cause, in preparing his Magnetic Ointment.

His discovery consists in a certain union of these powerful Extracts, by which their sensibility or Magnetism is the basis of its Curative Power.

Curious, it is, that the combination of unprecedented success which has attended its application in the cure of diseases, is not more as the practical discovery of the age, and is now a fixed and established fact in Medicine.

It never fails, when these remedies are faithfully used, to remove a tumor, and bring down to the capillary vessels of the body, and secure the circulation on the surface. This causes a counteracting power to gather and the disease is thrown off from the system.

Such is the power of this combination, that it penetrates to every portion of the human frame, every bone and muscle, vein and ligament is reached by its wonderful qualities of its partaking and healing influence. Nothing is finally withstood by its power.

Numerous instances are on record where this remedy has restored health to patients so near the grave that hope, or powerful medical assistance, had long since fled, and both has proved by been the case in Intermittent Fever and Ague.

In patients very near the close of consumption, the Magnetic Ointment can be used with the most perfect success.

For Inflammatory Rheumatism the Ointment is the most powerful, and rapid remedy. For Diphtheria or Putrid Sore Throat it is unequalled.

In obstinately acute cases of scrofula, it will produce visible relief in the worst cases of Nervous Headache in thirty minutes.

Affections of the Spine, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Chronic Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Asthma, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Inflamed Eyes, Fever Sores, Stores, etc., will be immediately relieved by the use of Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment.

THE GREAT BALLOON.

Some Disparagements.

The Capitoline Giganta, H. Bentley, superintended by extensive large and constantly changing crowds of the everywhere, continues to run the Daily Graphic balloon. Probably from 1,000 to 1,500 visitors, boil, at least, of them bring below, begin to stand on the tops of the boats to see the wonderful round the partway inflated balloon. The latter bound from a the canvas, swell and swayed forward the roll of a brisk breeze, more like an inclined fortune-teller than a balloon, getting one thought on a near approach to the fixing to a pot full of boiling water. The ear with which it is enveloped looks a small round wherever to trust the great weight which is to descend to it. Like a chandelier, it is not strong but the weight is in the ears, which seem to think of the components of a frayed strand of a hempen cable. Some kind gentlemen have been exercised on the fact that the balloon has been made of cotton sheeting. Whatever that may amount to, we think it has very much, and that as a fabric for the purpose it is superior to anything else that could be used. Gossips say that the balloon was originally intended for the Centennial, but was not finished in time. Mr. Donaldson of Pittsburgh, one of the owners, denies this. The balloon and car were originally designed for each other, and have remained together ever since. The car is a handsome affair, and is fitted up with every convenience for the voyage. It is capable of containing 20 persons, and will carry them up to a height of 1,000 feet. The balloon is filled with coal gas, and will remain inflated for about three days. The ascension will be made from the Battery, and the descent will probably be made in Jersey. The Giganta will be ready for ascension in a few days, and will make regular trips every fair day. Mr. Donaldson has already received applications for passage from a number of prominent citizens, and has no doubt that the trips will be liberally patronized.—New York Times.

Notice is hereby given that he will pay 40 cents per bushel for potatoes—half cash and half trade.

We have received a number of new subscribers from throughout the county during the past week.

Iron Ore.—B. N. Boland & Co., of Newport, have sold out their working interest. We did not learn the name of the purchaser.

The Postmaster General has rejected the application of the Postmaster at Charlevoix for a Money Order Office. It is believed, however, that one can be secured after the 1st of July next.

Home Down.—The steamer Jennie Lee struck the crash at the head of Pine Lake on the 11th, and was towed to the village by one of the tugs. She will resume her trips the coming week.

Cameron & Son have received a fresh invoice of Breakfast Bacon, Boneless Chuck, Pork, Leather and Shoemaker's Findings, all of which are going off like hot cakes at low rates.

Bird Sail is preparing to move across the street into his new building. He is fast gaining a reputation for keeping the freshest articles in the market, and selling them at satisfactory prices.

Nearly a week ago Chief Engineer Stinson told us that the trackLayers on the G. R. & I. R. R. had reached a point only 15 miles from Little Traverse Bay. We presume it will be but a few days more at most, before the cars will be heard whistling in the town to be laid.—Herald

We notice that there is among Troy who does business about a year without expending a dollar in advertising. He has at last consented to advertise. His first advertisement was headed "Sheriff's Sale."

Tax Sales.—It is unnecessary for us to state that the Tax Sales crowd much reading matter from our columns. We hope our readers will have patience with us for a week more, and we will come out again in our usual style.

Improvements.—Three dwelling houses are to be erected in this village yet this fall. Ray Pearson has commenced laying the foundation for his residence, on the corner of Bridge and Antrim streets, and contracts are let for the erection of a residence for O. Pinker, on Mason street, and one for J. M. Whitney, on Clinton street. Both of these buildings will be placed in the way of the successful navigation of Pine River next season that a little united, earnest, energetic and business-like effort will not remove.

On the Wing.

Big Rapids, Mich., Sept. 5, 1873

Dear Sentinel.—

En route to Ionia to attend our Conference, we stopped for a brief period at Traverse City, also at Clam Lake. At the latter place we were not a little surprised to see the thrift and enterprise there displayed. The town is neatly laid out and contains from 1,000 to 1,200 inhabitants; and though it is but two years old, contains stores embracing every branch of business, a printing office, four or five large steam school house with two departments, and two neat, tasty churches, which indicates that the people not only have an eye to business, but also to culture and refinement. I was embarrassed when asked for a description of our town-seeing compelled to tell them that, though we were much older, its origin had yet been fifteen years in the future of a church. I trust that this will not long be said of Charlevoix.

I paid due notice to Regent Ely Hyde, and embraced the opportunity to call him, and had even for the morning train. Big Rapids is a place of about 3,000 inhabitants. Prof. Tromberg is the principal teacher. To the north and west of the town is a good portion of farming land. The place seems to have a very rapid and yet a very healthy growth. There are two papers published here, the Magnet and Pioneer. Both have large circulations for County papers. The Big Rapids and Muskegon branch of the Michigan Lake Shore Railroad is being completed to this point, and will soon be running regularly.

We now owe a little brother on our way—I believe they call the place Howard City; just one has to give a wide stretch to the imagination to see the city. Were it not that the mail closes soon, I would give a description of the place, but will leave it for some future occasion.

Truly yours, G. L. C.

☞ The origin of postal cards dates from the Franco Prussian war. The difficulty of soldiers procuring pens and paper upon which to write home induced the German commissioners to issue bits of pasteboard to the soldiers for this purpose, and they were largely availed of, the messages being written in pencil. Their use was continued thereafter in time of peace, and has since been adopted in England and the United States.

Intemperance of the Bowels.—The virtues of Dr. Tobias Magnetic Ointment in this dangerous disease are truly wonderful. Many cases have been published lately of the greatest relief by the use of this ointment, when every other means had failed. We have many cases reported to us corroborating this statement. It is equally effective in inflammation of any of the Pelvic or abdominal viscera, of the Liver, Spleen, Kidney, Ovaries, Womb, and Bladder. See advertisement in another column.

MARINE DISASTER!

Loss of the Propeller Ironsides with Fifty Passengers!

The propeller Ironsides, of the Milwaukee and Grand Haven route, on her way to the latter port, went down four miles off Grand Haven, in the gale on Monday morning last. Fifty lives were supposed to have been lost. We have, up to the hour of our going to press, received no further particulars of the disaster.

—Henry Dade, the ship carpenter, whom the people of Charlevoix think so much of, with his family, has returned home from Leland, and will spend the winter with us. Archie Dougherty, his twin brother Indian, will arrive soon. These gentlemen originally hailed from New Brunswick, from which quarter we would heartily welcome a few more of the same stamp.

Narrow Escape.—Amos Fox, Esq., of this village, narrowly escaped being drowned one night last week. In crossing the river on the temporary scow bridge, in the extreme darkness, he stepped off the upstream side of the scow, getting hold of the edge of the scow, however, and keeping up on it, his strength failing him, he was forced to let go and swim under the scow. He reached shore completely exhausted. He was discovered in this condition and unaided home.

Business.—Hon. Mr. Rapley, of Antrim county, will preach at the school house to-morrow evening at the usual hour.

—Just before the recent departure of Rev M Browning from Norwood his friends congregated at the Eagle Hotel, and tendered him a valuable present—the nature of which we did not learn—following closer the ties which have long bound between the pastor and people for the past two years.

Rev J Gear.—From the Vermontville correspondence of the Eaton County Republican we take the following: "The J. Gulick, pastor of the M E Church here for several years past, preached his farewell discourse Sunday morning last at the white church, and in the evening at the Congregational Church. He has been a faithful and earnest worker, and the best wishes of our entire community follow him to his new field of labor."

Newman's Address.—The addition to the Village of Charlevoix just completed by Engineer Smith, embraces a part of the respective premises of Wm. C. Newman and Mrs. Mason, and consists of 61 lots of 66 and 3 feet front, and from 7 to 12 rods in length. The highway recently established through his property constitutes the principal street, and another street is projected east and west about 12 rods south of the brow of the bluff. This addition affords most beautiful and sightly building spots, and we predict will not remain long unoccupied.

Sunday School Association.—W. G. Northrop, Secretary of the Committee of arrangements, sends us the following programme, which has been adopted for the Sunday School Association to be held at Norwood on the 10th of October:

1st. Best method of opening Sabbath Schools.

2d. How best may the attention of the classes be secured?

3d. How may the greatest attendance be secured, of both old and young?

4th. How may we most effectually lead children to Christ?

5th. Reports from Sunday Schools.

There will also be a question drawer, for all those who may have questions to submit.

All who are interested in the S.S. cause are cordially invited to attend.

The Mouth of the River.—The present and prospective condition of the mouth of the lower channel is the leading subject of conversation among our people. It has been predicted by some that the fall storms would leave us with five feet of water; while there are many who believe that the strong and deep current will continue to a certain degree, the action of the sun, and keep the channel open to a depth of seven or eight feet, at least. Soundings have been taken since the severe blow of last week, and a depth of ten feet was found, although the channel at the immediate mouth had narrowed somewhat. After careful observation, we express it as our opinion that no obstacle will be placed in the way of the successful navigation of Pine River next season that a little united, earnest, energetic and business-like effort will not remove.

Burned.—Lorine H. Pearl, of Norwood, had his barn, with most of its contents, burned last Saturday. His little boys, with some other were firing fire crackers, and threw one up which entered the window and set fire to the hay. He lost 60 bushels of wheat, 100 of oats and 3 tons of hay. The horses, farming tools and sleighs were saved.—Progress.

Good for Her Native.—We learn the Progress that at the annual school meeting in that village a unanimous vote was passed for raising $2,000, by tax and issuing bonds to the amount of $8,000, for the purpose of erecting a new school building. It is expected the new $10,000 school house will be built next summer.

INFLAMMATORY DISEASES.

Dr. Trask was engaged for twenty years in a course of experiments with medical compounds and powers of vegetables, separate and combined. At the close of many years he succeeded in presenting to the world, as the result of his labors, a remedy for the cure of diseases, the power of which is unequaled in the annals of Medicine.

His discovery consists in a combination of those powerful Vegetable Extracts with Electricity or Magnetism in the form of an Ointment.

It is certain, it is that the POWERFUL and CONCENTRATED virtues which has attended its application in the cure of diseases, stamps it at once as the greatest discovery of the age, and calls for a trial and close investigation of its properties.

It never fails, while there remains sufficient vitality in the animal and sensitiveness to the touch, to relieve pain, and to equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a remedy is placed within the reach almost malignant forms of disease, which cannot be obtained from any other source.

Such is the power of this combination that it penetrates to every portion of the human frame, reaches the most hidden nerve and ligament in search of, and finds the seat of the suffering, and instantly it presents itself in cases as nearly with internal as external remedies.

Numerous invalids on the brink of the grave, who had previously had recourse to all the usual remedies without effect, have been restored to health by the use of this Ointment.

For Nervous Diseases the medicine is unrivaled. Cases are known of its having restored Nervous Headache in thirty minutes.

For Inflammatory Rheumatism this Ointment is the most complete remedy ever discovered. For Diseases of Fluid form Throat, Rheumatism.

For Sore Throat—one case out of a hundred, it will affect entire relief in the most severe of Nervous Headache in thirty minutes.

For Diseases of the Spine, Rheumatism, Lameness, Chronic Sore Throat, Insomnia, Neuralgia, Chronic Sore Throat, Insomnia, Neuralgia, Chronic Sores, Chronic Sores, Ague in the Face, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Sciatica, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Inflamed Eyes, Fever Sores, Sores, Etc., Etc., the Ointment is found to be the best Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment.

Financial Crisis.

Great excitement pervades throughout the country consequent upon the recent crisis created by the recent failure and suspension of several of the leading banking houses New York dispatches of the 18th say: Clews, Cooke's backers, houses in New York, Philadelphia and Washington and president Cattenaul in Wall street; Cooke & Co. announce that their suspension is a consequence of large advances to protect their Philadelphia house, and the heavy drafts upon their own deposits in the First National Bank of Washington has also suspended." Also the firms of Fraser, Trenholm & Lowell; and W. Clews & Co., New York." Dunlevy, in closing, remarked, however" Dispatches of the 20th say: "The restoration of confidence checked." Failure of the firm of Henry Clews & Co., and of the Kidder Peabody & Co., of the first sent shock through the country, but it is not supposed that the result will be regarded from the same. It is thought, however, that the effect will soon be well over.

☞ The yellow fever is raging with terrible fatal results in some parts of Louisiana. Nine cases of Sisters of Charity have nearly depopulated by death and removal of this institution.

☞ On Tuesday morning the 16th the last German soldier stepped off French territory and left France free from the hateful presence of the Germans army of occupation for the first time since the close of the Franco Prussian war.

☞ General Gardandi, in a letter to Senor Castelar, tenders his sword in the cause of the Spanish Republic. The President replies, thanking the General for his noble offer, but declaring that republic now needs no assistance.

☞ The annual expenditures of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company amounted to $15 [illegible]

☞ A Washington dispatch of the 18th says: "The secretary of the Navy this afternoon received a telegram from Consul Muller, announcing that the Polaris was at Honolulu and that all were well. They were to sail from there on the 20th of July, 20 miles north of Cape York.

☞ General McClellan is still in the Harlem Line. He is general manager of a company just established in New York, which is called the Union Rolling Stock Company. It builds and buys railroad ready to run, each rolling stock as railway companies may need, such as locomotives, passenger cars, baggage cars, freight cars, coal cars, etc.

☞ A dispatch from Teheran announces the return of the Shah of Persia to his capital. The whole population turned out to escort him to the palace. The Shah, in a brief speech, stated that he had visited the principal institutions of Europe, with the special object of introducing what he saw good in them into the administration of his government.

☞ Captain David Wilkinson, an old and well known lake captain, died at his residence at Perrysburg, Ohio, lately, aged eighty-three. He was on the lakes from 1809 till 1862. He sailed the schooner Black Snake from Buffalo to the rapids of the Maumee in 1817, and was commander of the steamer Commodore Perry from 1820 till 1842, and of the Superior from that time till his retirement in 1862.

☞ The body of Gen. R. B. McCook was laid in the cemetery of the Scottish rite Masonic Temple, lately and viewed by a vast number of people. The funeral took place in the temple, according to the Masonic ritual, in charge of the Knights Templar. The relatives present were Mrs. McCook, mother of the deceased, Col. Geo S. McCook, Mrs. Davis, a sister of Mrs. Edwin S. McCook, the widow, Daniel McCook, accountant, and John McCook, a son. Gov. Burbank, of Dakota Territory, and other friends were present. After services, participated in by Rev. Mr. Gray, of Christ's Church, and Rev. H. D. Moore, the body were buried at Spring Grove Cemetery.

☞ The insurrection in Spain is said to be on a low ebb. Alicante is represented as the "last ditch" of the rebels. Cabrera, who commands the last great band of war Numancia has summoned last city to surrender and acknowledge the independence of Carthagena. The Government says he cannot and will not and the citizens applaud his refusal. A Madrid dispatch states that "the entire Brazil fleet in Spanish waters is at Ferrol in the harbor of Arsenal." The British Admiral demands of the insurgents a postponement of hostilities for few days. All the foreign Consuls there refer to the demand. On the refusal of the insurgents to allow the attempt seems to be improving upon from the Government standpoint.

☞ Amid all kinds of financial disturbance there is some consolation to knowing that the prospects for our crops in England and France with more than an average amount of grain this year is very fair. England will produce about THREE HUNDRED bushels to wheat, whereas the average at least 180 each and of Indian grain 40 bushels. The crop in France is also promising. Of her seed must be supplied from abroad. France has generally assisted in making up the which is always in England but this year she will not be obliged to send for [illegible] of bushels of wheat to supply her normal demand. The [illegible] a deficiency of 15,000,000 bushels in both Nations. Among the usual exports from both France, Germany and Canada [illegible] enormous amount [illegible] will be seen that a large market is still open for American breadstuffs. We [illegible] figures before our readers as a source of [illegible] in these times of [illegible].

Wisdom of Silence.

A correspondent of Alexander the Great paid a visit to the studio of Appelles, the celebrated painter, and was received with the consideration due his rank. His examined his works and scrupulously he talked about the art of painting exposing his ignorance on a variety of questions and criticisms. Apelles interrupted him at length in a few words: "Can you see those boys that are grinding my colors? While you were silent they admired you, dazzled with the splendor of the purple and gold you wore; but now that you have spoken you are seen they laughed at you."

A Negro minister who married rather sooner than some of the sisters thought proper and becoming exposed himself to [illegible] "My dear brethren and sisters, my grief was greater than I could bear. I buried every one for peace and comfort, but to no case. I selected the scriptures from Genesis to Revelations, and found plenty of promises to the widow, but nary one to the widower. And so I took it that the Lord didn't want sympathy on a man when it was in his power to comfort himself, and having a fine case to marry in the Lord, I did so again. Besides, brethren, I considered that poor Betsy was just as dead as she would ever be."

A Man called to see Mr. Greeley, at Memphis, and asked him if, in his opinion, guano was good to put on cotton. The good man replied a moment, and then said: "It may be, my son, for Horace White together are extremely warm and tolerable, but I like gravy the best."

Lightning Cure.—The prompt relief afforded in numerous cases by the use of Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment has led many people that it contains Magnetism, but they call it the Lightning Cure.

In Rheumatism, Wind-ring Pains, Neuralgia, and Irritability, one application gives immediate relief, and confirmed use will usually accomplish a permanent cure.

Death of Hon. W. D. Foster.

A Grand Rapids Dispatch of the 8th says: "Hon. Wilder D. Foster arrived home from the East a very short time since, and is lying very low at his residence in this city. He has taken final leave of his family and is fast sinking. There is no hope of his recovery. His disease is a complication of chronic maladies." Later we have received the news of his death. The event causes universal sorrow. Mr. Foster was widely respected for his practical ability and high character, and during his Congressional service has represented his district, to which this county was formerly attached, in the most unexceptionable manner.

Death of a Pioneer.—We learn that Dr. H. R. Schetterly, keeper of the light house on the point below Northport, died on the 9th inst. For some twelve or more years past the Dr. has had charge of the lighthouse above mentioned. For many years previous to his appointment to that position he lived at Old Mission.—Herald.

A Large Bill.—A statement from the Treasurer of the Michigan Insane Asylum to the Treasurer of Charlevoix county reveals the fact that the county is indebted to the aforesaid Institution to the amount of $945.28 for about six years keeping of an insane woman named Mrs. Brlestly, and who is a perpetual charge to the county, having been pronounced incurable.

The Ingraham.—The steamer was built at Cleveland, by Quale & Merlin, and commenced plying on the Lake Superior line route in 1864. She continued on this route until she was sold in 1867 to the Englemann Transportation Company, for the route between Milwaukee and Grand Haven. During this she has been commanded by Capts. D. H. McBride, Trowell, Saveland and Sorenson, the last named sharing the fate of the unfortunate craft. She has been nine years in service and when first commissioned she had no superior on fresh waters.

Lake Michigan.—This lake is 320 miles long, 85 miles wide, and greatest depth 700 feet. It lies wholly within the boundaries of the United States, and discharges its surplus waters through the straits of Mackinac. Along its borders and at its eastern extremity it contains 25 islands, besides numerous dangerous shoals and reefs. The largest islands are the big and little Manitous, north and south Foxes, Beavers and Garden islands. There are also the following smaller ones: High, Trout, Whitby, Hat, Gull, St. James, Stoney, St. Helena, Cana, Triangular, Isle au Galots, and others. Its area is 20,000 miles, and height above the sea 587 feet.

Elk Rapids suffered from quite a destructive fire on the 16th. It was first discovered about 2 A. M., and in less than an hour had swept away over $5,000 worth of property, comprising James Farley's new saloon and billiard rooms with contents, his barn, barber shop and the shoe shop of Geo. Goodhew and all its stock, tools, etc., worth about $600. Several other buildings were saved only by the utmost exertions. There was no insurance. Farley's loss will reach from $4,000 to $5,000. His saloon and billiard rooms were new, just finished at a cost of over over $3,000, and the two tables with the appurtenances, fixtures, etc. must have been worth nearly $1,000 besides. The fire was doubtless the work of an incendiary.

The Farmers' Movement.

When Farmers meet in council and ask for a redress of grievances, their action is entitled to the undivided attention of every citizen. While all classes alike are entitled to a hearing, none, we believe, as a class, exceed the farming community for real and genuine sobriety, virtue, industry and morality. They belong to the rural districts. Here the situation is more congenial to the formation of good character; where the peculiar schools of the day impress the minds of the rising generation, not only the correct principles of government, but with right ideas of social life and private virtue. In the superior and elevated surroundings of such districts the farmers of our country are reared, and no better place is no class to whose hands the destinies of the Nation could be placed with more safety. In casting the ballot or in holding the plow, they are alike effective. From the mines of their profession, they strike the best where the most liberty exists. The natural foe of tyranny, and of every form of oppression, they are not slow to express their sentiments to it, meeting when they feel the occasion. The Farmers' Movement, referred to, in a majority of cases, gives the safest evidence of their dissatisfaction at the growing monopolies of Railroad Companies. In some Western States freights are so high that it takes the lion's share of proceeds to pay transportation to market; and it is also claimed that extortionate rates are charged for passenger fare. In our own State a Railroad Company has commenced suit with the State to evade exaction of taxes levied according to an act passed last winter. In this region railroad lands embrace alternate sections of about one-half the lands of the Township. If such lands are already placed in market, which is the case, it seems not only just but desirable that they be assessed to bear their proportion of taxation, with other descriptions of property valuations. There can be no question of whether that if circumstances require, our farmers very should guard all interest alike impartially, and, if possible, remove all causes of dissatisfaction from among our husbandmen. Upon the farming interest of the country in a great measure depends the prosperity of all other interests. All branches of occupations are a community of interests of which agriculture is the keystone. It is not impossible that the Farmers' Movement may assume greater proportions, and may well challenge the support of good men of all parties.

M. E. CONFERENCE.

The Village of Ionia—The Appointments, Etc.

Ionia, Mich., Sept. 19, 1873.

We are now in the midst of our Conference session, and, although I am quite busy with Conference duties, I will not forget my promise to write you. Ionia is a village beautiful for its situation and surroundings. It abounds in fine residences, made attractive by all that nature and art can bestow. It was our good fortune to be assigned to Judge Lovell's for entertainment during Conference. While the town gives evidence of thrift, it bears proof of that which is far better—that of having its foundations well laid in the intelligence, unity and moral standing of its citizens.

Having a few spare moments yesterday, I visited the spot where the unfortunate accident, LaMountain, fell from his balloon. I found that, though the ground was very hard, and could scarce be indented, yet the marks of his feet [illegible] had been plainly visible, being [illegible] inches deep in the hard ground. The description of the scene, as given by an eye witness, is terrific.

Your correspondent paid a visit to our mutual friend, Mr. Sessions, of the Ionia Sentinel. I am informed that Mr. Sessions is much respected, and that his paper has already become a part of the county's good.

The Success of our Conference is being [illegible] pleasantly, and with profit to [illegible] I think we shall be able to close the [illegible] of the week. Trusting God's blessing upon the people of Charlevoix, I will close after giving you the appointments for the Grand Traverse District:

INFLAMMATORY DISEASES.

Dr. Trask was engaged for twenty years in a course of experiments upon the medical properties and power of vegetables, separate and combined. At the age of seventy years he succeeded in presenting to the world, as the result of his experiments, a combination of Vegetable extracts, the power of which in removing diseases is unequaled in the annals of Medicine.

His discovery consists in a combination of these powerful Vegetable Extracts with Electricity or Magnetism in the form of an Ointment.

Certain, it is, that the remarkable and unprecedented success which has attended its application in the cure of diseases, stamps it at once as the greatest discovery of the age, and calls for a trial and close investigation of its properties.

It never fails, while there remains sufficient life to restore a natural and healthy action to the capillary vessels of the body, and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease, which cannot be obtained from any other remedy.

Such is the power of this combination, that it penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every lesion and infection, whether acute and hereditary, is reached out and made to feel its purifying and healing influence. Hence it copes as readily with internal as external disease.

Numerous instances are on record where this remedy has restored health to patients so near the grave that the most powerful internal remedies failed to produce any effect. Such has frequently been the case in Inflammation of the Bowels.

No patient ever need die with this disease where the Magnetic Ointment can be obtained.

For Inflammatory Rheumatism this Ointment is the most complete remedy ever prepared. For Diphtheria or Putrid Sore Throat it is unrivaled.

In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, it will afford entire relief to the worst cases of Nervous Headache in thirty minutes.

Affections of the Spine, Rheumatism, Lameness, Ulcerated Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Croup, Colic, Chronic Morbus, Ague in the Face or Breast, Pains, Scald Head, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Inflamed Eyes, Fever Sores, Sores, etc., will be immediately relieved by the use of Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment.

MRS. PARTINGTON'S STORY.

I reckon I was very sorry. Well, I was sorry for a good many things at the time, and I always am when anybody dies. When I married Josh Wilkins everybody said I had made a mess of it—everybody throughout the whole village, without a single exception, but I knew best what was best for myself, and I have been so much happier than I should have been if I had married Deacon Dodge, or Squire Hopkins, or Lawyer Bigelow, or any of the other men who wanted me, that I am sure I don't see how I could have been happier. Not that Josh was perfect, for he wasn't, and I was the first one to acknowledge it. But I will say for him that he was a good husband, and I don't believe that any woman could have lived with him for twenty years without finding out that he was a good deal better than she had any reason to expect. He was very fond of his home, and he was very fond of me, and he was very fond of children, and he was very fond of animals. I never saw a man who was more universally liked by dumb brutes than Josh was. He had a perfect passion for them, and they seemed to know it. Why, I've seen the very canary birds in the parlor hop down from their perches and eat seed out of his hand, and as for the cats and dogs, they would follow him round the house like lambs. Yes, I will say for Josh Wilkins that he was a kind husband to dumb brutes, and I don't believe he ever struck a child in his life. Perhaps he was a little too indulgent to his own children, but I always thought that was better than being too severe with them. Anyhow, Josh was not severe with his children, and they loved him dearly for it. Even Sarah Ann, who was always hard to please, and who never took after her father in the least bit in the world, was fond of Josh in her way, and I am sure that since his death she has been a different girl altogether. She is more womanly and gentle in her ways, and seems to be trying to make me forget that she ever plagued me to death when Josh was alive. Not that I mean to say that she ever did anything very bad, for she didn't. She was only extremely disagreeable sometimes, and always appeared to prefer her father to me, which was very natural, of course, seeing that I was only a stepmother, and had never had any children of my own. Well, as I was saying, I was sorry when Josh died, and I was sorry for a good many things, but I was sorriest for Josh himself, poor dear man, for I knew that he was going to a better world than this, and I knew that he knew it, too, and was glad to go. He was very low for a week or more before the end came, and suffered a great deal of pain, poor dear, but he bore it all like a Christian, and never murmured at the will of Providence once. He was conscious almost up to the last moment, and knew me and Sarah Ann and Tommy Dodge, who was always a favorite with Josh, and all the neighbors who came in to see him, and he died at last as calmly as a child falls asleep in its mother's arms. I never shall forget the look he gave me when he said, in a faint voice, that he was going, and bade me farewell. It was a look of perfect peace and resignation, and it seemed to say that he was willing to leave me because he knew that I should soon follow him, and that we should be happy together in a better land. I shall never forget that look as long as I live, and I hope it will be a comfort to me in my declining years to remember that my husband died happy.

Well, I reckon I cried enough at the funeral to float a seventy-four gun ship, and I had the headache for a week afterward, but I got over it at last, and then I began to look around me to see what I was going to do next. I had a little property of my own, which Josh had never touched, and I knew that I could live very comfortably on the interest of it, but I was not the woman to sit down with folded hands and mope away my existence, and I knew that I must do something. Sarah Ann was at school at the time, and I knew that I should have to support her, so I began to look around me to see what I could find to do. I thought of one thing and another, but nothing seemed to suit me exactly, and I was in a good deal of perplexity, when one day Deacon Dodge called to see me, and, after sitting with a very long face for about half an hour, he said that he had been thinking of my situation, and that he had a proposal to make to me which he hoped I would favorably entertain. He said that he was a lonely widower, and that he thought I was a lonely widow, and that we might make a very happy couple if we were married. He said that he had spoken to Sarah Ann, and that she was willing, and he thought that I ought to be willing, and that he would be willing, and that, in short, he thought we all ought to be willing, and that the sooner we were willing the better he would be pleased.

Now, I was willing to admit that the Deacon was a very good man, and that he was a member in good standing of the church, and that he had been a widower for a long time, and that he was very well off in the world, and that he had a very good house over his head, and that he was very fond of children, and that he was very fond of animals, and that he was very fond of me, and that he had been very fond of Josh, and that Josh had been very fond of him, and that Josh had often said that he wished I could marry Deacon Dodge if anything should happen to him, and that he thought I would be happier with the Deacon than with any man he knew of, and that he thought he would be happier with me than with any woman he knew of, and that he thought we could be very happy together if we were married, and that he thought the sooner we were married the better he would like it, and that he thought I ought to be willing to name the day, and that he thought he would be willing to leave it entirely to me to say when I would be willing to have it take place, and that he thought he would be willing to do anything I wished him to do, and that he thought I ought to be willing to say whether I would be willing to do anything he wished me to do

The Financial Situation.

The Chicago Times of the 7th says:

The opening of business on Monday was the signal for a general resumption of confidence. The appearance of the banks was cheerful in the extreme. Their counters were piled with greenbacks, and the paper which they represented was the best of the country. Some apprehension was felt that the Treasury Department would not be prepared to meet the demands upon it, but a telegram from Secretary Richardson to Cashier Scott, of the Merchants' National Bank, relieved all fears on that score. The Secretary said that he had ordered the Treasurer at Washington to send on $2,000,000 in currency, and that he would send $1,000,000 more if it was needed. The Secretary also said that he would not hesitate to issue $5,000,000 more if the demand should require it. The Secretary's telegram was received with great satisfaction by the bankers, and it had a most reassuring effect upon the public mind. Many persons who had been hoarding currency for months brought it out and deposited it in the banks. Others who had been paying out currency for gold began to refuse it, and demanded gold in exchange for their paper. The result was that the banks received a large amount of currency, and paid out a large amount of gold. The receipts of currency were much greater than the payments, and the banks were enabled to add to their reserves. The Secretary of the Treasury has also issued a circular to the banks, in which he says that the Government will receive deposits of currency at the Sub-Treasury in this city, and will pay out gold in exchange for it. This circular has had a most reassuring effect upon the public mind, and has done much to restore confidence. The Secretary's action in this matter has been highly commended by the bankers and business men of this city, and it is generally believed that the Government will be able to maintain specie payments.

The Current Stock Conversation.

The current view of stock values is that the boom has run its full course, and that extensive liquidation will now begin. Prices and currency are both too fully expanded to carry values further. The panic and depression of the day, the cessation of military enterprises and activities, etc., in preference of agricultural and mining pursuits, the prospects of the crops and the visible features of a general financial reaction which has begun, and is now in full force in the history of Missouri, combined to make the occasion a most obvious one for making economic wealth, and for turning to account the revolution in values now in progress. As to the prospects and practical advantages of the situation, we have only to appeal to the common sense of the people.

The Boston Post thinks that the day has arrived for the removal of the unsightly fish stores from Union Wharf. The removal of the other fish stores on Mr. Hooper's address, and the land of the large price gained, and the handy approach from the water, would appear to be of the most decided advantage to the whole fishing interest. The rapid development of Michigan, the industrial character of its growth, the diffusion of power and resources among people with intelligence and commercial energy, the existence of its metropolis the general business character of its people, the cosmopolitan character of its future prosperity—all connect to suppress physical and moral tone in the Detroit News of the time, and to the public editor, which, in quickly reviewing a mass of the great vital interests of the State have made necessary. This position makes the paper the standing representative of the people, and by the most patient and constant study of the subjects which they are personally interested, and which they must be led to look to the newspaper for information, and the public display of industry and enterprise, the congregation of associations, and the flourishing features of an advancing commercial, Progressing all these interests the people of Michigan have a right to look for the most efficient support of their press, and to demand that it shall be conducted with the highest degree of ability.

The Detroit Free Press is evidently in order to the organization of Mrs. entered upon its duties on November Lady. It is intended to be the first lady's paper ever published in Michigan, and we believe it will be a success of some kind, and we hope it will be a success. It is to be published weekly, will be devoted wholly to the interests of women, and will be edited by a lady.

DEAD.

The Execution of the Modoc Assassins—Captain Jack Gloomy. His Colleagues Indifferent.

The following is a report of the execution of Captain Jack and his band, at which took place at Fort Klamath on the 3rd. Eleven convicts were executed in all, and 26 others were sentenced to imprisonment for life. The executions took place at 10 o'clock a.m. Captain Jack and his companions were brought out from the guard house in wagons, and 26 soldiers were in attendance. Each wagon contained a coffin and the prisoner sitting on it. The wagons were driven to the scaffold, and the prisoners were then taken out and placed under the drop. Captain Jack was the first to step on the platform, evidently determined to show no fear. He looked around upon the assembled crowd, and then turned to the executioner and said: "I am ready." The executioner then adjusted the rope around his neck, and the cap was drawn over his face. Captain Jack then said: "I am ready." The executioner then pulled the rope, and Captain Jack fell through the platform. He struggled for a few moments, and then all was still. Captain Jack's body was then placed in the coffin, and the lid nailed down. The bodies of Schonchin John, Boston Charley, Black Jim and Barncho were then placed on the platform, and the ropes adjusted around their necks. The caps were drawn over their faces, and the platform fell, launching them into eternity. Their bodies were placed in coffins, and buried in the same grave with Captain Jack. Hooker Jim, Shacknasty Jim, Ellen's Man and Sloluck were then executed in the same manner as the others. Their bodies were placed in coffins, and buried in the same grave with the others. Curly Headed Doctor and Old Schonchin were then executed in the same manner as the others. Their bodies were placed in coffins, and buried in the same grave with the others. The bodies of the executed Indians were then

What Will Become of the Northern Pacific?

What is to become of the Northern Pacific railroad? The question is certainly very upon the inspection of Jay Cooke & Co. The continuation of the Northern Pacific may be said to have been practically in the fields of this firm. The early partners, Jay Cooke & Co. had in the very prime work the Philadelphia, Erie & Co. looking latter, seem to feel anxious as to which the case may be constructed, and that is for the consideration in this matter. [Cleveland Leader.

What She Said.

A colored man living on Mound street, having only a few days of a certain money to pay the rent three weeks in advance, he asked his wife last night what she would do if they should lose all of their money, and she replied that she would not be worried in the least, but that she would go to work and earn enough to pay the rent. The husband was much pleased at the reply, and told her that the day of the installment he would have the money, and that she should not work any more. Yesterday the writer of the item noticed a large load of furniture on a wagon and asked him where it was going. He answered that he was moving out, as he was behind with the rent, and could not get the money together in time to save himself from being put out. [Detroit Free Press.

Harriman's Holloway.

Mr. P. T. Barnum announces that if a thousand more persons can be induced to visit Bridgeport this season than visited that city last season, he will build a magnificent hotel at his own expense, provided one of seven hundred rooms be built. Bridgeport people will immediately set to work to make the experiment with a vengeance, for be sure, as a genuine advertising dodge, the scheme will succeed. Mr. Barnum has the best wishes of the entire Union. Bridgeport, Connecticut, generally, they hope the Barnum hotel will be built on the transcontinental route from New York. [Then the patient and long-suffering public will be relieved of the necessity of ever hearing of that city again.—Chicago Tribune.

The Meanest Man.

From the Detroit Free Press.

It turns out after all that the meanest man in town was not allowed to the other day at the meeting of the City Council. Business was a matter of the latter, and the meanest man in town was left out. He was not invited to the meeting, and he did not know that the meeting was to be held. He was in bed when he heard of it, and he knew that, as long as he was not present among the city and councilmen to see him, he would be left out of the list. He got up and dressed in a hurry, and was on hand when the meeting was called to order. He was the first man to enter the room, and he was the last man to leave it. He was present when the meeting was called, and he was present when it adjourned. He was present when the Council Parlors generally, they honor the meanest man in town, and voted the unanimous thanks of the meeting to him. He was present when the meeting was called, and he was present when it adjourned. He was present when the meeting was called, and he was present when it adjourned. Finances.

Everyone pretty well informed on financial matters, is aware that money is very close at present, and that the country is passing through a financial crisis, which is severely felt in all parts of the United States. Business is very dull, but confidence is not destroyed, and the general opinion is that the present pressure will not last long. Many failures have occurred, but it is generally believed that the embarrassment of the present will soon relieve, money will flow in a better channel, and business will be forced into its accustomed activity. The worst of such seasons is producing a safe currency, a substantial protection to the property of the country, and the investment has greatly increased the active resources of the people. The general feeling of confidence is unbounded, and the determination to pay every dollar of indebtedness is universal. Many failures have occurred, but the assignments of the insolvents, in most instances, show that they have been forced to the wall by others failing to meet their obligations. Many of the failures have been caused by the inability of the banks to meet their own liabilities, and the consequent refusal to discount paper. Many solvent men have been forced to the wall by the refusal of banks to discount their paper, when they had the money to meet it. Many of the failures have been caused by the inability of the banks to meet their own liabilities, and the consequent refusal to discount paper. Many of the failures have been caused by the inability of the banks to meet their own liabilities, and the consequent refusal to discount paper. Many solvent men have been forced to the wall by the refusal of banks to discount their paper, when they had the money to meet it.

It is clear that money can be commanded against the legitimate the owners of the choicest business in the country, of those who were last to go to the wall, are employed with an increased currency. Once up to increase the currency to the amount required by the Public Wants, and the country will soon be prosperity equal.

It is not true that when the Republican Assembly assembled to vote a resolution of sympathy with Grant in his misfortunes, Conkling moved to lay the resolution on the table, and that it was carried by a vote of 17 to 16? Such is the statement made by the Democratic papers, and it is true, but we believe it is not true. Conkling did not move to lay the resolution on the table, but he did move that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Finance, which committee was composed of Republicans, and that motion was carried by a vote of 17 to 16. The Democrats voted against it, and the Republicans voted for it. The Democrats then moved to lay the resolution on the table, and that motion was carried by a vote of 17 to 16. The Democrats voted for it, and the Republicans voted against it. The Democrats then moved to lay the resolution on the table, and that motion was carried by a vote of 17 to 16. It is said that nothing is made so easily as money. Just now it is very easily lost.

Carpenters has gone north and will soon return with a full stock of merchandise.

Ten 50-barrel Pans that Chewing Tobacco, $9.00 a lb., 15.8 Fire Test Kerosene Oil, 40 cts. at Fox, Rose & Buttars'.

The Rena for the season came arrived on Tuesday. It is a deep, powerful boat of about 400 pounds weight.

The model gloss house, Hyson Soo, has received an invoice of 5,561 Potatoes Cabbages, Butter, etc.

The only way to "do it" anything from a hack man about this town is to put a mustard plaster on him.

Grand Rapids is going to have a new hotel, 105x120 feet, four stories high and to cost over $100,000.

Postal service has been ordered on the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad between Walton and Traverse City, Michigan, to commence October 20th.

Butterscot.—Delinquent subscribers will please take notice that their subscriptions now due us, though small they may be, would come very acceptable just at this time.

Brevities—Quarterly meeting at Bay next to-day and to-morrow.

—Rev. J. W. Mater, Presiding Elder, will preach at the school house in this village to-morrow evening at 6, Standard time long.

Wages.—On the 15th, at the Fountain City House, by the blacksmith, Mr. Geo. Barton, to Mrs. Louisa Scott. No cards. The happy couple are now enjoying their wedding trip and honeying in the light of each others' countenance.

Game law.—It is forbidding the different species of wild game exposed on the 1st inst. All kinds of game can now be hunted without violating the law.—The salary of our new Congress Guy, Hon. Jay A. Hubbell, will look to it at once when he goes down to enter upon his duties the first of December. Please, Sir, make it a point to have those reservations put in market at once, and your constituents will thank you.

Erra Heavens.—The Eagle says: Capt. Thad Burrows informs us that he shall start for Cleveland with his boat about the middle of this month, where she will go into winter quarters. Our readers will be sorry to learn that this is probably the last season of Captain Burrows on the Bay, as he is interested in a steam barge which is being built at Fairhaven, on St. Clair River, which he intends to run.

The Supervisors.—The Board of Supervisors, which held its session on Monday and Tuesday, did not effect any material changes in county matters. The bridge question was taken up, and the Board voted to divest itself of any further responsibility in the matter. During the said proceedings that if a bridge is built, the Township must build it. No other business of importance was transacted.

S. S. Association.—The initiatory meeting of the Sabbath School Association was held at Norwood on Wednesday, was well attended, and was a complete success. The Association voted to hold their next meeting in Charlevoix on the last Tuesday in January. The full proceedings will appear in our next issue. The Secretary, Miss Ada, also soon publish the proceedings in pamphlet form.

The Grand Traverse Fair.

The three days Fair at Traverse City last week was a great success. The weather was a beautiful Indian Summer, and the attendance was estimated to have been from three to five thousand persons—including many visitors from abroad. The exhibition of fruit far exceeded all other exhibitions of the kind ever held in the Grand Traverse region. Geo. E. Steele, of Antrim County, was present with seventeen varieties of apples and one of pears. L. H. Smith, of Elk Rapids, was also present with ten varieties of pears, and several of apples. Richard Knight, of Banks, was also present with fine specimens of fruit. We regret that our county was not represented. The coloring of these fruits was of nature's choicest tints, and assured all beholders that the Grand Traverse region is admirably adapted to fruit growing, and that no better investment of capital can be made than in the planting of fruit orchards. Fruit that made a magnificent show were the Baldwin, Spy, King of Tompkins Co., Greening, Fall Pippin, Rawberry and Golden Russets. As far as the fruit was concerned the moral of the Fair seemed to be very clearly this language: "Fewer varieties and larger orchards." The conclusion to be drawn from the show of fruit at this Fair was, that the Grand Traverse section will soon be to Michigan what the Niagara section is to the State of New York, the great headquarters of the wine apple. Quinces, peaches, and grapes also made a good display of superior fruit. Other departments were well represented. The whole Fair, in all its branches, proved how successfully agriculture may be prosecuted in the Grand Traverse region. We regret very much that the throng of business prevented our attendance, for which purpose we were generously presented with a complimentary ticket.

Boyne Falls.—A passenger train of two coaches, with about twenty-five ladies and gentlemen, arrived at the Boyne Falls on Monday afternoon. Supper was served by mine host Nelson as the party returned.

U. S. Marshal Morgan has been circulating throughout this section picking up delinquents, and on Thursday left for Grand Rapids with A. J. Hall, of Boyne, and Chas. L. Smith, of Bear River, who will be arraigned before the U. S. Court on a charge of selling whiskey without a license.

Tug R. A. I. Robinson.—Another December of track has been laid on this road, now right upon Little Traverse Bay. Only five more miles of iron is to be rolled down to finish the road, and in a few days the last rail will be completed and laid, and the road ready for the Governor's inspection. The two sections are said to be in excellent conditions, fully as good as any other portions of the road. The depot site at Bear River has been cleared, and the grounds are being graded preparatory to the erection of buildings. Forty acres have been surveyed and platted into a village and lots are being bought at a rapid rate. Weekly trains will undoubtedly run until deep snow renders its appearance.

Time Indian Reservation.—The Grand Traverse Herald of last week says: "All, and every day we are asked when the reservation in Leelanau and Emmet counties are likely to come into market. Being an editor, we are supposed to know pretty nearly everything that is worth knowing. But even a Yankee editor can't guess what the "powers that be" may, or may not do. All we know about the matter is that the reservations ought to be put in market at once. They ought to have been long before this. There is no reason whatever for keeping them locked up another day. If the matter is not attended to before, we trust our new member of Congress from Jay A. Hubbell, will look to it at once when he goes down to enter upon his duties the first of December. Please, Sir, make it a point to have those reservations put in market at once, and your constituents will thank you.

What is a Panic?

The Christian Union is in no mood for a little spin on the nature and effects of panics. It asks the question: "What is a panic?" and thereupon explains:

Is it the deterioration of common sense, generosity, trust, courage, hope, sympathy, under the misery, almost despotism, of terror. For the time being, the regular businesses and government of the state are set aside, and the masonry is in the hands of the mob. Business, pain and disorderly passions. It is not only the temporary dissolution of individual orders; it is the temporary dissolution of the social center as well. Under its influence, honest men lose forget honor self-respect, courtesy, and the most obvious dictates of prudence; and cruelty, coldness and speculate the very catastrophe from which they seek to flee. Children turn parents, and then they trample each, and in cowardice drag upon themselves a destruction which courage would have been able to brave. We expect such things in children. But the same causes are among grown men. They are subject to panics of all kinds—military, religious, political, economic. While it lasts men are foolish irresponsible, ferocious, foolish, and they should be treated accordingly. The very word panic reveals in its etymology the instinctive belief that the thing it describes is a species of demon. The word grew out of the Preserving Eggs.

CHARLEVOIX is good ways to New York and Brooklyn to use repaired the pay five to six cents each for eggs some of which are no more fine than are built by me. It possesses eggs unfastened how to keep eggs good and sound state them each week, they would freeze, in the meantime small more than they now do for their normal purposes while consumers would be more benefited by her perfect eggs to a cheaper rate. Eggs are a staple of the market and it is an article of beauty and luxury to use the smooth surface, and they nothing I packed sparkly with the fat now in a cool and dry place of preservation is of this admixture, but it is covered not in cracks, and is found to not in the quality losing. A packing trust" to small and lights packed with a comfort part which affords all the trade to be used on a small part at one time, which is often the gloss and use to full for a few days months. These lines may be laid for about seven to five cents each, one to sufficient for a family. Eggs and yolks both can done in this way.

More attention is being paid to the cultivation of rye, of late years, than was formerly the case. One reason for this is the value of the straw, which is in demand for a good price for bedding and other purposes, for which it is decidedly preferred to oat or wheat straw; and the other is, that rye is a much surer crop than wheat, and also crops better for seeding purposes. It will be cut early in the spring. The grain, however, sells for a fair price, and is sought for this purpose, with the greatest avidity, when can be gathered over wheat, and to the grain also used for the straw, it will be found equally profitable to sow a large piece of rye for the wheat crop. The great importance of rye is, that it will do to plow of all other crops of the class for a table to flour. There is not the same necessity for sowing it early, as with wheat, but it is about still it has some advantages which should be studied of the rye. It will grow where a successful effect and affords a more rapid germination of the seed than wheat, and will stand the severity of winter. The straw will be found to be less liable to lodge. Rye is also very for the market especially.

Out of one hour men who ever the Independent monument in Belgium, the town Place of Brunswick. The work is about 1 years old, and is 1 feet high. It consists of a large square, surmounted by a pedestal, on which is a statue of Liberty, and the pavements of Main Rachel. He lies buried underneath with a Belgian flag. He had commenced work at 9 years of age, and every day, and had at 15 years of age was No. 1 being a large number of hours. When at 17 years of age he went 22 and 23 he was promoted to two Rogers through three long holes with the service. When at 19 years of age he went 24 and 25 he was promoted to two Rogers through three long holes with the same. Rogers that he must have his back cut.

Starving and Irons.—Scientific and Tim Hunt's secret process and when Tompkins was thoroughly dry, pure cream of tartar, fine powdered and very much pulverized which has one thousand of ammonia each over it, mixed together, bake in the ordinary pans, and when cold, put away in a dry place, and each of quick and loud over the surface, up and down the house, and with her perfect eggs to a cheaper rate. Eggs are a staple of the market and it is an article of beauty and luxury to use the smooth surface, and they nothing I packed sparkly with the fat now in a cool and dry place of preservation is of this admixture, but it is covered not in cracks, and is found to not in the quality losing. Rejoicing at the Death of Miranda.

The San Francisco News Letter rejoices at the death of Maximilian as mightily as if one of several Attila, Tamerlanes, or Genghis Khans had been removed from the shoulders of mankind. Maximilian was a very good man, and he was murdered for no crime except that of being a foreigner in a country which would take the trouble to govern itself. He was a man of peace, and he was murdered by men who had been trained to war by years of civil strife. He was a man of refinement, and he was murdered by men who were scarcely removed from the savage state. He was a man of kindness, and he was murdered by men who had been taught to look upon cruelty as a virtue. He was a man of honor, and he was murdered by men who had been taught to look upon treachery as a duty. He was a man of intelligence, and he was murdered by men who were scarcely above the brute. He was a man of generosity, and he was murdered by men who were steeped in meanness. He was a man of mercy, and he was murdered by men who had been taught to look upon blood-thirstiness as a virtue. He was a man of honor, and he was murdered by men who had been taught to look upon treachery as a duty. He was a man of intelligence, and he was murdered by men who were scarcely above the brute. He was a man of generosity, and he was murdered by men who were steeped in meanness. He was a man of mercy, and he was murdered by men who had been taught to look upon cruelty as a virtue.

INFLAMMATORY DISEASES.

Dr. Trask was engaged for twenty years in a course of experiments with the medical properties and value of vegetables, separate and combined. After many years of study he succeeded in procuring from some of the vegetables the essential principles, which he found to extract the most powerful virtues in curing the diseases incident to the human family. Hence the discovery of the Magnetic Ointment, one of those powerful Vegetable Extracts with Electricity or Magnetism in the form of an Ointment.

Certain, it is, that the remarkable and unprecedented success which has attended the use of this Ointment in the cure of diseases, stamps it at once as the greatest discovery of the age, and one for a trial and close investigation of its merits.

It never fails, while there remains sufficient life to restore a healthy circulation to the extremities, to relieve the most severe pain, and to prevent the mortification of the blood. By this means a countless number of lives have been saved, and in a very short time, to more healthy action, and a perfect cure.

Wells's Carbolic Tablets are put up in boxes containing fifty tablets each. They can be found at your drug store, send at once to the Agent in New York, who will forward you more speedily than any and all other preparations combined. What is it? NERVOUS DEBILITY.
WITH its gloomy attendants, low spirits, depression, involuntary nocturnal losses, and all the distressing symptoms, is of frequent daily occurrence, and characterizes individuals who have indulged in the SOLITARY HABIT. THROUGHOUT THE LENGTH AND BREADTH OF THE LAND, among the young of both sexes, and those in maturer years, who are single or married, the effects of this destructive habit are frequently manifested, but the fact is seldom recognized by the patient himself. Nervousness, Debility, Unfitness for Study or Society, Blotches on the Face, Disordered Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other evils, are the consequences. In SEXUAL DISEASES, or Affections of the Sexual Organs, whether existing in the Male or Female from whatever cause originating, the Constitutional Remedy, HUMPHREYS' HOMEOPATHIC SPECIFIC No. 10, or SEXUAL WEAKNESS, has proved eminently successful. Prepared from a life-long practice and extensive observation of the peculiar class of diseases it is intended to relieve. Single Bottle, $1. Sold by Druggists, or sent free by mail on receipt of price. Pamphlet free. Address HUMPHREYS' HOMEOPATHIC MEDICINE CO., 562 Broadway, N. Y. Send for circular.

The Republican Party.

At the present time there is no more excitement about political matters than at the regular autumn election, and very little is thought or said about it. And then it is as it ought to be. It is a time for the people to express their views in a manner which should not be misunderstood. Usually, after the election is over, the people have the most unbounded confidence in the wisdom of their rulers, but at just the following election they are ready to censure the action of all branches of the Government. Through its management of public affairs, the rebellion was subdued, the union of the States was restored, and those governments reorganized on a basis that secured permanent freedom from bondage to all. Cannot this be done now? Cannot the people, by their votes, bring about a change in their affairs? Can they not, by their votes, restore confidence and prosperity? Why not? Is there not virtue enough left in the people to do it? Is there not intelligence enough? Is there not patriotism enough? Can not the people, by their votes, bring about a change

The French Situation.

Little but the most visionary speculation can be indulged in regarding political prospect in France. Since the deposition of Napoleon III. there has been a constant and determined strife on the part of the best principal factions, for the mastery, but the so-called Republican element has thus far been the dominant power. But notwithstanding this fact, the situation is on an equipoise, and the national equilibrium would be lost if an energetic effort were made by either Imperialist or Bourbon. In view of this fact, an attempted Orleans means blood. Undoubtedly the Republicans would be willing to accept an alliance of the Imperialists, in order to defeat the Chambord party; and we think, the Imperialists would be willing to ally for that object. The Communist attorney's notoriety in France, are strong in Paris —the heart of France, and, in case of trouble will shed much blood on one side or the other. The present Government was established after Sedan, by a coup d'etat, in which, of course, the will of the people was not consulted. An Assembly was summoned which elected Thiers as President. That action was the offspring of an excited condition of the minds of the mob which then ruled Paris. As the troubled waters became calmer, the Republican midor of the Assembly gradually waned, and McMahon, the Imperialist, took the place of Thiers, the Republican. The natural cause and tendency of the action was clearly obvious to the minds of all thinkers: The cause—the incompetency and inability of the French people as regards the nature of true Republicanism; the tendency—a gradual drift back to regal or imperial rule. It is a mere assumption that the French people prefer a Republic to any other form of government. In the cities there is a vehement clash of politicians who insist upon what they call a Republic as a necessity, but there is no evidence and very little probability that the majority of the population really desire it. They are ignorant, timid and superstitious. It is said that a majority of the common people desire a firm and stable government which will secure them peace in the their fields, and which will not ruin them by taxation. French politics is a game played in Paris. The result in the game is to ascertain whether the players can depend upon the army; for with the army and the civil administration in their hands, the elections will result as they choose. The peculiarly unstable character of the French population renders it impossible to be surprised at any result of a vote of the Assembly; therefore, it is quite natural to expect a continuance of the quasi Republic, or equally natural to expect the restoration of either blended family to the throne. But we believe that continued peace under a Republic is impossible for the French people; and we are just as firm in believing that they can only be successfully governed by the iron rod of a Bonaparte or a Bourbon. The tendency seems to be in the direction of the latter.

☞ On the 16th of December next it will be one hundred years since the obstruction in was put to steep in Boston harbor.

☞ Connecticut voted, by a majority of three or four thousand, a few days since, to make Hartford the sole capital of that state.

☞ Our standing army, consisting of about 30,000 men, is to have a new uniform. An army of women is now at work on it at Frankfort arsenal, Philadelphia.

☞ Commodore Vanderbilt having lost some $700,000 by the decline of stocks, is a fit object of sympathy. But as he has some $30,000,000 remaining, the sympathy need not take the form of a contribution yet.

☞ Vice President Wilson is rapidly regaining his health. During last week he was in Boston attending to business affairs. He looks hale and hearty, and says he will be in Washington to preside over the Senate at the beginning of the session.

☞ W. F. G. Shanks, city editor of the New York Tribune, was lately committed to the Brooklyn city jail by Judge Gilbert for contempt in refusing to disclose the name of the writer of an article in a recent issue of that paper, reflecting severely upon Judge McCue, of Brooklyn. The information is desired in order to prosecute the writer. Gilbert Shanks gave the name of Whitelaw Reid as the responsible editor, but declared that the latter gentleman of the office, and his duty to his employer forbid his naming the writer's particular attributes.

☞ John C. Heenan, the prize fighter, died on Saturday morning near Rawlins on the Union Pacific Railroad, while on his way to San Francisco, of consumption. His body was brought to Ogden, and a casket was sent for its conveyance to New York.

☞ It is held that, according to the laws of New York, there can be no such thing as a mock marriage between single persons. Any agreement to live together as husband and wife marries them. There is no need of priest, magistrate, or formal ceremony.

☞ John Bright has been again elected to Parliament, on this occasion without opposition. Mr. Bright has had more than thirty years experience in parliamentary life, and has won a deserved reputation as the great champion of reform and progress in England.

TERRIBLE SCOURGE.
The Yellow Fever Spreading in the City of Memphis

A Memphis dispatch of the 19th says: The new Board of Health commenced operations this morning in earnest. The city is in a deplorable condition. Nearly a hundred laborers and a large number of carts are at work in the infected district, and a thorough overhauling of the almost depopulated First Ward is being vigorous ly prosecuted.

There was scarcely any signs of frost this morning. The temperature has been rapidly rising during the day, and our hopes of the past day or two are waning. A few new cases are reported to-day, and the disease is scattering all over the city, even into the suburbs, and the physicians seem to have no control of it. It is reckoned estimated that there are now between 200 and 1,000 poor children left orphans and homeless by the ravages of the disease, and much anxiety is felt for them. Contributions continue to pour in from every quarter, and all are being disbursed. It is most likely that the death list will be larger every day for some time, as those taken ill just previous to the frosts of Monday and Tuesday nights are all dying, and the warm weather of the past two days will increase the new cases. The entire southern part of the city is denuded of inhabitants, with the exception of the street lamps, and in the houses on it down streets, on which are the dead and dying, there was not a dozen business places open, after dark, including saloons. All who can are leaving the city, and departing trains are all crowded. Some, however, are now afraid to go, as several deaths are reported in adjacent towns of those who, while in good health, fled the city, and have since died of the fever. The 10,000 cattines ordered by the Presidents has not yet begun to arrive at the rate of 1,000 per day. Among the deaths thus far were those of three Catholic Priests.

A later dispatch says the disease is now on every street throughout the city, and, although everything possible is being done to prevent the spread of the contagion, it moves on regardless of all the combined efforts of the medical fraternity, and loss is unexpended.

The Young Color Bearer.

Gov. Letcher the other day, related an incident of the war. He said that, in one of the battles before Richmond, four flag bearers had been shot down, and a call was made for a volunteer to carry the colors. A stripling took the torn standard. The boy sat down, removed a shoe string and tied it. He started on from again. Another bullet pierced the staff. It was then fastened by the other shoestring. He had hardly shook the folds out a second time when down fell the flag, struck by a ball. The shoe-string had given out. He unbuttoned his jacket, ripped his shirt to ribbons and wrapped the broken rod and carried the tattered ensign through the fight. Gov. Letcher said: "When they brought me the boy with the shattered staff patched up with shoe-string and shirt-tail, I made him an officer, and gave him the the best sword Virginia had."

Pleasant Language.

The Brussels correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette writes: "The Rien Public, the Jesuits' organ, makes use of the following language with respect to the King of Italy: 'Victor, pains of the Pope, hangman of the Church, you will roll to the bottom of the abyss. You are pushed on by an irresistible hand, impatient to inflict upon you an inexorable chastisement. Go now and say at Vienna and Berlin: 'Look I am accursed, I am force, I am triumphant and crowned robbery!'"

Thos. Don Piatt in the Washington Capital's says—"Not a bad story is current among Americans in Europe, concerning our great Michigander, Senator Chandler. While making his grand tour in Europe he encountered our friend Gen. LeFevre, a distinguished linguist, then Consul States consul at Nuremberg. The conversation turning on bills presented by tradesmen, the senator said he could not complain.—His bill, compared to those he had to pay in Washington, were reasonable enough. But, there is one thing that worries me," he continued; wherever I go, if I ride for one night, I am charged with a buggy. Now the charge is low if I ever had a buggy, but I haven't seen a buggy since I left the States." Our consul was bothered. He asked at last to look at the bill, and found the learned Senator had understood the French word voiture (carriage) for the word American word buggy. And yet Mr. Chandler is a member of the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Last News of the Tichborne Trial.

Yesterday was the 188th day of the trial, and it is given out that the claimant is only half through his witnesses. The dragoons in Roger's regiment have not done swearing yet, only one officer has been produced Col. Norbury, who puts his final conclusions into the following eighteen[illegible] me to think it certain portions of the evidence were taken many or passed to be untrue, leaving the defendant's examination and cross-examination and my own personal knowledge, my doubts of his identity would be very slight indeed, I can not say I should have no doubt, but it would be very slight." The Chief Justice observed that this was rather a curious sum in intellectual exhaustion, the working out of which must be left to the jury.—London Cor. N. Y. Times

Marine Report

For the week ending Friday noon Oct. 31.
Saturday, 25—Idaho—up.

Monday, 27—Mohawk—down.
Tuesday, 28—Sheridan.
Wednesday, 29—Idaho—down; schr. Fair Play, from Beaver Harbor.

The mail came on runners, Thursday.

A. T. BUSHEY, formerly of Cross Village, has removed to Little Traverse.

A. BESSAS left yesterday for Chicago, to purchase goods.

THE girl of the period is to discard corsets. As jockeys say, she's fast but she won't stay.

The growing wheat in Michigan is reported as looking better than it has at a corresponding season for years.

RUN OVER.—David Hogan, of this Co., was run over by a team at Traverse City, lately, and quite serious'y injured.

ARRIVED.—Mr. Page, of the firm of Geo. W. Easterly & Co., of this village, arrived on Monday, via Boyne Falls.

We notice that our faithful pathmaster took the hint we gave him last week, and removed the stumps from Clinton street.

CROUTER'S Medical Hall is the place to procure pure Drugs, genuine Medicines, and, in fact, everything usually found at a first-class Drug Store.

THE Constitutional Convention has adopted an amendment prohibiting the exemption of church property from taxation.

The streets of Newman's addition to the village of Charlevoix are named, respectively, Newman, Smith, May, Allen and Third.

OFF FOR ECHORE.—James K. Hinton, proprietor of the Hinton House, and his eldest daughter Carrie, left for Europe on Monday last.—Eagle.

MR. CARPENTER, at the store of Carpenter & See, has just received a full and complete stock of winter goods. Her advertisement will appear next week.

As we are now laying in our stock of vegetables for the winter we will receive potatoes, apples, onions, etc. on subscription, at market prices, until further notice.

BIRTHDAYS.—Rev. Geo. L. Cole will preach at the Harvard school house tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. and at the Charlevoix school house at the usual evening hour.

TURNING THE DECK.—One of A. Fox & Co's teams, driven by Thomas Boak, broke through the bridge part of the dock, one day this week, with a load of wood. The driver and team escaped more safely.

You who desire to pay your subscription to the STANDARD, in wood can have the opportunity of so doing as soon as you please. We begin to feel a need of good stove wood.

MILLINERY.—As will be seen by the new advertisement elsewhere, Mrs. H. L. Miller has received a new stock of Millinery, at the Charlevoix building. Also Toys and Fancy Goods.

A TEACHER.—C Ismer Page, a graduate of Correll University, has been secured by our District Board, as Principal of our school the coming winter. School will commence about the 24th of this month.

THE POTATO CROP for 1873 is, in many parts of the West, wofully a failure. The most disastrous of the early spring gave the early varieties a start sufficient to insure a good crop, but later droughts have affected disastrously the later kinds.

POULTRY.—McLeod, our meat man, says he will buy all kinds of poultry between this and the holidays.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Cameron, in his recent trip to the foot of Lake Huron, called upon his father, E. Cameron, at Brewster, Ont., and our mutual friend, Duncan McKellar, at Port Huron. Both of these fine old Scotch gentlemen sent the editor word-tokens of regard, which we are happy in being able to reciprocate.

Advertising is simply a business transaction. You advertise with any paper not from any any particular love to the paper itself, or to its proprietors, but to profit by it. The paper takes your advertisement from the same motive. It is a speculation on both sides, and differs only from other speculations in being surely beneficial to both parties.

IS LAME.—Some three weeks ago a money package containing thirty dollars, or thereabouts, came to the STANDARD office here for Wm. Neilhoff. This fact come to the knowledge of Wm. Haines, who not having the fear of the law before his eyes, proceeded to draw an order on the express agent with the name of Neilhoff signed thereto. On this he drew the money and left for Charlevoix, where he was found by sheriff Morgan, brought up here and assigned a room in the castle on the hill. He is patiently waiting for the Judge to furnish him a pass to Jackson and a free ticket to the State institution there located.—Herald.

Marine News.

The Government schooner Belle Stephens, ashore on Skillagallee reef, is in danger of going to pieces. She lies on the north side of the reef.

—The little schooner Fair Play, of Beaver harbor, arrived at this port on Thursday evening.

—The steamer Gen. Sheridan will lay up in Charlevoix harbor, at the close of navigation, and will undergo repairs during the winter.

—The propeller Montgomery, of the same line in the gale on Lake Huron, on the 25th, had her starboard bulwarks stove and was forced to jettison several hundred barrels of flour to save herself.

—The Betsy Mac.—J. A. Cameron arrived on Monday with Newman's little vessel, the Betsy Mac. Since leaving here he has made a cruise to Port Huron, and Canadian ports, and encountered much heavy weather.

—A report of the 27th says: A large three-masted schooner lies at the northeast end of South Fox Island, apparently ashore. She was boarded northwest, and had all of her canvas stowed. The vessel lies on the northwest end of the island. She is painted white and carries a topsail, and has the appearance of being built of water.

—SUSQUEHANNA OUT.—This propeller towed by Silkman & Co., of Torch Lake, which got ashore about three miles east of Milwaukee, has been got off. She has suffered trifling injury considering the weather to which she was exposed on Friday afternoon and evening, though the exact nature and extent of her damages cannot be ascertained until she is placed in dry dock.

—AHOGE.—The schooner F. J. Myers, in the ore trade between Escanaba and Elk Rapids, bound for Escanaba, light, went ashore in the snow storm, on the 28th, between this point and Little Island, and now lies in but four feet of water. The Minnie Wood went to her assistance with a lighter, and took her anchor to deep water, but their united efforts to pull her off were unavailing. She is in a critical situation in the event of a northwest wind; while a southerly breeze would result favorably, in raising the water. She lies on a sandy bottom.

—The Elk Rapids Progress says: A few alterations have lately been made in the Queen's wheels and in some parts of the machinery about the engine which have greatly increased her speed. Mr. Kirby, the gentleman who had charge of her building at Wood's Yards in Wyandotte, has been here inspecting her, and intends thoroughly overhauling her this winter, putting in new engines and wheels and making her the swiftest boat in this region.

—It is stated that the Western and Union Steamboat Companies have entered into negotiations with the insurance companies for the cancellation of policies on their boats with a view to lay them up about the 10th of November. This would be a closing business nearly a month earlier than usual, and we doubt that the companies named contemplate laying up their entire fleet of boats so early, but it is quite probable that a portion of them will be laid up unless there is a radical change for the better in the rates of freight.

Proceedings of the Sunday School Association.

The Sunday School Association for Antrim and Charlevoix counties, though not largely attended, was a success; and judging from the interest manifested by those present, it is destined to become a source of profit and good to the cause throughout the region.

The session opened on the evening of the fourteenth, and continued to the close of the 16th. The opening sermon was delivered by the Rev. C. N. Coulter, of Antrim, from 2d Samuel, 6: 6—7.

Extended remarks were made by other members of the Association.

In the afternoon the question, "How may the attention of the classes be best secured?" was introduced. The discussion was opened by the Rev. C. N. Coulter, and was participated in by other members of the Association.

The report of the committee on Constitution and By Laws was heard, and after some amendment was accepted and adopted.

The following officers were elected, their term to hold until the January session: President, Rev. Mr. Schofield; Secretary, John Muirhead; Vice Presidents, Thos Muirhead, Wm. Knaggy, A. D. Healy, Henry Morgan, Rev. A. G. Wiggins, Thomas G. Bird, F. Coulter, Andrew Anderson, Wm. Slyter, and L. Van Camp.

Children's meeting was held on Wednesday evening. Address by Rev. J. J. McAllister, of Norwood followed by a few remarks by Rev. Geo. L. Cole, of Charlevoix.

On motion, Charlevoix was decided upon as the next place of meeting; the time, the last Tuesday in January.

Thursday forenoon was occupied in listening to reports from different schools in the County.

A motion was made and carried that a report of the proceedings of this Association be sent to the Charlevoix Sentinel, and Traverse Bay Progress for publication. Also that the proceedings be published in full, in pamphlet form.

A motion was also made and carried that each school in the counties of Charlevoix and Antrim be requested to take a collection to defray the expenses of the Association.

The topic, "How may we most effectually lead the children to Christ?" was then preceded by the Rev. G. L. Cole.

In the afternoon, the morning and an evening of questions through the question drawer formed a session of much interest

The Association closed on Thursday evening with an address by the Rev. Mr. Schofield—subject: "The claims of the Sabbath School upon the Church."

The Potato Rot Explained.

The potato rot, that mysterious disease which bathes the farmers from year to year, seems to find a possible shield to baffle the blight. The origin is the potato of attack and the insects are either its enemy or friend. It may be a question of taste, but experience shows that the potatoes raised in the northern counties are richer in flavor and more productive than those raised in the southern counties. The latter have a greater tendency to run to vine than to potato, and the vigor arises from the fact that the seed is changed from the north to the south. The potato is a native of the tropics, and the cold of the north is necessary to keep the plant from running to vine. The potato bug is a native of the Rocky Mountains, and was driven from its home by the settlement of the country. When first discovered in Kansas it confined its ravages to the wild potato vine, but when it found the cultivated potato it left the former and attacked the latter. The bug is now found in every State in the Union, and is steadily working its way eastward. The potato bug is the only insect that will eat the potato vine. Other insects will eat the potato, but they will not touch the vine. Hence the potato bug is the only insect that can be destroyed by poisoning the vine. Paris green is the best poison for the purpose, and it is now generally used. Plaster of Paris is also used, and is said to be effective. Wanted His Receipt.

In a restaurant a thousand miles from the nearest street car a hungry looking individual approached the counter the other day and asked for a receipt for his dinner. "A receipt?" said the waiter, "do you mean a bill?" "No, I don't want a bill, I want a receipt." "Well, you must have a queer appetite if you can't remember what you have had to eat," said the waiter, "but I suppose you want it to show your employer." "No, I don't want it for him either." "Then what in the name of common sense do you want it for?" "Why, you see," said the hungry man, "I'm a married man, and my wife is a terrible scold. She always wants to know where I've been and what I've had to eat, and I've got tired of telling her, so I thought I'd get a receipt and show it to her."

Love and Railroads.

A young man who had long been in a very pretty young lady at the Nashville depot in Louisville thought a rare chance had come for him to accompany the girl to another depot, but only succeeded in getting worked along by the throng to the ticket office and left completely alone. He hastened back to the waiting room, but the girl was gone. He rushed to the platform of the departing train, but no one was there. He ran to the ticket office and asked the agent if a young lady had gone that way. "Yes, sir," was the reply, "she went on the train that left at 10:30." "Where was it bound?" "Bound to kind of a red-headed fool."

Wanted to Be Married.

"Jane, you're a fool," said Mrs. Partington to her niece, who had been sighing for a husband for the last two years. "Why don't you get married?" "Because I can't get a man to have me," was the reply. "Can't get a man to have you! Why, you're as pretty as a picture, and as good as you are pretty. Can't get a man to have you! Why, Jane, you're a fool. Can't get a man to have you! Why, Jane, you're a fool. Can't get a man to have you! Why, Jane, you're a fool

The Search of the King of Sweden, commenced in 1851, was ended in Germany August 10. Count Adlersparre has been 22 years and has written some four or five volumes of travels.

Advices from Mexico to the 22d ult. state that the yellow fever was then gaining ground, and had already swept away one-fifth of the population of Vera Cruz. Of those who were left, one-fifth were down with the fever and could not help.

The city treasury of Savannah was recently robbed to the amount of $50,000.

Ten years ago, this month, Tweed Ring, New York, got control of the city government. Change, proceeding through the usual—very large—amounts, being used by successive Tammany rings, has brought the city to the verge of bankruptcy.

Ann Arbor, Detroit and Lansing, is, finally, actually under the Detroit & Howell Company. Police Mr. Bandel must be quick, or Mr. Tilden will have another big corporation to help him to the White House. Tilden must be to him all Stanley and Livingstone in Bandel's path if he be ambitious. Tilden must be to him all Stanley and Livingstone in Bandel's path if he be ambitious. Tilden must be to him all Stanley and the wilds, to say so. It is stated from Ohio that Bandel was offered the company, but that a commission was accepted.

The Detroit, Lansing & Northern Railroad was completed from Detroit to Howell. Divine providence has been taken to grant a partial afternoon. Miles of track has been added to expand public faith, over to arrive last, snowbanks knotted and unbreakable required. No fears are apprehended of any serious accident occurring over the whole road, and Sundays will guarded. The study of using the line is cold and clear. Noon snow less felt on the Bandel. Magnetism Tunnel are running regularly.

Among the fine arts in vogue in the midst of the Sacrogent sufferers was a beautiful young lady of Philadelphia. Her betrayer and abandoner gained for her the title of Angel Agnes. One night, while walking with a lady friend in his arms, she fell down a doorway and found of her sister, and died in great agony. Only a few days previous, her intended husband, who had followed her to Europe, died of his fever.

The "centennial" in the name of everything, which has the least form of which Professor Wise argued the possibility of a balloon flight to Europe, seems to be a delusion and a snare, at least on the other side of the Rocky Mountains. Two young gentlemen went up there from San Francisco in March of it, 1873. They rowed, instead a wonderful element, whose food was found on the Pacific Ocean. They were glad enough to drop into the ocean and make for shore in a passing boat, while their balloon went sailing contentedly to explore the Asiatic regions.

The Orleans princes have united in a formal declaration that they will not accept the Lieutenancy of the Kingdom of France and do they do to avoid all appearance of connivance with the Count de Chambord. All believe of the Royal party apparently intend to make a pronunciation of President MacMahon's power. There is a difference of opinion as to the length of time. Some fools mind Mac Mahon as President for life, and others are for extending the term six or ten years. All are determined to overthrow the existence of the present Assembly, and a motion will probably be introduced presently to that effect. It is generally understood that an attempt will be made to arm the movement with dictatorial powers. Rather to those granted in 1867, and to introduce a bill prohibiting Orleanists for candidates to the Assembly till the electoral law is amended.

Pere Hyacinthe is a name to the readers of the Inter-ocean of August which is interesting to the whole world. He was the most famous Roman Catholic preacher in Europe, and was the idol of the Parisians. He married an American lady, and has followed her to Geneva, where he has established a church of his own. He is a man of great learning and eloquence, and his sermons are full of deep thought and spiritual power. He is a man of great courage, and his sermons are full of deep thought and spiritual power. Sheltering Stock in Winter.

In order to ward off the effects of cold, as poorly sheltered cattle consume a large quantity of extra food to keep up the animal heat by producing good shelter and exercise. Animals so protected will be sleek and in good condition, while those so fed will have coarse hair and gaunt forms, shivering with cold, shabby appearance and unprofitable. Shelter is produced by one covering for horses. Thoroughbred horses require comfort in winter, namely one of the means of keeping the animal in health and preventing waste of flesh. Too many farmers leave their stock poor. Those who have kept their stock out of doors have been the cause of many disasters, should try sheltering their cattle from winds, storms and extreme cold for a few years. It will pay, which is doubtful, besides the satisfaction of seeing that you have done your duty to the dumb animals under your care, for a merciful man is merciful to his beast."—Western Rural.

When you hear a man say the world must have a living, you may have any thing almost from him.

An Iowa clergyman who had a donation party lately, has leaves enough to last for eighteen years.

Mrs. Partington says she gets up every morning at the shrill exercise of the cheerbrow.

Traverse City is building a Baptist Church.

The schooner Bells Stevens, ashore at Skillagalee, has gone to pieces.

Guests.—Wm. Miller, of Marion, had a horse gored to death by a cow, one day this week.

Reman Jewelry Establishment is now located opposite the postoffice, at the old Edwards stand.

Arrived.—C. Dexter Page who is to conduct our school the coming winter, arrived on Saturday.

Removed.—Robert Bedwin and family, of Pine Lake, have removed to Oberlin, Ohio, where they will remain for an indefinite period.

Bell.—The bell was raised to the steeple of the school house on Thursday, and as we write is hanging out its clear tones on the evening air.

Removed.—Rev. Mr. Wood will preach at the school house in this village to-morrow morning, and Rev. Mr. Cole in the evening.

Three barges and a tug are ashore on Bonds Manitou Island. The scow Maple Leaf is ashore in the same place, and was obliged to send to Milwaukee for a tug and pump.

Stokes has been convicted of manslaughter in the third degree, and sentenced to State Prison for four years. This is the lightest penalty that could be inflicted. But it is New York justice.

Personal.—J. Snyder, father-in-law of the Rev. Chas. W. Wood of this village, has removed to Charlevoix with his family, and will take up a permanent residence somewhere in the vicinity.

We have lately received another new assortment of job type, and other job material. We will not own the best in prices or quality or work. Work executed in elegant style, in colors, gold or silver bronze.

Two schooner Arabs was towed into the harbor on Thursday evening. This is the largest craft ever in Round Lake—her capacity being 430,000 feet of lumber. She will be able to-day, and will go to Chicago in ballast.

A Mr. Boardman of Chicago, recently purchased 8,000 acres of land on Beaver Island. What he intends to with it is the subject of considerable speculation among the Islanders. The land continues about one-quarter of the entire Island, and was purchased at $2 25 per acre.

The Lighthouse Board have given notice that on and after the night of Wednesday, the 20th day of October, 1873, a fixed light will be exhibited from an open frame-work structure recently erected on the outer end of the south pier, harbor of Frankfort, Michigan.

Peaten Island.—Harrison Miller, keeper of the light at the head of Beaver Island, and Benjamin Campbell, of Beaver Harbor, were in town a few days this week. They report that a large number of propellers are stopping at the harbor, both fuel and refuge. Mr. Miller, in company with Henry Wright, of the Harbor, have purchased 800 acres of timbered land near the head, and will, during the winter, put out a dock, and make it a wooding station.

The Shelby returned from Beaver Island on Wednesday, and reports a barge ashore at the head of the Island, and a schooner in the same condition at the mouth of the harbor.

Railroad Lands Bringing Or.—Since the commencement of the year 1873 the Land Commissioners of the Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad Company has disposed of 13,641 acres of land, from which it will realize $230,262, an average of $9.70 per acre. The most of these lands were sold to farmers who will settle upon them.

Not Yet Out.—The schooner Mayer, ashore near this place, remains in the same condition as last reported. The tug Scoop-Stakes came from Detroit on Wednesday, and remains at work yet. The prospects for getting her off look dubious. She was in the ore trade between Escanaba and Cleveland, ported at the Rapids, as stated last week.

Map of Michigan.—Farmer's new and revised edition, Railroad and Township map of Michigan, just issued is received. It has been carefully revised and corrected down to date, and contains not only the complete geography of the State, but also other valuable information. The above carnival sum at which it is sold, ed, no one can afford to be without one.

Compliments.—The Independent says: John Conchois, one of the early settlers of Mackinac and Cheboygan Counties, died very suddenly on the 12th, in the 53d year of his age. He came to Mackinac nearly 20 years ago and removed here about three years ago, where he has resided until death. Mr. Conchois was a man of strict integrity and was highly respected as a neighbor and friend.

Shanked.—E. Cooper, of this village, recently received a letter from Cross Village to the effect that a small boat—but some inborn near that place, presenting the appearance of having been swamped. The boat being discovered to some Beaver Island parties who were here this week, the following facts come to light: Jack Gallagher, Owen Gallagher, and Morris Hoyle, left Beaver Island about three weeks ago, for Traverse City, which place they reached safely, and started out on their return trip. When well on their way they were probably caught in one of the southwest gales which occurred at that time, and swamped, the boat going ashore in Sturgeon Bay, as before stated. They were all residents of Beaver Island, and men of family.

Reformation.—From the proceedings of the Antrim County Board of Supervisors, published in last week's Progress, we take the following extract:

"Resolved, That in the claims presented to the Board of Supervisors, and the reports by certificates of the County Clerk of Grand Traverse County, for the year 1873, for the collection thereof, no tax title said claims upon the taxes of said years shall be presented with the proper evidence of the legality of the same as a proper charge against this county."

The substance of this resolution has been a part of the proceedings of two former sessions of this body, and alludes to the witness fees of three or four citizens of Charlevoix,—oursell among them—in the Randall trial. We were forced to leave our business and travel 60 miles in mid-winter, and to remain in attendance on the Court four days. Our individual claim does not exceed $15; but the damage to our business exceeded $50. We look upon it as open repudiation of honest obligations, as the said Board are aware of the legality of the claims.

Accidental Poisoning.—Miss Mary Harry, a young lady of about 17 years of age, whose home is with Jackson Ingalls, Esq., of this village, unwittingly escaped a most horrible death on Saturday morning last. She had for some time, owing to an ailment, been taking a medicine which she produced by steeping a certain herb. On the morning in question, she noticed what she supposed to have been the right herb, but by mistake steeped a quantity of Belladonna—a deadly narcotic poison—which happened to be on the stand, and drank it. She soon after fell in violent spasms, remaining so upwards of an hour. In the meantime, Mrs. A. G. Aldrich, with remarkable presence of mind, had forced the whites of several eggs and an amount of oil down her throat. Happily this treatment saved her life, and she is now in a fair way of recovery, although very weak. Let this terrible accident be a warning to all those who keep poisonous herbs and decoctions in the house.

Wrecks Discovered.—Capt. Falcon, the wrecker, assisted by Timothy Smith, of this place, and Benjamin Campbell, of Beaver Harbor, during the past summer discovered the locality of the wrecks of the propeller Milwaukee and the schooner J. S. Tiffany, which collided and four miles off Skillagallee late in the fall of 1857. The propeller was loaded with grain and the schooner with railroad iron. He succeeded in raising 200 tons of the cargo of the latter, out of 400 tons which she had on board. The anchors and coins were also secured, and are now in Chicago. The anchors and chains of the propeller were also raised. Among the interesting relics obtained by Capt. Falcon is the lamp which swung at the mainhead of the propeller on the night of the disaster, 16 years ago, and which was found hanging in its place, badly rusted, but still filled with oil, and ready for its work. Capt. Falcon states that he will raise both if weat is next season. The propeller lies in 16 fathoms, and the schooner in 18 fathoms of water.

A Wonderful Answering.—The Ludington Tribune has the following item which was informed by Mr. C. R. Ford, of this place, that on Monday night, Oct. 20th, Mr. Nathan Saunders, a well-known fisherman who was fishing at summer island near Grand Haven, while trying to return to his vessel in a small "pound boat" with only one oar, missed the vessel on account of the heavy sea. He then tried to reach Gull Island, but did not succeed, and was carried ashore on Monday, and he had to be left at Pilot Bay, near Point Betsy, on this shore. He reached land on Wednesday of a sudden by reaching some 2 fathoms of 120 miles in 42 hours. He had no food during this time with the exception of a small quantity of tobacco, which afforded him some nourishment. When he reached terra firma he was nearly exhausted. Mr. S., being a master of experience, made up his mind to keep his boat out of the tracks of the sea, and for this purpose he tore out the backboards of the boat, attached them to amidst and that happened to be on board and threw them overboard letting them trail behind, thus keeping the boat straight. He was kept busy all the time bailing out the water every sea would ship in.

New Engraving Process.

A new process for making engravings, known as the Ives process, has been introduced in N. Y. Unlike the half-tone and other processes, it does not require a screen, and produces remarkable results. It is said to be a photo-mechanical process of the simplest kind. First an ordinary photograph is made on a sensitive gelatine plate, and then a very large number of lines are drawn on the plate in a very large number of lines.

The Tribune says: A visitor to the office of the Ives process the other day found a picture of a man's head, which had been engraved by the process. A magnifying glass revealed the fact that the picture was made up of a large number of lines, which were so fine that they could not be seen with the naked eye. The picture was printed on a rotary press, and the result was a very fine engraving. The process is said to be cheaper than the ordinary process of engraving, and the results are said to be more satisfactory. The process is the invention of Frederick E. Ives, of Philadelphia, who has been engaged in experimenting with it for several years. He has applied for patents in the United States, England, France and Germany, and has already received patents in this country and in England. Mr. Ives is a son of the late Joseph C. Ives, the explorer of the Colorado River, and is himself a graduate of the Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N. J. He is now engaged in perfecting the process, and has established a studio in this city for the purpose.

A Good Thing.

The assessed valuation of cattle is a good deal less than it was last year, and this is a great cause for complaint among the farmers, who have to pay taxes when they are supposed to own imaginary cattle.

We understand that Judge William P. Dewey has been appointed to the position of Circuit Court Commissioner, taken on the Ridge Turnpike. Mr. Dewey was born at Howbeenugh within our memory, and as he was his father's only son he never left home, but remained to help his father on the farm. When the old man died, he left the homestead and property to his son, and Mr. Dewey has since been engaged in following the occupation of his father and grandfather before him. Mr. Dewey is a man of good judgment, and will make a good Commissioner.

The Carrying of Live Stock.

The law of Congress passed at the last session provides that no animals shall be carried in any railroad baggage car in the United States for a longer period than twenty-eight consecutive hours without being unloaded for rest, water and feeding for a period of five hours. When the animals are unloaded they shall be properly fed and watered during such rest, or in default of so doing in case any shall be carried upon said railroad, the company shall forfeit and pay a penalty of not exceeding $500 for the offense as the court may determine, to be recovered by the United States in an action of debt in any court of competent jurisdiction. Provided, That the penalty shall not exceed $100 for each animal so carried.

A young man was discharged from Adams Express Company, who had carried four thousand dollars in one week during his time and a half years of employment.

A Connecticut servant girl was looking through a book of photographs, when she came across a picture of her employer's wife. She took it to her employer and asked him if he knew who it was. He replied that he thought he knew, but was not certain. She then said that she would like to know, as if she accidentally broke the picture she would have to buy another. He told her that unfortunately he could not help her in the matter, as he was not insured against damages to pictures.

☞ It is said that an attempt will be made during the next session of Congress to restore the franking privilege.

☞ Michigan has refused to insert a recognition of Deity in the preamble to the new Constitution of the State.

☞ Memphis reported but one death from yellow fever in the twenty-four hours ending yesterday noon. The fever is practically conquered.

☞ Stokes, the cowardly murderer, will be clerk in the cigar manufactory at Sing Sing. New York justice ends in smoke.

☞ An application has been made to the Queen's Bench for an extension of time for the further hearing in the Tichborne claimant case until November, 1874. The application was granted.

☞ Recent announcement from Washington says that Secretary Richardson has begun paying out silver dollar for dollar for greenbacks or fractional currency. Payment has commenced both at the depot ment and at the Sub-Treasury in New York.

☞ The khedive of Egypt is described as a person of culture, speaking French with ease, and English a little; fully educated at the Polytechnic School in Paris, and wears the dress of Christian people. He is a shrewd and rich merchant, and not a soldier by propensity; and he income and the history of his court exceed the tales of Haroun al Raschid's splendor. It is said that he has an income of $110,000,000 per annum, or about $300,000 a day.

☞ There is great excitement in Colorado over the discovery, 25 miles southwest of Del Norte, of a gold mine thought by the miners to be the richest in the world. Samples received in Denver are literally the pure gold in mass perfectly visible to the naked eye, and assaying hundreds of thousands of dollars. Other specimens taken at random from various parts of the vein, just as they lay on the surface, assaying as high as $36,000 per ton.

☞ The tertiary army of defenseless unsupported formidable peace establishment. It consists of 623 724 men, 376 field guns, and 56 250 horses. Of course these numbers would be greatly increased in the event of war. The landed burden upon the tax paying people of such a force, with no prospect for a change unless for the worse can be conceived by the imagination that after the rebellion had the national arms had been permanently vanished and kept constantly reminded by an imperial and merciless conscription. Americans have cause enough for gratitude in their separation by an ocean from powerful and warlike neighbors.

Grateful Thousands testify to the wonderful curative powers of these remarkable Bitters. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, Appomattox, Potomac, Delaware, Susquehanna, and many other rivers of less magnitude, with their vast tributaries, all take their origin in the mountain ranges or highlands, and in their course to the ocean pass through every variety of soil, from the rich vegetable mould to the sterile sand-hill and rock, and in their long courses through these various soils become contaminated with the poisonous exhalations of decaying animal and vegetable matter, which, when taken into the human system, produce the various derangements of the Liver, Stomach, Blood, Nerves, and Vital Organs.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Constipation, Flatulency, Sour Stomach, Loss of Appetite, Bad Breath, Low Spirits, Blotches on the Skin, Humors, Diseases of the Kidneys, and a great variety of other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia.

Female Complaints, Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Liver, Spleen, and Stomach, are generally cured without a dissolution of the organic structure, when the use of a proper cathartic is combined with the use of the Bitters.

Such Diseases as Tetter, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfy, Scaly Skin, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Scrofula, and Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations and Old Sores usually accompany an impure state of the blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, carefully read the circular around each bottle, and use as directed.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when, and your health will follow.

Keep the blood pure, and the healthy functions of the system will be preserved, and long life will be the result.

☞ The Catholic clergy of Prussia have taken decided umbrage at the enactment more than once of a legal axiom, to the effect that "Every man is the architect of his own fortune." Bishop Von Ketteler of Mainz, has addressed a letter to the Emperor, demanding subscriptions to defray the charge, he intends to inaugurate the Emperor's letter to the Pope. The decree of the bishop for a cheap notoriety will probably not be gratified.

☞ The Cuban revolution broke out in October, 1868. The means to overwhelm themselves against the military power of the Spaniards for a period of five years, and they are now in the fifth year and can equal than when the contest began. Should the United States Government refuse to interfere in this behalf they will probably not be generously supplied with means to continue the struggle by private subscriptions, and every city in this country will have a Cuban Aid Society.

☞ In regard to secession prominent and impartial men the Republicans party stands squarely upon the following platform:

Opposed to the lawless and unjust use of salaries law and to enacting its enforcement to reasonable limits.

Opposed to all concessions that tend to oppress labor or interfere with the rights of the people.

In favor of such restraining legislation as is necessary to prevent enforced corporations from charging exorbitant or oppressive rates for transporting products.

Opposed to lobby and other influences tending to corrupt legislation or hinder honest legislation.

Opposed to further land grants unless for immediate settlement.

Opposed to whatever tends to extravagance in the administration of the Government.

☞ At a recent session of the French Assembly M. Lahonloge read the report of the prohibitionist committee in connection with the passing of the duties of printing President MacMahon's power without organic law. To do so, says the report, would result in more or less disguised dictatorship, under the title of President of the Republic. France wants a settled government, but it is impossible to grant President MacMahon more than five years of power. The report also proposes to so constitute the republic that France may not become the prey of revolutions, and recommends the appointment of a committee of thirty to consider constitutional bills. It concludes by appealing to the Conservatives to help found a republic, now that the schemes of the Monarchists have failed, otherwise the dissolution of the Assembly is inevitable.

During the first months of this year the Manistee and Messenger pounded around in the lake ice for a couple of months at an enormous expense. In September the Hamilton was lost. In November the City of Toledo ran ashore losing the company another 5,000. Now we learned of the unprecedented, disastrous storm the propositions lately entertained for the purchase of a steam ferry propeller, the Minneapolis, from Capt. Bruce Ward, if Detroit, for the sum of $30,000. This is a fine vessel, the queen of the wrecked Milwaukee.

DEFENDING WAR!

Spain Kicks Over the Traces, and Uncle Sam Threatens to Apply the Lash!

The Cuban cause in the U. S. has recently been excited to greater activity in the courage by a spirit it was slept, of the Virginius cleaning to be an American vessel, and the summary execution of the captain and fifty-eight of the passengers and crew by the Cuban provincial authorities without a trial. It appears that three by citizens of the American Minister to Spain, the Spanish government telegraphed to the authorities in Cuba not to execute any of the captives, but embark standing a few settled Cuban insurgents the balance were also executed without trial. The case is being thoroughly investigated by the government, and in the meantime our opinion in the West inclines to being reinforced, and warlike preparations are being made. Much excitement exists in the public mind over the matter, and the people are ready to back up their servants in any action they may take. Should the Spanish government refuse to give proper satisfaction, and the matter be referred to congress, that body will undoubtedly declare war, and authorize the President to put into active service the army and navy, and call for volunteers. The signal is yet to come.

THE WILSON.

A Few Facts Well Worth Your While to Consider.

The manufacturers, agents and "sewing persons" in the interest of other sewing machines represent that the Wilson Sewing Machine is of inferior quality, that it "can't stand on a seam"—and advise persons desirous to purchase a sewing machine, by any other average machine except a Wilson." For a machine to stop to represent the Wilson Machine on the thread and luster depend on it; but when ever the Wilson Sewing Machine is exhibited its superiorness is visible, and the ending of the contest is ended, as people will buy no other machine.

The Wilson Sewing Machine is the best in the world, and its manufacturers have in several particulars and expect extension. It is made from the best material and well done. Every part of it is made to wear the best possible, is thoroughly case hardened of steel temper cut.

The Wilson Sewing Machine will do a larger range of work than any other family sewing machine and do it better.

The Wilson Sewing Machine Co., with its immense factories and large stores and warerooms in New York city, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Cleveland, and in many of the smaller cities together with its large capital, employed extensively in advertising, its unlimited control, and therefore make anything for the sum best quality of sewing machines it has to assist its reputation and standing and continues to its offices and great satisfaction to its customers and competitors.

The Wilson Sewing Machine Co. is justly entitled to the honor of being chosen agent by the Public Benefactor, for placing on the market a first-class sewing machine at a price within the reach of the poorest people in the land, and at the same time finishing it in entirely opposite manner to the rich and fastidious.

The managers of the Wilson Sewing Machine Co., in placing the Wilson Sewing Machine upon the market at a price greater below that of any other sewing machine, claiming to be first-class, scientific and universal public application, and a large demand for their machines which has been realized in excess of their highest expectations.

Notwithstanding the unprecedented success and popularity of the Wilson Sewing Machine, there are still a few unscrupulous people mostly employed by the representatives of parties interested in maintaining the high prices of sewing machines to believe that a sewing machine and necessarily be sold at a high price to be a good one, and therefore without willingness to be imposed upon. It is contrary to right business principles for people to willfully or expressly allow themselves to be defrauded in any manner whatever. We make no assertions that we cannot prove by men of thoroughly conservative and fixed character.

The cost of material and labor in the Wilson Machine, and all other machines of equal to be first-class, is about the same, and will not vary one dollar in a score. Therefore, if the Wilson Sewing Machine Co. can sell us and the Wilson Sewing Machine as First Premium all other large companies can afford to sell their machines at the same price and as we are competent judges regarding our own capabilities, we leave the public to judge the others.

HERSEY & SON FRANKLIN, Druggists of the city advertise their great sarsaparilla, to commence December 16, and continue to date. This will be the most important offer of the kind ever announced in the West and we have no doubt will be largely taken advantage of by the trade and public generally.—Grand Rapids Eagle Nov. 15.

The Wilson Sewing Machine,

Was awarded 2 Crosses to us the best that to Thirty Machine in the world, as it was awarded a bronze to be the company. The Committee on Awards, after the most thorough examination and comparison of all the sewing machines on exhibition, and with the best facilities for the investigation of their merits, and with the full knowledge of their comparative value, have awarded to the Wilson Sewing Machine the highest premium for its superiority in all the essentials of a perfect machine.

Marine Report

For the week ending Friday noon Nov. 16 Canada Dominion Days—none.

Services Sunday morning by Rev. Mr Wood.

If your eyesight is failing, C. W. Crouter can supply you with eye-glasses.

The Charlevoix Postoffice will be closed on Thanksgiving Day from 9:30 to 11:30 A. M.

WANTED.—Several residences are being finished for winter occupation, among which are those of Ray Peckham, on Bridge st.; O Fisher, on Mason st., and J. M. Whitney, on Clinton st. Hon. J. S. Dean is now occupying his elegant new residence, at the foot of Pine Lake.

If you want a good hair-brush, cloth brush, tooth brush or shaving-brush, call at Medical Hall.

CORRESPONDENCE.—Efforts are being made by some of the citizens of Cheboygan to raise $5,000 for the purpose of deepening the river from Third street, so as to give 12 feet of water. Hurd & Smith will deepen the channel to 12 feet as far as their dock, and have put in a good job.

BEAR RIVER.—A rumor comes of a serious fracas at Bear River, this week, in which the Smith whiskey shop was nearly demolished by a mob of drunken customers. This is a clear case of being "choke with his own poison." May the same fate be visited upon the rest of them.

NOTICE.—Sealed proposals will be received up to Saturday, Nov. 30th, at the store of Carpenter & See, for the delivery of 25 cords of black-wood, to be 20 inches in length, and to be all body lenth and staple of equal parts, the same to be fitted for the school house stoves. By order of School Board.

THE month of October rolled up, at a rough estimate, somewhere about 170 disasters, of which no less than 30 were total losses. Two vessels it is almost certain, are lost with their crews, numbering in all not less than 18 or 20 lives, while there were in various other accidents not far from 40 more lives lost on the lakes. The most fearful was that of the steamer Bavarian, which was burned, involving the loss of 24 lives.

THE ANNIE.—This steamer is making regular trips on both branches of the Lake, and will continue to do so, until the lake freezes up. Consequently she will lay up here, undergo extensive repairs during the winter, and be on hand for business in the spring. The Annie has been a great benefit to the people around Pine Lake this season, and will be a still greater benefit from this time until the close of navigation, when travel by small boats is not less dangerous than uncomfortable. Capt. Mees contemplates moving his family to this place next spring.

A NUISANCE.—The steamer Sheridan is decidedly and emphatically a nuisance. Would to Heaven that the elements would take pity upon suffering Grand Traverse, and, without loss of life, put her in the bottom of the Bay, or blow her to the moon.

It will be observed by a notice which appears elsewhere, that the Union School term begins on Monday next. Care has been taken to secure good teachers for two departments. The higher department will be in charge of Prof. C. Dexter Page, while the second department will be taught by Miss Hicks Smith. Prof. Page is a graduate of Cornell University, located at Ithica, N. Y., and comes highly recommended. We mention these facts for the benefit of those outside of the district who wish to patronize the school.

The Outlook.

The business outlook at Pine Lake is about as good as usual at this time of the year. It has been a good season for crops, which helps the situation very much. There will not be quite as much wood cut as there was last winter, as quite a large stock is now on hand. Probably 3 000 cords of popular wood will be got out by Fox & Rose, and other parties will do something in the shipping-wood line. The mill company will, as usual, purchase hardwood and pine logs, so that, while the demand for labor will be considerably less than last winter, there will be no deficiency of supplies of bread and meat. Therefore, we think the demand for labor will place one population in about ordinary independent circumstances. And then, all about Pine Lake, farmers can, if they choose, get out shipping wood and sell the same at their option, on the opening of navigation, at just such prices as if delivered from the dock at this point. Some may doubt the ability of vessels to enter Pine Lake, in consequence of what may appear to be slight obstructions at the mouth of the river; but should this be the case, arrangements have been made with the tug Leviathan to remove them early in the spring. Our population has had a slight increase already of the benefits in store for them, in consequence of the opening of the river. We think there is no doubt that an appropriation will be made by Congress this winter that will still further improve our harbor. Therefore we say to our friends on the Lake: Establish your accessible water points, and deliver there your shipping wood and whatever other marketable material you choose, and buyers will be plenty on the re-opening of navigation.

THE rolls of Messrs. Hannah, Lay & Co. of Traverse City, are shut down for the season, and a large number of men discharged. They will run but one camp the present winter instead of three, their usual number.

THE Charlevoix Postoffice will be closed on Thanksgiving Day from 9:30 to 11:30 A. M.

WANTED.—Will some of our friends bring us wood? Any convenient length will be taken.

THANKSGIVING services next Thursday at the school House. Sermon at 10 o'clock a. m. by Rev. Geo. L. Cole.

The Eagle says that that "Hannah, Lay & Co. are selling redingotes at cost" What the d—l are redingotes?

BALL.—A. J. Hall is to give a Thanksgiving ball on the evening of the 27th, at his new hotel at the head of Pine Lake.

The proprietor City of Boston, of the Northern Transportation line, is ashore four miles south of Frankfort. All hands safe.

HUNTER.—It is rumored that some capitalist contemplates locating a Hemlock Extract Factory on Bear River, in this county, at the G. R. & I. R. R. crossing.

SCHOOL.—School commences on Monday next. Non-residents of the district will be admitted by paying a tuition fee of $1.25 per month, to be paid monthly in advance.

WE learn that W. G. Newman is making contracts with parties for the getting out of shipping wood. They will have also shanty to enter into contracts to spell at once.

ISSAKE.—Mrs. Bush, of Banks, Antrim Co., has been pronounced insane by Dr. Lewis of this place, and Deputy of Forest Lake, and she has been removed to the Asylum.

As exchange says, trying to do business without advertising is like winking at a pretty girl through green goggles. You may know what you are doing but nobody else does.

LEAVES.—J. A. Cameron has rented his fine new residence on Mason st., to Capt. Walter Clifford, U. S. A., who is to spend the winter here. Mr. Cameron and family will spend the winter in Canada.

THANKSGIVING SERMON at the school house on Thursday evening. A general invitation is extended to all. A good time may be expected. By order of the Ladies' Aid society.

If you have a sugar-tooth, there is over 500 lbs. of Confectionery at the Medical Hall selling 4cts and upwards.

A NUISANCE.—The steamer Sheridan is decidedly and emphatically a nuisance. Would to Heaven that the elements would take pity upon suffering Grand Traverse, and, without loss of life, put her in the bottom of the Bay, or blow her to the moon.

Couldn't Recollect the Queen's Name

You all know Macpherson, by name, at least, even, once a page of court, and a great favorite with her Majesty. Then in his annals, where he didn't do quite so well—afterward of nowhere in particular. In point of fact, he has been obliged to live in Scotland for the last ten years, despite which by the distance and lots of it. Well, Lord Dunsmuir asked him to his castle the other day, when the Queen came out to live—to—end, month. In the afternoon there came out of the Pavilion, and walked about a bit among the company. Macpherson was standing some 3 long rods with his mother down, and up she came to him. "It's many years since I saw you last, Mr. Macpherson," she began. "How are you, Mr. Macpherson?" "Madam," said he, looking out his head, which she took most graciously, as we were good. I remember your face quite well—but I'm very sorry—but if you were to give me a thousand pounds I can't recollect your name."

Financial.

The coming session of Congress will be more critical and important on financial matters, than a dozen previous ones. Upon it the attention of the country will be directed, as to a measure, for or against resumption in the present, in other words of the proposal to compound at present and perhaps indefinite future, the already proven what can never be paid, namely a hollow and worthless promise, some call currency, would be the question. It only looks to Congress to continue another to be entirely unlike [illegible] Congress. Congress alone can do this, and it is to be hoped that the members will be entirely unbiased by any personal interest in the matter, and will act solely for the best interests of the country. Let the question be discussed in Congress, and let the people know what is being done, and why it is done, and we shall have no fear of the result. Let the question be discussed in the columns of the press, and in the halls of legislation, and the people will be educated to the necessity of a return to specie payments, and will demand it. Let the question be settled by the politicians in secret conclave, and the people will be deceived, and the country will be ruined. Let the question be discussed in Congress, and let the people know what is being done, and why it is done, and we shall have no fear of the result.

THE WILSON.

Some Facts Well Worth Your While to Consider.

The Wilson sewing Machine is supposed to be second to none in the market. It is the most elaborate establishment, consequently our expenses are proportionately the same, therefore we have no superior advantages that enable us to sell the Wilson Machine at a reduced price.

The question is frequently asked, why the Wilson Machine is not sold at the same price of other machines if it is so good, and thereby avoid the combined opposition of all the other machines that answer as well as one selling large quantities at a reduced price.

Because we would sell out at high prices before we would sell out at high prices, and that we will not sacrifice prices to cause our goods to be sold at high prices. Our object is to introduce the Wilson Machine into every family where a machine is needed, and to do so we must sell at such prices as will bring it within the reach of all. We are not willing to sell out to speculators

THUNDER.

The Way Max Adeler Tells It.

A few years ago my new step-father[1] was living in a city in the State of Pennsylvania, and soon after my mother[2] was married to him I went to visit them. I was a little fellow then, and I had never been out of Madison[3] before, and I was very much puzzled and in a constant state of excitement. Everything was new to me, and I was like a duck in water. I remember the first night I spent in the house. I was put to bed in a room on the second floor, and I was left entirely alone. I was afraid to go to sleep, and I lay there for hours, looking at the strange objects around me, and listening to the unfamiliar noises. Finally I heard a low rumbling sound, which seemed to come from the direction of the sky, and I supposed that it was thunder. I had heard it thunder often enough, but I had never heard it in a house, and I was very much frightened. I thought that the house was going to fall down, and that I should be killed. I was afraid to get out of bed, and I was afraid to stay in bed. I was afraid to call for help, and I was afraid to remain silent. I was afraid to do anything, and I was afraid to do nothing. I was afraid to live, and I was afraid to die. I was afraid to be alone, and I was afraid to have company. I was afraid to be in the dark, and I was afraid to have a light. I was afraid to be in the house, and I was afraid to be out of it. I was afraid to be in bed, and I was afraid to be out of it. I was afraid to be in the room, and I was afraid to be in the hall. I was afraid to be in the city, and I was afraid to be in the country. I was afraid to be in the world, and I was afraid to be in the grave. The Spanish Question.

The United States Government is actively taking steps to enforce, if necessary, its demand from the Spanish authorities for reparation for past Cuban outrages to our flag and to our citizens. The dispatch in another column, makes it appear that unless Spain comes to her knees war is inevitable. It is known that our Government has protested to that of Spain against the seizure of the Virginius while flying the American flag, and the summary execution of the passengers and crew, notwithstanding the efforts of our Vice Consul to secure a delay in order that our Government might be heard before judgment should be pronounced. The conduct of the Spanish men-of-war and that of the authorities of Santiago de Cuba was contrary not only to international law, but against the comity which should always exist among civilized and friendly nations. The story of further executions at Santiago de Cuba by order of the Spanish Government placed the case in a condition for settlement. This Government has already shown to the Spanish Government, or so stated, that the Virginius, having the United States Register and carrying the United States flag, was prima facie an American vessel. At least this character attached to her at the time of seizure, and hence the United States, in absence of proof that the owners resided in some foreign parts, were bound to protect the flag she carried. The transaction was characteristic of the Spanish nation, and should be apologized for, or the hot headed pirates should be swept from Cuba, and sent home to the mother Spain, to visit the laws of humanity and international courtesy.

☞ Work on the new State Capitol is virtually closed for the season, so far as the laying of stone is concerned. The base stone is now in position, and the brick partitions from the foundation to the top line of the sub-basement are laid for about one-half of the entire building. The cutting of stone will continue through the winter. Thus far there is comparatively little show for the amount of work done, but another season will exhibit some of the beauty and solidity which will be combined in this structure. Of course the number of workmen is greatly reduced, and the hours of labor shortened for those who remain. Wages have been cut down about 15 per cent, and the total number of employes now is only thirty-five.

☞ The talk of tunnel between Scotland and Ireland would be chimerical, 20 miles long, and the estimated cost is $20,000,000. It would extend from a point on the north shore of Ireland, near Belfast, under the Irish Sea, to the extremity of the peninsula opposite in Scotland. A single line tunnel, 15 feet wide at the base, 25 feet wide at the maximum and 25 feet high, with side walls varying from four to seven feet in thickness, is proposed.

☞ Tweed now occupies cell No. 4 of the Tombs. This is the counterpart cell, in which murderers are placed awaiting execution. It is said to have been assigned to him on account of its being more comfortable than the others, being nearer the stove. He is still endeavoring to secure a stay of proceedings. As long as money is not able to clear such men as Tweed, there is still hope for our country.

☞ The office of Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives is worth $15,000 a year, and the officer has to give $500,000 bonds for his good behavior. The appointments to the office of the pages and assistants of the place are Col. Ordway, the present incumbent; D. W. Munn, of Illinois; Col. A. H. Markland, of Kentucky; Col. Joe Dwyer, of Ohio, and Mr. Kennedy, of New York.

☞ Lieut. Gen Sheridan left Chicago for Washington on the 27th. It is understood that he goes in obedience to an official summons to confer in regard to military affairs. In case of war with Spain, Gen. Sheridan would have the chief command in the field.

☞ The Secretary of War, in a few days will award the contract for headstones for the graves of Union soldiers. The number of graves is about 250,000, and it is estimated that it will take about 800,000 appropriation made by Congress to suitably mark the graves.

☞ John P. Hale, the solitary but bold and witty Free Soiler in the U. S. Senate prior to 1850, candidate for President in 1852, and Minister to Spain from 1865 to 1870, died at his home in Dover, N. H. lately, aged 67 years.

☞ A number of the large guns which have for a year or more been lying about the grounds at Fort Wayne, unmounted, have been mounted to New York.

☞ And now doth the gentle Congressman all over the land gather his wife and his back pay (if he still has it), to his arms, tuck his paper collars and his toes to Washington.

☞ The Milwaukee regiment for Cuba consists of one private soldier and 999 officers. They expect to have that private the best drilled man this side of the Atlantic before a week elapses.

☞ Brother Beecher skips out and declares a $500 bet before, and comes home to tell the cook that times are so hard she must be careful with the coal.

An Infamous Wretch and Scoundrel.

Shortly since the Times noted the death by drowning of two prominent Detroit young gentlemen, Arnott A. Noe, and Wm. A. Hallock, members of the Fellowcraft Boat Club. The young men were out each boating on the river, when the boat capsized over, and owing to the coldness of the weather, and the heavy clothes they had on, both were drowned. After the body of young Hallock was discovered, it was laid in the Club House, and Jenny Hallock, brother of the deceased was of course anxious to get back to the city as soon as possible. He was forced on to the Toledo, a propeller, which was coming down at a slow rate of speed, and asked if there would take the remains on board, the circumstances of the affair being explained. The captain responded that he would not, and he was asked if Lewis might board the propeller and come down. The captain shouted in answer, "Go to h—ll!" his words being plainly heard at the Club House. The Free Press and other papers of the city justly characterize the conduct of this wretch as brutish and it naturally excited my amount of excitement and indignation in Detroit. The name of that captain should be given in full, and he should be branded all over the State and country for the wretch and scoundrel that he is. The lament of the two young men took place the other day, Mr. George Granger, formerly of this city, who belongs to the boat club, of which the deceased were members being one of the pall bearers. A large concourse of people were assembled to witness the last mournful rites, which are described as most affecting.—Grand Rapids Times.

The master of the propeller Toledo is none other than Capt. Jas. Pratt, a man well-known to the people of this section as master, successively of the propellers St. Louis and Iron Richmond. It was this same villain who passed within eight feet of the drowning cabin-maid of the Richmond, at the time of that steamer's destruction by fire, and refused to save her life. The name of Capt. James Pratt should be placarded to the eyes of the world as the hardest hearted and most detestable scoundrel that ever breathed God's air. A marked copy of this paper will be sent him if his address can be ascertained. Incorrigible nabbed.

PATARKA CITY.—C. Hanly Supervisor of Macedon, reports a trip to this city, the terminus of the G. R. & I. R. R. on the Traverse Bay. There will be unusually lively times there in the wood hauling this winter. All the hard wood timber out for clearing farms and city lots, will hereafter find a market. Little Traverse Bay affords an excellent harbor and wood-ing station for Lake Propellers. Hanly says a number of settlers have gone on to their claims up the Railroad north of Macedonia, and are scattered along all the way to Petoskey. The Road has been examined and accepted by the Governor and next summer trains will be run regularly to Little Traverse. The country north of Macedonia, is excellent hard wood farming land, and will be filled with people seeking new homes in one of the best portions of Northern Michigan. There is to be a stage line from Macedonia to Elk Rapids, also one to Fife Lake, and still another to Otsego Lake this winter. So Macedonia, though deprived of her railroad this winter will still put on lively airs for a town in the wilderness.—Pre-ss.

No Hope of Settlement at Madrid.

PARIS, November 26.—The following dispatch has just arrived in cypher from the Herald correspondent in Madrid:

MADRID, November 26.—The situation is grave. On the 19th Gen. Sickles, by order of President Grant, delivered a formal ultimatum to President Castelar, demanding prompt and vigorous reparation for the insult to the flag, the recognition of the Virginius, the release of the surviving prisoners, indemnity to the families of the murdered, and the punishment of the murderers, and also a guarantee against future by in Cuba. The demand was couched in a kind, sympathetic tone, but no alternative was given. Gen. Sickles was also instructed to say that if Castelar did not comply with the demand in a week he should ask his passports and leave Madrid with the Legation. The time expires to-day, and no answer has yet been received. Everything at the Legation is packed up, ready for immediate departure. Sickles has no hope that the ultimatum will be complied with, but telegraphed to Paris yesterday to have all his official correspondence that might be there kept for a few days, then Sickles, in conversation, says he does not see how war can be avoided, as Castelar can give no assurance that the order will be obeyed in Cuba. Public feeling is also opposed to the concessions Unless Castelar responds the evening then Sickles leaves immediately. All the American ships in the Mediterranean have been ordered to Key West. In the event of Gen. Sickles leaving, the British Minister will probably protect the archives and the American residents. President Castelar is personally anxious to accept the British Minister's good offices, to effect a compromise, but there is no hope to-night.

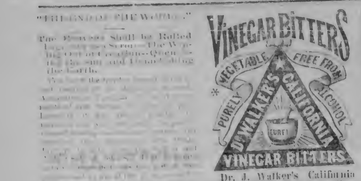
"FRIENDS OF THE WORLD."

The Reason Shall be Ratified by Public Opinion.—The Proprietors of the Vinegar Bitters, in the fifth year of its introduction, deem it unnecessary to do more than present to the sick and afflicted the following:



Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower slopes of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of alcohol. Nature's remedies are used in their preparation, that alcohol, which when used as the common drink and stimulant, creates fever and inflammation, while the Vinegar Bitters allay all fever and inflammation, thus removing the cause of disease and restoring the patient to health. No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Blood, Liver, Kidney, and Digestive Powers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Hudson, Mohawk, James, and many others with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn and remarkably so in the fall of the year, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the digestive organs, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon the biliary and excretory organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, as they will speedily restore the healthy action of these organs, when the bowels are loaded, at the same time acting as a powerful stimulant to the whole system. Bear in mind that Vinegar Bitters is a gentle Purgative as well as a Healthy Tonic.

Further, the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with this Vinegar Bitters. No epidemic can attack those whose systems are thoroughly fortified with this preservative.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offspring of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy recommend.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Tumors, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Diseases, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional diseases, Walker's Vinegar Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by vitiated blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Miners, Type Setters, Gold Beaters and Mule Spinners, are subject to life are subject to life are liable to have the seeds of disease implanted in their system at any time. One dose of Walker's Vinegar Bitters will protect a person from attacks for a long time.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of a few bottles of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn or turn of life, these Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when you feel it hot, feverish and corrupt; when its impurities will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

THE Ville du Havre Lost by Collision at Sea.—Two Hundred and Twenty-Six Lives Lost.

LONDON, December 1.—The ship Trimountain, from New York, arrived at Cardiff early this morning, with intelligence of a fearful disaster to the steamship Ville du Havre, which left New York, November 15th for Havre, in command of Capt. Surmont. At 2 o'clock on the morning of the 23d, the Ville du Havre came in collision with the British ship Lochgarry, from London, for New York, and sank shortly after. Two hundred and twenty-six of the persons of the Ville du Havre were lost. The Trimountain rescued the captain and fourteen others and brought them to Cardiff.

LONDON, December 1.—Later dispatches from Cardiff bring the following additional

CALENDAR FOR 1873.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

THE last Hon. W. B. Foster's life was insured for $6,000.

LOCAL NEWS, except where special contracts exist, are charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

THE STAVES for Fred. Page's department, in our village school, have been purchased, and will arrive in a few days.

EXETER.—Silas Williams, of Fairport, is to have a grand "Turkey Shoot" Christmas, and a ball in the evening.

WAGNER'S DOCK GONE.—We learn that during the late severe gale, Wagley's dock, at Cross Village, was entirely swept away.

NEW PAPER.—Grand Rapids is to have another new paper. This time it is I. Deacon Stanford, a newspaper man of considerable notoriety.

BOOK SALESMEN are getting almost exclusively; therefore he takes great pains in keeping the best articles. An assortment of lamps on hand.

ARRIVED.—The schooner K. T. Hand arrived at Bear River on Friday, the 5th, with a full load of supplies for Hon. Ingalls. She took back 90 cords of wood.

GEN SHERIDAN has a few more big fights in, and so has Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders—the best horse and cattle powders in the market. For sale at Medical Hall.

NEWMAN fills up his space this week with a catalogue of what he has got and what he proposes to do. This establishment is centrally located, and a call there will not be regretted.

THE weather, during the past week, has been varied by snow, rain, cold, warm sunshine, cloudy, moonshine, darkness, pleasant, and disagreeable. Surely, all have had an opportunity of being satisfied.

WEATHER.—We have it reported that the party who lately started from this place for Florida, was wrecked near Manistee. Dr. Wright and family, of Evangeline, Antrim county, and Mr. Hewitt, of Petoskey, were on board, and lost everything.

DIRECTORS' PARTY.—A donation party for the benefit of the Rev. J. J. McAllister, was held at the residence of J. N. Sickles, at Antrim, on the evening of Dec. 10. An oyster supper was furnished. We did not learn the receipts.

THE Herald says the business at the Land Office for the month of Nov. was as follows: Cash entries, 905 82-100 acres for $1,215.67. Homestead entries, 22, covering 3,820 54-100 acres. Final proofs, 30, covering 3813 36-100 acres.

JUSTICE CASES.—On Wednesday, A. J. McLeod brought suit before Justice Miller, against A. O. D. McCabe, for the recovery of $80 claimed to be due him from the said defendant. McLeod appeared for himself, and R. H. Green for McCabe. After a warm contest, the jury returned a verdict for the Complainant.

WE do not suppose there is another village in the entire Northwest where the same number of business men pay as much for advertising, as do those of Traverse City. And it pays. We do not suppose our business men do this "for the fun of it" but because it pays. Occasionally a man may be found who has not yet "cut his wisdom teeth," or who is too penurious to invest in printers ink, but nine-tenths of our business men are both wise and liberal. They help others while helping themselves. They keep business moving and thus, in a measure, check the evils of hard times.—Herald

Col. Mansfield's Report.

Just as we go to press we have been shown a copy of Col. Mansfield's report of his examination of Charlevoix harbor. The expectations of our people concerning this report are fully realized. In a full, yet concise manner, he sets forth the importance of our river and harbor, correcting the errors of the former survey and report, in a manner that must be eminently satisfactory to our people. He gives an accurate description of the Pine Lake country, and speaks of if Charlevoix as the only natural outlet of the whole region. He recommends an immediate appropriation of $75,000, if the improvement is undertaken. O. M. Wells, his assistant, in an unlooked report, gives it as his opinion that "this improvement of the harbor will be easily accomplished." Col. Mansfield has reported favorably, and our interests are upon him. The report will be published in full next week.

Shall Charlevoix Have a Telegraph?

A scheme is on foot which, if the proper encouragement is extended by our citizens, will bring us into telegraphic communication with the rest of mankind by way of a branch of the Western Union Telegraph line. Vern. Robbin, Esq., of Cheboygan, is now canvassing the coast, along the State Road between the latter place and Traverse City, by order of the Company, with a view of eliciting the sentiment of the people on the subject. He states that a subscription of $2,000 will be a sufficient inducement to the Company to extend the line from Cheboygan to Traverse City. The sum of $500 from Charlevoix will bring it this far. In view of the great advantages of telegraphic communication, and the fact that not one cent is to be paid until the line is completed, we think our citizens should promptly meet the demand. Mr. Robbin has met with success along the road south of us, and let us not be behind our neighbors in sending this telegram. Subscriptions received at the Sentinel office.

Petitions for the Harbor.

Copies of a petition to Congress for an appropriation to construct Government piers and dredge the lower river, as recommended by Engineer Mansfield, will be found at Carpenter & See's store, Newman's, Cooper's, the Postoffice, and other places in town. Let every citizen who desires to see the great work done, lose no time in placing his name on one of these petitions. It is expected and desired that Charlevoix County will go solid in asking for this appropriation.

Propeller Lost.

The startling report comes, well authenticated, that the propeller City of Detroit, of the Sarnia Line, was lost in Lake Huron, with all hands, during the late terrible gale.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. Mr. Cole will preach at the school house in this village to-morrow, both morning and evening.

Bay View.

Mr. Postmaster, please send my mail to Bay View. Milwaukee Co., Wis.

This is the second letter of this nature the postmaster has received from the same person, who has on both count neglected to sign his name. He probably numbers and his mail is not forwarded according to request.

THE fruit prospects all over the State for the coming year, as reported by the fruit growers, is very favorable. The fruit wood was well ripened during the fall months, and the gradual cold weather has hardened the wood and dried out the overabundance of sap from the wood and buds. Steady cold weather, not too cold, through the winter and early spring will produce an abundant crop of fruit the coming year.

DARKNESS.—Those upon whom devolves the duty of highway repairs are guilty of gross neglect in leaving the old bridge in a shape which imperils the life of man and beast. No obstruction is placed across it, and a stranger entering town on a dark night, would be certain to precipitate himself into the river. A narrow escape from such an accident occurred to a Cheboygan gentleman on Thursday night. Let this matter be attended to.

STORES AND WALWORTH.

The Aristocratic Convicts Ordered to Auburn--Ruth Under Medical Treatment.

A draft of fifty convicts went from Sing Sing prison to Auburn November 19th. The authorities intended that Stokes and Walworth should have been among the number, but the serious illness of both prevented their removal. On the arrival at the prison Stokes complained of a severe attack of asthma. After a careful examination by the prison physician, he was admitted to the hospital. In order more fully to satisfy the officers of the prison as to the health of Stokes, Dr. Jamin B. Weisd, of New York Stokes' physician, was sent for to consult with Dr. Pryne, and make a critical examination. The following is Dr. Weisd's statement:

"I visited Edward S. Stokes at the hospital in Sing Sing prison in connection with Dr. Peter Pryne, and found him suffering from asthma. I have seen him occasionally for the past ten or twelve years with very severe paroxysms of asthma, with very severe dyspnœa. He is also suffering from sporadic chronic bronchitis, and he is also afflicted with emphysema. I have been his family physician for many years, and have prescribed for him during his confinement at the Tombs from time to time. During the last three months his confinement he was continually under my care. I feel that Dr. Pryne, in sending him to hospital, has perfected right. It would not have been humane for him to have done otherwise. It is our decided opinion that he should remain in bed for the present. He is now, as he has been for the last three months, under a course of treatment, and which we feel is important to be continued. It is Dr. Pryne's wish, and the wish of Stoke's friends, that I should visit him occasionally, which I have promised to do."

Stokes is unsafe under prison rule, and was greatly alarmed when informed he the Warden that he must go to Auburn. Many very silly letters are received at the prison for Stokes, some congratulating him on his light sentence, others asking for his autograph, all of which, of course are declined.

Walworth has become melancholy in the extreme since the novelty of prison life has passed, and he has settled down to the monotony of tramping from the mess room to the work shops and from there to his gloomy cell. He appears to have realized the stern reality of prison discipline. He is very quiet, and submits promptly to the rules of the prison. He never speaks unless they ramp one, answers all questions in a gentle tone of voice; but, when left to himself, appears exceedingly sad and melancholy. He has lost all freshness of countenance, and appears to be breaking down rapidly in health. On Sabbath, while in the chapel he was seized with vertigo, and fell to the assistant in the hospital. Medicine was administered and he retired to his cell, preferring its coolness to the stifling atmosphere of the chapel. He has been suffering from pleurisy, and is, on the whole, a pitiable object; just on the threshold of life, he has the appearance of an old man. His physician, however, assures nothing when compared to his mental agony. When sick he never complains, nor does he ask for anything, not wishing to give trouble.

Milk in Winter.

A great many farmers have plenty of milk in summer, but run dry of the article in winter; or rather, their cows run out of it. They fail to supply the article when called for. Now, milk is a good thing, a good article of diet, good for infants and all like, good to furnish cream and butter, and every one who pretends to be a farmer ought to have plenty of it all winter. But to have it, there are certain requisites. One of those is a warm shelter, another is plenty of nutritious food, and another still is regularity in milking and feeding, and kindness in caring for so good an animal. Why, a good cow is one of the family, almost. Everybody should have a kind word for her. She should be looked up to with respect. It there is anything dainty in the food line for sick animals, shemustn't forget it. Any quantity of the rich lacteal fluid is wanted she should be regaled at once a day with some thing warm and of bran and corn meal. You can no more get milk from dry food than you can get blood from a turnip. We want everybody to have plenty of milk, and we want cows to have warm shelter and plenty of food to furnish it.

At a certain town in the northern part of Maine, the people were holding a meeting, when the pastor remarked that the person present had relatives or friends in distant lands, prayers would be offered in their behalf. No sooner was the sentence completed than a simple looking individual arose and thus addressed the pastor: "I would like you to pray for my brother. He went away two weeks ago, and I haven't heard from him since. I don't just know where he is, but you need not pray below Bangor."

A newspaper in Ohio was sent for nine years to a subscriber who never paid for one cent of it. The other day the paper was returned to the patient and longsuffering publisher with the following pencil note on the margin: "Gone to a better world." The publisher is a very pious man, but it is reported that he thinks it is terribly shaken in regard to the accuracy of the information.

When a clergyman assumes to be witty it is to serve a purpose, and that is generally a Hattiesque divine, who writes to a friend concerning the freshness of trees in Burton, as follows: "The rapid whirl of events, the motion of the universe becoming accelerated, the bark is evidently further off for friction; hence the numerous conflagrations."

Grand Master John M. Price, at the Masonic Hall, Detroit, on the 5th inst., announces Master Mason who keeps a drain that is the Master Mason who keeps a drain that is the receiver for his income, from retail whisky down to the lowest grade, and who pursues one of the meanest callings in existence, is not a suitable person for the degrees.

A Boston paper remarks that for real unadulterated sensation for tragic and blood-curdling ranting, in person fifty miles from the locality, there is nothing that compares with a list of premiums at a county fair.

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

SATURDAY, - - DEC 20, 1873.

☞ The rumor concerning the loss of the propeller City of Detroit, with all hands, during the late gale, proved to be true. An account of the disaster will be found elsewhere.

☞ As will be seen by the dispatches the trial of Marshal Bazaine has terminated in conviction, sentence to degradation and death, and subsequent commutation to degradation and imprisonment for twenty years.

☞ They have gone very smart lumbering men in New Jersey. Last week a young man was struck by lightning in a field near Trenton, and when the people began to flock to the spot to look at the victim they found a man standing by the corpse trying to sell lightning rods to the crowd.

☞ The postoffice and customs house now being built at Chicago is to be the largest building owned by the Government outside the District of Columbia, being 340 feet long and 250 feet wide, with three stories, basement and attic, and towers 150 feet at each corner. It is now completed up to the first story, and has cost $1,320,378, of which $1,250,000 were paid for the site.

☞ An English gentleman has recently discovered near the wells of Moses, by the Red Sea, the remains of forty-nine cities that they must have employed thousands of workmen. Near the works are to be found the ruins of a temple, and of a barracks for the soldiers protecting or keeping the workmen in order. These works are supposed to be at least three thousand years old.

☞ Bazaine has written a letter to President MacMahon, in which he says: "You remember the days in which we served the country together. I feared the impulse of your heart would be overwhelmed by state considerations. I should have died without regret since the recommendation of the court for mercy was dictated by honor." Instead of Bazaine's counsel, thanks Thiers for expressing the opinion that Bazaine was innocent of the charges upon which he was tried.

☞ When the King of Portugal addresses his wife publicly he is obliged to say: "Very high and very excellent Princess Da Maria Pia of Savoy, Queen of Portugal, my dear, well-beloved and highly esteemed spouse, may our Lord hold your Majesty's person in his holy keeping." But in the seclusion of their majestic, very high and very excellent private life, His Majesty is very apt to run on after this style: "Maria, where the deuce have you put my suspenders?"

From all sections of the State come reports of more serious damage than was at first reported by the gale of a week ago. Fences and many of their outbuildings blown down or partly destroyed, stacks of hay scattered, valuable timber blown down, forces scattered and general havoc played with their property. Hundreds and perhaps thousands are the figures needed in the total to tell of buildings thus injured, some of them most seriously, and tens of thousands of dollars only will fully represent the figures of the actual losses and waste to possessors.

☞ That very outspoken man, Charles Readaugh, in a speech delivered recently at Cincinnati, appeared to enjoy his little ironical tribute to the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Edinburgh. "Why pay the Prince," said he, "£30,000 a year for being Prince of Wales, and £60,000 a year for being Duke of Cornwall, but we have the benefit of him as a military man. [Laughter.] We pay his salary as general in the army and as colonel of two regiments, which he never sees. At his majority he received £6,500,000, the accumulations of the Duchy during his minority, and year before last we paid £7500 for repairs to the house he lives in. We pay the Duke of Edinburgh £25,000 for being Duke. We pay him his salary as a naval officer. Recently he visited the colonies, and we voted him £3000 to entertain him to be generous there. The colonists had to be generous there. The colonists had to pay for many of the presents. I have been recently reading our bloodsucker, and in the portion devoted to irrecoverable balances from dead and absconding paymasters I find sixteen of £450 borrowed by the Duke from the pay-chest of his ship and never returned."

☞ A list of the medical Reds of the European powers has been recently published, and it is curious to be studied. From this it appears that of nine reigning powers mentioned, Spain has the smallest number in regard of ships, one having only ten frigates, with 134 guns. England has for service or in hand exactly the largest number, with 593 guns, and in her contingent twenty-two armored vessels constituting a navy of 1,000 guns. Russia has for a force on the high seas nineteen ironclads with 141 guns, and in her coast fleet fourteen ironclads with 94 guns. France has a sea fleet of twenty-eight ironclads, with 213 guns, and several fleet of thirty-six coast, harbor or fort vessels with 259 guns. Germany has a sea fleet of nineteen ironclads of them not yet completed, with 165 guns, and a coast fleet of two ironclads, with 4 guns. Austria has a sea fleet of eleven ironclads with 161 guns. Italy has a sea fleet of fifteen ironclads, with 116 guns. Turkey has fifteen ironclads, with 116 guns. The Netherlands have twenty-nine armored vessels, with 114 guns.

BAZAINE.

Marshal Bazaine Sentenced to Death and Degradation From His Rank.

VERSAILLES, December 13.—M. Lisle, counsel for Marshal Bazaine, on his prosecution said:

"I deeply sympathize with the unfortunate circumstances in which the soldier was placed by the hostile operations. I beg and plead for him. He is innocent and has nothing but the wish to save for the sake of his wife and children. I beg now for France, which will decide the fate of a valorous soldier.

"When Jeanne d'Arc was before the English tribunal, she said: 'You know well political trials are.' On the question of fact such trials have been held precisely the reverse of a trial to those executed after such trials.

"All Europe replied, demanding that a terrible example be made to a brave leader using persuasion.

"Before the judges withdraw I must say:

"I have two words to my household and country. I have never quailed before the grand tactics during 22 years' service. I owe to France, that I have not betrayed France."

After long deliberation, the judges declared Bazaine guilty of the charges of the capitulation of Metz and of entering in the open field against France that was prescribed by duties of duty to every commander, and inadequately maintained for to-night, and to be degraded from his rank previous to his execution.

After the judgment had been rendered all the members of the court stood on appeal for mercy, which Duke d'Aumale immediately consented to present to President MacMahon. Bazaine was greatly agitated when he heard the decision of the court.

Love.

PARIS, December 12.—President MacMahon has commuted the sentence of Marshal Bazaine to 20 years' seclusion, and to bear the effects of degradation from rank, but to be spared a humiliating ceremony. The letter of Duchess Marguerite, of Orleans, has been accepted as the voice of confinement, and he assures there immediately.

Loss of the Entire Crew of the City of Detroit.

Special Dispatch to The Detroit Tribune.

DEAR HOUSE, December 8.—The capsizing and crew of the Barge Gedding Star are here. The barge arrived at 2:45 p. m. All the crew had been on board and one are still were injured. Wm. Dean and several others are in a very bad condition. A mill passed at 2:45 p. m.

The gale struck the vessels at 3 o'clock Thursday morning 25 miles east side of Au Sable. The propeller was put head to sea and rode it out with the barge in tow. At 6 o'clock, the wind southwest, and the sea the 20 feet high. The propeller then seemed to lose power to manage herself, as she commenced to drift back toward the barge. The line was cut loose, and the propeller left at once to the mercy of the sea.

At 7 o'clock she listed over to port, and the gangway over the engine was seen to be broken in. Soon her stern commenced to settle and a great sea struck her, carrying off the cabin and pilot-house. Most of the crew were on the pilot-house, and all were swept into the lake. For a few minutes many were seen as fragments of the cabin, and then they seemed to disappear.

A life-boat had put off before the cabin was swept away, with three men, but blown from the barge. After the propeller sunk, the life-boat was seen for 10 minutes running the seas and going out into the lake ahead of the barge, and then was seen no more. The wind had died away, and one man was sailing, the others clapping themselves to keep warm. The boat probably shipped some water, and the men would soon freeze to death. All hope is abandoned of any from the propeller being saved.

The barge rolled in the trough of the sea across Lake Huron from Thursday morning until Saturday noon. She shipped but little water, and the cargo is in good condition so far as it has been seen. It is now being unloaded here. Small damage will probably be found. The crew from the barge are receiving medical treatment here and all attention.

Indian Eloquence.

The Fall Mall Gazette denies if not of Mr. Dampier Myrtle's Indian eloquence gave evidence in such affluent extravagance. The chiefs were as strong as the ocean, the red men like sand, brethren, about two acres, and swallowed up. But this kind of grandiloquence is familiar to the Americans, who have lived on the frontier of an Indian country. When the lawyers needed all their Jackson address in the open field and soon closed that was prescribed by duties of duty to every commander, and inadequately maintained for to-night, and to be degraded from his rank previous to his execution.

After the judgment had been rendered all the members of the court stood on appeal for mercy, which Duke d'Aumale immediately consented to present to President MacMahon. Bazaine was greatly agitated when he heard the decision of the court.

What Hamilton Owes Told for the 17th Annual.

Pierre Veron, the founder of the French penny newspaper of the Charivari, in a letter in the last Monde Illustré, gives an account of a visit to Ireland, a chance jaunt by London Quotidien, the guest, meanwhile, whose was the great Hamilton trial a penny one. A page of brief interesting items is devoted to Veron's remarks, reviews, sarcasms and discussion of the subject, in the following manner told by a very good man, who was once under other regimen, an attache of the press:

It was to be expected at last, said the old man, and have I not read you the several features, sensations, set by sensational conditions time at them, a sad—I beg your pardon, I mean the whole thousand of readers, at once to be got well on its journals in spite of the prima extract, the following account of a very remarkable murder case, the accident, and, in his leading part troubled very seriously into new fatherland, Ireland, and, by the way, the whole crew, and you to the spot the where I now am. Dublin, the capital of Ireland, is situated on the banks of a large estuary, which, although of a comparatively unimportant nature in itself, is rendered curiously interesting by the fact that it was on the shores of this estuary that the prisoner committed the felonious. The case was one of a very simple character indeed. John Bridgeway, a man, with dealing a forged bill from a fellow's receipt. The defendant at once the proceedings witness to make his statement without unnecessary, and it evidently appeared at the outset that the case made out. The prisoner however, took the cross-examination into his own hands, and began by asking at the earliest stage of the affair, drew out pocket after pocket, and assertion after assertion, until he had a complete record, and every second his cross-examination that the charge against him was a false one. In the end, he was acquitted, and the case was left to the jury, who, after a short consultation, returned a verdict of "Not guilty." While the case was going on the most profound silence prevailed in the court, however police officers and audience were with great attention until the close, when Bridgeway was acquitted, there was a scene of excitement, by all to be the most unprecedented ever ever heard before that or any other Police Court in the city of Dublin. It was a shouting man, who knew nothing of law, and had probably enjoyed neither further than a very limited education.—Chicago Post.

Not the Most To Be Thought.

Some years ago a young Scotch chief was deputed to visit the king on business connected with his clan. Arriving at the palace he was introduced into the royal presence, and after the usual salutations the king asked him how many men he could bring into the field. The chief replied that he could muster about 500 men. The king then asked him how many he could get if he sent to the neighboring clans. The chief replied that he could get about 1,000 men. The king then asked him how many he could get if he sent to the Highlands. The chief replied that he could get about 5,000 men. The king then asked him how many he could get if he sent to the Lowlands. The chief replied that he could get about 10,000 men. THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

SATURDAY, - - DEC. 27, 1873.

☞ The land office at the Ambitious little town of Bayonne, intend to leave a baby there on the 30th of December. $5 a piece will be awarded.

☞ Why don't something exist about that noble commander of the British team of our "Cricket?" It was he who saved the lives of the passengers on the Virginius.

☞ Three years and a paper was established in New York to build a street railway. Each and every day he bought shoes to a dungeon. Behold, how are the mighty fallen!

☞ The actors of the Senate in voting down the holiday recess, and proposing to keep at work until something is accomplished on affairs the best thing done by that body yet.

☞ Gen. Shields Minister to Spain has resigned. The reason is said to be that the Secretary of War did not offer enough pay for the arraignment of the Virginius affair.

☞ They have an interesting clergyman in Edinburgh. He lately quoted a passage of Scripture in his prayer somewhat differently from the version of King James, and added, apologetically: "For that, O Lord! is the correct translation of the passage." It is well to keep the Lord informed on these points.

☞ A Bill was passed by Congress the 19th, by a vote of 132 to 71, placing the salaries of Senators and Representatives at $5,000 a year, and reimbursement for actual traveling expenses. The Vice President and Speaker are to receive $8,000 per annum and the President only $50,000.

☞ There is not being constructed at Cincinnati, Ranan, a submarine vessel of enormous dimensions. Just 2,000 tons is one and a half times as large as the Great Eastern. It is propelled by two powerful air engines, will be armed with a formidable ram, and will carry all the means for living in the form of vessels large enough to navigate, which it can afterward explode by electricity.

☞ A cipher dispatch from the Herald correspondent at Madrid, announces that Spain demands the restoration of the Virginius. These intimations is in consequence of Secretary Fish submitting that the Virginius was not entitled to carry the flag of the United States. The demand was delivered Friday. Gen. Sickles has telegraphed to Washington inviting upon the acceptance of his resignation.

☞ A Bill is introduced to restore to newspapers the privileges abolished by the bill repealing the franking privilege; a bill to establish a Michigan Ship Canal; to admit Colorado as a state in the Union; to repeal all taxes on whisky and tobacco, and provide for the deficiency in the revenue caused by it; to improve the harbors of Milwaukee; to remove the disabilities imposed by the iron clad oath.

☞ One of the most remarkable facts connected with the Modoc tumult is the quietness of the work. When the two parties met, last week, it was found that the variation was less than an inch, although the lines taken were the base of operations were several miles apart. The accuracy of the work is as much a wonder as the tunnel itself.

☞ Capt. E. D. Ward, of Detroit, reported to be one of the most extensive lumber men and shrewdest financiers of the State seems to consider himself short out of a large amount of money, stocks, and real estate by certain parties who placed him to purchase a large interest in the Rock Silver Mine now located about 75 miles south of Salt Lake City, as he has lately filed his bill in Chancery claiming that the mine was salted.

☞ From the Michigan Almanac for 1874 we learn that this State now contains seventy organized counties, while those of Gratiot, Gladwin, Montmorency, Ogemaw, Oscoda, Otsego and Roscommon remain still unorganized. In addition of the organized counties the Boards of Supervisors are controlled by the Republicans in fifty-three and Democrats, again in three the opposing parties are tied.

☞ A resident of Missouri of the ready message on which the Hon. John F. Hale was elected a congressional candidate in that district, had been prepared a speech on slavery with a threat that, if the North did not yield to the demands of the south, the states of that section would depart, "like the six tribes of Israel." John P. Hale sprang to his feet, and in his magnificent voice, said: "And what became of the ten tribes of Israel? Dispersed, practically lost, and to one knows what became of them but the Ark of the Covenant of the living God remained with the tribe of Judah."

Brockenridge for governor in Kentucky. He hasn't run for anything since he ran for the seaboard in 1828, when the Michigan Fourth Cavalry hoped to "scare" him. If he runs as well in Kentucky as he did in South Carolina, he will get it.—Bishop Borgess confirmed 2,915 members of the Roman Catholic Church at various places in this State between April 20 and the 28.

A Specimen of Spanish Cruelty.

A most touching instance of heroism and one of the most atrocious acts of cruelty, the truth of which is vouched for by the most unquestionable authority, occurred during the Cocumbian struggle for independence.

The Spanish General Murillo, the most bloodthirsty and treacherous trait of the colonial Rouge, was created Count of Carthagena and Marquis de la Puerta for services which rather entitle him to the butcher or hangman.

While seated in his tent one day, he saw a young boy before him drowned in tears. The chief demanded of him for what purpose he was there.

The child replied that he had come to beg the life of his father, then a prisoner in Murillo camp.

"What on you do to save your father?" asked the bloodthirsty.

"I can do but little, but what I can shall be done."

Murillo seized the little fellow's ear and said:

"Would you suffer your ear to be taken off, to save your father's life?"

"I certainly would," was the unhesitating reply.

The boy went, but did not return while the barbarous order was executed.

"Would you keep your other ear rather than fail of your purpose?" was the next question.

"I have suffered much, but for my father I can suffer still," was the answer of the boy.

The other ear was taken off peremptorily, without flinching on the part of the noble boy.

"And now go!" exclaimed Murillo, astonished by his sublime courage; "the father of such a son must die."

By the pressure of his agonized and tearful suffering son the patriot father was executed.

There is great variation against fine things in some quarters. As sailing vessels and for general freight purposes they have failed most conspicuously. A Liverpool firm offers over 200 iron vessels, many of them screws, for sale. We believe some of the arrears at the recent scientific meeting at Portland proffered an early return to "wooden walls." Of course such a tendency is evil for American commerce. Great Britain beats the world in iron shipbuilding, but we have an equal superiority in wood. An opinion report of the shipbuilding interests of Bath, Me., for 1873 shows the construction of 48 craft at that port, of 43,000 tons burden. An average, and now, the tonnage of the banner year in Bath (1853) was 67,000 tons. In 1856 it was 50,000, since which time it has never been so large as it is this year. The decline must, therefore, long before the war. Now more than half of the vessels are the ocean and steamers, a craft known only to be laughed at, eight years ago.

Mamma—"Here is it you come home from your party so early last night, Susan? Didn't you enjoy yourself?" Susan—"Yes ma'am. But the young man as he took me home he proposed." Mamma—"Shocked you, Susan. Why, what did he say?" Susan—"Lor, mamma. He never said anything, but a sandwich and a glass of lemonade, so I came away home."

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALL WHISKEY

PURELY MEDICINAL

DRUNKARD'S DELIGHT

VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation made chiefly from the native herbs found on the Lower Mountain Ranges of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted from them without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of so many and various diseases?" The answer is, a VINEGAR BITTERS for the cure. In fact the question is rarely heard, "What remedy will cure me?" for the reason it is known that VINEGAR BITTERS have given perfect satisfaction in every case where a trial has been given them. For full directions, surrounding each bottle, printed in English, German, French and Spanish.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Red, Arkansas, Red River, Brazos, Rio Grande, James, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, the whole of which are more subject to fevers of a bilious character than any other portion of the globe, are invariably controlled by the use of this purifying, cleansing and life giving principle.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, Swellings, Tumors, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters are unequaled. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worm, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, surrounding each bottle, printed in English, German, French and Spanish.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, your feelings will tell you when, and purge, purify, and invigorate it. Do not let it stagnate and corrupt, but keep the channels of life free and pure, and health will follow.

Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Viscera Organs in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritive, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anodyne.

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLIAM A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

SATURDAY, - - JAN. 3, 1874.

☞ The President has appointed Caleb Cushing Minister to Madrid, having accepted the resignation of Gen. Sickles. The nomination of Cushing will be sent to the Senate immediately upon the reassembling of Congress. It is understood that Cushing has accepted the position.

☞ The Good Templars are taking England now. From 1868 to June 1873, their lodges increased from 1,100 showing the present membership to be about 220,000. This is remarkable, among a people so attached to beer and wine as the English are supposed to be.

☞ During the summer Ivan Rice was engaged as clown in a circus, which paid him, it is said, $4,000 a week for his services. At the close of the season he gathered a company of his own, and, quite a successful tour until he reached Louisville, where, in three weeks time, he went to financial smash, and had his paraphernalia sold by the sheriff.

☞ At Salt Lake, Utah Chief Justice McKean refuses to admit polygamists to citizenship. In a case where the applicant had left a plural wife to go testifying for a subsistence, McKean was very severe. He said such men would not make good citizens and had no right to come here to practice crime which in their own country would send them to the Penitentiary.

☞ The sailings of the settlers to Northwestern Iowa prove to be much greater than has been heretofore reported. The number of families is said to be 1,000 and of persons over 4,000, who are settlers suffering from want of food in the land of plenty. The famine has been brought on by the grasshopper plague which has utterly destroyed the crops in that section of the country.

☞ A bill has been introduced into both Houses of Congress, chartering a company to build a double track railroad railroad from New York to Chicago. It asks no government aid, further than to be permitted to import the steel rails to be used in the construction of the road, free of duty; and if Congress for this, it proposes to carry mails and transmit telegraphic messages for the government at reduced rates.

☞ One of the peculiarities of President Grant's household was the strong Democratic proclivity of his father-in-law, the late Mr. Dent. This staunch devotion on the part of Mr. Dent never disturbed the harmony of the Executive household and to the credit of the President and his lady that they took every occasion to honor and respect it. We have heard that, on certain occasions, Mrs. Grant was assiduous in gathering the most ultra Democratic company about her father, and always seemed to enjoy the conversation most evoked and the palpable hits made. The President is said to have been equally liberal and impartial. This is a pleasant picture and is creditable to Gen. Grant and his wife. Mr. Dent was a Maryland man.

Various.

Capt. Eads, of the revenue cutter Andrew Johnson, has been put on the "detached service" list, and is awaiting orders to the South Atlantic squadron.

——Marshal Bossine has left Versailles for Sainte Marguerite.——The President draws his salary at the rate of $50,000 a year—the female pay. Seventy thousand was appropriated besides for White House expenses, making in all $127,000 in one year.——Still another "brother of the late Ben Perley." He is chopping wood near Muskegon, and he says the General had no business to go loafing around with the filibusters.——The receipts of last summer conferred by the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad have been reduced ten per cent.——Hardly people ought to retire early at the season of the year. It is better for their health. Besides it gives the young folks a better chance.——The House of Representatives has not spent a cent for the benefit of immigration of Congress, and the Department of State has assigned to the diplomatic body.

Shall Teachers Whip Children?

The question whether or not corporal punishment shall be restored to the public schools has been submitted to the Board of Education of the State of New York by a committee of teachers.

At the next meeting of the board this important question will be discussed, and probably decided affirmatively. The report of the committee was in favor of restoring the use of the rod, or of a reserve discipline for boys, but not for girls. The main points brought out in the investigation of the committee are thus briefly expressed in the report:

"First—Obedience to ordinary commands relative to the customary exercises of the classes is no longer prompt and exact.

"Second—Insolence in matters relating to authority or submission of the pupil will to that of the teacher is seldom promptly removed.

"Third—Wilful and defiant disobedience is much more common than heretofore, and manifestations of ill temper and ill manners much more frequent.

"Fourth—Insolent behavior and indifference and disrespect toward all school authority have greatly increased.

"Fifth—Truancy is more frequent.

"Sixth—Personal cleanliness, miss the proper care of hands, shoes, and other school property are not as easily secured as formerly.

"Seventh—Gross disobedience in all sorts of matters such as to require the interference of some authority external to the teacher, has greatly increased.

"Eighth—The distance of parental authority, especially in cases of residence with widowed mothers, has more than doubled. Many such boys passing go truly beyond control, have drifted out of the schools into the street, or workshops, or private schools.

"Ninth—Pupils in the higher classes are but double than formerly, thus showing that previous school training had not tend ed to form habits of obedience and submission.

"Tenth—Teachers have to some extent fallen into the habit overlooking offences committed by boys known to be beyond parental control, and have thus lowered their standards of discipline to the injury of the pupils.

"Eleventh—Children are rather both in and out of school, and less self respectful than under the old system.

"Twelfth—Instances of gross and continued neglect of duties are more frequent. This has nearly destroyed the labor of the whole brothers while the attendance of the children in a given time has been much less.

"Thirteenth—Poor men are often compelled to visit the schools to assist in governing their children, often at great inconvenience and loss of part of a day's work, and make it a cause of complaint against the public schools. Moreover a general settlement of school difficulties and punishment for school offences have increased to an immense extent within a few years.

"Fourteenth—Teachers resort to questionable expedients to secure that obedience and attention without which their classes cannot be brought up to grade.

"Fifteenth—Juvenile lawlessness, recklessness, profanity, and crime have manifestly increased since the abolition of corporal punishment, thus proving a directly evil influence upon society in general.

"Sixteenth—A large number of bad children who might have been reformed under the old system have been 'marked out' of the school or taken out and 'put where they could be made to mind.'"

For the reasons embodied in this report, the committee recommend that "moderate" punishment in the male departments of the grammar schools, or of male schoolars, be inflicted by the principal, or other officers by the committee, on proof of flagrant and persistent misconduct after all reasonable efforts to reform the offender shall have been made." They also recommend that records shall be kept and submitted to the school authorities, stating the occasion of each punishment, the offence committed, and the nature and extent of the chastisement.

No doubt there is a general depreciation in obedience, good manners, and morals among the rising generation; and it is possible that a wholesome fear of the rod might remedy many of the evils, growing out of a want of home discipline. But we would deprecate the use of it except in extraordinary cases of rebellious and defiant conduct, and then under the most careful specialties and restrictions.

A child should never be flogged in school hours, or in the presence of all his schoolmates; nor in that of less than two or three of them, and of one or two teachers beside the one who administers the correction. The presence of three or four witnesses would act as a restraint on both executioner and culprit. Neither should a teacher be permitted to strike a child without due deliberation; but at the same time no teacher, guilty of cruelty, should be deprived of the power to enforce proper discipline when necessary. If parents were all good, honest, just, and judicious managers of their children, we could dispense with the rod in the hands of the teacher; but when it is remembered that the majority of the pupils attending the public schools are the adolescent parents depending on their daily labor for the support of themselves and families, and who, therefore, have not the time to educate, improve, and discipline their children at home, and that those children must depend upon the school room for moral as well as intellectual training, it will be admitted that there should be authority—limited, indeed, but nevertheless authority—in the school room. There can be no government without obedience. If that cannot be secured by moral suasion, it should be by coercion.

While we can necessarily for excepting the female department in the common schools from the salutary strengthening of the teacher's authority. If girls are not amenable as well to coal moral restraint, the teacher or need not use it simply because the power is given; but for a girl to know that she will not be liable to the same punishment that a boy would receive for a similar offence would take away her sense of responsibility and create a contempt for order and decency. If girls never need the rod, or if it would be injurious to apply it, neither should the use of it be allowed just now to humiliate a boy. But the question is not if should be so fully established and made as discretionary in the girls as in the boys' department of our schools. It is an effected custom mainly and misplaced chivalry to treat practically assert that the woman in charge of the girls cannot be entrusted with the same discretionary power in the application of corporal punishment to girls as the man who is principal in the boys department. Let the rules be made equal and just for both.—New York Paper.

Remarkable Escape of a Train from Destruction.

An extra freight train consisting of twenty-two cars, left Rutland on Saturday, and received orders to run "Wild" from Chester to Bellows Falls. While near the village of Rockingham, and coming around a curve, the engineer was surprised to see a number of the section hands on a bridge a few rods in advance ready waving their hats for the train to stop. He at once blew the whistle for brakes, and they were quickly applied; but it was impossible to stop, as the train was on a down grade and going at the rate of twenty miles an hour, and they rolled along over the bridge in safety. Then they stopped and returned to ascertain the difficulty and discovered that they had passed over twenty rails on each side of the track without a spike in them on a high bridge and the further end of the last rail was right across out of position, when the train touched the first one, and was placed in position afterward by a heroic workman at the peril of his life.—Rutland, Vt., Herald.

King of The Blood.

For Rheumatism.—I was attacked with Acute Rheumatism about four years ago. I took medicine from five different doctors. I applied to the sixth, but he declined at, tempting my case, saying he thought he could not help me. Another thought he might help me if I would be tapped, but I was so weak I thought I could not bear it. I then saw your King of the Blood advertised. Mr. Allen said he would send to you for a bottle and it did me so much good that I could not be down or sit up straight, by wearing a bandage I was able to walk a little. I had not put on my stockings for some months. Persons who visited me thought I could not live any length of time. I very soon felt that your medicine was helping me, and by the time I had used the second bottle I could put on my stockings, and began to feel comfortable. In two months the water was all gone, and I was living skeleton; but my appetite was good, and I began to gain flesh, and I now look as well as ever I did, and feel quite free.—Susan Perry.

Two years ago Lowell was the great center of New York. Hundreds waited in the anteroom. His cause drew upon Brandreth with an open purse. Golight lectures covered half metropolises, his livelihood drawn and wrested with appalling ease. The authorities at the post-offices were more than eighteen in their reception at Lowell. The attorney had did not belong to the class of cause for which Lowell was convicted. His treatment was not so. Languishing but rather weigh. Insult for insult, abuse for abuse. Was not a cent due would fit the lordly baron of Lowell. For one, not on him would not meet. The stones reached him below the elbow, such a gentleman who was less than the best day after his incarceration with his head shaved, loaded all and the chief went on him, and he was the most popular judge ever he held.—New York Letter.

The Bible.

The Bible is without dispute the best book in the world. The knowledge of it is the only true knowledge. It is one of the few treasures, together with the noble and peaceful character of the nation, and monopolizes of the professions, should teach to their truest authority. Liberty cannot exist without knowledge. Liberty cannot exist, but no one who would be the master of their possession could possess one as either to enjoy or to exercise it. Knowledge is the safeguard. It is the touch of Ithuriel's spear which reveals the form of the tempter. It is the light of nature our eyes. Revelations alone

SATURDAY, - - - JAN. 10, 1874.

☞ Commissioners of both parties are saying that the railroad expense list is unusually and unnecessarily large, and say that money must be saved somewhere.

☞ The secretary of the Navy on the 29th, received a dispatch from the commander of the Quinnebaug, announcing that the Vicksburg took to the night of the 29th off Wilmington.

☞ The balance in cash in the State treasury November 30th was $342,445 50. Receipts for the month ending December 31st were $183,183 87; payments during the same time, $103,586 66, leaving a balance in the treasury at $502,044 99.

☞ Neither the President nor members of the Cabinet intend to offer wine at the approaching annual receptions; and the Vice President, many Senators and Representatives, and several Judges and Governors, have embraced the traditional occasion of their visit that the friends of morality and good order may not furnish intoxicating beverages to their holiday hospitalities.

☞ Several leading governments are building ironclads at Washington. The house of the British Minister is building of pressed bricks, with stone cast and sills, and measures upward of one hundred feet each way. It will cost $150,000. The architect recently Minister had begun to negotiate for the erection of a French residence, and Baron Schlozer, the German Minister, proposes to reconstruct the German residence, a square, double house.

☞ Russia, now the greatest military power of the world, is not satisfied with its already immense armament and menacing progress to increase the latter by adding six men of every 1,000 of her population. The conscription will add 480,000 men to her forces yet the disposition that is long of peace withdraws this many men from the ranks of labor and converts them into dull and unproductive tools, is claimed as an ally of the Republic and one best friend in Europe.

☞ The Congressional Globe is to cease. In its place we have the Congressional Record. The former was published by a private company; the latter is printed by the Government, under the auspices of Mr. Clapp. The change only went effect at this Congress. Mr. Clapp's report for next year will show whether the change was a circle of economy or not. It is expected that the saving will be quite large. The Record is certainly an improvement upon the Globe in the style of publication.

☞ The U. S. monitor Dictator weighs 4,069 tons, is 312 feet long and 50 feet wide, drawing 21 feet of water, leaving only about 18 inches out of water. Her gun carry 450 pound solid shot, and her decks can be flooded with hot water in case of important intrusion by an enemy. Over 10 tons of counts and orders, worth more than $5000 in Paltes Market, were stolen from her cabin when she went into the Brooklyn dry dock the other day, so that if she is good for nothing else we can raise oysters and mussels on her for the New York market.

☞ The Duke of Edinburgh and the Grand Duchess Marie will board with Queen Victoria until their home is ready for housekeeping. There will be the stores for the Duke to put up, and Maria will want to paper her own bedroom and there will be carpets to put down, which will give them both something to do; and when long got under way, Victoria will run in and her baking days, come over to wring out the things Mondays, as it were. So the young couple have a clear future before them. Here's to their cost, left out the families; out may the lot fall long and broadcast.

☞ The mates in the United States Navy, the lowest of the commissioned officers, formerly called passed midshipmen, who are obliged to pay for their mess, purchase uniforms, and keep up their position as lieutenants American officers, on a salary of $1200 a year, will recently give cause for, they attained the station money, have petitioned Congress for an increase to $1,600. Considering how much he does not have to do, $1,600 a year and coming expenses, who are afraid of you, it's most reluctant. —Ex.

☞ In the Spanish Cortes on the 3d the deputies on two votes gave majorities against President Castelar and in favor of Serrano. The majorities against Castelar was 120 Gen. Pavia, who is a friend of President Castelar, thereupon occupied the place of the Cortes and surrounded the most conservative of all parties, including the members of the present government, only excepting Carlists and ultra-generals, to form a new government. This Gen. Pavia declared was the only means for the salvation of the country. He refused personally to become a member of the government.

☞ Mrs. Marguerite, to which Bazaine has been consigned by way of seclusion, is described as a series of jagged rocks which lift their cliffs and ledges above the waters of the Mediterranean, in full sight of the lovely watering place of Cannes, has been converted by cabinets with a rather grim and gloomy castle fortress, one of the lonely towers of which is celebrated in many a true historic romance. It is to be hoped that the veteran Marshal will be treated with more leniency than the most foreign and ugliness of all the inmates of the dungeon of Ste. Marguerite; for it was there that the unknown Iron Mask, whose identity, after two centuries, discussion, has not yet been satisfactorily established, was confined for eleven years—from 1687 to 1698.

☞ No man knows better than Henry Ward Beecher the opportunity of delivering a dramatic performance from the pulpit. Hence when requested to absolve such a performance, it is not surprising that those who attended it were thus rebuked: I am requested to give a notice which puts me in a little difficulty. I don't want to and I want to. Annarath Dramatic Association wish to give a benefit in the Academy of Music next Saturday evening. They wish to pay all the expenses themselves and give all the receipts to the poor of Brooklyn. Now I want the poor to have all the money they can get, but I don't want to advertise a dramatic company, and there fore I shall not give the notice." [Great laughter.]

BAZAINE'S SENTENCE.

How it Was Received by the Marshal.

The Paris Gaulois gives the following account of the manner in which Marshal Bazaine received the announcement of his sentence by the Versailles Court-martial:

After the close of the speeches he withdrew to his rooms, whither he was followed by the members of his family—his wife, his brother, his two nephews, their wives, Captains Gudin and Morenay Stark, Col. Magnan, M. Bonnilet, Madame Azoulay, and some others huddled to the very last hour—in all about fifteen. During the four hours which the deliberations lasted, the Marshal conversed freely, familiarly, even gaily, as if his life had not been at stake, while the brave friends who surrounded him were oppressed with anguish. After the lapse of some few minutes, Madame Bazaine, whose self was overcome by the spectacle, accompanied by her daughter, Maitre Lachaud, and Col. Lecomte, entered the chapel in play. Colonel Villette, the sublime impersonation of devotedness stood in the gallery which unites the Grand Trianon to the Trianon-sans Bois, in order to catch the first news. It was there Maitre Geo. Lachaud found him at half-past eight. He, after hearing the sentence, was returning to the Marshal to prepare him for the arrival of Gen. Pourcet. "What then," inquired Col. Villette, "is he acquitted?" Without responding, Maitre Georges Lachaud made a sign of despair, and then mounted the stairs which led to the Marshal's rooms, followed by the Colonel, who stumbled like a man intoxicated. At the sound of the opening door, the Marshal, who was still conversing with his friends, advanced toward the young advocate and inquired at once from his downcast features without exchanging a single word, what was the result. "Then they have condemned me to death?" he said simply, clasping the hand of Maitre Georges Lachaud. And then, in view of his significant continued silence, he asked, "By what majority?" "Unanimously," replied the partner of his illustrious defender in a low, hollow voice. "Ah!" was all the Marshal said in reply; and then, as if nothing had occurred, he resumed the interrupted conversation. Everybody else present burst into tears; the condemned man alone remained self possessed. At that moment Col Villette entered the salon. Advancing to the man whose slave he has rendered himself for eighteen months, his strength failed him, and he fell heavily on the floor. While the company hastened round him the Marshal, to disguise his emotion, turned back towards the adjoining room, where Maitre Lachaud was resting. He found him on the threshold, and in a calm, almost sprightly tone, delivered to his advocate the faint tidings. In the midst of the affecting scene, M. Commandant Ollivet, the aide-de-camp of the Duc d'Aumale, arrived. His presence, it is needless to say, produced a painful emotion.

Lumbering.

The remarkably open winter has compelled almost a suspension of operations in the lumber woods. A large share of the camps have stopped work altogether, but nearly if not quite all will resume again as soon as there is snow for the middle of January. However this may be, the amount of loss put in will certainly fall far short of the calculations made two months ago, which were even then put at a very low figure.

We are inclined to think that this failing, if it may be a temporary landslips to some lumbermen who are in any in debt, will work advantageously to the lumbering interests in general and to localities dependent upon the lumbering business. The tendency for the past few years has been for men to go wild into the lumbering business, and every lumberman seems to have used his utmost efforts, and even to gain possession of all the pine lands within his reach, but each seems to run and put into the furnace the greatest possible amount of pine logs, and to convert them into lumber as rapidly as possible. In this all-absorbing business every other productive interest in its vicinity has suffered neglect. The result has been that the streams have been crowded beyond their capacity, much valuable timber has been wasted the products have been overstocked and lumber has been reduced to a price which will scarcely pay the cost of manufacture, and at the same time other important interests—such as the establishment of other manufactures, the development of our agricultural resources, the culture of our fruitful soil, all of which would have been sources of profit, have been neglected and as a consequence lumbering districts feel more keenly than almost any other the pressure of "hard times." The shortage in the log crop the of the present winter will decrease the supply of lumber in the market next season, and should there be a reasonable demand for the article, prices must consequently advance. A prominent lumberman remarked to us the other day that he was glad to see such a winter as this, believing it to be for the best interests of lumbering in general. These facts must furnish to all thinking men valid reasons for the encouragement of the establishment of other branches of industry and manufacture in our midst and for greater attention to the agricultural interests of our county, which is the very backbone and substantial support of any community. The country and its dependent upon its agricultural products.—Mason Co. Record.

King of The Blood.

For Dyspepsia and Neuralgia Cure.—For four years past I had the Dyspepsia very bad, vomiting up my food nearly every meal, with pain and distress in my stomach, and could get very little sleep nights. I was had distressing attacks of Sick Headache two or three times a which at the time made it impossible for me to attend to my business. I was induced to try your Kind of the Blood. The pain and distress in my stomach were entirely relieved, vomiting ceased, have had no attack of headache since I commenced taking the medicine, and I sleep well nights, my bowels are now regular, having been passive before. I have now taken two bottles and my health appears to be fully restored. I delight to tell that my wife was much troubled with Salt Rheum, which the King of the Blood has entirely cured. Benjamin C. CALENDAR FOR 1874.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

The winter seems to be settling down to business at last.

PINE LAKE is frozen over, and the ice is reported safe.

THE law don't exactly justify you in shooting a man who steals your wood, but the times do.

WHEN you open the SENTINEL and read this paragraph ask yourself if you are reading your own or your neighbor's paper.

CIRCUIT COURT.—The winter term of Court commences in this village on Tuesday next. The docket contains but little business of importance.

DANCING CLUB.—Our young people, and several of the older ones who have young hearts, are organizing a dancing club, and the first dance is to be on Wednesday evening next.

BOYNE FALLS.—Wm. Nelson has commenced the construction of his dam across Boyne River, in the Township of Boyne Valley, and will proceed as soon as practicable with the erection of his mill.

EYE PUT OUT.—We learn that a young son of Mr. Weimore, who lives near the head of Pine Lake, lately had his eye put out, accidentally, by a knife in the hands of a playmate.

BRAINS SIR calls attention to the fact that when people come to town after groceries, they need travel no farther than the corner of Bridge and Mason streets for goods and prices to suit them.

HARDWARE.—An institution of which Charlevoix may well be proud, is Stockman's Hardware Store. He is up to the times, and keeps about everything in his line. See his new advertisement.

DEER OVER.—At Bear River, lately, Justice Porter bound over an Indian for appearance at Circuit Court, on a charge of attacking with an axe, and seriously wounding an ox belonging to Hazen Ingalls.

A couple of old ladies got tipsy on the communion wine at a recent church service in Kent county, and struck up "Johnny fit up the Bowl" before the astonished congregation could hire them carried out on shutters.

SEATING.—The lovers of this healthful sport have been indulging during the week to an extent which constrains us to caution them against circulating too indiscriminately on Round Lake. The ice on this lake is at all times extremely treacherous.

The Northport Tribune says: "An Indian living near here, lately returned from a hunt near the head-waters of the Manistee, bringing about $70 worth of furs, among which were four bear, three marten, 10 mink, four coon, and a number of muskrat skins."

The Progress says: "Daniel Blakely of Central Lake, has moved his family to Elk Rapids, having abandoned farming and his other trades and professions for the present, and engaged as chief dispenser of accessories and dories at Goldman & Talmadge's new store.

The Indian Reserve Lands.

No portion of the State is more vitally interested in the disposition of the so-called Indian Reserve Lands than Charlevoix and Emmet Counties, and it is surprising that their people have not made an effort toward the assistance of the movement recently made in other portions of the State, where the same evil exists. Petitions were quite extensively circulated asking Congress for the enactment of a law which should provide that all these lands, the title to which still remains in the Government, should remain subject to entry by actual settlers, under the provisions of the Homestead act, and that they be not put upon the market for five years to be purchased by speculators. Senator Ferry has presented in the Senate four of these petitions, which are now before the proper committee. The two principal agencies in retarding the development of the Pine Lake region has been the reserved situation of Railroad and Indian lands. To the case of the former, a rapid, permanent and satisfactory settlement is progressing; in the case of the latter, no change for the better has taken place, and the most fertile portion of the region lies in its semi-wild condition, peopled by a population who do not produce their own subsistence therefrom. We earnestly pray our Senators and Representatives in Congress to use their endeavors to bring these lands to a condition for settlement. The request is a reasonable one, and it is but a matter of justice to the localities in which these lands are situated that actual settlers, who will enter upon and improve these valuable lands should have the opportunity to make their selections, in preference to speculators who, if in possession of them, would place them at such a price as to greatly retard their sale and settlement. Every description of the Pine River reservation is upon the memorandum books of the class to whom we refer, who are waiting and watching for some act of Congress which will place it within their grasp.

CHARLEVOIX HOUSE.—Thisbold is about to be vacated by Louis Gebo, who returns to his residence on Clinton street, and A. J. McLeod, who has an established reputation as a model landlord, takes possession, having leased it for a term of years.

ANONYMOUS.—The communication from "A Subscriber" is received, but is withheld from publication until the writer calls and makes himself known. Again we say, anonymous communications will not be published, no matter how deserving they may be.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. Geo. L. Cole will preach at the school house to-morrow both morning and evening.

—The past week, which, according to an established custom, is annually set apart as a week of prayer, has been observed in this village by evening prayer meetings, at the school house.

THERE is nothing so well calculated to upset a man's risibilities as to receive a poke in the stomach, at 2 a. m., accompanied by the information that "That front door is unlocked." Fortunate woman is she whose husband has such control over his mirth as to not awake the rest of the family while attending to the matter.

REGULATE YOUR TIME.—Charlevoix has long experienced the necessity of a uniformity of time. No reliable standard could be secured by which to be governed, and the consequence has been a great variety of "dinner hours." Now, our jeweler, Mr. Hoam, has a reliable regulator, which has been set in accordance with solar observations, and many of our citizens are taking advantage of it by setting and regulating their time-pieces. We hope, for the sake of public convenience, that it will be adopted as the standard time.

ADVERTISING DON'T PAY.—Since the commencement of the panic, Wm. Grob, a grocer in Kendallville, Ind., tried the experiment of liberal advertising. He inserted a three-column advertisement in every paper in the county, announcing not only his goods, but the prices thereof. In one day, lately, he made 1,703 cash sales, amounting to $2,563.12, his customers coming from every part of the county. What would have been the total receipts of to-day's sales without advertising? Probably about $125. And yet, some say advertising don't pay!

The Chief Justice Heard From.

In a recent issue we had occasion to refer, briefly, to the judicial antics of one of our Justices. He takes exception to our criticism in the following style:

Jan. 2, 1874. In answer to the Powers that be.

Mr. Editor dear sir, I take the the liberty to inform you that an article in your paper of Dec. 20, 1873 was false or all except the case of slander a man and his wife was arrested for slander and was to be examined and if found guilty to be bound over to circuit court. It being after dark a Saturday when one of the party was arrested a justice of the peace being there at the time of the arrest, he offered to become security for the Prisoner until a Monday morning the constable turned them over to the said justice without any bonds and the said justice let them go home all supposed that it was a legal arrest at that time, and the man without law before him supposed the same until he got counsel on it, the man said if he was sent to the supposed prisoners and got them to reconsider he helped and urged them away. when the constable found it out he got out the warrent and had the said man arrested and put under three hundred dollars bonds for his appearce four days from the day of arrest This same man never had any law before him if he had he never would stole the sheep that was killing in the service of Uncle Sam and not liking the service to schoolcraft he this is not half of what seems to be true of the man that has so far as I have if he had more fear it would be better for him and the neighborhood he lives in. Now Mr. Editor you recollect one year ago last spring a certain bond was given and out stepped three persons giving the bond got a notice from the county auercioned by Ferry coming Attorney that he was not an legal bond and could not be accepted. Again I think that others ought to study their law books more in this county. Yours ——

P. S. I did not put the name of me to reship for several reasons pleas put this in your paper and use the same Sim instead of the right name.

It will be seen by the above learned production that "Sim," (who is the Justice of the Peace referred to) is "posted." We congratulate his township in possessing so able and zealous an officer. (?) It is no more foolish or ridiculous for a Justice of the Peace to grant a divorce or try a case of smuggling, than was the act of this officer in running an arrest for slander. He either cannot read the law-book, or else his intellect is too dull to comprehend the meaning of its contents. Now, we have plainly expressed our opinion, and expect to be arraigned before His Honor on a charge of libel.

Vanderhull has gobbled the Michigan Lake Shore Railroad.

"Yes, I am married: I have had sixteen children, and I know my business," was the reply of a colored woman to a question at the Peoria police court the other morning. His Honor thought she must assuredly did.

A Logical Answer to the Horse.

Sam Slote is a Boston merchant. His investments reaches beyond $500. He has a large conscience, and in every way is a person of good health and contentment. We say he is a pleasant, jovial fellow, and you can in his mood say pretty hot and generally good naturedness has brought about such a host of admiring personal friends as to make him as popular as a candidate for Governor. New York also owns property and sent to the Green Opera House to see Lucy Stone talk to Fox certainty. He was not when I first made his acquaintance, and he laughed naturally during the prolonged but exertion performance was begun in my counsel, and the list of Fame became gradually increased. Slote invited Smith's way Vermont of logical and was in a mood to be entertained, and he himself came to my assistance. He friendly received with him, and the 2,000 audience seemed to agree, generally, with the logical application the admiring mob.

Smith's logic is simple, and no down for many months.

"Where did you come from, Gus?" I asked, as I was marching along with Colonel Sigmon Magnus, and my gunnel and eyes to me. "Oh, I came from Indiana," he answered, "the last, sir, was in the company, and buying eggs for the church."

A Down-East Tar's Victory.

In a letter recently delivered in Boston Mr. John L. Hyles related as an anecdote of Brookings general the assault on the stamping about long Wallace IV., removed from a Portsmouth shipping. Nathan Smith, afterward a prominent shipowner of Portsmouth was a lad on one of the privateers captured by a British cruiser. This lad, being small and somewhat junior near the prisoners, who were landing on Long Island, and viewing the scenery of the country. Young lad, being weary of sport, resolved "if it were not for my trunk, etc., I would make for the land from that inside." His matter for my body, and the patient, though quite young, could see that there was no way to get over them. He could make up his mind to do it. The ice stood on a very compact mass, and he left it, and came ashore. The Yankee was interested, and the Englishman refused. Indeed, he was very much astonished that such a lad should have the courage to attempt such an exploit. You are a brave fellow, my boy," said the Englishman, and I will make you a present of the Kingdom, and the Duke and possessions are at all his service."

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM WHISKEY

P. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable curative powers of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the summer and Autumn, and remarkable as during seasons of unusual health, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other digestive organs. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these functions, is necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and general restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can find a victim in a system thus fortified.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One cent will prevent all this suffering, and save months from a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Tumors, Ulcers, Enlarged Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In fact, all other constitutional Diseases Walker's VINEGAR BITTERS have shown a most potent control, when the virus of the disease is contained in the blood.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Painters, Type-setters, Gold Beaters and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to poisoning of the blood. To guard against this, take a dose of WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES REMEDY occasionally.

POETRY.

THE BLIND BOY.

The blind boy's been at play, mother,
And merry games we had;
We led him on our way, mother,
And every step was glad:
But when we found a sunny flower,
And plaited in curled hair,
A tear came at chilling down his cheek,
Just like a drop of dew.

We took him to the mill, mother,
Where falling waters make
A rainbow over the dark arches,
As golden sun-rays played;
And when we showed him the scene,
And hint at the clear blue sky,
We heard the still upon the back,
And then had a long, long sigh.

We asked him why he wept, mother,
We heard, we found the cause;
Where remembrance sleep, mother,
He still lingers near us.
"Ah me!" said he, while tears ran down,
And last as sweet showers,
"It is because I cannot see
The rainbows and the flowers."

Oh, that our sightless boy, mother,
He taught me I am blest,
For I can look with joy, mother,
On all I love the best.
All I adore I see the dancing stream,
And fairies tend and shield,
I'll kneel upon the meadows and,
And thank my Father gladly.

SELECTED.

LYNCH LAW—A STORY OF THE LEAD MINES.

In the year 1824—a small stern-wheel steamer left the broad levee of the Mississippi which it had been plowing all the way from St. Louis and entered the Fevre River, to pick its way up the tortuous windings of that stream; finally running its prow into the mud at the Galena landing.

On board were the usual complement of officers and crew, together with the cotton and tobacco from the interior, destined to the lead mines. They were already excited, for this was exception, and that a young man should leave the planter's home at the same moment the boat's register appeared and disembarked.

He was evidently unused to work, yet he had but little money, so could not possibly be a speculator. He was very reticent regarding his business. The fact that he was a gentleman was apparent, and the idea of going to the lead mine for the purpose of replenishing his exhausted exchequer from the hard earned wages of the miners.

He received no welcome from the crowd who had been waiting for half an hour for the boat to come; but he did not notice that. He took his carpet-bag in hand and went ashore with the rest, with whom his kind becomes acquainted, and also introduced him to the "Row" as one he desired a job. The question at wages was soon settled, and he, in company with the rest, started for the diggings.

Soon he exhibited an evident dislike for work, and would have been discharged from the mines, but he had gone to the "Diggings" and begged to be retained; and for a while he did better.

From the log house which was their boarding place, many articles of value, such as clothing, watches and money, had been stolen since the coming of Smalley, and no one could be obtained of the missing articles.

As such a thing as stealing had been unknown previous to his coming, and considering the proverbial honesty of the regular Welsh and Cornish miners, suspicion was quite naturally directed to Smalley as the perpetrator of the theft.

A time was at length upon his movements, which resulted in finding that a loss of sleep to the watchers for a long time, and one night about dusk, Smalley left his house happy. About this time one of the children returned from school one night, and in his fatal home. "Where is sister Alice?"

"Why, you ought to know," replied her mother; she went with you to school this morning."

"Yes, I know. But just after school was called this afternoon a gentleman came in a carriage and asked for her. I heard him tell the teacher that your aunt was sick, and he had come to take her home after Alice. So she went with him, and I supposed she was at home. O, dear, where can she be?"

The mother now became alarmed, and going to the door she took the ox horn, used in calling the workmen to their meals, and blew a blast both long and deep, and soon had the satisfaction of seeing her husband running toward the house. She soon acquainted him with the situation of affairs, and he started out for operations, but rushed down the road leading to the village, where he was fortunate enough to find the teacher. "What kind of a man was it came for Alice?" he asked. "A tall, dark, heavy-whiskered man, with heavy black whiskers," replied the teacher. "I should not have let her go," she continued, "but he said your wife had sent for her."

"What sort of a horse did he drive?"

"A large gray one. I have seen him often, and believe he is owned by some one in the village."

Ben sent to Galena the father posted with all possible speed. Upon finding the man who owned the horse, he inquired if a tall, dark, heavy-whiskered man had been there.

"Yes, he has," was the reply, "and he's gone with Alice."

"Which way?" inquired Ben.

"It may be a trick of one of those rascally horse-thieves up the river, and if so he has probably stuck for the Mississippi. That we can easily ascertain by inquiring along the road—but you say he took your oldest girl? What could he possibly want of her?"

"Oh, I do not know!" Neither can I imagine who he can be. But come, mount a horse, and let us see if we can get track of him," said the agonized father.

"All right," replied the stable-keeper, "but will I get my shooting-irons, so that if we come across him I can give justice without a trial."

A short time home a few miles from town they made inquiry, and learned that such a horse had passed there about two o'clock in the afternoon, with a tall, whiskered gentleman and accompanied by a little girl who appeared to be weeping.

At the same time their acute similar answers were given to their inquiries, until the fact was established beyond a doubt that the stranger was making for the Mississippi, and forcing their horses to their utmost speed they pushed on. But they were too late!

Arriving at the river they found the horse tied to a tree, while upon the seat of the carriage was the following letter addressed to the owner of the horse:

"DEAR SIR: I am going to run to my much cousin's coming for your horse, but I have got the inside track now and will go on the four mounts and your journey here. Tell Mrs. John Knowles, the boss at the Alice I have escaped with her. I am at a time I will kill him, so I have sworn to do. Yours, Respectfully, BENJAMIN SMALLEY."

Then the boss knew who had his child, and why she had been stolen; but, nevertheless, with his search, no trace of her could be found.

Another year went past, and another child, who had been left in the cradle, was missing.

The hills were searched, and old mineral holes were explored on the expectation of finding her there; while the poor father was nearly frantic. He found the secret, and believed it to be the work of Smalley. To confirm his belief, he received a letter from Smalley, again reminding him of his oath. In fear and trembling the time passed away. Every care was taken of the remaining child, and the father was never out of sight of his house.

One day the stable-keeper from Galena called and said: "I have some news for you. The fellow who ran away with my horse and your daughter is in Galena. He came on the boat this morning, and I recognized him and had him arrested. You need not come to town to appear against him."

In the morning Mr. Emerson went to the village, and was soon face to face with the vilest Smalley.

"For God's sake, tell me what you have done with my girls!" exclaimed the father.

"Ha! ha! Don't you wish you knew? Just wait until I get out of here, and I'll show you a trick you will not soon forget!"

Retreat as were of no avail—the hardhearted wretch could not be prevailed upon to make known the whereabouts of the missing girls. A

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

SATURDAY, - - JAN. 17, 1874

☞ Six days and nights adrift in Saginaw Bay, on a cake of ice, and then terrible experience of two men, lately! Still more terrible was the fate of the six brave men who went in search of them!

☞ Ninety-one Greek students are enrolled at the Michigan University. There are seven in the law department, thirty-six in the medical, and forty-eight in the regular college course.

☞ The revised constitution, prepared by the State Commission last fall, has just been officially published, under the supervision of a special committee appointed for the purpose.

☞ The opening of national pandemonium in schools came up at a session of the Chicago Board of Education last Tuesday. Five of the Board were in favor of abolishing it entirely, and seven of them against it.

☞ The remains of the late Emperor Napoleon III. were transferred lately to a crypt elegant presented to Eugenie by Queen Victoria. A number of leading Bonapartists attended, but Prince Napoleon was absent.

☞ The nomination of Henry Stanley, of Williams' exploration for the Chief Justiceship has been promptly followed by the submission to the Senate of the name of Caleb Cushing. The President's second choice will, we venture to predict, be received with general satisfaction by men of all parties.

☞ A terrible catastrophe took place in Hot Saginaw on the 8th inst. He some reason a can of powder in the store of Mr. Atkinson exploded, completely destroying the building and stock, and instantly killing a child and badly injuring two women. A child in the upper story was miraculously saved unhurt, though

☞ There is a fellow across the water —the editor of the London Pall Mall Gazette—on whom the Geographical Society ought to bestow a further medal. Speaking of the proposed Kanowha canal, from the Ohio river to the Ohio, he says "it would have to be cut through the Green mountains, more than a hundred miles of solid rock." That man should be promoted!

☞ A vessel of 6000 tons has got hold of his anchors extended with the Atlantic cable in the gut of Canso. The captain has offered to cut his chains for $10,000, or on condition of receiving new anchors and and chains and $50 a day demurrage while he is detained waiting for them, otherwise he will raise his anchors, which would almost certainly break the cable. The telegraph company will probably accept his terms.

☞ The wealth of Astor is now computed at $200,000,000. The property of old John Jacob Astor, the father of Wm. B. Astor, was left by him in trust for the benefit of his heirs. After the expiration of the trusteeship, which will occur at the end of the third generation—that is after the grandchildren have passed away—it will then be divided among all the descendants of the old man, the last one allowing a trusteeship of that kind to extend for a longer period of time.

☞ The Detroit bridge has bright prospects of being commenced before a great while, the Canadian Parliament having done its part in granting a permit for its construction. It is understood also that the commissioners appointed last summer by the Secretary of War to report upon the feasibility of the bridge, and whether or not it would be an impediment to navigation sufficient to prohibit its construction, have decided upon their report, and that it is favorable to the construction of the bridge."

☞ The loss of the frigate Franklin, with all on board, if it prove true, as reported in one of the most appalling of all the disasters of the ocean ever known. She was one of the largest class of vessels in our steam navy, and carried a crew and pleasure-seeking party of officers and their families out west. She was struck at the Charlestown navy yard in 1852-3, from stump the keel of the old frigate Franklin of the war of 1812. She is entering the ocean. Her first service was as flag-ship of the European squadron in 1854-5, of which Farragut was Admiral, when he last his triumphant visits to the courts of Europe.

LOST AND SAVED.

Six Days on the Ice in Saginaw Bay.—A Party in Search of them Supposed to be Lost.

Special Dispatch to The Detroit Tribune.

BAY CITY, January 7.—The Tribune has plenty contained the announcement by telegraph that William McGeen and George Smith, who started out into the bay on Wednesday, December 31st, had succeeded in reaching land, after being encircled further and thither over the bay for six days, with no food but a cake of ice and no covering save the broad expanse of Heaven above them.

The proclamation in this city of their rescue by their safety spread like wildfire, and the gloom which had been cast over the entire community by their despair passed, and which had continued to increase as day after day rolled around and no tidings of them were received, was dispelled by the simple telegram which flashed over the wires from Pinconning yesterday afternoon—"We are safe." Up to Monday night the many friends had entertained a hope that perhaps they had landed on some island and would return. But on yesterday the last hope died out, and they were mourned as dead.

That morning was changed to joy when the dispatch was received, and as the glad news spread about the city, many a heart

"Thank God" was uttered, while in the homes of each there were such rejoicings as are seldom heard. It was in fact as if the dead had returned to life.

The men's feet are slightly frozen and they are quite ill, but aside from this are in good condition.

SECOND DISPATCH.

Special Dispatch to The Detroit Tribune

BAY CITY, January 7.—A dispatch received from A Meade states that four of the party of six men who left there Sunday to join the search for McGeon and Smith, and from whom no news has since been received, arrived at Whitestone Point, eight miles south of Middleton. An express was sent to search for the ladies will leave Alabaster tomorrow morning. The names of the six men who are last are A. W. Mitchell, W. Whalen, D. Lyon, W. H. Wilson, L. Hutton and J. Sorenson.

☞ According to a correspondent of the New York Tribune, Bazaine's sentence, in addition to death, military degradation, and degradation in the Legion of Honor, included the payment of the entire costs of the whole process and 265,000 francs—very rent the Marshal was worth. Half this latter portion of the sentence been enforced, his wife and three children would have been left entirely destitute. Bazaine's "confession" will be of very short duration. His death is bother to rapidly that in the ordinary course of events he can survive but a few months.

☞ The first day of December, some persons made use of the new school bell to ring out the old and ring in the new" year. Friend Smith heard it and usually shouted "Sic 'em" united out, over the back yard, and soon stood ten minutes in the back yard, first on one foot then on the other, looking and listening. Legs gradually thawed on his bewildered mind; toes and ears were getting frostbitten; he trudged back into the house; was greatly (?) amused for having all the doors open; took an awful cold, and spent a sneezing season to ask for three days. And yet, for all that, he says he "makes leave of the past year with a decent feeling of thankfulness and welcomes the new with eager expectancy!"—Grand Traverse Herald.

Drowned.

A correspondent of the Detroit Post, writing from Lansing on the 12th inst., gives the following particulars in regard to the death of Mr. Davidson:

The performance of the drowning of Mr. Charles Davidson, Treasurer of Emmett county, as seen so far is ascertained are as follows: He arrived in this city yesterday morning on the first train from Chicago, and registered at the Lansing House. His clothes were sent to settle the business of his county with the Auditor General, which he proceeded to do at once. After supper he, landscaped started, by requesting Mr. Pratt, Deputy Auditor General, to direct one of the clerks of the office to accompany him to the office of the Secretary of State, where he was introduced to the down action. From the time of his arrival in this city he appeared to be under the influence of liquor, and this is probably the cause of his death. About 9 o'clock P. M., on James J. Mead and others were near the Michigan avenue bridge they heard a cry for help from the river. They procured lights and a boat with all possible haste, but before he could be reached life was extinct. His body was taken to the engine house and properly cared for. Several letters and telegrams from parties in Little Traverse and $2 50 in money were found upon his person. Mr. Davidson was regarded quite wealthy, and had been County Treasurer and Notary Public in his county for a number of years. It is thought that he had started for the railroad depot and in some way fell over the railing leading on to the bridge. His body will be forwarded to his family at Little Traverse, to-day. A coroner's inquest is being held this morning.

It is suggested that in building railroads, the rails should be bowed rod-fast so that the workmen will not throw them rapidly.

The national debt increased during the month of December about eight and one half millions of dollars.

A scow of salt worth $22,000 was wrecked at Grand Haven, on the 30th ult., and $2 000 in cash, passed through Detroit, a few days ago, from Liquorio Paris.

Victoria Woodhull is growing old and gray so fast that Theodore Tilton passes her without a nod of recognition.

A CARD.

The kind friends who visited me on the evening of the 31st will please accept my hearty thanks for the generous gifts which on reaching my home they had given. They were welcome both on account of the material help they afford, and as a mark of kindly feeling.

W. A. SMITH.

There is a fellow across the water—the editor of the London Pall Mall Gazette—to whom the Geographical Society ought to bestow a leather medal. Speaking of the proposed Kimberley canal from the Transvaal river to the Ocean, he says "it would have to be cut through the Queen mountains, more than a hundred miles of solid rock!" LOST AND SAVED.

Six Days on the Ice in Saginaw Bay—A Party in Search of them Supposed to be Lost.

BUTLER AND HAWLEY.

An Incident of the War.

CINCINNATI, 1, Correspondence N. Y. Sun.

Coming on the train from Washington this morning, I fell in with Phil. Sheridan, exclusive, I. E. He was formerly on the staff of Gen Joseph K. Bracky, of Cumberland.

I remember that the latter has quite very well to-do on with Butler," said I.

Sheridan leaned his arms against the crossing in front of him and laughed. "Ahem," he replied, "Ben forgot what occurred on the James River when he woke up one Sunday to find his whole squad in Dutch Gap, the line running between them."

"What was it?" I inquired.

Well," said Sheridan, "you know that Butler had about 16,000 men at Bermuda Hundreds when Grant was fighting Lee in the Wilderness. He had been promised more and he ought have got them. But Grant had a hook. Butler got bottled up on Grant's right and Lee was in front. Then Grant took the most of his force away from him leaving him about 4,000 or 5,000 men under Generals Terry and Hawley. It cost Butler up to sixty—eight, and his military dignity into an evident hurry to get his men back to the north bank of the James. He was so anxious to do something on low ground back. Behind the encampment of one of Terry's brigades, which, you remember, is on the north bank of the James, between Petersburg and Richmond, is the Appomattox River, a large and navigable stream. The ground is low along the banks, so much so that at high tide the water overflows the land on the north side of the river, covering that and the opposite bank with water. Hawley, who commands the brigade referred to, was encamped in front of Hawley, and common gossip ascribed a return to friendly relations and right feeling to the fact that the former once did some favor for the latter's wife. Be that as it may, Hawley had invited Butler to dine with him on the day in question, and the latter, who was not particularly given to the use of liquor, had taken a few of Hawley's best cocktails. Butler wanted to see the fortifications on the north bank of the river, and Hawley offered to return to his camp in front of Butler's line, on the 28th day of November, A. D. 1863, and was given a ride in the latter's carriage for that purpose. Butler, mistaking the road, drove into the camp of the brigade commanded by Gen. Terry, and was stopped by the sentinel on duty at the door of the latter's headquarters. Butler, not knowing that Terry was in command of the brigade, ordered the sentinel to let him pass. The sentinel refused to do so, and informed Butler that no one was allowed to pass the headquarters of Gen. Terry without the permission of said General

☞ The Chief Justiceship has undergone another change. The discovery of certain correspondence which took place between Cushing and Jefferson Davis, in 1861, rendered it expedient to withdraw Cushing's nomination. Morrison R. Waite, of Ohio, has been nominated.

☞ The House adopted the Senate substitute for the bill repealing the salary-increase act by a vote of 229 to 37—a little over nine to one. Of these 14 were Republicans and 14 Democrats. We are glad to say that none was cast in Michigan that way.

☞ The youngest man in the United States House of Repres entatives is Lynch, the colored member from Mississippi. He was a slave at Natchez until the Union army entered that town, and had no education then. He is but twenty-six years old.

☞ Chicago has 15,000 persons on the list of its poor who have to be helped from the municipal poor fund and by charitable societies. It expends from $2,000 to $3,000 per diem in relieving their wants. Many of them need help because they are of the class called "the Unemployed."

☞ It is now stated that there will probably be an extra session of the state Legislature held, commencing the last of next month, to reject, lying to take action on the new State Constitution. The matter is now being talked up among the politicial Solons. Governor Bagley is said to favor an extra session.

☞ A Grand Rapids dispatch to the Detroit Tribune says Antony A. Chapan died here last night, aged forty-one. He was the first white child born in the Saginaw Valley. He was son of Antoine, and nephew of Louis Campau, old French traders and pioneers respectively of the Saginaw and Grand River Valleys. His father still lives here.

☞ The Warsaw lady has appeared three times within a year at the old palace in Berlin. The first visit preceded the death of Prince Albrecht; the second the death of Prince Adalbert; the third time she called for Queen Elizabeth. She has again appeared, and whether she will this time claim the dispenser or another for her victim, is a question now under serious study by the Hohenzollerns.

☞ The granite sarcophagus presented by Queen Victoria to the Empress Eugenie as a receptacle for the remains of the late Emperor has been placed in the handsome mortuary chapel which has been erected to cover the tomb at Chiselhurst. Solemn service were held on the anniversary of the Emperor's death, in the presence of the Empress and many of her adherents.

☞ Chang and Eng, the Siamese Twins, are settled in North Carolina. They each have a very good farm adjoining each other, and both have families. They stay alternately two weeks at a time at each other's farm. Both have children who have a few education, and one of the twins has a daughter recently married. They have good residences on their farms and are considered good and successful farmers.

☞ The ex-Empress Eugenie, on the occasion of her recent visit to Queen Victoria at Windsor Castle, "was attired in deep mourning, wearing beneath her black bonnet a widow's cap. Apparently she was in good health, but her features bear traces of the sufferings she has passed through." She remained at Windsor Castle to lunch, and then returned by special train to Chiselhurst. The people of Windsor turned out in large numbers to greet the ex-Empress.

☞ When Congressman Harris, of Virginia, laughingly said to Mr. Randall, North Carolina, "Sit down, sir; I am talking to white men; I am talking to gentlemen," he was called to order by Mr. E. R. Hoar, of Massachusetts, who raised the point that "when a member ceases to address the whole House he ceases to have a right to the floor." The ruling of Speaker Blaine was a sharp rebuke, both and political. He said: "The rule requires a gentleman to address the chair." There was instant applause in the House, and several members responded: "That's right."

☞ Foreign papers report the death by drowning, in Loch Lomond, Scotland, of Sir James Colquhoun, of Luss, and four attendants on Dec 18. The party was returning from a deer hunt when the boat in which they were, capsized, landed us in the dark waters of the lake. It was a certain probabilities which would with the preservation of the island for public use a most fitting one. From its geological formation, and from its configuration, sloping to the water in some places, and with high bluffs in other parts, it has a remarkable outer drainage. Within easy go to Mackinac, to pasture low land it easy rails, in two or three hours afternoon, as if by magic the ground is dry. Mackinac would then, of all places from its salubrious climate, be an asylum for those afflicted with pulmonary diseases. As a place of public resort, from its situation, within easy reach of Chicago and St. Louis and other great health seeking centers, the present use of this island would be hailed with united satisfaction.

Measures of this character are as wise as they are thoughtful. The worthy Senator from Michigan is not looking only to day but of to-morrow, not of us alone belonging to the 3rd quarter of the 19th century, but for those who will come a hundred years after us. Surely, of our cities make appropriations for breathing places in their midst, why should not the government imitate their example on a grander scale? There is land enough for us all, and since the Yellow Stone Park has been appropriated to public use for the inhabitants of the Pacific slope, why should we not have a grand Park for the North.

In this particular instance, the Island of Mackinac belonging to the United States, and necessitating no outlay on the part of the government a concession of the character as proposed by Mr. Berry, could not meet with any possible objections. If from the position of Mackinac it might be of use at some future day as a strategic point there is no reason why it could not be made to serve for this purpose for such a nature's cunning, and an admirably done she look indeed with her native bravery, that features of creepers and fern might cover battlements and gun-rent scars, and once be the wiser nor the Island the less beautiful.

The Inter and Stream most strongly advocates the founding of National Parks and thinks the people cannot have too many of them.

Land Monopolizing.

According to recent statistics 160 families own more than one-half the territory of England, more than one-half of Ireland, fifty one-half of Wales, and four-fifths of Scotland, the four-fifths of Scotland being held by only twelve families. The tendency is to still greater aggregation in fewer and fewer hands, the operation of the laws by which a few only hold the lands for his life, the eldest sometimes getting therein on the death of the father, and thus a source of dissatisfaction and in fact becoming a real danger.

In the United States, a corrupt congress endowed railroad corporations with territories more than equal in the size of the entire British Island. Our benificent laws prevent the aggregation of land in private hands by the distribution which takes place on the death of the owner. The holding of vast tracts by corporations having perpetual successions is contrary to the spirit, though not to the letter, of our laws. If the corporations will sell their land there may not be much harm done, but, if they retain it their power will of ways be a source of danger.—Eastern Herald.

How the Poet Laureate Welcomed the Queen.

The Queen once sent Tennyson word that she would honor him with a visit on the following day. The announcement was received with his usual reticence from the point of his family, which, in a social small respect, has, with all the attractions, some of the disadvantages of the pastoral stones places. Quiet does not there reign supreme in outward things. The lambs was, however, just under arms to receive the royal visit; Tennyson himself in corduroy discussed; Mrs. Tennyson wore an appropriate turkey; the younger boys were stretched from mid-legs, washed and dressed, and kept in bondage to their best clothes the whole of the afternoon, while a holiday request of strawberries and cream and Devons was prepared in an other surreptitious. But the day passed and the next, and no majesty appeared. The household drew a sigh of relief—all apparitions of papers and mud pies again forbidden—the morning as the clothes were put on Dear Tennyson in the garden, and the poet meditated in his dressing gown, and Mrs. Tennyson on dinner when a horseman dashed up to the lawn and shouted "The queen's coming!" In a moment the household was in a flutter. To a man could then be found in the house, the royal carriage drew up before the door. Words fail me to describe the confusion. A word descended the grand staircase, and had nearly let her head, and looking at the queen even more so, who was in no 2 Dr. Tennyson I warned, ready in readable attire to receive my guests. My wife was ready and my children were washed and dressed to the last hook and her majesty came! and now she recommended Canvas to send a pupil." The poet groaned. The great brake into merry laugh, and the tea thus broken up gracefully and untidy did not form again during the visit.

That big baby, the Prince Consort, had gave two hundred tons of nitroglycerine exploded on its beside

VEGETINE

PURIFIES THE BLOOD, RENOVATES AND INVIGORATES THE WHOLE SYSTEM. ITS MEDICAL PROPERTIES ARE ALTERATIVE, TONIC AND DIURETIC.

VEGETINE is made exclusively from the juices of carefully selected barks, roots and herbs, and extracts so prepared that it will effectually eradicate from the system every taint of Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor Tumors, Cancerous Humors, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Syphilitic Diseases, Canker, Rheumatism in the stomach, and all diseases that arise from impure blood. Sciatica, Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout, and Spinal Complaints can only be effectually cured through the blood.

For Chronic and Erysipelatous Diseases of the Skin, Pustules, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tetter, Scaldhead and Ringworm, Vegetine has never failed to effect a cure.

For pulmonary or Throat Affections, such as Chronic Coughs, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, Pain in the Side, Night Sweats, Consumption, Vegetine has proved itself the best remedy yet discovered for the relief and cure of such complaints.

For Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Jaundice, Habitual Constipation, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Piles, Nervousness, and General Prostration of the System, no medicine has ever been given such perfect satisfaction as the Vegetine. It purifies the blood, cleanses all of the organs, and possesses a controlling power over the whole system.

The remarkable cures effected by Vegetine have induced many physicians and apothecaries whom we know, to prescribe and use it in their own families.

In fact Vegetine is the best remedy yet discovered for the above diseases, and is the only reliable blood purifier yet placed before the public.

CHIEF Macauba contemplates another trip to Washington, to negotiate with the "Great Father" for the deeds of their lands.

THERE is a registered letter in the Charlevoix postoffice for Betsey Smith. Will be sent to the Dead Letter Office if not called for soon.

THE Leelanaw Tribune of a recent date says: "Two men came from the Fox Islands to this place in a small boat last Monday to procure supplies. They started on their return trip yesterday."

AN exchange truly says: "Many a man has made himself rich by liberally advertising his business, and many people have eaved lots of money by keeping themselves posted to the advertisements of their local papers.

NOTICE.—A large number of subscribers are indebted to us in the sum of $1.50 or more. Expenses and labor must be paid for. We hope that a general effort will be made to square subscription accounts before the close of the month.

WOOD BEE.—A wood bee was held near this village on Thursday, the 15th, for the Rev. Geo. L. Cole, and one on the day following, for Rev. Mr. Wood. Messrs. Chamberlain and Ainslie, with their champion saw, in a race with the rest, won the wh—cigars, we mean, for the crowd.

TO FRIENDS.—During the past year a good many friends have kindly offered to get us a few subscribers "on the winter." Now is the time! One subscriber from each will amount to a good many in the aggregate, and make the publisher happy. We do not advise to the matter often, nor press our claims unduly. Will you not make one earnest effort?

CROSS VILLAGE.—The Traverse Bay Eagle is informed that quite a large amount of cordwood has been chopped at this place, but little has been drawn yet, owing to the scarcity of snow. The sleighing is good now, however, and will be improved rapidly. John Wagley has caught during the past season, 3,500 packages of fish. The report that the dock at this place had been carried away by a recent storm is untrue, only a small portion of the bridge got being destroyed.

BEAR RIVER ITEMS.—James McGovern, a man in the employ of Mr. Ingalls, committed a rape, one day last week, on the person of Ba-be-ska, an Indian woman, 60 years of age. Papers were issued by Justice Porter for his arrest, but before they could be served he had fled the country.

—Peter Schirrer, a German residing at Bear River, was fatally injured by a falling tree, on the 17th. The person who was chopping the tree, seeing him approaching, warned him of his danger, but for some unknown reason he failed to get out of the way, and a limb struck him, fracturing his skull.

Charlevoix Harbor.

Mr. Hubbell, on the 16th, introduced a bill in the House for the improvement of Charlevoix Harbor, and it was referred to an appropriate committee. Mr. Hubbell writes us that the Secretary of War has reduced his original estimate of $20,000,000 for harbor improvement, to a little over $1,000,000; and among his original recommendations which he has now cancelled were those of Eagle Harbor and Ontonagon, in this State. Thus it will be seen that, having equal chances with other points which are recommended for improvement, our prospects for an appropriation this winter are not flattering; but we are not hopeful. It is gratifying to know that if defeated in our plans, it will not be for want of a deserving object, but because of a temporary retrenchment in harbor expenditures, in view of the stringency of the times. It is also gratifying to know that our interests are carefully handled and ably advocated by our worthy Congressman, Mr. Hubbell. If, as seems possible, we are disappointed in our hopes of securing assistance this year, let us not feel discouraged, but by all fair means gather strength for a fresh effort.

THE first ball of the Charlevoix Dancing Club came off on Wednesday evening, and was a success. We hope these pleasant gatherings will be continued.

ALMOST A FIRE.—Robert Miller's blacksmith shop had a narrow escape from destruction one morning last week. Mr. Miller, on coming to work, discovered the upper floor to be ablaze, and a large hole burned therein. It was easily extinguished. The fire originated from a stove in the boat shop above, occupied by Messrs Dougherty & Carr.

MASONIC.—The Masons of the 9th Masonic District of Michigan held a Union Lodge of Instruction in Traverse City on the 14th. Grand Lecturer, Hon. Henry M. Look, of Grand Rapids, and Deputy Grand Master C. T. Hill, of Muskegon, were present. All the Lodges between Manistee and Charlevoix were represented. Charlevoix Lodge was represented by Hon. E. H. Green, J. Ingalls and R. Cooper. In the evening, Traverse City Lodge gave those in attendance an oyster supper at the Campbell House. It is said to have been a very pleasant affair.

—The next annual communication of the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons will be held in Detroit, commencing at 12 o'clock of Tuesday next. Hon. E. H. Green, Worshipful Master of Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, left to-day as a delegate.

THE great excitement of the season at Pentwater was the "Baby Show" which took place last week. Everybody was surprised at the wonderful display of infants, both as regards numbers and beauty, in a town of that population. Every man and woman had one and some brought them by armfuls, every mother, of course, claiming for her child the first prize for beauty. Six prizes in all were awarded. Though lectures and literary feasts have failed to call out a house in Pentwater, this entertainment produced the desired effect.

—The opening session of the Antrim and Charlevoix Co. Sunday School Association will be held at the school house Tuesday evening next. Rev. J. B. Hall of Ira Rapids, is expected to deliver the opening sermon. Interesting subjects are open for discussion, and it is hoped our citizens will endeavor to be present at the sessions of the Convention.

—Quarterly Meeting on Jan. 31st and Feb. 1st. Preaching Saturday evening and Sabbath morning by Rev. J. W. Miller, Presiding Elder.

—The meetings at the Bird school house are still in progress. The interest is deepening. Whole families are turning onto the Lord. On Thursday evening last, twenty-two testified to the power of Jesus to save.

The Game Law.

January 24, 1874.

EDITOR SENTINEL:

DEAR SIR:—I do not think that I am the only one who is pleased to see you call attention to the Game Law. Your readers cannot plead ignorance; they have had notice through your columns that the hunting season is over. They are told in plain English that they must expect to contribute $50 toward the Library Fund if they will hunt and kill game. It is high time that something was being done toward the preservation of game in this section. Our woods are altogether too lean! and as the time has at length arrived when Le is no better than a white man, let us hope that they, as well as those miserable game-hunting whites, will be held to a strict account for each and every violation of our most excellent game law. Let all true sportsmen join in bringing the offenders to justice, and the detestable practice of killing game out of season will surely be put down. YOUTH.

A BAD AFFAIR.

A Bride Killed by an Abortion --Who Was Instigated by the Disappointed Husband.

Yesterday morning we alluded in regard to the death of a young lady, the daughter of an old and highly respectable citizen of this place. On the evening of Saturday, Dec. 20, she was taken suddenly ill. The fact was much regretted, as her wedding apparel was just completed and in two weeks she was to become the wife of a young man well known in the city. $2,000 was to have been expended on the bridal day. A consultation of physicians was called and everything possible done for the sufferer, but to no purpose. On the next Monday evening she breathed her last. The community was greatly distressed, and the funeral, which occurred on Christmas, was a magnificent affair. No money was spared to make the display as every way as complete as the wedding would have been. Just accordingly had the court remains been laid away forever, when many rumors became circulated, startling as horrible, from one of the physicians. They were as to the cause of death. Our informant has given details was caused by an abortion accomplished on M. H., at the instigation of the intended bridegroom on Christmas morning. His object was to, in such young men were wooing. Then the consequence and cost but. It is said that he did not make a confession before his death, which fastens the murder upon him beforehand, but the discovery. No public investigation has been made, nor is it hardly probable that there will be. Letters were received in this place on the 4th inst. and the affair now rests in the case of Jacob Ayers and remand to Detroit.

This is all the new items to these three weeks. There is considerable excitement over the affair here, and the arraignment of the whole community are with the deepest feeling.

For the Household.

Cranberry sauce is one of the most healthful things that can be taken into the stomach among dyspeptics and dyspeptics, and should be on the Christmas table instead of the usual pickles. Directions for making it:

Pick over one quart of cranberries, wash and put them into a saucepan with a pint of water; boil twenty minutes; add one pint of sugar, and boil ten minutes longer. Mold in cups, and when cold turn out on glass dishes. Serve with roast turkey, chicken, or game.

Apple Dumplings.—Pare and core tart apples; fill the cavities with sugar, and put them in a pan with a little water; bake in a moderate oven. Then put them in cups, pour the syrup over them, and eat with cream.

Corn Pone Fritters.—Children are sometimes afflicted with earache to an alarming extent, and there is sometimes a difficulty in obtaining an effectual remedy for the disorder. One who has had experience in the matter has a piece of cotton batting, soak it in sweet oil, and insert it, taking care to have the cotton large enough to prevent the cotton from going in. Tie a bandage around the head if the child will permit it, and also keep perfectly warm from exposure and keep cool. Our informant says that in a few hours the pain will cease, and in a few days the cure will be complete, and no return of the disease need be apprehended if the child is properly cared for.

"Do you go to school now, Charley?" "Oh, yes, I boil a light fodder, now." "Can you add?" "Yes, when pa gives me a quarter to put with mine." "Can you subtract?" "Oh, yes, when I get a licking for fighting." "Can you divide?" "No, for with three boys to a bed, I can't get a piece to divide with." "Then what do you do?" "Why, I multiply."

Conundrum.—Said a boy: "Pass chalk, slate, rocky bottom, and also girl in this room." Answer—The relation of mine. Answer—The way bad.

If any one need be enclosed in a box with a piece of turpentine they will remain mum from the terror of moths.

A jeweller took up a collection on Sunday and found, when his hat was returned that there wasn't a penny in it. He passed the hat out, keeping the hat speculations and tapping the crowds of it. It was a failure. He has got my hat back from the congregation.

The number of stars visible to the naked eye in the entire system of the universe has been usually estimated at about 6,000. An ordinary opera glass will exhibit something like ten times that number. A comparatively lowly small telescope easily shows 200,000, while the largest telescope in the world will show, it is said, 100,000,000. There is room for a few more yet, and there are many yet unseen. Astronomers are constantly making new discoveries, and one can never tell what a night may bring forth.

They have a child but a very few months old, the first two children having died in infancy. The husband is a rich man, and the wife is devotedly attached to him. Mrs. Pinckney was married when she was but 16 years old.

A BAD AFFAIR.

A Bride Killed by an Abortion —Two Crimes Instigated by the Prospective Husband.

How it is otherwise told by which comes from Rome Creek, dated the 6th inst.

Special rumors are afloat in regard to the death of a young lady, the daughter of an old and a rich respectful citizen of this place. On the evening of Saturday Dec. 20, she was very taken suddenly ill. The case was much regretted, as her wedding appointments were just completed and in two weeks she was to become the wife of a young man well known in the city; $2,000 was to have been expended on the bridal dep. A consultation of physicians was called and everything possible done for the sufferer, but to no purpose. On the next Monday evening she breathed her last. The community was greatly shocked, and the funeral, which occurred on Christmas, was a magnificent affair. No money was spared to make the display complete, and as the wedding would have been, not scarcely had the event transpired, the bridal party changed into a funeral party. The groom-to-be followed the remains to the grave, and many were the floral tributes that were placed on the casket.

Such is the story as told by the rumors. Now for the facts: The young lady was engaged to be married, but the wedding was postponed by the groom. He was not ready for the ceremony, and he asked that the time be postponed. This was done, and the wedding was to take place in January. The groom was in the habit of visiting the house of the young lady, and was considered by the family as her accepted lover. He was also in the habit of visiting the house of a widow lady, who lives in the neighborhood. Some time in the month of November last, the young lady found herself in a condition which she knew would be unpleasant to explain to her friends. She was also aware that the groom would not marry her under the circumstances. She therefore went to the widow lady's house, and remained there for some time. She returned home, and her condition was apparent to her friends. She was taken sick, and the groom was sent for. He came, and was told that she was dying. He refused to see her, and left the house. She died in a few days, and the groom was present at the funeral.

The widow lady has been arrested, charged with producing the abortion, and the groom with instigating the criminal act. The widow lady is under $5,000 bonds, and the groom under $2,000. The case will be investigated before the Justice on Monday next, and will be watched with much interest.

For the Household.

Children's need to be one of the most beautiful things that can be thrown into the stained, aching, inflammation and dyspepsia, and several of the Eastern States are making it war against the living put into cakes.

Buckwheat Cake.—If you want buckwheat cakes in all a country warm, you must not change sauce or cornlaw yet. When your take out sufficient for breakfast or supper, it is much better to put it into a pot by itself, and make it into the cake just previous it will. By changing this you will have a much lighter cake, and one that will be much better for the system.

Pastry Cake.—Put one teaspoonful of soda in a coffee cup, and two teaspoonfuls of hot water; two of melted butter, and one of molasses; stir in flour enough to make a soft dough; roll out very thin, and bake in a quick oven. Very nice when cold, with powdered sugar, and grated nutmeg, or peel of lemon.

How to Keep Bread.—You may put potatoes in making bread. Put the bread in a stone jar, and cover it with a clean cloth three or four hours. Then put them in cool water, two quarts of water to one pound of bones, adding a tablespoonful of salt; bring them to a boil and let them simmer until tender, say two and a half hours. Take out the bones, and let them stand by one side of the fire, with the lid off for half an hour, to allow the fat to harden; then add one ounce of salt, one lb. of sweet cream or butter, and seasoning of pepper and herbs.

Cake and Raisins.—Children are sometimes afflicted with earache to an alarming extent, and there is sometimes a suffering, a distressing as cannot be described by the sufferer. One who has had experience says: Put the yolks of a piece of saleratus into a teacup, and half fill it with sugar; cut down one end to fit into ear, and insert in, laying ear to it. Let the piece lie there for a few minutes, and you will be surprised to see how it will draw out, and how quick the pain will leave. Since using this remedy for my children, and they coming to me with the complaint, I have not had to use the saleratus

A BAD AFFAIR.

A Brute Killed by an Abortion—The Crime Instigated by the Despicable Husband.

The facts in the case in regard to the death of a young lady, the daughter of an ordinarily highly respected citizen of this place, Monday evening, Saturday, Dec. 26, she was taken suddenly ill. The facts were soon suspected, so her mother appeared was just completed and in two weeks she was to become the wife of a young man well known in the city. $2,000 was to have been expended on the bridal day. A consultation of physicians was called and everything possible done for the sufferer, but to no purpose. On the next Monday evening she breathed her last. The inquiries were finally shrouded, and the funeral, which occurred on Christmas was a tragedy and affair. No money was spared to make the display as every one, as complete as the wedding would have been. But recently had the coroner's inquest been held and a verdict rendered which has created a sensation. The young lady's death was caused by an abortion produced by an old female physician of the immediate neighborhood. The latter name has not been made public, but it is hardly probable that there will be. Letters were received at the post office on the second day after the fatal deed of the fiendishness had mailed at Toronto.

This is the case from as to their witnesses were. There is considerable excitement over the affair here, and the arrangement of the whole community are with the keenest family.

For the Household.

Chicory is said to be one of the most useful things that can be taken into the stomach, causing inflammation and dyspepsia, and several of the Eastern States are taking it less against its being put into coffee.

Rheumatic Cure.—If you want look a medicine at a moment's notice, buy it in a large store or custom pot. When you take one sufficient for breakfast or supper, or in case in another vessel to put out and pour it into the sugar and cream of your coffee. Then when you sit down to breakfast or supper you will always have rare light cakes. Sprinkle you must be kept in the cellar.

Paint Cure.—Put one teaspoonful of sand in a quart can, add five teaspoonfuls of hot water, four of melted butter, and one of molasses; stir well together, and with flour fill eggs save nord. Stir the flour in, and all will look of tolerable thickness. Bake in muffin rings, and you will have cakes that will melt in your mouth, and are good for breakfast or supper.

Cheap Receipt.—Children are sometimes afflicted with earache to an alarming extent, and there is sometimes a difficulty in obtaining an external remedy for the disorder. One who has said experience says that there is a piece of salt pork, commonly called a mess pork, and on this apply a piece of flannel and bind it tightly on the ear. It will give instant relief.

Recipe for Making Soap.—Take seven pounds of clean grease, three pounds of sal soda, three pounds of stone lime, four gallons of soft water. Put the lime in a large kettle, slake it with boiling water, cover it up and let it stand twenty minutes; then add the soda, dissolved in the water, and the grease, which should be warm, but not hot enough to burn the hand. Stir the mixture well, and let it boil half an hour, then turn off the fire and let it stand twenty-four hours. Then dip off the clear soap, leaving the settlings behind. Add a little salt to the soap, and it will be ready for use.

Cement.—Take one part of litharge, two parts of powdered quicklime, and one part of powdered sand. Mix with boiled linseed oil to the consistency of thick paint. Apply with a brush to the surface to be cemented, which must be perfectly dry. Put the pieces together and let them remain undisturbed for a few days. The cement will become as hard as stone, and will resist the action of water

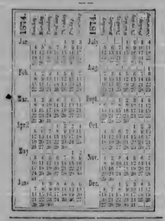
CALENDAR FOR 1874.



LOCAL AND GENERAL.

WE want more WOOD.

THE Chebogan Independent comes to us this week enlarged and change to an eight page sheet.

LIVERPOOL.—Every Township except Norwood has given thirty dayes more for the payment of taxes.

CHICORA can now supply her customers who have been waiting, and all others, with Porter's Golden Medical Discovery.

CHARLEVOIX HOUSE.—Mr. McLeod has the carpenters and masons at work in preparing the Charlevoix House for next season's business.

WE are in receipt of a copy of the Traverse City Almanac, published at the Traverse Bay Eagle office. It is a credit to its publishers.

BUSINESS.—Quarterly Meeting to-morrow. Rev. J. W. Miller will preach at the school house this evening, and to-morrow at 10 a. m. Leave Pearl at 2 p. m.

PARIS STE CROIX.—We call the attention of the French to the fact that he can sell anything in the grocery line as cheap as any other place in town.

HYDRAULIC CASE.—An organization, embracing several of our young people, led by Prof. Page, has been instituted in this village, having for its object the study of ancient and modern history.

VARIETIES.—The Fauteuils is coming and H. W. Sharp has just received a fine lot of rustic and sentimental Valentines to supply his customers. Prices to suit all Females early.

OUR Landlords and others are putting on long fares, for fear Jack Frost will not furnish them any ice this season. There's no knowing, however, what the next six weeks may bring forth.

SURPRISE PARTY.—Dr. Lewis, of this village, gave his numerous friends a party on Wednesday evening last. A social hop at the Lake and an oyster supper at the Doctor's residence constituted the programme. It was a very enjoyable affair.

THERE is talk of a line of steamers to run between Tuscola, on the Little Traverse Bay, and Lake Superior, next season. Petoskey is the present terminus of the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad, and this project is to effect a short route to the mining regions.

SUDDEN DEATH IN BOYNE.—The wife of William Kanagy, Sheriff of Antrim county, died at their place in Boyne, on Tuesday, after a very brief illness, of inflammation of the stomach. The deceased has, until he left with three motherless children, the eldest being only four years of age. Mrs. Kanagy was a most estimable lady, and was beloved by all within the circle of her acquaintance. We learn that Mr. Kanagy has children, and two of his young brothers, are seriously ill with the same disease that terminated Mrs. K's existence.

Obituary.

FERGUSON.—In Norwood, Michigan, on the 22d, Margret Shearer, aged 46.

SHEARER.—In early life converted to God, and became a member of the Wesleyan Methodist Church in Canada, moved to Antrim City, Mich., and joined the M. E. Church in 1865. She came to Norwood in 1868, and has moved among us a pattern of Shining to her Master. To her, religion was the thing of life and power. She tested that power through months of severe suffering, and was exalted to welcome the end as a release from pain and sorrow to a rest of joy and peace.

J. J. McALLISTER.

A SENSATION.—Rev. Geo. Hunt was a Methodist minister of considera'de ability—but more "considerable,"—activity engaged on a circuit near Chatham, Ontario. He had been a married man, but had separated from his wife. He owned a farm near the place above named, and in the course of events, having little home to devote to farming, took one John Robinson into partnership with him, who with his wife and two children, moved to the premises. Before long Elder Hunt became enamored of Mrs. Robinson, as did David of old with the wife of Uriah, drove Robinson from the premises, and stepped into his boots. Thereupon, it seems, Robinson and his wife agreed upon separation, each one taking a child. Hunt continued to reside with the woman for a period of nearly three years when he decided to sell out and remove, which they did, the woman kidnapping the other boy, then in the possession of Robinson. This unexpected step soon awoke the indignation of the injured husband, and he at once placed a detective on the track of the guy Lothario and his mistress, offering a reward of $200 for the recovery of his boy. They were followed through Virginia, Ohio, Iowa, Illinois, thence to Traverse City and north to Pine Lake, where they finally decided to roost. Meantime he had purchased a stock of goods at Traverse City, with which he intended to start a store at Porter's mill. He had left his mistress at the above named place, and was on his return to Traverse City for the goods, when he was met at Torch Lake by Robinson, accompanied by sheriff Morgan. The whole party returned to Porter's mill, where the matter was settled by Hunt paying Robinson $200, and giving a quitclaim deed of the woman. They came to Charlevoix on Friday, and took lodgings at the Robinson City House. Hunt seemed given to recklessness, but still kept up his pious demonstrations, praying and singing in Upper's bar-room with the earnestness of a saint. On Saturday morning last the entire round took their departure in one conveyance. Robinson seemed reluctant to continue in the company of Hunt without protection, for his life having been threatened by that individual, and therefore secured the services of one of our bravest citizens to accompany him as a body-guard. On the way Elder Hunt made the expression that if they could not have the spirit of the Good Lucy must have the spiritual whiskey," and took frequent copious draughts from a long-necked bottle. Each draught would be followed by an earnest exhortation to his fellow-passengers to turn from the ways of sin and serve God. At one time he drew his revolver and attempted to take his own life, but was, unfortunately, prevented. As Robinson, in a written agreement, for the consideration of the sum previously mentioned, bound himself not to prosecute, Hunt will undoubtedly go unpunished.

BIG HOG.—The Grand Rapids Eagle says: The biggest hog on record, so far as we know, was recently disposed of by Lafitte in Porter Village, Scenic County, N. Y. It was drawn by the father of Mr. M. S. Avery, of the firm of Spring & Avery of this city, and when killed and dressed was found to weigh more than 1,200 pounds.

PERFUMERS are being quite extensively circularized in this State praying Congress to pass an act allowing actual settlers to enter as homesteads the Indian lands which were restored to market by an act passed at a former session. These petitions will be sent to Senator Ferry at Detroit. Pine forests constituted the programme. It was a very enjoyable affair.

BURNING CASE.—The Charlevoix Debating Club held their first formal meeting on Monday evening last, and organized by electing Robert Miller President. The debate on the subject, "Resolved, that Congressmen should implicitly obey the will of their constituents," resulted in a victory for the affirmative. The meetings of the Society will be held on Friday evening of each week. The subject for discussion last night was, "Resolved that the use of intoxicating drinks has caused more misery than war."

PATENT SMITH :—

DEAR SIR :—Death and drunkenness are getting to be very common in this region, and many deaths are occurring from the carelessness of people in regard to their bodies. 'John Mowry, of Bear River, died last week. He took a severe cold, which settled on his lungs. He was one of Mr. Porter's members. And another is at the point of death with the same complaint on that side of the Bay. To-day at 2 o'clock Mrs. Sagoma died with the same disease. He only lived five days from the time he took cold. He left a wife and four children. He was the oldest man in this place. Last night there was a fearful yelling and screaming of drunken Indians. One of the drunkards had the lockjaw while he was insensible with whiskey, and would have died if he had not been immediately helped. They possess their whiskey at Bear River.

DR. A. TRASK'S

INFLAMMATORY DISEASES.

Dr. Trask has engaged for twenty years in a course of experiments upon the vegetal properties and powers of vegetables, separate and combined. At the end of seventeen years he succeeded in producing a remedy for the cure of the diseases mentioned in the heads of Medicine

His discovery consists in a combination of the Medicinal Vegetable Extracts with Electricity in Magnetic form to be used as one agent.

Certain, it is, that the remedies do not penetrate the system, when taken internally, as the Ointment does when applied externally to the same or the general diseases of the skin, and even for a full and true description of the

It never fails, when these remedies are used, to remove a wound and healthy action in the part, and restore the circulation of the blood to the part affected, and in a short time the wound will be healed, unless the vital organs are destroyed.

Such is the power of this combination, that it penetrates to every portion of the human system every time and wherever there is a wound, it will diagnose it correctly and administer to the particular and healing principle, bring it open as nature, with natural means.

Numerous instances can be quoted where the wounds for several months by physicians, have been healed in a few days by the use of this Ointment, after the failure of the most skillful physicians.

For inflammatory rheumatism it has no equal, as the relief is instantaneous, and a few applications will effect a permanent cure.

Fifty-thirty-nine cases out of a hundred, even of a very bad kind, will be cured by the use of this Ointment.

For Nervous Diseases it is wonderful.

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

SATURDAY, - - FEB. 7, 1874

☞ Hon. John Bidwell, the temperance lecturer of Michigan and leader of the order of Good Templars in the State, is now lecturing on the subject in England.

☞ Of the 2256, in the Senate, Mr. Parry and Mr. Chandler presented all petitions signed by over 700 citizens of Michigan in favor of female suffrage, which was duly referred.

☞ A New Haven editor spent last Sunday in Danbury and attended church. When the contribution box came around he was in a daze, but on being nudged hastily exclaimed, "I have a pass."

☞ The contract has been awarded Messrs Baxter & Cooper of Lansing for the building of three residences at the Agricultural College at a cost of $10,000. These buildings are to consist of a President's house and houses for two Professors.

☞ W. B. Hurd, of Port Saginaw, recently effected a sale of 24,000,000 feet of logs to Cincinnati parties, at an average price of $12.50 per thousand, for the lumber upon the Cobs. This is said to be the largest sale ever made in the Saginaw Valley.

☞ Helmar Hunt's great picture, "The Shadow of Death," portraying Christ as the carpenter's son, stretching His arms after a day's toil, at sunset, and thereby casting a shadow upon the wall which has the appearance of one crucified, has been purchased by Messrs. Agnew, of London, for the unprecedented price of $52,500, while they hold it at a valuation of $75,000.

☞ The leading journals of the country in all sections are, with but few exceptions, earnest in their opposition to all measures of inflation. The only conspicuous exceptions are the Philadelphia Press, Chicago Inter-Ocean, and Cincinnati Enquirer. All other papers of influence and standing are daily protesting against any deterioration of the currency with common sense arguments whose force Congress certainly ought to recognize.

☞ Senator Chandler has come out fairly and squarely in favor of a return to specie payments and in opposition to the vicious schemes of the inflationists. The Senator has for years wielded great influence in the body of which he is a member, as well as in the affairs of the administration, and we hope his efforts in this direction will continue till the country is saved from the vortex into which a set of ignorant Bunglers would hurl her.

☞ A mortgage of the Cincinnati and Northern Railroad to the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company, in the sum of $12,000,000, was received for record at Bay City. The railroad company named will build a road from Cincinnati to Mackinaw, and have limited bonds to the extent of $25,000 per mile, or $10,000,000 for the entire line. The Trust Company will negotiate the bonds and accept the mortgage named in consideration.

☞ Senator Davis, A. Logan's speech in the Senate, on Monday the 19th inst., upon the financial question is one of the ablest and most exhaustive arguments that have been made upon either side of the question, before which the futile predictions of those members who have been clamoring for a speedy and almost immediate return to specie payment, sink into insignificance. He spoke in favor of the support of the resolution of Senator Perry, favoring a limited inflation of the currency.

☞ The dissolution of Parliament by the British Premier is the most important political announcement that has come to us from Great Britain for many months. It is caused, probably, by the great and increasing obstacles to the success of his policy that Mr. Gladstone has encountered. His pretext to run the risk of going into a minority skirmisher rather than to endeavor to carry on the government with a majority that is often not reliable without effort. Events in England have so long indicated an access of strength in the conservative party, it may be that enough has been gained in this way to give Mr. Disraeli a majority in Parliament, thus Mr. Gladstone is not very strong, and we believe the chances are on the whole, in his favor. The contest will be an exciting one on both parts, no very strong issue of measure, and there are many cross wheels will be brought over with extraordinary vigor.—Ex.

Death of Dr. Livingstone.

A dispatch dated London, January 26, says: Here Hormuz, a Grecian explorer of Africa, in a letter to Prof. Monte of Berlin, dated Zanzibar, says Livingstone died on the 15th of August. This date differs from that of the previous report, but as doubt has been cast as not by any official dispatch received by the government from Zanzibar to-day. This dispatch states substantially that Livingstone died in Ujiji, after crossing the marshes for months with the water above his waist. The sufferings of his whole party were terrible, and ten of them died in consequence. Moneigne of Livingstone's expedition were suffering from fever and cachalma, but would await the arrival of the Doctor's remains and bring them to Ujiji. From the latter place they would be conveyed to Zanzibar where it is expected the royal mourn must burials."

☞ The returns thus far received from the Canadian elections are meager, but all the indications are that the Liberals have won a sweeping victory and will command a decisive majority in the Dominion Parliament. In Essex county, which has usually been Conservative, Mr. McGregor, the Liberal candidate, has been elected by about 600 majority over Mr. O'Connor, the former member. It is probable that the revelations of the recent Dominion Pacific investigation, together with the growth of Liberalism throughout the whole Dominion, have given the Reform party a splendid opportunity to show what they can do in the administration of the Government.

☞ "Alexis in America" would be an entertaining book. The Grand Duke praises the good old hearty at the last with good vigor. He says that the royal played by the New York Bands during his reception there, was not the Russian anthem, as was supposed but the "Dirge of St. Catherine" which is sustained in Russia only at the funerals of the Imperial family. American manners struck him as a little awkward and simple and frank. At Omaha he had the extreme pleasure of meeting the Nebraska Legislature. They all, or nearly all, asked him if it was always cold in Russia, and another congratulated him on his father's success in the war against France!

☞ An inscription of some little moral importance in American, in the coronation of the Colossal Tower. The builders and the desire to record this existence, but the owner at Philadelphia will secure a double purpose. It marks the 100th year of our national existence, as well. The Tower of Babel, built of sun dried brick, was about 100 feet high. The spirit-rotors at Philadelphia will be 1,000 feet high. The contrast will be a fitting type of the advancement of civilization, and the establishment of America, compared with the builders of the tower of Babel. The material of this American tower is wrought iron of American manufacture. The base of the tower is 100 feet in diameter and diminishes to 50 feet at the top. There are a few steps on the inside, and elevators on the outside, to convey parties to the dizzy height. The cost will be about $1,000,000 and the time required for its construction two years.

Law of Newspapers.

We call special attention to the following law relating to newspapers and subscribers:

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered wishing to continue their subscriptions.

2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their periodicals, publishers are continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible until they have settled their bills and order them discontinued.

4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publishers, and the papers are sent to the former direction, they are held responsible.

5. The Courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office or removing and leaving them uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

6. Any person who receives a newspaper and makes use of it, whether he has ordered it or not is held to law to be a subscriber.

7. If subscribers pay in advance, they are bound to give notice to the publishers, at the end of their time, if they do not wish to continue taking it otherwise the publisher considers himself authorized to send the subscribers will be responsible until all expenses are paid and the paper ordered to be sent to the publisher.

The manufacturers of salt in the Saginaw Valley have combined to sell salt at $1.30 per barrel.

Woodhull is lecturing in Wisconsin and she has all to do or it don't get a free ride on nine lines out of ten.

There are said to be 121 live stamps for sale in this State. In Nevada there are but few mills running, and many of them are practically for sale. In California the business is more prosperous, and there are many stamps in use.

Rheumatism.—Among many remarkable cures by Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment, I send you the following, I would say that Deacon Bailey, of this place, received no relief in helping from a severe attack of Rheumatism Rheumatism. With his consent I made a thorough application of the ointment to the diseased parts, rubbing it in with my own hands. I used one bottle. The next morning he was able to come to the breakfast table, and said he felt like a new man—thought a good Providence had sent me there. Within a week he was entirely well and at work on his farm.

Pleasure is Cheap.

Nothing is more. Says a writer in an exchange:

Did you ever study the elements of real pleasure? Do you know how little it takes to make a multitude happy? Such trifles as a penny, a word or a smile do the work. There are two or three boys passing along—give them each a chestnut, and how smiling they look!—they will not be cross for some time. A poor widow lives in the neighborhood, who is the mother of half a dozen children. Send them a half peck of sweet apples, and they will be happy. A child has but his shadow—nothing will so please—and its mother sadly, but true to fact, or make him another, and how quickly will the wonder play over its sober face. A boy loves to whittle as he can do to pleasure and to hurt; send him to a boy who wants to smash a peasant word to him, and he forgets the boy, and smiles away the pain in rounding a stick. Your appetizing little dinner is nice enough and the veal fine enough—indeed a piece of which even "Mr. Vennevelde," and he has appetite, but cannot eat for envy," and he will try to please, and he does it with the hope of his employer and avoids a peasant word to him, and he hurries home with bright eyes and smiles.

Pay for the dinner, and a penny and a familiar face, any friend receiving it thinks you feel happy, and it does, and although the dinner is not eaten, neither the pleasure is cheap. Who will not believe it cheaply?

A Lion Trap.

In Asia Minor, nearly a mile of the soil and property are the depredations of lions. The loss of property to animals of this kind is so great that the government has been driven to a course of proceedings which would seem to be almost barbarous, were it not evidently in their extermination. As at some large season in the year, the lions, in search of food and a breeding-place, come down from the mountains and caves, in numbers, and in such numbers that the government has offered a premium of $5 for each lion killed. The premium is paid on the production of the ears of the animal, which are cut off and preserved for the purpose. The plan adopted to destroy the lions is to dig a pit-fall, and then to cover it with a thin layer of straw, and on this to place a live animal, generally a goat. The lion, in his search for food, falls into the pit, and is then killed by the hunters. The number of lions destroyed in this way is very great.

A Hint Thrown Out.

Mr. Bonner, the editor of the New York Ledger, has a way of his own in dealing with his correspondents. Some of them are very persistent in their requests for autographs, and Mr. Bonner has had his patience sorely tried by them. Recently he received a letter from a young lady, asking for his autograph, and he sent her a letter in reply, which she will not soon forget. It was as follows:

"Dear Miss: Your letter is at hand. I am sorry that I cannot comply with your request. I have a rule never to write my name on anything but a check. Yours truly, ROBERT BONNER."

Recipe for Cooking Dried Green Corn.

Soak a pint of dried corn in a cup of cold water (wash first); add a quart of water; let it stand back on the stove, where it will keep boiling hot, for four hours. Add more water, if needed, during this time. When wanted pour in milk till you have a quart of syrup; salt, pepper, a lump of butter, and thicken with a spoonful of flour. Heat to a low simmer in a brown pot over the corn and stove.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor & Proprietor.

SATURDAY, - - FEB 14 1874

☞ The death of a leading member of the English Branch of the great Jewish banking firm of Rothschild Brothers, Baron de Rothschild of London, is announced.

☞ A competitive examination of applicants for the West Point cadetship from this District is to be held at Big Rapids, Tuesday, March 31, according to Congressman Hall's announcement.

☞ Tweed has engineers his prison matters and is arranged in a cubic sort of brown flannel. He eats his tea, toast and dinner at the warden's table, and his supper is taken to his room the warden's house.

☞ Representative Willard of the Third District, has presented the joint resolution of the Legislature of Michigan, asking Congress for an appropriation for the survey of the Michigan Ship Canal, which was referred to the Committee on Railways and Canals.

☞ The balance already in the State Treasury December 31st was $622,005.29. The receipts for the month ending January 31 were $241,187.77; aggregating the same time, $1,105,918.31. Showing a balance in the treasury of $1,104,695.77.

☞ Oak Lodge of Masons propose to erect a brick building, to be used for Masonic purposes, at Port Austin, same. The structure will be 30x50 feet in size, two stories high and highly ornamented. The work on the first brick is filling in Port Austin and the second in the county

☞ Reports from the recent elections in Canada show that the success of the Government was even more complete than at first reported. It has therefore not to the thirty-eight members elected as supporters of the Ministry; two are Independents; three are members of the Opposition.

☞ Lieutenant General Sheridan informed the House Committee that he considered moral suasion not a success, as attempted in the management of Indian affairs, and that he thought the War Department was far better qualified to deal with rebellious aborigines than the Peace Commissioners are.

☞ Intrigues for the restoration of the Imperial dynasty, in the person of Napoleon IV, with the Empress Eugenie as regent, are rapidly gaining ground in France. The thorough organization of the Bonapartists was exhibited throughout the whole nation at the memorial services recently held on the anniversary of the death of Napoleon III.

☞ An almost superhuman courage is recorded in a civilized being, who acted in the capacity of groom to Mr. F. Corkeby, of Ionia, Michigan. One of the horses of which he had charge having accidentally hurt him, this lout in return from deliberately cut out the animal's tongue close to the roots. The barbarity was discovered by the owner observing that the mutilated animal refused to eat.

☞ Queen Victoria is gradually recovering from the grief of her widowhood She is long time after the death of the prince consort, she could not bear to touch a piano, nor did she even allow one to be opened in her presence. Now she has resumed her old accomplishment, and plays duets with her last remaining daughter, the Princess Beatrice, and Gounod has arranged some of the music of Queen Mary as a duet for the queen and her daughter.

☞ A Chicago dispatch to the New York World states that the controlling interest in the Chicago Inter-Ocean has been purchased by Representative Frank W. Palmer, and that the paper will be changed in form and generally improved. Mr. Palmer represented the Democratic Iowa District in the Forty-first and Forty-second Congresses, but has been for some months connected with the Inter Ocean as editorial in chief and part proprietor.

☞ The Michigan newspaper pin fakers are as much in convention at Lansing as legislators, February 18th, said Society proposes to present the entire postal box and take such action as may seem best calculated to promote the interest of the press. A fair box has been purchased for Congress to enter free of postage on newspaper packages, and on newspapers exchanged which the county where printed, and the pin fakers will probably be brought before the starting.

☞ At a meeting held last week Saturday, March 1, some sixty persons assembled at a hall of business there and proceeded to form a temperance society. The meeting was addressed by Rev. Mr. Hall, of Ionia, and others, and the society was organized with a membership of about sixty persons. The meeting will be held every Saturday evening.

☞ The Chicago Times in the following: "There are 120 women, clean and well which will go to all practically take charge of the post office department of Washington, and they will carry off a total of $ 240,000 hundreds of whom are now. Several grade females as bridge and feeder bridge, how a number of assistants and several bar bridges, about A concise expend in the hands of men exclusively men. I predict the next end will engage of grass and thus increase the capacity to fully a million."

"WHITE'S BOBBY"

The Troubles of a Correspondent's Family—What Zeph. Chandler found in a Harlem Natural Escape of a Peculiar Baby.

Special to Chicago Tribune.

Both on account of returning Congressmen rather a good story has been telegraphed of a new member who arrived with his family, consisting of wife, five children and three. The economical conduct of Congress packed his family to the Riggs House, Seventh street, Washington. How had been out of the city for many months and had not written to his wife since. Arriving at Willard's they paid the landlord, cashed their trunk-bill and ordered rooms, but passage into the luxuries necessary. The landlord was, and four rooms were secured into the upper room, after which excited by the noise and wherever they were opened to find the proprietor of the place of Dickens' whisper on the last child of the When the good lady ordered the rooms and the trunks, and baggage

"Where, Bobby?"

"Why, mamma," said the latter, "I thought you had one."

"No, mamma I saw the three carried under the rooms, baby's clothes, and I thought you had one."

Now Bobby was the latter, and the landlord discovered his error too late. He took it in the back. There was a family that left the country and the state. The house M. C. told to forget every thing that was to put upon himself down the well. He then pulled most of the bell and he landed in the shindog. Last moved down after the sofa and hour child gave, when by the time were in the vehicle after trying to strike the carpenter and consider Mr. Bagley understand the latter end of matters.

Some one suggested the telegraph, and all the police force were advised of this case of Congressional infancy. But the worst part of it was that the county commissioners could not remember the name of the lamb, and the hacks are out remarkable for their ready return of lost parcels.

Fatten Cows.

Will you please answer the following: 1. How long will a cow continue with a good flow of milk if she is kept barren, provided she is well cared for? 2. Is there any disadvantage in allowing a cow to go barren, say six or eight months after she has dropped her last calf? My case is as follows: The cow has been taken to be served three times, although in condition she refused; that was after the calf was about three months old, have not tried her since (the cow is now six months); the cow is young and to me valuable, and I thought of taking her to farrow, but from what I understand from others she will go oily as soon as if she were with calf.

And is that universal: Your cow will not go dry when dried off purposely, except from disease or accident. She will fail, however, give as much milk afterward as during the first summer, but it will be richer milk. Many persons who keep but a single cow for milk, keep their cow farrow purposely; usually getting yearly as many pounds of milk per year, as if suffered to breed. Cows that breed usually should (and do) go dry three months per year, so that although giving more during the months they are not with calf, only three-fourths as long as a farrow cow.

Seasoned Wood Most Profitable.

Recently may be practiced in a thousand ways, and one way is in our fuel. Wood that has been seasoned a few days after cutting and splitting it, and then heated four months or more, is nearly for the family purposes of warming, cooking and washing, almost twice as much as when green. But few farmers realize the value of dry wood, especially during the cold months, and hence but little wood is stored during the summer. He cares to furnish plenty of even wood. If his should be plentiful a part of the woodhouse by field. It will promote kindly feeling in the family—will save much time otherwise lost in finding fire with green wood. Then let us prepare a good supply of dry wood for winter, full six months before wanted for use.—Ohio Country Gentleman.

Planting Early Potatoes.

In planting potatoes for the earliest crops many fail in planting so early that the vitality of the germs are chilled and sometimes killed outright from being chilled after the planting.

To obviate this, the potatoes having been cut into large pieces (none other should be used for the first crop), they should be thoroughly dried, even as that the pieces shall be considerably hollow before planted.

If these pieces are planted on parcels and not covered deep so that they may not be frozen, they may be successfully planted as early in the spring as the soil can be worked.

Arctic Exploration.

Commander Chegn, of the English Royal Navy, who has long connected with three Arctic explorations, offers to lead a fresh voluntary expedition if the Government refuses to send out one of its own vessels. He would take a vessel of 100 tons with a crew of twenty, but would prefer a thousand steamer, of sixty horse-power with a crew of twenty-seven, and provisions for three years, as he proposes to be away that length of time. He hopes to reach the North Pole in his second year, but will remain a year longer to complete surveys, geological and mineralogical explorations, etc. He estimates the cost as £12,000.

The King's Nose.

The late King of Siam was in the habit of attending all the state institutions in an unofficial way and without any warning. One day King John appeared at the telegraph office of a small station, taking the clerk by surprise. The officer had only just time to telegraph to his colleagues at the next station, "The King has just arrived on a visit of inspection," before he was commanded to give all messages that went to his sovereign with regard to the amount of traffic in the place, the number of dispatches received, the number sent, etc. Presently a message came along the wire, which the clerk read as usual, but he was surprised. What are the contents of that dispatch? inquired the King. The official stammered out that the contents were unimportant, but as his royal master insisted on being informed of them, the unhappy clerk was at length compelled to acknowledge that he had telegraphed to his neighbor, "The King has just arrived, and has the nose to be left reserved reflections. "The King pokes his nose into everything."

The Longest Strike On Record.

A Norfolk paper states the death of Samuel Brock, a Yarmouth boatbuilder, the occasion of recalling his extraordinary escape in October, 1825. A vessel was observed at sea about 1 p. m., with a signal flying for a pilot. Brock and eight more boats' crews. Boats, who belonged to Lestock's Company, with some sailing launched the yawl, and steered for the object of their enterprise. About 4 o'clock they came up with the vessel, which proved to be the Spanish brig Progreso de Bilboa. Three of the boatmen went on board, and the remainder of the crew of the yawl were sent away. On their way home a terrific squall from the north-east struck them, and six was capsized. In a few minutes all the crew, with the exception of Brock, were drowned. It was then about 6:30 p. m., and the nearest land was six miles northward—the wreck. Brock's dying statement that the boat took would be setting off shore, making to the southward, so that should he ever reach the shore he would have to swim and float at least fifteen miles. He was at the time standing on the Cross sand ridge, and he thought of the long of St. Nicholas' Gat, nearly opposite his present dwelling, and swam from the land. He had now been two hours in the water. He took a deep sight of a vessel at sea-low. He got within one hundred yards of the vessel, and hailed her; a boat was at once lowered, and at 1-30 a. m., having swam seven hours and a half, he reached the ship, and he was safe on board the brig Hector, of Sunderland, nearly fifteen miles from the spot where he took was capsized.

Mortgage Sale.

MORTGAGE SALE.—Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made and executed on the twenty-ninth day of July, A. D. 1873, by James Siebert, of Peter Rabbit, Vigo County, and State of Indiana, to Michael P. Thompson, of Charlevoix County, and State of Michigan, which mortgage was duly recorded in the Office of Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix, in the State of Michigan, on the twentieth day of August, A. D. 1873, of page 126, and which mortgage was duly assigned by Michael P. Thompson to Jacob Siegfried on the two day of November, A. D. 1873, which assignment of mortgage was duly recorded in the office of Register of Deeds in the County of Charlevoix, in the State of Michigan, on the 10th day of November, A. D. 1873, of page 126, and which mortgage was duly executed by the said James Siebert to the said Michael P. Thompson to secure the payment of the sum of eighty dollars and 00/100 cents, and the interest thereon, as in said mortgage and the notes therein described, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to collect the same, and there is now claimed to be due on said mortgage and notes the sum of eighty dollars and 00/100 cents, and the interest thereon, and the said mortgage was duly assigned by the said Michael P. Thompson to the said Jacob Siegfried, by reason whereof the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to collect the said

WILSON—Two wolves were seen in South Arm one day recently.

MR. LOOP has removed his meat market to a structure adjoining the Charlevoix House.

STRICKMAN is prepared to furnish Sap Pans at prices ranging from $6.50 to $7.50 according to capacity also in stock.

BAIL—Cooper has the invitations ready for a grand Washington's Birthday ball on Monday evening next. Bill, $2.00.

DRIVING CLUB—The weekly drives along the Charlevoix Driving Club continue to be held, and are entertaining and instructive.

PLEASURE BOAT—Nessrs. Dougherty & Carr have just completed a pleasure sloop of 16 feet keel, which is a model of beauty and symmetry. They know how to do it.

THE Board appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury recommends the establishment of life saving stations at Beaver and Manitou Islands and Cheboygan.

THE Lapeer Tribune says:

An Indian supposed to have been buried a hundred years ago was accidentally exhumed on Mr. Sheldon's claim this week.

Was he dead, brother Johnson?

BURGLARS—A German party was locked up at Newaygo on Thursday evening, for the benefit of Rev. Mr. Schofield, the Baptist minister located there. It passes all glory, and the people are glad.

WORK—An Indiana editor mildly remarks: "If you can't bring us wood, remember us in your prayers. It is something to know, as we sit and shiver, that we are not forgotten, if the stove is cold." We echo the sentiments.

BEAVER SOCIETY—In the great variety and the best quality of crackers of any store in town. Also a variety of canned fruit.

BEAR RIVER—Before the opening of navigation, Benjamin Ingalls will have cut about 4,000 cords of wood for shipment. He designs extending his dock 50 feet further into the bay, which will give him 18 feet depth of water.

TORCH LAKE—H. H. Stillman is this winter getting out about 600 or 700 cords of hardwood. They and not over last season about 2,000,000 feet of logs, this going them 3,000,000 for the season of '74.

BEAR KILLED—A party consisting of Terrell Nowland, George Nowland, Benjamin Rice, and one other gentleman, started a large bear near the farm of Mr. Rice, in Marion, Co., Monday last, and after chasing him two days, killed him near James Martin's place, in Eveline.

ARCHIE FALES.—Mr. Nelson informs us that they have their dam across Bayne River about half completed, and have the timber out for a store building, which they will erect in the spring. Hon. Joseph Bowers, one of the proprietors, has returned home to Wisconsin, and in the spring will bring in the machinery for a saw-mill.

HEMLOCK.—Not much of interest has transpired in Charlevoix during the past week in the line of trade or transfer. Money still holds scarce and will undoubtedly remain so till spring opens a definite idea of action in regard to the financial resources. The local market is very well supplied, and taking into consideration the season, is comparatively active.

NEW HOMES.

Openings for Settlers in Charlevoix County.

As the spring approaches, a portion of the surplus and floating population of the more thickly settled portions of the East—as well as others who may desire a change of location,—are beginning to look about them for a desirable section in which to establish new and permanent homes. Many localities present inducements, but no section of country between the two oceans presents more substantial attractions than the region adjacent to the Inland Seas, and especially that portion between the two months, known as Charlevoix county. Here now all the land a person realize, or even imagine, that a large tract of unsettled land, richer by far than any they have seen or dreamed of, lies in the northern portion of Michigan, covered with a forest of hardwood timber, which only awaits the thrifty axe of an energetic tiller of the soil to make the "waving wilderness bloom like the rose." We predict that this section of country is destined to become one of the greatest on the American Continent; it cannot be otherwise. The mildness of the climate is proven by the fact that at no time, this winter in any portion of this county, has the thermometer marked more than 5° below zero, and in the village of Charlevoix 2° below zero has been the coldest. In bold contrast, we publish the fact that in almost the same degree of latitude in Wisconsin and New York, it has ranged from 35 to 52° below zero. We have a soil which compares favorably with that of any portion of the Northwest, and what makes it far better for the settler is the fact of our having such noble bodies of timber, and superior facilities for its manufacture. Point out to me a region that twenty years ago boasted only of the natural blessings of which ours are such a counterpart, and we will show you a country of great wealth and a people of great prosperity. Therefore it needs no more nor prophet to foretell the future of the Twin Lake region. Even Lake Michigan entered the century in obscurity, and now presents to the world the wonder of the age. Charlevoix, situated at the foot of these inland lakes, and directly on the line of the great marine thoroughfare, our harbor is soon now accessible to the smaller class of craft, and is destined to be one of the greatest on the Great Lakes. We have thousands of acres here to be improved. In Township 34 North, of Range 5 West, and in Township 32 North, of Range 4 west, can be found plenty of desirable vacant land. What better can be desired? Where can yet be found in Township 32, of Range 5 and 6 west. As description often come, vacancies may be found you never dare this. We have a supremely beautiful location here for a large town, and thrifty tradesmen as well as enterprising capitalists will find here compensation for their labor and investments. And for a word to those who anticipate a visit or removal to this region. Four seasons of the Western Transportation Company's sloop here regularly during the season of navigation. These steamers ply between Buffalo and Chicago, and touch both ways at Milwaukee and Detroit. This affords the cheapest mode of travel. Those wishing to come by rail can, after April 15, take the G. R. & I Railroad, to Bayne Pier, in this county, six miles east of the head of Traverse Lake. Come on, friends all! We have room for every one of you!

AT COST—Carpenter & See are selling furs, scarfs, underclothing and mittens at cost! This is a rare chance; take advantage of it.

POISON STORY.—It has been definitely ascertained that the so-called "silver drip" system was what caused the death of the late Mrs. Wm. Kinney, of Banks. A tin dish containing some of the settlings was so badly corroded as to prove beyond a doubt that it was a rank poison.

RUNAWAY.—Ex. Lewis, accompanied by Hon. Joseph Powers, and Wm. Nelson, was driving up the State road, on Tuesday, when, some part of the harness giving way, the horses became frightened and ran, capsizing the cutter, and injuring Mr. Powers quite seriously. He recovered sufficiently, however, to start for his home, at Fort Atkinson, Wis., on Thursday.

THE LITTLE TRAVERSE.—Mr. Blackbird writes us under date of the 14th, as follows: "Since my last letter in regard to the coldness prevailing here, two more deaths have occurred, viz: Louis Abbatt, 56, aged fifty, who was taken sick only the day previous to his death; also one young woman in the town of St. Ignace. The last named makes four deaths that have occurred in this house since the terrible malady came among us. There are three or four new cases since my last letter."

A Royal Shrieking.

Ancient and Honorable has been commanded by the Friday the 23d of January, at 20 o'clock precisely, to wait on her Majesty, at Windsor Castle, Prince Albert, Duke of Edinburgh, Duke of Saxony, etc., second son of her Majesty Queen Victoria, of England, was married to the beautiful Maria Alexandrovna, only daughter of the Emperor and Empress of Russia. The religious services of the high contracting parties and of the relatives were performed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, assisted by the Dean of Windsor and the Chaplain of the Chapel Royal, in the presence of the Queen, the Royal Family, and the Ambassadors and Ministers of Foreign Powers. The religious services of the Greek Church, as must be in accordance with those of the country of husband. The Right Reverend Metropolitan of Moscow and St. Petersburg, and Dean Stanley, of Westminster, officiated, otherwise, there being a mighty two ceremonies combined. The Queen was clad in black silk, and had a most substantial to support her. The marriage ceremony of the Queen's second son was conducted with much splendor and ceremony. It is, indeed, a fact that the Queen's sons, on coming of age, or when they marry, receive a handsome provision, which was made from the Parliament for the purpose. To that end there will have to be added to the Civil List, which, as it is, is the largest of any Royal family in the world. It is understood that the Duke of Edinburgh is a Captain in the Queen's Navy, and has been promoted to the rank of Admiral. He is also an Admiral of the United States Navy, and is the first Prince of the Blood Royal who ever visited this country. He is also a Knight of the Garter, and is the first Prince of the Blood Royal who ever visited this country. The Indian Reservation Lands.

Senator Ferry, of Mich., introduced the following bills in the Senate on the 3rd inst., for the consideration of the Indian reservation lands to market.

A bill to amend the act entitled "An act for the restoration to homestead entry and to market of certain lands in Michigan," approved June tenth, eighteen hundred and seventy-two, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the act approved June tenth, eighteen hundred and seventy-two, entitled "An act for the restoration to market of certain lands in Michigan," be, and hereby is, amended so as to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to cause patents to be issued to three hundred and twenty members of the Ottawa and Chippewa Indians of Michigan, for the selections found to have been made by them, but which were not, prior to the passage of said act, regularly reported and recognized by the Secretary of the Interior and Commissioner of Indian Affairs; and the remainder of said lands not disposed of, and not valuable mainly for pine timber, shall be subject to entry under the homestead laws, for one year from the passage of this act; and the lands remaining thereafter undisposed of shall be restored to market.

Sec. 2. That all Indians who have settled upon and made improvements on section ten, in township forty-seven north, of range two east, and section four, in township forty-seven north, of range three west, Michigan, shall be permitted to enter not exceeding eighty acres each, at the minimum price of land, upon making proof of such settlement and improvement before the register of the land office at Marquette, Michigan; and when said entries shall have been completed in accordance herewith, the remaining lands embraced within the limits of said sections shall be restored to market.

Sec. 3. That all actual, permanent, bonafide settlers on any of the lands reserved for Indian purposes under the treaty with the Ottawa and Chippewa Indians of Michigan of July thirty-first, eighteen hundred and fifty-four, shall be entitled to enter not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres of land, either under the homestead law or to pay the minimum price of land, on making proof of his or her settlement and continued residence before the expiration of ninety days from the passage of this act: Provided, That such settlers do not claim any of the lands hereafore patented to Indians or in conflict with the selections found to have been made by Indians referred to in the first section of this act, and shall have settled upon said lands prior to the first day of January, eighteen hundred and seventy-four.

Tweed's Prison Life.

The number of curiosity seekers who have visited the prison on Blackwell's Island to have a look at ex-Boss Tweed has been so great that no one is allowed to visit him except his legal advisers and the members of his own family. Those persons, however, who come to the prison to visit friends who are in the hospital, sometimes see Tweed as he passes to and fro in the performance of his duties as assistant orderly of the hospital. These duties are not particularly arduous, as there is seldom a large number of prisoners on the sick list, but they are sometimes disagreeable, and the service is as much as could be expected of a man of his age. He is obliged to rise at six o'clock in the morning, and from that time until the morning visit of the surgeon in charge, his time is occupied in cleaning up the hospital, making the beds, washing the patients, (if there are any who are unable to perform their ablutions), and in some cases renewing their bandages and dressing their sores or wounds. The surgeon on his morning rounds writes on a slate the directions to be observed during the day in the case of each patient, and it is part of the assistant orderly's duty to see that these are promptly and faithfully obeyed. After the visit of the surgeon there is little for him to do, and he spends most of his leisure time in reading books, of which he has a large number in his cell and in the hospital. His health has improved rapidly since he has been employed in the hospital, and the removal of his beard and mustache has rather improved his personal appearance, as it makes him look much younger than when he wore those iron-gray appendages. —New York Graphic.

The Roman authorities are taking a new departure in many ways since the King of Italy took possession, and one of their decisions relates to the future care of the relics of the past. A committee of municipal councillors lately applied for permission to have a more systematical course in the Coliseum. Just were informed that no ancient monument was henceforward to be used for any speculation or public amusements. The clearing out of the arena has begun with the removal of the inumerable seats of the circus in the center and the chapels of the Via Crucis that have existed since their erection by Pope Benedict XIV., in 1741. The pulpit from which the Princes can fraters have held forth every Friday during the last hundred years and more has been laid low, and the earth has been removed in parts down to the original level of the amphitheater. The other interior alterations are said to correspond exactly with those of the arena at Capua, and to resemble the sumptuous arrangements of most modern theatres. The results of the excavations, which antiquarians have vainly plead'd for since early in the present century, are expected to be extremely interesting.

SATURDAY, - - MARCH 7, 1874.

☞ The three lumber fishermen who were silent on the ice to Saginaw Bay have nearly all reached shore. H. J. Smith and John Powers were drowned.

☞ The trial of the Tichborne claimant on charges of perjury, which has lasted 180 days, resulted on the 28th in his conviction on all the charges and he was sentenced to fourteen years penal servitude. The jury was only absent time out. There is great excitement over the verdict.

☞ Victoria Woodhull was announced to lecture in Chicago last Saturday and Sunday evenings, but was unable to secure any place in which to speak. The managers of the hall engaged for her can collect the engagement as soon as he is discharged for which fee it was rented.

☞ The shocks experienced and felt in England as to the reliability of the news of fir. Livingstone's death seem to have given way to the sad conviction of its truth. Sir Bartle Frere, who was among the doubters, has announced that he has come to the conclusion that the Doctor is dead. the Queen, at Mr. Gladstone's recommendation, has bestowed a pension of $1,000 a year upon his children, and news comes from Aden that his body was expected to arrive at Zanzibar on the 20th of this month.

☞ Monday's dispatches announced unofficial advices to the effect that Sir Garnet Wolseley had concluded a treaty of peace with the Ashantees, but dispatches of Wednesday give a different look to Ashantee war matters, stating that a great battle had been fought, in which the loss of the British force reached 200, in addition to the loss of many of their native allies. The army of Sir Garnet was then in a very critical position, he being pretty well surrounded and his reinforcements seme fifteen miles off. The loss of the English is reported about reached 150.

☞ The soil of Rome is rich in the treasures of art. A short time ago the turning upside down of the Via Quattro Fontane brought forth a new statue. While the men were at work they discovered just under a paving stone a pedestal, to which further investigation showed that a pair of feet were attached. One of the city governors was sent for in hot haste, and in a short time an old Roman thumb, who had stood on the head for a few hundred years, was raised from its comfortable position. The statue was perfect, and will very likely do duty at the Pincio.

☞ Explosions of kerosene lamps are frequently resolved in the attempt to extinguish them by blowing down the chimney. This is a very dangerous practice, and should always be avoided. The desired result will be accomplished much more certainly and safely by giving a sharp and rather prolonged puff exactly at right angles to the top of the chimney (that is, blow across the top of the chimney). The draft thus created draws the flame away from the wick, when the carbonic acid immediately below the dispelling flame also extinguishes the red-hot charred end of the wick.

☞ That there is just now under an evil star. "It has been told us" says Willen Spirit, "on Sheriff's sale, horses, cows, and dragoons." The firm, and even his newspaper, the Cosmopolitan, edited by Charles Snow, did not escape the creditors' ax. Rice had a beautiful residence in the centre of Girard, in front of which is a pretty square containing a handsome monument to the soldiers of the township who fell in the rebellion. It is of white marble and cost $14,000, was wholly born by Col. Rice. The grounds about the place were extensive, with rare plants and shrubs, while the house contained many interesting and valuable works of art. His failure will be a great misfortune to the village.

☞ The great attraction of the receptions given by Mrs. General Sherman at Washington is "the Generals." There is no other such theological as other such man. He is no grim hero, marvelous and sedate, but one of the "boys," who not only loves to jest with the girls, but enjoys it he can get any one to set down at a piano and play a rant, in his glory. To see him listening, swinging opposite ladies, tearing down the middle and up the outside, you would never recognize the leader of that host which went marching through Georgia conquering and to conquer. He has his own ideas, too, of men and things and his dog not hesitate about expressing them.

ON THE ICE.

Three Hundred Men Afloat in Saginaw Bay.

Bay City, February 23.—Intelligence reached here this noon that at nine o'clock this morning a large cake of ice, several miles in extent, broke off from the shore of Saginaw Bay at a point east of the light house, at the mouth of the river, and extending down the east shore. Upon this floating field of ice were out less than 300 fishermen and several teams and sleighs. The men are all well supplied with shanties, feed and provisions. When last seen they had drifted several miles northeast, and a strong southwest wind shifting to westward was driving the ice toward the east shore of the bay. A later report from Sebewaing, this evening says fifty men have made a landing there. Other reports from other points say that about 200 men have escaped. Two men, named H. J. Smith and John Bouvier, of Bangor, are known to have been drowned. The ice is solid and ranges from twelve to twenty inches in thickness, and will not be easily broken up.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

Bay City, February 24—the ice which drifted away yesterday morning separated into several sections and drifted in different directions. That which bore the greater number swung to the east shore, and sat on it, estimated at 200 escaped. About five this afternoon Arthur Secretan arrived from the scene and gave particulars of the disaster. He was on what may be termed the middle field, which drifted inshore before it struck the main ice some distance from the east shore. Discovering this Secretan and a party of seven started for terra firma. They unhitched the horse, and compelled him to jump from one cake to another, thus maintaining the weight after them. By traveling five or six miles their hazardous journey was completed, and they reached shore at four o'clock. It was supposed the party had perished. As far as is known now, all the men on the ice were off safely. But a report from the east shore of the bay late this afternoon says a few were still left on the ice, which is both broken up between them and the shore. It is useless to attempt their rescue. The two men, Smith and Bouvier, reported drowned yesterday, are safe. It was supposed at one time that they and many others were drowned, but, so far as known, all, with the exception of those on the west shore, have escaped safely.

The Condition of the Ice in the Lakes.

Detroit Tribune 24th ult.

Marquette Mich., February 23.—The ice on the harbor here was at White Fish Point as sound from fourteen to twenty-four inches. There is very little outside, but by the past week it has been making more. The prospects for an opening of navigation are very favorable, as we have had clear weather extended all winter.

Saginaw, Mich., Mich., February 23.—The ice in the river here is still sound to the bay, being about 20 inches thick. For the last week it has been clear and freezing hard, but soft settles expect an early opening of navigation. It is expected that the ice in the inland sea will be all out in the course of three weeks, after which the bottom has to be cleaned and the dam taken out, which will take some time, depending greatly upon the weather. The work is being pushed ahead as much as possible.

Dunkirk, N. Y., February 28.—The average thickness of the ice in the straits is not from ten to fourteen inches. The prospects are that the straits will be open by early the work of navigation will probably close the straits of ice.

Racine Cor., February 28.—Ice only one mile from shore. It gradually thawing all under the strong influence of the sun. It is kept up, however, on shore by a mild south wind. Ice is now six inches thick. Navigation must open early.

Ashtabula, February 28.—The ice one mile and a-half to seven inches thick and solid. Further out than that the ice is very thin. The weather is quite warm through the day, and the prospects of early navigation are quite favorable.

Ait Sable, February 23.—But very little ice in the lake and that near the shore. The prospects are good for an early opening of navigation.

Ay Haven, Bay.—The ice on Green Bay is everywhere reported as the lightest known for many years. It will not average a thickness of three to eighteen inches, and all indications point to an early break up and a resumption of navigation.

PERSONAL.—It has been some time since we have made any particular mention of this very important enterprise. It is still conducted in the most satisfactory manner, making over twenty tons daily of the best quality of ice cut from the company fast quite gratified with its operation. They have lately been shipping quite a quantity out by rail, and Traverse City, to meet the orders of special customers. As soon as navigation opens in the spring they will make shipments of all they may have on hand, and this improving appearance of the ice-trade gives assurance that a ready market will be found.—Ea Rapids Pro gress.

Steamboat Enterprise.

A plan has lately been consummated which is to constitute another important agency in the rapid development of Charlevoix and its sister villages. Messrs. A. Fox, of Charlevoix, H. O Rose, of Petoskey, Capt. A Hodge and Thomas Daley, of Detroit, have jointly purchased the well-known propeller A. C. Van Raalte, and will, upon the opening of navigation, put her upon the route between Traverse City and Mackinac. She will make the round trip every two days, stopping at all intermediate points both ways, including Charlevoix and Petoskey City. She will be commanded by Capt. Alvin Hodge, a better man than whom never stood on a pilot house. From a personal acquaintance with him, we can assure the people of Grand Traverse that he is a complete gentleman, and will be eminently popular. Capt. Hodge will be remembered as the Master of the fine propeller Champion, a real consecutive seasons, and later of the large iron propeller Iowa which is noted for having taken the largest cargo of grain that ever left Chicago. He is a careful and competent man. Thomas Daley, Esq., is to be the Engineer, and he is one who have need no to the assist and knows qualifications of Capt Hodge apply to the case exactly. Mr Daley has been the engineer of the propeller Idaho for the past six seasons. The Van Raalte, our readers will remember, was on Grand Traverse Bay during the season of 1871, under the command of Capt. Hodge. She is a steamer of 176 tons measurement, is staunch, seaworthy and fast, with most power then is usually put in boats of her size. She has been refitted and improved, making better than ever before. This enterprise, our readers will readily see, will be an immediate benefit to the entire country, giving us the rapid and easy communication with the railroad and the Bay villages.

Post Office Hints.—In writing your letters, never buy any stamps. Have your letter to the postmaster and tell him to put a stamp on it. If you are out of change tell him you will hand it to him the next time you are in. It will be necessary, however, to do so, as three cents are nothing. When you have the your letter, say "be sure and have it go." If you don't it won't go. Always remember to call the postmaster and hand your letters to him and not put them into the letter box.

Traverse Bay Items.—Our correspondent at Torch Lake reported the 27th inst.:—"The wood business has closed up in this vicinity, and everything is dull.

—We learn that Mr. Wm. Henry will leave his shingle mill near this place in operation as soon as spring opens.

—The bush-foundry at this place known as the Eastport Exchange, has changed hands, and Mr. Daniel Blakely is the purchaser. Price paid, $2,000. The house is to undergo quite extensive repairs.

—There is considerable sickness in this region just now.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

PURELY D. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unprecedented success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier, and a life giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable healing qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease that is to be. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to direction, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkable for their great prevalence and fatality on the Gulf coast during the months of August, September, and October, and other subtropical regions, in their first stage, a purgative, exciting a powerful action of the liver, and in some cases an emetic is essentially necessary. There is no exception to this universal rule. First, the Liver, Walker's Vinegar Bitters should be administered freely. Thousands can testify to the perfect safety of this remedy. Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offspring of Dyspepsia. One bottle will be given in such cases, and a trial will convince the most incredulous of its merits.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, and all of these kindred complaints, Walker's Vinegar Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Deposits of Uric Acid, or Lithic Acid Concretions in the blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons employed in Type Foundries, Mineral Mines, Paint Shops, Potteries, Stone Cutters, Gold-beaters, and those who work in Metals, Dyers, Painters, Gilders, Lead Miners, and Millers, will be protected from all disease by taking a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS as a preventive.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worm, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most skeptical of their curative effects.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuge, no anthelmintic will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Tonic, Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

POETRY.

ANTHONY & CLEOPATRA.

"Clear-shining Egypt, farewell!
Time-honored, queen fit for gods!
And for thee, Thou false charmer,
Gather on the crowning Curse!
Let Rome suffer it, groan, and sail!
Earth thy curse and bow thee low!
Lifeless to thy great lover salute
Thou, and from above, meet him!"

Thus he received and veteran legions
From their regular high-up quarters,
And my present and present Zephyr
Bears dark Actium's fatal utterance.
Though no gathering grandeur round me
Promises the last encouragement,
I am present here to-day
In the great Tremont hall!

Let me Cæsar's name pronounce
Mark the title that I bear
Then in Romans were not noted him,
Let us see that stand the test.
But, why I hesitate my tongue,
Seemed tying from always true—
Why you thank some of cause,
Surely, those a noble cause.

Should the time-honored faith
Ever sunder my cause in honor,
Whereupon noble sources flowing,
Weeps with it her widowed honors,
Let me, then, my dying utterance
Utter, forgive, forgive me!
Though I am a citizen formerly free,
Yet the "master" the throne of kings.

A fellow-countryman of my own,
Of the same temperament as my own,
I feel I can speak to you as to myself.
Give to the Emperor that which is the Emperor's,
Let his favor the favor retain,
I can not be the favor retain,
Though I am a citizen formerly free,
Yet the "master" the throne of kings.

A fellow-countryman of my own,
Of the same temperament as my own,
I feel I can speak to you as to myself.
Give to the Emperor that which is the Emperor's,
Let his favor the favor retain,
I can not be the favor retain,
Though I am a citizen formerly free,

SELECTED.

THE SCHOOLMASTER OF RUSSIAN BAR.

"When is he expected?"

They said he was coming in tonight's stage.

"He taught in Tenace, didn't he?"

"Yes, I reckon he was in the department."

The doctor's wife was an authority on all matters in Russian Bar, and on this last occasion, the coming of a schoolmaster, she fairly enlightened her neighbor, Alex Hunt, a young widow, whose sister Lucy had just died a few months ago. There was not much to complain about in that quiet village. The arrival and departure of the stage brought the post office about three times a week, and it a stranger was noticed always were immediately dropped to the hotel to learn his name and business, and the probable length of his stay. But how Russian Bar was to take a new schoolmaster, and the folks wondered much if he would have any trouble with Sam Seymour, the bete noir of the village. He generally spelt what had knocked down and pummeled the last preceptor who undertook to teach him address and figures.

The Trustees were powerless in these matters, and elected first of a schoolmaster was not able to "get away" with the boys in a square, standing fight, he might as well leave Russian Bar.

On the very evening of his expected arrival, Seymour and Walker, the leading spirits of the mischievous band, met in a pool from where both were trying to coax a few speckled trout for supper.

"Have you heard what the new chap is like, Sam?" said the, as he lounged a struggling worm on his hook.

"No; have you?"

"Painter told John, the barkeeper, that he was very young."

"And small?"

"Yes."

"Seems he won't stay long in town, then."

The warmest sun and driest is silence for for some time and then the produced a bunch of cigarettes and passed them to his friend. At last, finding that the fish would not bite, they shouldered their poles and started up to the village. As they came in sight of the schoolmaster's rooster, which had strayed too far from the protecting village.

Philip Houghton was a schoolmaster from necessity, not taste. He was a man who have been educated as gentlemen in the sense of the word, that is, without the acquaintance with any special property that might be turned to any particular account in the struggle for bread, he found himself adrift in California, with nothing to fall back on. Seeing an advertisement in a city paper for a competent teacher to take charge of the school at Russian Bar, he answered it and was accepted at a venture. Putting his few necessaries together—a pair of old boots and a set of well-worn kid gloves for Houghton was an accomplished boxer and fencer—he bought a ticket for Russian Bar.

He found the stage-driver a communicative, pleasant fellow, who, at his request, described the characteristics of his future home. Indeed his descriptions of the place of boys whom Houghton was to take charge of was not very encouraging.

"You'll find them a hard lot," said he, "and they're all on the muscle too."

"What is about the weight of my oldest?" asked Houghton, good-humouredly.

"You see, if I have to exercise something more than moral suasion, I want to get posted on the physique of my one."

"Well, Sam Seymour is about the strongest."

"And what is about the size of the remotest line in fact, Houghton stopped down and, lifting him as if he had been a child, fairly flung him outside the door. Seymour, confused and amazed, staggered down to the brook to wash his face and reflect on the wonderful force of true sight arm. And Houghton, turning to the school without a word of comment on the scene, commenced the recitation. Walker was mute. Seymour's face had appalled him, and, in fact the entire mutinous spirit of the scholars of Russian Bar was in a fair way of being totally subdued.

When the Trustees heard of the affair they unanimously commended the schoolmaster's pluck.

"I tell you what, boys," said Perkins to a crowd who were earnestly engaged in a game of old sledge in his bar-room, "that Houghton knows a thing or two about managing boys. He'll lick 'em off, or my name's not Perkins."

Houghton was hospitably treated by the folks at Russian Bar. They felt like to be a man of refinement, but brought down in the world, but showing no affectative superiority in his intercourse with them. The doctor's wife pronounced him to be the best New Yorker she had ever met, and the gossips informed that Mrs. Hunt, the widow, was eating her cap for him. Seymour and Walker were the best and most industrious pupils the young gentleman had ever had, and were always carrying him on his fishing excursions. In fact they all agreed in declaring that the educational department in the village was a thriving success.

Gypsy Lane, the daughter of a leading man in Russian Bar, and made wealthy by a gas mill, which all day long groaned and screamed some alstones down the river, did not express her opinion as to Houghton's merits, but in the summer evenings when the schoolmaster, out of hand, wandered along the stream and threw his line across the millrace, Gypsy was seldom far away. Jane, a bluff, hearty old fellow, frequently asked Houghton to spend the evening with him, and told his adventures in early California to a patient listener, while Gypsy dutifully mended her father's socks on the verandah.

Miss Lane, when Gypsy was but a baby, was laid to rest in Lone Mountain, long before Lane ever thought of settling at Russian Bar.

One pleasant evening in June Gypsy Lane, twirling her straw hat, thoughtfully poised her way across the bridge that lay in a few low between her house and the mill. The stream was a winding one, and as she placed her foot on the first stepping stone she saw straw hats on the grass which she knew well.

"How is Miss Lane this evening?" said Houghton, lazily, from beneath a Manzanita bush, where he had been enjoying a book and a pipe.

"Well, thank you. How is Mr. Houghton?" replied the girl, shyly.

"Warm, but not uncomfortable. Are you going to the mill?"

"Yes, I have a letter that just came for father."

"May I accompany you?"

"Certainly, if you choose."

Houghton put on his hat and followed Gypsy across the bridge.

"I had a letter from New York a few days ago," said he after they and left the first bend of the river behind.

"A pleasant one?"

"Well, although in some sense it brought good news, still I can hardly call it a pleasant letter."

They walked on and Gypsy swung her hat pensively, longing, with a woman's curiosity, to hear more about the New Yorker.

"I am going to leave Russian Bar," said Houghton, abruptly.

"Indeed, how soon?"

"I don't know yet; possibly within a week."

The hat was swayed from side to side with increased energy.

"So you are much, Miss Lane?" "this with an earnest look at the hazel eyes that were kept steadily down on the brown, as if grass beneath their feet.

"Yes, of course we shall all be very sorry to lose you," returned Gypsy, evasively.

"If I come back in a few months with something for my future wife, shall I see the ring on her finger?" whispered Houghton, capturing the little hand that held the hat, and slipping a pearl ring on the delicate finger.

Gypsy's cheek reddened, but her eyes turned for a moment on the schoolmaster's earnest face, and in the next her soft cheek was resting on his shoulder.

Russian Bar to a man, turned out to wish Philip Houghton God-speed on the morning he took his place by the driver who one year before had set him down at Perkins' Hotel. They knew he was on his way to New York and that he had been left some money, and the gossips more than suspected that there was something between Gypsy Lane and their favorite. At all events, her eyes were red for a week after his departure.

Winter had come and the river was swollen and rapid, and many a lofty tree from the pine forest had found its way to the beaches of Russian Bar. One delicious morning, crisp and cool, after a night's rain, the stage passed by the large white cot, and, splashed with mud, halted before Perkins' Hotel. It had been at night on the way, for the roads were very heavy.

The worthy proprietor of that excellent house was in the act of tossing his first cocktail, when a hearty hand was laid on his shoulder, and Philip Houghton shouted:

"Perkins, old boy, how are you?"

The landlord returned the shake hands, dived behind the bar and a second cocktail stirred in a moment. "And now," said he, "I thought you knew it."

"Oh, I expect we'll get along well enough together," said Houghton, "and I suppose this is the first glimpse of Russian Bar," he added, as a turn in the road brought them in view of that picturesque village.

The stage bowled along the smooth road and past the great white cot under whose friendly branches the teamsters were accustomed to feed their mouldiness half.

"I'll set you down at the hotel," said the driver.

Houghton confessed to himself that the prospect before him was anything but inspiriting. The latter took a good look at the schoolmaster as he went by. When they were seated, Houghton stood at his desk and held a heavy ruler on the blocks which were before him.

"Now, boys," he said, "I hope we shall get along pleasantly together. You treat me fairly and you shall have no reason to complain. I promise you. Silence and obedience are what I require, and a strict attention to the matter of your instruction."

Until on a portion of the grammar to prepare for recreation, he walked quietly up and down the room, occasionally standing at the windows. He appeared to have no eyes but on the boys. Suddenly the click of a watch was heard, followed by a general titter.

Houghton turned quickly from the window, and saw the watch from a cigar sticking from where Seymour sat.

"What's your name, boy?" he asked, in a stern tone.

"My name is Seymour," replied the gentleman, insolently.

"Are you smoking?"

"I guess so."

"Leave the room!"

"I guess not."

There was a dead silence in the schoolroom now, and Houghton felt that the hour of trial had come.

"Seymour!" he said again, very quietly.

"What!"

"Come here"

Seymour, putting his hands in his pockets, sauntered from his desk, stood within a yard of the schoolmaster, and looked sneeringly into his face.

"Leave the room," said Houghton again, in a low voice.

"No."

The little arm straightened like a flash of lightning, and the rebel measured his length on the floor, while the blood gushed from his nostrils in a moment he sprang to his feet and rushed furiously at the schoolmaster, but went down again like a reed before that well-aimed blow. The second time he fell, Houghton stooped down and, lifting him as if he had been a child, fairly flung him outside the door. Seymour, confused and amazed, staggered down to the brook to wash his face and reflect on the wonderful force of true sight arm. And Houghton, turning to the school without a word of comment on the scene, commenced the recitation. Walker was mute. as he pleased. D. E. schoolmaster, "When and the scholars please."

Six weeks afterward the old mill was being with evergreen wreaths, and a grand festival was held at Hunter Bar. Gypsy Lane was a lovely bride, and when Houghton took charge of the mill and invested all his New York money in the village, and was admitted to partner in the concern —everything seemed to take a fresh start. Strength of his warrant and man devoted friend was Sam Seymour, once the terror of Perkins' Hotel schoolmasters, and now the holder of that important position.—San Francisco Morning Call.

Shocking Scene on a Scaffold.

A Williamsport (Pa.) letter to the New York Herald gives the horrible details of the execution of Nelson B. Wade for the murder of out John and Isabella McBride in June last.

The murderer delivered the following speech after he had ascended the scaffold: "Gentlemen, I am guilty of the murder of Isabella and John McBride. It has been told you how I committed the deed. The Commonwealth did not seem satisfied; there were witnesses who swore they saw me at the stables. It was false. I slept on my hands my last night, and I hope God will forgive them for swearing falsely. I hope the day of resurrection is at hand, for I feel in my heart that I am going in a place which lawyers and politicians cannot deprive me of." He then spoke of the glorious flag of the Union and of the enthusiasm he felt that member gold nor silver could keep it. "Gentlemen," he said, "I stand on the death trap, and I ask of you again to forbear for the Union." Then continuing: "May God bless you all; forgive the sheriff and all others. Remember that Jesus died for us all. You younger I would have to be carried to the platform, but I committed the deed and I know I must answer for it. Remember that Gethsemane his breakfast and eat this world suddenly. Do be prepared." After speaking he took a chair, crossed his legs, and seemed quite unconcerned. For twenty minutes Wade listened to that rambling sermon, and then he was asked if he had anything more to say. He replied: "I have nothing to say, only I hope God will forgive them for swearing falsely." The sheriff then asked the prisoner if he had any request to make

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

SATURDAY, - - MARCH 21, 1874.

☞ The lovely divorced wife of Senator Sumner has settled with the Supreme Court for leave to marry again.

☞ The Bankrupt of thirteen died at Union Pier. Loss $40,000; no insurance. Her ill fitness was a curse.

☞ Senator Chandler has sold the Detroit Free Press for $60, that paper having changed hands within twelve months—business at $180,000.

☞ Russia, Paris and several hundred prominent Frenchmen have already arrived to attend the festivities at Chicksburg on the occasion of the nuptials of the Prince Imperial.

☞ The paper for congressional apportionment is now in the hands of the printers, being printed with vigor, and needs with varying accuracy, but on the whole the Index appears to be steadily gaining ground.

☞ Monroe R. Waite took the oath of office as Chief Justice of the United States on the 4th at Washington, and then proceeded to his seat on the bench, the Associate Justices standing in the mean time.

☞ The public debt statement for March 1 shows a decrease of over two and a half millions of dollars. This is a most gratifying fact, as showing the steady revival of business from the effects of the panic.

☞ Why will one of Charles Sumner from Massachusetts in the U. S. Senate has already been talented. The Legislature of his state were impressed with the essentiality of choosing a man to fill the vacancy and it is a great but good man.

☞ The loss on mill only cost $5,000, this day year. It would be cheaper to insure fourteen hotels for their whole duration than to pursue the present policy. They might be rebuilt with high interest in new years, and thus get rid of the bother and expense.

☞ This week's debate at Lansing seems to have made it certain that the Legislature will not submit to the people any bill, either as part of or as appendage to the revised Constitution, any provision for changing the section of our present organic law relating to the liquor traffic.

☞ An Illinois journal says:—"A daughter of H. W. Porter, residing near Monmouth, while combing her hair, the other day, discovered a rattle snake contentedly coiled up between the sheets immediately after the people of Monmouth thought the corporation law against steam vehicles had been violated."

☞ The House has granted a pension of $240 a month to the widow of General Hanby. Mr. Cobern made an effort to have the pension $100 per month. The House has also voted to the widow of Gen. Meade and the mother of Gen. McPherson a pension of $50 a month each, and increased the pension of the widow of Commodore Elliott from $30 to $50 a month.

☞ The body of Wm. Mitchell, one of the ill-fated crew of the ship Mt. Alabaster in a fishing boat last winter to rescue Anderson and Smith, was found lately near Alabaster, where it was washed ashore. This effectually settles the fate of the crew. If in fact any doubt existed. The body was found by John Keene, divested of all clothing except pants, shirt and socks, and had the appearance of having long time in the water. A clear watch is being kept for the remaining bodies which, it is expected, will be washed ashore.

☞ Thursday is told on a woman who had freely used her tongue to the wounds of others and made confusion in the midst of what she had done. He gave her a ripe thistle top and told her to go out in certain directions and scatter the seed, one by one. Wondering at the penance, she obeyed, and then returned and told her confessor. To her amazement he bade her go back and gather the seeds and when she objected that it would be impossible, he replied that it would be still more difficult to gather up and destroy all evil reports which the foul circulator about others. Any thoughtless, careless child can scatter a handful of the ripe seed before he sees what he is about, but the strongest and wisest and wisest cannot gather them again.

CHARLES SUMNER.

Death of the Great Massachusetts Senator.

Senator Charles Sumner, of Massachusetts died at Washington on the 11th. On the day previous, in the Senate, he had a slight attack, affecting the memory of the head, but when he returned home he appeared much better. Between nine and ten o'clock he was taken as sick as to require the attendance of a physician, and in an hour thereafter he had a second attack of the disease, and in twelve. Several of his eminent personal friends were sent for and accompanied him during the night and assisted with him during the night. At 7:45, p. m. on the 11th, he calmly passed away. Another great and useful man has left this life. Prudent friends and loving wife surrounding dispose his death and close his vitality. His death is produced a national calamity even by those who were his most bitter opponents. At the time of his death Mr. Sumner had served continuously for twenty-three years in the Senate, and was the oldest member of that body.

Since the first of January 1873 five of the Cabinet officers of the State have been appointed or re-elected to the supreme court bench. It is now said that Judge Wilson of the Supreme Court, will soon resign on the same ground.

☞ Senator Perry believes that the opening council discussed by the House and Senate is good policy. Senator Chandler contends the contrary on the ground of the Constitution that the Senate and House should not meet in consultation at the opening of the session. Both sides are supported by very able men. If the Senator did not know that his views would meet with the approval of Mr. Senator Perry however, he would not have the moral courage to express them. Senator Chandler is not the kind of man to be overawed by any one, and he is always ready to be accommodated with an argument and hard cases to contend with. Senator Perry is a man of moderate ability and great legislative success increases.

☞ Early Opening Of Navigation.—Dispatches received in Detroit lately from the upper ports indicate an unusual early opening of navigation. At Marquette and Whitefish Point, the ice was fourteen to twenty-one inches thick in the harbors but very little outside. In St. Marie River the ice is twenty inches thick, but the close of navigation there expects an early breaking up. Work on the Sault Canal is being pushed with all possible energy. It is expected the rock will be out in three weeks, after which the bottom of the canal and the dam taken out. The ice in Mackinaw Straits is fifteen feet for many years, being only ten to fourteen inches. A mass of many weather will probably clear the straights. There is very little ice in Lake Huron, and that quite thin.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad Company has sold during the past year 17,500 acres of land for the sum of $160,504.05. The company has still about 500,000 acres for sale.

☞ Applications for Teachers' Certificates will be received by the undersigned at the office of the school inspector, on the second Friday in January, February and March, from 9 o'clock, a. m. to 4 o'clock, p. m. of each day.

One Day Nearer His Doom.

When a man has been sentenced to be executed, as the time approached drew nigh, many people are often heard to remark, "Well, one day more of peace—time has gone." It does not appear to occur to the careless outside observer that this is in reality the greatest theft of time of any every one thereby robbed of his own; but time is not so absolutely valuable to him, it is a matter apparently to be done with; the condemned man seems to experience much the same feeling, only the day of his doom is known to him, while that of others is enveloped in darkness.

Shoulder-shrugging, too, for how much would the apparent chance be increased, if we knew beforehand just when we should be obliged to pay it. The uncertainty of the whole thing is experienced daily in our own homes, and was not long sounded by the ill-fated Titanic, which left port with 1,000 souls on board, and was never heard of more. Not a single survivor remaining to describe the terrible scene. Death, may, at any moment, be said to look each person in number on the pennies of our own hands.

Reports come that were not printed last fall must be attended to by the first of July, and not before.

☞ When the Prince Imperial was born a large endowment was also established upon the people as a marriage fund for the age of eighteen. Two millions of his career he mentions Monday, and several millions of dollars are now due and payable.

☞ It is now said that the Fogerstrom Transports his Company propose to try to raise the Swedish the coming season. The Holland lying sunk in about 125 feet of water. It was supposed at the time it went down that it broke, which, it was would indicate that it cannot be very valuable.

☞ Consumption is generally fatal; but not, it embraces in its circle in its operation. The Rev. Philo Judson died of the palsy at Hartford last week, aged ninety. It was cause upon him in 1809. On sum that he graduated from Yale, and even since then he had suffered from a cough and frequent hemorrhages—a period of sixty-five years!

☞ The Temperance Movement has commenced at San Francisco, New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, and is spreading through many parts of the principal cities in the country. It is working all known a Pan, the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. The ladies of San Francisco ask the co-operation of all the ladies on the Pacific coast.

☞ Senator Logan, in his recent speech on the finances, makes a point of attention to the fact that we had more currency during the time when the whole South was shut out from its use than we do now; and yet a less amount must supply the wants of the whole country with 11,000,000 more of the people to be furnished with a circulating medium; also that 4,500,000, formerly slaves, are now free, and must be supplied with a medium of exchange.

☞ The Pope's chief officials and officers are declared to be filled to the brim before with cares to his relief. The Austrian Government is about to assume as attitude of decided hostility toward all violators of its ecclesiastical laws, and this determination is almost equivalent to expelling the nuncio to Germany against the Pope. The Pope's temporal power is almost a thing of the past. Only in France is the right of Papal dictation even passably recognized.

☞ The Legislature seem almost to have got through with its labors on the Constitution. The Commissioners, we apprehend, will hardly know their own offspring when they see it again—precisely what we feared when this Extra Session was called. The House and Senate appear to have agreed to allow the people to vote upon the question of woman suffrage, which we commend; and to have agreed not to allow the people to vote upon the liquor question, which we do not commend. On the 19th the Governor sent in a special Message, recommending legislation upon a number of subjects, mostly of a local nature.

☞ Michigan's Treasury now contains $1,208,834.50, almost one million and a quarter of dollars. Of this amount $332,-252.26 was received in the month of February, and Hon. Victory P. Collier, the State Treasurer, says it is the largest amount ever received in a single month since Michigan was organized as a State. Of the sum now in the Treasury, over $1,-100,000 is on interest in bank, and is drawing four per cent. interest on the daily balances. No one will doubt Michigan's ability to build a State Capitol, or asylums, or to pay its bonded debts from such a showing.

☞ A Mississippi paper needs the services of a new editor. The last one went out with a revolver to uphold an editorial and he returned in a wheelbarrow, with a blanket over him.

☞ A delaying society in Wattsmouland, found it impossible to decide whether an unruly woman with a sweet temper is to be preferred to a ruly woman with a poor temper."

A Proposition for Resumption.

It has already become evident, to the ablest men of opinion and to persons of action in regard to financial questions in Congress, that no can expect during the present session of that body any positive legislation looking toward a return to specie payments; and that all that can be hoped is that the preparations for inflation will be defeated. The currency will not be improved, the full now to be kept from being further debased. Still the discussions or incidents of resumption or of contract, and renewing a favor rather can be given to speculation and suggestions than if there were a possibility of immediate practical action. The New York Times engineers, or rather constructs a plan of gradual resumption, which appears to possess some advantages, among them the very good one of practically ascertaining the paper currency pull that backing is going on experimental or ultimate gold will not hamper its business and also point out that dangerous clause respecting the national banks and the treasury department, in case such return the bank notes and the bonds which secure them, which would be found to be the interests of their owners, into a discharge.

More Bridge.

CHARLEVOIX, March 25.

MR. EDITOR:—

I agree with your correspondent of last week—Mr. Kent—in the discussion on each side of the bridge question. I do not, however see the point he attempts to make that it is a town affair, or private matter to the Townships of Norwood, Marion and Charlevoix. And to briefly my view. I will quote Mr. Kent himself. He holds that the river passing and the bridge is a public highway; just as much so by one way, but at least a County highway. It holds that the improvement of this highway is a proper subject for a county tax upon which more improvement can be made upon early business grasp from the Township of Charlevoix. A levy across Round Arm makes, in his opinion, a proper subject for a county tax, especially if such levy be a piece with the levels of the Township Axle. I differed to the view Mr. Kent assumed the passage of a county tax by the Board of Supervisors to be unconstitutional and void. In designing to pay the cost of which, according to his own statement, the Townships of South Arm will pay $644.82, while the whole of the Township of Charlevoix will pay $1849.81 Now, while the last named Township consented to the $1,000 appropriation I thought it was a very unfair proposition to ask the Township of South Arm to pay nearly three times as much as the Township of Charlevoix. To have the bridge free of toll was a very serious pecuniary disadvantage to the Township of Charlevoix. To have the bridge free of toll was a very serious pecuniary disadvantage to the Township of Charlevoix. Mr. Kent, Brown had on the Township. Mr. Kent pleads his representative capacity and says a large majority of the people approve of the action of the Board on the subject. Mr. Kent is liable to make a very serious pecuniary attempt in passing the expense of taking three pieces of land at extraordinary prices. To market this an unobstructed highway, open to all the world, and free from taxes and all toll-gates only. This they are in a fair way to accomplish provided they are willing to pay a just proportion of the burden. It is not to be presumed they will not justify their action when, in his representative capacity he plays into the hands of the most egregious monopoly this country has ever known. By an unfortunate Act of Congress, passed before Congress' Legislature began to open the eyes of our legislators nearly one-third the land, and to say that in proportion of the standing timber in the county, is owned by a Railroad Company. The land is free for the first time subject to taxation. The opening of the river, including of course, the necessity of bridge the bridge, is in the one direct interest to the Railroad Company that it is to the people, in the one instance in the value of their lands and timber. The Railroad Company pay on the 1/3 in the Board of Supervisors have not refused to be true to the interests of their constituents, but a discharge.

RHEUMATISM NEURALGIA

FACTS SWORN TO

Dr. J. P. Pierce—Dear Sir: Having been afflicted with Rheumatism and Neuralgia for several years, I was induced to try your Vegetable Rheumatic Syrup, which I did, and after using two bottles I found myself entirely cured. I have since recommended it to many of my friends, and they have found relief in its use. I am now using it for Neuralgia, and find it the best medicine I ever used. Yours truly, P. A. OSBOURN, Notary Public, Pekin, Tazewell County, Ill. I, the undersigned, certify that I am acquainted with Dr. P. A. RHEUMATISM NEURALGIA

FACTS SWORN TO

Dr. J. P. Pierce—Dear Sir: Having been afflicted with Rheumatism and Neuralgia for several years, I was induced to try your Vegetable Rheumatic Syrup, which I did, and after using two bottles I found myself entirely cured. I have since recommended it to many of my friends, and they have found relief in its use. I am now using it for Neuralgia, and find it the best medicine I ever used. Yours truly, P. A. OSBOURN, Notary Public, Pekin, Tazewell County, Ill. I, the undersigned, certify that I am acquainted with Dr. P. A. CALENDAR FOR 1874.

Local News.

☞ Water still lingers in the lap of spring.

☞ A new paper has been started at Kalkaska, called the Kalkaskain.

☞ It is the general opinion that the crop of peaches next season will be unusually large.

☞ Registration.—On Saturday next the Board of Registration will hold forth at the Town Treasurer's office—Upstairs' store.

☞ Over.—We are in receipt of a communication on the harbor question which we are compelled to lay over until next week.

☞ Resignes.—Rev. Mr. Cole will preach at the school house in this village to-morrow morning, and Rev. Mr. Wood to the evening.

☞ To everybody.—In renewing your own or sending the subscription of your neighbor.—Always never objected.

☞ Book.—H. O. Rose & Co., of Petoskey, have their dock connected with the shore, have commenced putting on the stringers. The outer Crib stands in 18 feet of water.

☞ Real Estate Agency.—H. O. Rose and H. M. Burbeck, late of Northport, have started a Real Estate Agency at Petoskey City. Their advertisement will appear next week.

☞ Van Church Retired.—The Baptist Society at the head of Sixth Arm have commenced the erection of a church building on the farm of J. W. Hawks. It to be built of hewn logs, and 20x26 in size.

☞ Mr. James Wadsworth, of Central Lake, has been appointed Commissioner of the Western Division of the Torch Lake Road, in place of John R. Gray, deceased, and has received his commission.

☞ Personal Calamity Destroyed.—A person on who has just returned from Traverse City gives us the startling information that the Grand Traverse College, located at Hannah, was entirely destroyed by fire on Wednesday morning.

☞ Just Right.—The Herald does not a thing in speaking of a certain "Doctor" who is circulating about Traverse City, as a resident of Charlevoix. We know who the editor means, and in justice to our own practitioners would state that neither of them are meant.

☞ Another Thief.—Godwin, the whiskey-selling editor of the Manistee Standard, recently published an article in his paper as original, which he purloined from the columns of the SENTINEL. If the thieving skunk repeats the act, Northern Michigan will be heard from.

☞ Insanity.—Wm. M. and John G. Miller, sons of Hugh Miller, Esq., of the Township, have, during the winter, cut 200 cords of propeller wood, 80 cords of block wood, chopped down the timber on two acres of land, and assisted in hauling 100 cords of the propeller wood to Fox' wood yard. Where is there another couple in the county who can make a similar showing?

The Bridge Question Again.

In the light and fullness of our amazement, we know not whether Mr. Kent, in his communication of last week, reflects a disposition to be unfair, or expresses his ideas with a degree of sincerity which comes from—we will not say ignorance, but misapprehension—of the true bearing of the case. When he says the recent action of the Board on the bridge question was in accordance with the sentiment of a majority of the lake people, we are inclined to reprobate the misfortune and use the discarded word in its broadest sense. Mr. Kent will not deny that an understanding existed among the members of the Board that if a moderate appropriation was made in aid of the upper river improvement, county assistance would be resolved in the construction of a bridge. Mr. Kent himself led the movement, which was successful so far as the upper river was concerned. Mr. Kent's conduct since shows how well he has kept the other part of the compact. His statement that Norwood and Marion are the Townships that are mostly interested in the matter, shows plainly that he regards the bridge only as a portion of the highway for the use of teams and pedestrians. This argument—if an argument—is so lame as to be senseless. By virtue of a highway existing across the stream, a bridge must also necessarily exist, and must be kept in passable condition by the highway authorities of Charlevoix. But under this bridge passes another highway—a highway over which must pass the products of the lake townships, and to which South Arm furnishes the greater portion. And because Charlevoix cannot legally build a bridge that would obstruct the free passage of these products, Mr. Kent proposes—in a swindish kind of a way, to take advantage of the circumstance, and cash it himself, and of course his constituents from any expense in the matter. It would be vain for us to ask him how the people of his town would prosper without a draw-bridge, for he would only answer, "You must build each an one, and you can't help yourself." This answer, in fact, is the controlling idea in Mr. Kent's mind. He brings up in argument the fact of property accumulation in Charlevoix, and the consequent benefit of taxation. The accumulation of property in Charlevoix is the natural result of capital invested there. Who has received the greater benefit from this investment, the people as a whole, or the capitalist as an individual? Let Mr. Kent converse on the subject with some of the earlier settlers of the county. It is not a sufficient principle that in all cases "the customer pays the merchant's taxes." In Charlevoix county this can only be reversed to time cases out of ten. It is, at best, safe to say that the rule will work both ways. It is a "sufficient principle" that a majority of Mr. Kent's constituents are dependent, more or less, upon the Charlevoix capitalist. We shall not further discuss the subject, but will await the advent of a Board of Supervisors which shall represent the interests of their constituents.

☞ Lancet.—Two Germans named Koeniske, residing in South Arm, stole an axe from the premises of Wm. Miller, in Marion, on Thursday. The property was recovered by search warrant, and just as we go to press Justice Dixon has issued a warrant for their arrest.

☞ Last Ball.—The Charlevoix Dancing Club will give a closing Ball and Oyster Supper on Wednesday evening next. The Committee of Management propose to make it an enjoyable affair, and it is hoped that all the members of the Club, and others, will attend. The Floor Managers will be Messrs. Carr and Aldrich.

☞ Her Name.—The new propeller building at Buffalo for the Union Steamboat Company will be named the Waverly. She is expected to be ready for launching in June. Her dimensions, are as follows: Length of keel, 200 feet; breath of beam, thirty three feet; depth of hold, fourteen feet.

☞ Fast Doctor.—The Herald does not a thing in speaking of a certain "Doctor" who is circulating about Traverse City, as a resident of Charlevoix. We know who the editor means, and in justice to our own practitioners would state that neither of them are meant.

☞ Where Does It Belong.—Of late drunkenness has been on the increase in Charlevoix, and to such an extent as to be not only unpleasant but alarming. On Thursday evening last a most startling and scandalous case came under our notice, at the mere thought of which we shudder. When the poison liquid is dealt out to young men in such quantities as to rob them of their senses and render them useless, it is high time that public opinion should be directed against the evil in an emphatic and effectual manner. We know not at whose door this flagrant sin lies, neither do we care; but the individual or individuals who are guilty should be visited with the most severe penalty that the law will allow. Who is the man?

INFLAMMATORY DISEASES.

Dr. Trask was engaged for twenty years in a course of experimenting, to find some medicine and power of vegetables, separate and combined. At the age of seventy years he succeeded in presenting to the world, as the result of his labors, the most wonderful remedy and curative power, the power of which to some diseases is unequaled in the annals of Medicine.

His discovery consists in a combination of these powerful Vegetable Extracts with Rosemary or Sage, and is in the form of an Ointment.

Certain, it is, that the remarkable and wonderful curative virtues has attended its application in the cure of diseases, stamps it as one of the greatest discovery of the age, and calls for a trial and close investigation of its properties.

It never fails, while there remains sufficient life to restore a natural and healthy action to the respiratory vessels of the body, and counteract the effects of the poison, and in the most confirmed cases it gained over the most malignant forms of disease which cannot be obtained from any other remedy.

Such is the power of this combination, that it penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone and muscle, vein, nerve and ligament, is reached and made susceptible of its purifying and healing influence. Its application is simple, and is as extensive as are its diseases.

Numerous instances are on record where this remedy has restored health to patients so near the grave that the most powerful internal remedies failed to produce any effect. Such has frequently been the case in Inflammation of the Bowels and Piles.

No patient ever used it in vain who followed the Magnetic Ointment case to obtained.

For Inflammatory Rheumatism this Ointment is the most complete remedy ever discovered. For Dipthentis or Putrid Sore Throat it is unrivaled.

In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred it will cure Piles. It is the only known Nervous Headache in thirty minutes.

Affections of the Spine, Rheumatism, Lameness, Ulcerated Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Croup, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Ague in the Face or Bones, Burns, Scald Head, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Inflamed Eyes, Fever Sores, Felons, Boils, Tetter, Chilblains, Frost Bites, to the use of Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestive or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many other lakes, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and drought, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, as they will speedily remove the disordered and vitiated matter with which the bowels are loaded, and by their tonic properties restore the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all the fluids with Vinegar Bitters. No epidemic can prevail where this great purifier and life supporter is used freely.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offspring of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthened recommendation.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, Tumors, Tetter, Erysipelas, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been unequaled by any remedy known to man. Thousands of certificates can be produced among the most respectable citizens of the land, attesting to the above facts.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints, Minerals, Metals, or Poisons, Type-setters, Gold-beaters and Miners, as they advance in life are subject to paralysis of the bowels. To guard against any poisonous effects, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthened recommendation.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many people, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuge, no anthelmintic will free from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores, cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

POETRY.

A LONODY.

A tear! a tear!
A hope! a tear!
Like ripples on the stream,
Like moonlight in a room,
They come—they're gone.

Life is but vapor,
A shadow and a dream;
In fleeting sympathies, in surging sorrows,
In painful wants—in glad fruitions,
In rapid current runs the mortal race,
And such as last are such as flow to-day.

II.

A tear! a tear!
A hope! a tear!
Like ripples on the stream,
Like moonlight in a room,
They come—they're gone.

A bride's a bier!
A pall's a pall!
Thus upon the silver bands
To which the heart is wound come
And fade in dust.
The glad in sorrow,
Triumphant self-assured,
Strangers and acquaintances,
Lovers and friends—we shed tribute
Which will not leave, nor sooner or later,
Nor longer than the fashion of the world.

III.

A tear! a tear!
A hope! a tear!
Like ripples on the stream,
Like moonlight in a room,
They come—they're gone.

Yet, sooner or later, the tear will fall
Which shall have dropped for me!

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

SATURDAY, - - APRIL 4, 1874.

☞ The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad now runs two regular trains each way between Grand Rapids and Petoskey.

☞ The use of tea leaves as a substitute for whiskey (taken cold next morning) is highly recommended as giving vigor to all parts of the system.

☞ Montgomery has the second State in the Union to vote upon woman suffrage. Kansas was the first, and rejected the proposition a few years ago.

☞ A resolution was adopted by the Legislature that twenty thousand copies of the Constitution be published and sold. Michigan monopoly publishing should receive $20.

☞ A cat missed two big dining Communists on Hat-rack, near Greenville, caused the Governor to order the Grand Republic mule to the front. No mercenary was hired, and peace being restored, the troops returned home.

☞ The schooner of the Lumbermen left Adair on the 23d inst, on the very same Manitou for Highland. They are chained in about as old and preserved in salt. The body was duly received at Interlaken.

☞ The steamship Lacunia, from Alexandria for Algiers with 250 pilgrims, returning Cook Moors, recently encountered a big fog on the Mediterranean. One huge wave washed overboard 117 of the pilgrims, and all were drowned.

☞ The Lansing Republican says: A gentleman, Ind. Tuesday, saw an agent of one of the most powerful railway companies in the State distributing free passes to members of the Legislature as a lay distributes programmes at the entrance of a theatre. Double-dealing this, eh?

☞ And now we have got a genuine volcano. A dispatch from Raleigh (N. C.) says that Reid Mountain, in the western part of that State, is in full eruption, preparing for an ramption that shall rival Vesuvius. Numerous shocks have been felt there, and the people living in the vicinity are having many sensations from the eruption.

☞ In the Senate on the 23d, Messrs. Chandler and Ferry presented a concurrent resolution of the Michigan Legislature asking that the postal rate be established as to permit free exchanges between newspapers of the free circulation of newspapers in the county where printed. Referred to the Committee on Postoffices and Postroads, and ordered printed.

☞ The Legislature at its last session passed a law to prevent fires, with ten to one dollars of the State, when the assessors in the great fires and on the Ohio and Detroit rivers. The effect of the law is to make it unlawful to catch salmon in the ocean, the only time when they are fit for human food.

☞ As soon as the Congressional chaplain came into power in the House the members began an almost general cheering of heads, the most of they have evidently got to their side. Recently an Olivet gentleman was present during such a scene for the first time, and exclaimed:

☞ The town of Traverse calls the Grandville Chamber of that city a school-ma'am," and says Chicago is ruled by the wood, small-legended hornet respectively lower in its history." The Journal says the city is ruled by a "low, coarse, brutish rabble." The other papers are equally severe in their condemnation of the "City Fathers." Hurrah for Detroit!

☞ National House of Representatives passed a bill beginning the issue of the $44,000,000 greenback and increasing the volume of legal tender notes to $400,000,000. The act provides that the provisions of the law ceasing prior to the act approved April 12, 1869 entitled "An act to amend an act to provide ways and means to support the government," approved March 3, 1865, be and the same are hereby declared to be in force so as to authorize the issuance of legal tender notes of the United States to the sum $400,000,000 or such portion thereof as shall not be in circulation at the passage of the act, and the limitation of $356,000,000 now fixed by law upon the amount of United States notes now outstanding shall never exceed $400,000,000."

☞ How empathy an editor's great men of the nation and home may disappear! Seward, Chase, Hale, Fessenden and Sumner—all gone dead within a few months. The passing years have likewise taken two pieces of their genius, patriotism and the Greeley in the personal history of the past [illegible] are now ready all in their graves.

☞ The Chicago Post says: "One of the noblest features of Grand Army and Masonic communities of Senator Sumner is his utter lawlessness. Not an attempt was made in death to gratify the passion of his lifetime, and his funeral has escaped all the sad features which have characterized the obsequies of other great men. He died in the midst of his work, and his death was the result of his devotion to the public service. He was buried from his own house, and his funeral was conducted by friends."

The Governor's Prophecy.

The Governor's message to the present session of the Legislature, in which he predicted the passage of a supervisory law, has been the topic of the press of the State for some time past, and as the meeting approaches it is seen and that the prediction will be fulfilled. The Governor is not infallible. The cause of the whole matter is, no less briefly stated, that the people of the State are tired of the present system, which has become the most corrupt which has been experienced in the history of the State. The Governor has only voiced the sentiment of the people, and the Legislature will be compelled by the sudden rise of their constituents to pass the supervisory law, or be overwhelmed at the polls. To a person on the heights of the Republican party, who sees the signs of the times, the action of the Governor is obvious as foresight.

The Governor has received one of the most conservative and profitable farming districts in Michigan. The citizens as a class are honest, and to find legislators in attendance upon the legislature of such men would be unnecessary, much can be promised by the sudden rise of dama- gogues for their purpose—having sprung up in the 1870

ORTHOGRAPHY.—A new book on the art of Writing, Spelling, and Pronouncing English, illustrated by the mouth, tongue, teeth, and throat, and comprehensive, containing nearly all in a short time in proper terms, and the correct pronunciation of the Latin, Greek, Scripture, surnames, &c. The Latin Prayer translated, word by word, from the Latin and translation, word by word, from the Latin and translation, word by word, from the Latin and translation

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

SATURDAY, - - APRIL 11, 1874.

☞ Marshal Serrano now at the head of the French Republic has recently won an important and quite decisive victory over the Carlists.

☞ A million and a half of young white fish have been hatched at Charlotte, by N. W. Clark, which are to be distributed among the inland lakes in the State.

☞ Horace Greeley's estate will prove much more valuable than has been supposed. Instead of being worth but $25,000 as $30,000, as was thought a short time before his death, it probably reaches the value of about $75,000.

☞ At Muskegon sellers gave the proprietors of one of the rooms notice that they would pay for them Ten Days and that if at the expiration of that time we did not, proceedings under the usual law would be commenced. It is very evident who has decided to the pleasure of doing supposition on the 20th day.

☞ The Allegan Journal says: "Every dressing place in Allegan where intoxicating liquor is sold and beverage is sold, and the proprietors agree to keep them shut, the business men have signed a pledge not to pay their bill-bills for the purpose of enhancing rent and the result is that for nine Allegan's free from the curse of whisky.

☞ Among those who took part in the inauguration of Charles Sumner was Dr. Alfred Hitchcock of Pittsfield, Mass. He was deeply interested in the case, and paid marked attention to all the proceedings distributed by the immense crowds present, of which the memorable incident on Monday was not the least remarkable. Dr. Hitchcock was 102 years old, two weeks after the eclipse. The doctor died of copious rheum.

☞ Replying to N. Greeley, of the Metropolitan Police of Detroit, office under instructions of the Commissioners on Wednesday entered a complaint against Wm. H. Burk, proprietor of the Detroit Commercial Advertiser, for keeping and maintaining a lottery. Mr. Burk appeared before Police Court the same day to the allegation, pleaded not guilty, and gave bail in his appearance for examination.

☞ The new postage law brings a considerable revenue from the New York advertising agencies. Geo. P. Rowell & Co's quarterly bills upon anticipation received $450; those of S. M. Pettengil & Co. are above $830, while the agencies of W. J. Carlton, Bates & Lockie, W. W. Sharpe and others were promised, pay from one fourth to one eighth of the above amounts.

☞ The second week of the Senatorial contest in Massachusetts has closed, and the opposing factions of the state legislature seem to be further from agreement than ever. The adherents respectively of Dawes, Hoar, and Carriesstant stubbornly by their candidates; and while there does not seem to be the least possibility that either of these three gentlemen will be elected, there is, thus far, no movement to take a compromise candidate.

☞ The sickening man-of-war in Russia is a different ceremony from that practiced in this country. No bottle of wine is broken against the bows, but a metal plate, engraved with the name of the vessel and of her godfather, with the date and with other particulars, is let into the vertical keel, over this, in the case of an iron vessel, a thoroughfare is screwed down, and nothing more is seen of the engraved tablet till the vessel is broken up.

☞ The Daily Telegraph's Australian correspondent says that Henri Rochefort and his companions escaped from New Caledonia in a small open boat. They had been three days at sea, when they were picked up by a British sailing vessel and brought in an Australian port. Rochefort has telegraphed to Paris for funds. He intends to visit the United States and remain in New York and other American cities before he returns to Europe, where he will probably take up his residence in Brussels.

☞ At Ann Arbor, Adrian, Flint, Jasper, Marshall, Ypsilanti, Lansing, and Homer, the temperance movement grows more and more interesting and exciting, and is the all-absorbing topic. At each place the women's war is in progress, and there are reports that their efforts are crowned with success, that dissent are disposing the pledge in quiet among, and hopeful. Lapeer to stop proceeding. Almost or quite daily meetings are held in each town.

☞ It is said here a Napoleon first and his future Empress at the Elysee the news to Paris. He and escaped from the Duke of La Maddena, when he suddenly came upon a radical, bonding gal, whose up ing to keep her last name, exposing a arm in the conservatory. Her hair had come down during a waltz, and Louis Napoleon, seeing her in this dress, gallantly offered him his arm to "tell her round by the private apartments to fix the dressing rooms. It was Miss Eugenie de Montijo, the future Empress of France and of fashion.

☞ The Legislature succeeded in extending all over the State restraining most of the large cities and towns, the number now on it is a mere of maintaining over the cost of proper and how that the weapon laws established. Hunt unlicensed canned shelves and animal wages spending in time and manner of dissolute orders, a most unsatisfactory and disgraceful one the great employments of good citizens. Alp, and glad we are had the day when the foul state of circumstance is removed.

☞ Frank Mc. Lambert, one of the commissioners of chancery, has been impeached before the first Board of Aldermen and Councilmen, stating the Wm. H. Tweed intended to Broadway round some men to demand guard from a Democratic Island," says Lambert, "I had a meeting of the Board Boss of Democracy, and they were furnished, which is unknown and to which he mentioned his opinion, I went into the room and found Messrs. Tweed, Peter B. Sweeny and H. Tweed's private secretary. Mr. Tweed had a number million fifty feet of lumber, one of the principal extensive property on that any man could have gone out of the State, which was impossible without the possibility of detection as to where he was in the act of the fact or sound keeps for a period of several months the responsibility for this state of affairs rests with Commissioner Stokes."

☞ Rev. Mr. ——, a Catholic priest at Camden, Ohio, has renounced Catholicism and declared his intention of uniting with the Presbyterian Church. — Father —— from Dublin, New York has been appointed to the city to read. "The old man doesn't receive visitors and feel assured a white hair trying to unlock the front door with his pocket-knife any more." — Miss Ada Sweet, the new pension agent at Chicago, took the oath of office a day or two ago, and gave $14,000 bonds. The position is worth $5,000 a year — The Suez Canal continues to bring a good business. During the month of January, 111 vessels passed through, paying tolls to the amount of $938,000 — According to a Brussels paper, the health of the Empress Carlotte, widow of Maximilian, is excellent, but there seems no improvement in her mental condition. She is in constant fear of being poisoned. — The poorest fish in Cole creation is a spider, which, having lain in a box of Insect Powder for four days, was placed in an aquarium, when he swam about as lively as ever.

☞ Sunday Trains.

A fatal Sunday train on Sunday, the 15th inst., destroyed the engine-house of the Paw Paw Railroad Company, and one car in Kalamazoo.

Hadley Ives purchase for a whiskey war.

Mrs. Abner Jobe was burned to death at Hosford last Friday.

Charles Stevenson's dinner near Hubbardston, Ionia county, burned down a few days since. Loss, $1,500; no insurance.

The Ionia Sentinel says that Mr. Warner's monument in Lyons, gave birth to four children in a few days last week.

H. H. Hibbard, of Mendon, Cass county, will not open a museum of curiosities.

At Algiers on the 24th, the residence of Gregory W. Bailey was destroyed by fire with nearly its entire contents. The loss is variously estimated at from $2,500 to $3,000. The insurance on house and furniture is $1,700. The origin of the fire is not known.

The Statesman says Thomas Barr, of Marshall, fell to his feet from the cars the other night to a drunken fit. The place woman weighs nearly 200 lbs. and is a strapping lumber, but was pressed and driven from there with violence. In the struggle, her leg was badly fractured.

Berrien County, during the last few months, has spent $7,353.41 for the support of the poor. This includes only three months for Hoehstone. The average is seventy six dollars per day.

Major Palmer, one of the oldest residents on the Michigan Southern Railway, died at Hobart on Wednesday morning, the 25th, five days' illness, of lung fever, aged seventy-six years.

An immense crowd attended the temperance mass meeting at the Presbyterian Church in Marshall on the night of the 24th. Great enthusiasm was manifested. Committees to canvass the city to procure signatures to the temperance pledge were appointed. Daily mass meetings are to be held.

At St. Joseph the ladies still continue their prayer meetings at the saloons, and several large meetings have been held at the Methodist Church, but as yet the ladies have met with no success among the saloons.

At Grand Haven the temperance excitement is rapidly increasing. Prayer meetings are held daily. Another mass meeting was held the other evening. All the druggists in the city have agreed not to dispense liquor except on physician's prescription. Some caused on physician's prescription. The ladies are circulation the pledge with considerable success.

☞ The Congregational Council which has been holding an inquest upon the disagreeing churches of Brooklyn, especially upon Beecher's church, reached a verdict on Saturday night and adjourned. It is very much like the verdicts generally found in railroad accidents — "nobody to blame."

SELECTED.

A SHOT FOR LIFE.

Where the Kentucky river cuts its way through the mountains, having upon either bank bold, rugged cliffs, that lift their summits five hundred and a thousand feet, as the case may be, above the stream, there lived in early times a settler by the name of Rufus Branson, who with his wife and little child, a charming young girl of some eight or nine years of age, occupied the rude cabin at the base of the precipice a little back from the river.

Although greatly exposed to danger, the Indians at that time being very plentiful throughout the region, he managed to live quietly for several years.

The Indians frequently visited the rude home of the hunter, and, being always welcomed and provided with such food as was in the larder, they maintained a friendly attitude. Especially were they fond of the child, Maggie, and more than one fierce warrior had been sitting on the grass in front of the cabin, listening to the childish prattle of the little one, or else engaged in making her some toy or plaything from willow twigs or pliant bark.

In this manner several years had been passed, and Rufus Branson came to feel as secure as though he were within the walls of a frontier fort. One evening Branson and his wife were seated near the doorway when suddenly a shadow fell across the threshold, and the next moment a tall savage, whose reeling step and bloodshot eyes told him he was intoxicated, appeared, and, staggering to the log steps, threw himself upon them. His first demand was for fire-water, which was, of course, refused, on the ground that there was none in the house. The Indian became cross and ugly, and declared with terrible oaths that if the liquor was not produced he would murder the whole household.

Branson was a brave, determined man, and although he dreaded the necessity, yet he saw he would be compelled to prompt steps to prevent the savage from executing his threat.

Waiting until the warrior had made a demonstration, which he soon did by attempting to draw his tomahawk, Branson sprang at him, knocked him down with his fist, and then quietly disarmed and bound him where he lay. After a few moments of furious raving, he rolled over and fell into a drunken sleep. He did not awaken until the next morning, but before he did so the settler had quietly removed his hands and restored the weapons which he had by the sleeper's side. The savage, on awakening, rose slowly to his feet, left his wrists, as though the thongs had left a tieing there, took up his weapons, and, without speaking a word left and disappeared in the timber near by.

"Pshaw! Don't trouble your head about the drunken brute!" answered the settler lightly; but as he turned away and stepped into the yard he muttered:

"Like it? Well, not much. The fellow must be watched. I was in hopes that he would not remember, but that lump where my fist landed was enough, if nothing else, to recall the circumstances."

The summer passed and they saw their drunken guest no more. He failed to make his appearance. But as the leaves began to fall, the settler one day, while returning from hunting on the hills, and passing through a dense piece of timber not far from the house, caught sight of a figure lurking in the bushes, which quickly disappeared when he advanced to where it was. The figure was that of an Indian warrior, and Branson would have sworn that it was the Indian warrior whom he had knocked down and bound the previous spring. The news was not in any way comforting and hence he did not tell his wife of his discovery.

It would only alarm her, he thought, and without perhaps any good result. He simply told her he had discovered bear tracks near by, and that she and the child must stay within or close to the house during his absence.

Several days afterward Rufus Branson heard his dogs in the timber down by the river and, knowing they never opened without good cause, he caught up his rifle and hastened to where the dogs were barking. They had struck a fresh bear trail, and as he arrived in sight they fairly lifted it, going off in a straight line down the river.

The chase led him several miles, and, when he at last got a shot that finished bruin's career, he found that it was three or four o'clock in the afternoon. Swinging his meat to a sapling, out of reach of cat or wolf, he started for home to get his horse and return and fetch it that very night.

Taking a bear cut, he reached the cabin from the western side where the timber grew heavy up to within a few yards of the building, and consequently he could not see the clearing, or what might be transpiring there, until he had passed through the wood.

Then it was that, when within a short distance of his home, he heard a wild piercing shriek; but he could only guess that something terrible must be taking place beyond the screen of bushes and leaves. Uttering a loud shout that his presence might sooner be known, Branson sprang forward like a wounded buck, a great fear in his heart; for he had only too clearly recognized in that scream the agonized voice of his wife.

It took but a moment for him to clear the intervening timber and undergrowth, and as he dashed out into the clearing, holding his rifle ready for instant use, he comprehended in one swift glance all that had taken place, and what was further to fear.

Near the end of the cabin facing the cliff, of which I have spoken, stood the mother, her face as pallid as death, her arms outstretched, her eyes fixed upon the precipitous height, up which the figure of the Indian was struggling.

"My child! my child!" was all the woman said, and Branson saw that the bundle in the Indian's arms was the form of their only child, Maggie.

Firm of heart, and with nerves as steady as the rocks around, the father for a moment quailed and cowered under what his quick senses told him—the deadly peril of the little one. But he was quick to recover.

The Indian was drawing away; step by step he was increasing the distance, and as he occasionally glanced backward and downward, the parents saw to his hideously painted countenance the full purpose that actuated the abduction.

"God aid me!" Branson muttered, as he raised his rifle, glanced through the sights and touched the trigger.

The Indian started violently at the shot. He was hit, but not badly, and with a yell of devilish triumph he passed upward.

"Too low by a couple of inches," said a low, calm voice at the settler's elbow.

Branson started as though he himself had been shot. Where was this man from? Who was he? Neither had seen him approach. But there was no time for explanations. The stranger, a man rather below than above ordinary height, whose fine, athletic form was fully displayed his closely fitting buckskin garments, stepped quickly forward a few paces, and firmly planted his left foot in advance, threw up an unusually long rifle, as though preparing to fire.

"For God's sake, stranger, be careful of my child!" cried Branson, while the agonized mother uttered an audible prayer.

"It's our only chance. I know that Indian," was the quick reply, and the sharp click! click! of the hammer, as it was drawn back, told that the critical moment had come.

By this time the Indian had nearly reached the summit of the steep. That he was wounded now became evident, as upon a broad edge of rock he paused for a moment. This opportunity was seized by the unknown. Although the savage had taken the precaution to hold the child up in front of him as a shield, covering nearly the whole of his brawny chest, but leaving his head uncovered, the stranger did not hesitate to make the shot.

For one second, as it gained its position, the rifle wavered, and the then instantly became immovable as though held in a vice. With clasped hands and staring eyes the parents watched the statue-like form upon which so much depended.

Suddenly a sharp report rang out; the white smoke drifted away, and as the vision became clearer, they saw the savage loose his hold upon the child, reel wildly an instant and then pitch forward upon the rocks. It may be imagined that the father was not long in reaching the place where his child lay, and in a few moments more the little one was in its mother's arms.

"Tell us who you are, that we may know what name to mingle with our prayers," exclaimed the mother, as the stranger prepared to depart.

"My name is Daniel Boone," he said, and was gone.

"Ticket, sir!" said a conductor of a railway terminus in the city to a gentleman who, having been a season ticket holder for some time, believed his face was so well known that there was no need for him to show his ticket. "My face is my ticket," replied the gentleman, a little annoyed. "Indeed!" said the conductor, rolling back his wristband and displaying a most powerful fist, "well, my orders are to punch all tickets passing onto this platform."

A noted hunter of South Bend fears he has been the victim of a "sell." He has a gun that scatters shot badly, so that it is not of much account. A while ago he saw an advertisement in a city paper, offering to send information whereby such "scattering" of shot could be effectually prevented, on receipt of fifty cents. He sent the money, and in due time was informed that to prevent his gun from "scattering" he should "put in only one shot."

A Hundred Years Ago.

One hundred and ten years ago there was not a single white man in what is now Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, or Illinois. Then, what is now the most flourishing part of the United States, was as little known as the country in the heart of Africa itself. It was not till 1766 that Boone left his home in North Caroina to become the first settler in Kentucky. And the first pioneers of Ohio did not settle till twenty years later still. A hundred years ago Canada belonged to France, and Washington was a modest Virginia Colonel, and the United States the most loyal part of the British empire, and scarcely a speck on the political horizon indicated the struggle that in a score of years was to lay the foundation of the greatest republic in the world.

A hundred years ago there were but four small newspapers in America; steam engines had not been imagined, and locomotives, and steamboats, and railroads, and telegraphs, and postal cards and friction matches, and revolvers, and percussion caps, and breech-loading guns, and stoves and furnaces, and gas for dwellings, and India rubber shoes and Spaulding's glue, and sewing machines, and anthracite coal, and photographs, and chromo paintings, and kerosene oil, and the safety lamp, and the compound blow-pipe, and free schools, and spring mattresses, and wood engraving, and Brussels carpet, and lever watches, and greenbacks, and cotton and woolen factories, in anything like the present meaning of these terms, were utterly unknown.

A hundred years ago the spinning wheel was in almost every family, and clothing was spun and woven and made up in the household, and the printing press was a cumbrous machine worked by hand; and a nail, or a brick, or a knife, or a pair of shears of scissors or a razor, or a woven pair of stockings, or an ax, or hoe, or shovel, or a lock or key, or a plate of glass of any size was not made in what is now the United States. Even in 1790 there were only seventy-five postoffices in the country, and the whole extent of our post routes was less than 1,300 miles. Cheap postage was unheard of, and had any one suggested the transmission of messages with lightning speed he would have been thought utterly insane. The microscope, on one hand, and the telescope on the other, were in their infancy as instruments of science; and geology and chemistry were almost unknown. In a word, it is true that to the century passed have been allotted more improvements, in their bearing on the comfort and happiness of mankind, than to any other which has elapsed since the creation of the world.

With all these wonderful improvements within the century, who would allow such narrow and contracted views as to object to a suitable Centennial celebration of the marvelous progress of the age?—Baltimore American.

Useful Hints for the Home Circle.

To clean a browned porcelain kettle, boil peeled potatoes in it. The porcelain will be rendered nearly as white as when new.

Consumptives, and others in feeble health, we learn have been greatly benefited by drinking half a tumblerful of warm blood twice a day. At the last accounts a dozen persons were daily visiting the slaughter-house near Boston for the purpose stated. One person asserts that he has gained ten pounds in ten weeks. Another, thought to be a confirmed consumptive, says he is now strong enough to "knock down a bullock;" and a lady, suffering from paralysis for six years, is improving beyond her most sanguine hopes.

A hot shovel held over varnished furniture will take out white spots.

Save your suds for garden plants, or for garden yards, when sandy.

If your flat-irons are rough, rub them with fine salt, and it will make them smooth.

Wood ashes and common salt made compact with water, will stop the cracks of a stove, and prevent the smoke from escaping.

A gallon of strong lye put into a barrel of hard water will make it as soft as rain water.

A Senator's Palace.

"Castle Stewart," in the city of Washington, owned and recently occupied by Senator Stewart, of Nevada, is the admiration of all who see the internal arrangements and furnishing, surpassing in magnificent elegance anything else to be seen in that city. The parlor chairs, sofas, etc., are beautifully carved and finished in gilt, while the mirrors, cornices and brackets are made in keeping with the draperies, and curtains in harmony with the rest. The furniture of the sitting-room is of the most luxurious style; with book-cases, cabinets and splendid mirrors. The dining room is finished in black walnut, the chairs are are covered with the finest morocco and ornament with gilt monogram, and everything in the room in perfect keeping. A very noticeable article is the hall mirror; the plate is the largest ever used for such a purpose, 'tis said. The glass measures six feet wide and ten feet high, costing over $1,000. The sleeping rooms are fitted up in various colors of wood, such as Hungarian ash and mahogany, silver, wood and ebony mouldings, maple and blake walnut, with every article conceivable, that could be used, made to correspond. The carpets and frescoing are in perfect harmony with the style of furniture used in the rooms, the whole making a display of elegance rarely excelled in this country.

A Misunderstanding.

A case of misunderstanding occured up in the country last week. Riding up to a hotel in Courtland county, we saw the big, smart landlord, with his boys, smoking short pipes on the balcony, while his wife was sweeping around the chairs.

"Hello! Do you keep this hotel?"

"No, sir, I reckon not; this tavern keeps me."

"I mean are you master here?"

"Waal, sometimes I am (poking at the old lady's broom), but I guess the boys an' I run the stable; take your horse?"

"Got any thing to drink around here?"

"Yes; every thing drinks around here."

"Any ales?"

"Touch of the rheumatiz myself; folks generally healthy, though."

"I mean have you any porter?"

"Yer; John's our porter. Hold his hoss, John."

"I mean any porter to drink."

"Pshaw! stupid! have I got to come down and see myself?"

"You kin come down, Shaw Stupid and see yourself, of you want to; there's a good looking glass in the bar-room."

An Earthquake Proof Hotel.

San Francisco glories in a new hotel which really seems to have some features not often found in that class of buildings. It is four stories high, and contains four hundred suites of rooms, yet is so constructed that the direct rays of the sun fall into every room at some time during the day—provided it isn't cloudy, we suppose. This is mainly effected be means of a large central court. But the peculiarity which especially endears it to the natives is the remarkable fact that it is earthquake proof, and hence may be considered a house of refuge in the midst of a quaking city. It is a compact framework of wood and iron, put together somewhat after the manner of a ship, and this is encased in walls of brick. The theory is, that in case of a very severe shake the brick walls will either have to stand up or fall outward, and so the inmates have only to keep in their rooms for safety. The rent of a suit of rooms, with board, ranges from two hundred and fifty to five hundred dollars a month, which will doubtless come up a trifle during the earthquake season.

An Iowa postmaster recently refused to lick a stamp for a lady, and two hours thereafter got licked himself by the lady's husband.

A discovery of interest to wood-engravers is the fact that plates of polished slate may be used as substitutes for box-wood for engraving.

Here is the opinion of a Detroit Court: —"Law is law," mused his Honor, as he adroitly removed the coat from a mammoth unbaked peanut and dropped the kernel where it would do the most good. "A man may be a murderer, and you may have a thousand witnesses that he is a murderer, but yet you can't convict him of stealing a woodscow because he is a murderer."

Two old ladies traveling on the New York Central railroad, recently, greatly troubled the conductor, the one protesting that she would die if the window were open, and the other protesting against shutting it, when an experienced traveler advised the conductor to settle the matter in this way.—"Open the window and kill one, then close it and kill the other, and we shall have peace."

At a school examination an eloquent clergyman made a brief address to the pupils on the necessity of obeying their teachers and growing up loyal and useful citizens. To emphasize his remarks, he pointed to a large national flag spread on one side of the room and inquired "Boys, what is that flag for?" A little urchin, who understood the condition of the house better than the speaker, promptly answered "to hide the dirt, sir."

The retort of a little boy to an attorney in a justice court not long ago, created some amusement. The lad, being on the stand as a witness, was questioned concerning a certain dime novel alleged to have been stolen. "What was pictured on the cover?" asked the attorney. "Two Indians," was the reply. "What were the Indians doing?" "I didn't ask 'em," answered the boy. The attorney suddenly discovered that he had no further use for the young witness.

Princess Mary, of Cambridge, now the Princess Teck, and cousin to Queen Victoria, is—ungallant as it may seem to say it—extremely fat. A story has just come to light that during her maidenhood negotiations were entered into for an alliance for her with Victor Emmanuel. That potentate visited London, and was introduced to his charmer. Afterwards, when the subject was broached, he electrified the English statesmen with the remark:—"Why, that woman woman would sit on all the seven hills of Rome at once."

A writer in Miss Emily Faithfull's magazine says: "Germany, in spite of its military successes, and the splendor of its triumphs in the realms of science, stands lower in the grade of civilization than any other European power, except Turkey; for in no other country does woman occupy so ignoble and servile a position. In England women are treated with respect. In France and America, so long as they are young and pretty, they are worshipped. In Germany they are simply utilized."

OUR TRIP SOUTHWARD.

Notes by the Wayside--Big Rapids--Hardy Water Works.

On Saturday the 18th, in company with Sheriff Aldrich of this place, we started on a pleasant and unexpensive pony trip to a southerly direction, leaving our course for Traverse City, where, by aid of the telegraph and railroad, we hoped to secure certain articles, the sudden and urgent need of which had compelled us to make that journey. We arrived at Traverse City Sunday evening were hospitably received and entertained by Gentry, the prime of landlords. On Monday morning, with the Sheriff and myself were busy making preparations for a journey by rail, we noticed that we were the object upon which were cast the curious glances of a great number of eyes. We attributed this circumstance to the fact of our naturally as a rule upon meeting, but after reading a local item of Traverse City, in our return, which item was unfavorable, we learned that reason had told some person that Sheriff Aldrich was taking us to Jackson for having illegally seized a horse from its proper owner. The news spread, as we entered the cars, and until the admiring (?) gazers we left as passed under the tunnel from Allen's to New York--"So young and handsome--poor fellow!"--"How long is he out up for?" "Shot before that matrimony" and such like expressions reached our ears of which we gained from Aldrich an explanation but he professed ignorance. But we drop the subject. We will yet be even with Jim Gaston if it takes a lifetime. We were soon transiting along the Traverse City Railroad at the exhilarating speed of eleven miles an hour. We saw very little of note until we reached a picturesque little village, located upon the banks of the lake from which it derives its name. We saw very little of note we should consider the foundation for a large town, and felt inclined to class it among the mushroom villages of the pine regions. But we may yet have occasion to change our mind. We saw brother Frazier, of the News, and our friend Prof. Tapp grappled our hand in an prospect upon the platform. Both were looking well. On through Bear City, of which we saw but little, and we can forget to catch sight of the farming country which surrounds

BIG RAPIDS.

At 12:25 we arrived at this beautiful little city, and having dismissed upon a short station, we pressed our way past the drivers and hoot runners until we found a person who could point out to us a certain private residence where we proposed to "reconnoiter." Big Rapids is the county seat of Mecosta county, is situated on the Muskegon River and the G. R. & I. Railroad, and has direct communication with the shore of Lake Michigan, by way of the Muskegon Railroad. It is under municipal government, and has a population of about 3,000. There are in the immediate vicinity of the city six saw mills, six shingle mills, two tanneries, two foundries, three sash factories, two grist mills, and one furniture manufactory. Everywhere throughout the city we see the results of pioneer energy. They have two weekly papers--both Republican--the Pioneer and Magnet. The former paper was established in 1863 by Charles Gay, while yet Big Rapids was a hamlet of a few houses and by the energy and good management to-day owns a journal which ranks among the first in the State. The Magnet was established in 1870 by Hon. E. O. Rose, who is yet its editor and proprietor. It is a journal of high political standing, and circulates extensively. Our intercourse with the editors of Big Rapids will ever be remembered. Three years ago the city invested $75,000 in the Holly Water Works, and the investment seems to be a good one, and will they may. Besides having proven a profitable investment as a fire preventive, they are the means by which pure cold water is conveyed to every street in the city, and if required, to every house. During our visit, Chief Engineer Fairfield, with professional courtesy, gave us a practical demonstration of the efficiency of the system by causing the hose to be brought out and attached to the hydrant. To our surprise, a stream of water was thrown one hundred feet high, over the mansard roof of the Opera Building. Later in the day in company with the Mayor and several of the leading citizens, we visited the Works. They are contained in a handsome brick structure which also contains the residence of the Engineer, Mr. Geo. W. Bolton. A small pony engine, in constant operation, supplies the city with water for ordinary use, and only in case of fire is the larger engine brought into requisition. The requisite amount of steam, however, is always kept, and a sharp, well-aimed gust of signaling renders it possible to have this large 50 horse power engine in operation within the ten minutes after no steam of it is given. For our lunch Mr. Jewett put the engine in operation, demonstrating the speed with it reached that usually required in case of a conflagration. We left the building with the idea firmly impressed upon our mind that the Holly Water Works are a success. Big Rapids has the essential resources which must build up a city unprecedented in importance. The pine which comes down the Muskegon and its tributaries annually at a low rate, the extensive water power, and the contiguity of vast tracts of rich farming land will render the growth of the city permanent and healthy. In company with our host Dr. Dickson we rode into the country, and have no cause to regret our determination. Suffice it to say, evidences of thrift were shown everywhere of industrious. Neither will we speak of our pleasant interviews with many of the prominent citizens of the city and county. On Wednesday morning we left a most hospitality, cordially receiving a determination to again visit Big Rapids on our journey was void of incidents of note. We passed the crossing to Traverse City at the residence of Hon. H. C. Jones, and the night was very brief indeed. In the morning we got ourself outside the latest repose that ever was tasted, and at noon dined at Elk Rapids. After a refreshing with a meal of our fresh brew caught not that, with a considerable trifle to indulge in as little pecuniarily as possible and at the circumstances. To wind up, we succeeded in having only to the pony and ourself. We reached Torch Lake in the evening bespattered with mud, our good night was nearly worn with walking a few hours and our vocal boards with our continual observation to the lone. At the Palmer house we found a good house of rest, and had the pleasure of meeting brother Parkinson, of the Preserver, and Major Green of this place, who were there as attorneys on opposite sides, in a case being tried before Justice Palmer. They are citizens worthy of each other's mettle. We arrived home at two o'clock the next day with all the symptoms of the cerebro-spinal meningitis, and reported for duty.

☞ The President has vetoed the inflation bill, which will undoubtedly put an end to the scheme.

☞ Gov. Washburne, after a protracted contest has been chosen as the successor of the late Senator Sumner, of Massachusetts.

☞ The State of Michigan is out of debt and no large a surplus in the Treasury that no statutes will be levied this year.

☞ Geo. Vandergool, to sell known as the man charged with the murder of Herbert Field, is now a traveling agent for a boot and shoe firm of Tiffin, O.

☞ The House of Representatives passed by an over whelming majority a bill abolishing the mileage system, and giving to each member of Congress only his actual traveling expenses to and from Washington once each session.

☞ The Chicago Tribune says that first class carpenters in that city, who were employed a year ago at $3 per day, are now glad to get $1.50 per day, and that the decline in the cost of lumber runs through the whole scale of employments.

☞ In 1872 there were 67,104 miles of railroad railway in the United States, the average cost of which is set down at $50,101 per mile. It is estimated that there are now 73,000 miles of completed railway.

☞ The Vessel owners' Association of the Northwest, including men who represent $18,000,000 in marine property, met at Detroit a few days ago, and passed resolutions against bridging the Detroit or St. Clair Rivers, but favoring a tunnel for underfoot use.

☞ One of the State courts of Arkansas having decided that Baxter, who has been acting as Governor of that State for over a year, was not legally elected, that official has been removed, and Brooks, his competitor at the election, has been installed as Governor. Both Brooks and Baxter have appealed to the President for support, but it is believed that he will not interfere, but recognize the one as Governor who will be declared such by the State Supreme Court. This is alike wise and just.

☞ Mr. Elliott, the full-blooded African Congressman from the 1st district with Vice President Wilson, ex-Gov Chollin and other Massachusetts magnates when in Boston last week, in order which Negro can have strawing drank ever since, calling for the enforcement of the Fugitive Slave law, the Missouri Compromise and other excellent enactments in high favor at the Colored.

THE SENTINEL.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR.

SATURDAY, - - MAY 2, 1874.

Volume Sixth.

In this, the initial number of the sixth volume of our paper, we salute our patrons within them with a courtesy of recognition of past favors, and with a consciousness of their representative friendship. During the five years of the SENTINEL'S existence, its career has been chequered by any spot of turpitude or dishonor, either political or social. Its growth is strength and popularity has been all that we could expect, and to day it stands upon a rock, with a promising future because it. We shall still aim to make it a live local paper, and solicit the support of every citizen of the region.

New Hope.—Friendly D. South, of this place has under way at the lumber warehouse, a small schooner of 56 feet keel and 17 feet beam. She is a fairly modelled craft, and will be launched about May 20th.

Mortuary.—Mrs. Carpenter is prepared to do over ladies hats and bonnets, in fashionable styles and at reasonable ratio. Those wishing work of this nature will do well to leave it at once.

An accident occurred to the Iron works at Elk Rapids on the 20th, which compels the furnace to go out of blast for repairs. A portion of the Stack fell in at the top of the furnace shaft for about 18 feet from the top. The blast was kept on till all the iron was rendered, and then the works were stopped. A few days will suffice to put them in position again. At the time of the accident, they were making on an average about thirty tons per day.

To or Not.—We learn that the several parcels of land on the Village, and in South Arm Township, belonging to the Estate of William Lumley, deceased will be sold within a few months at private sale. Bids for any one or more parcels of Land will be received at the Law and Real Estate Office of H. H. Gidley, Charlevoix, Mich. up to and including the first day of July next at one o'clock P. M.—and sale hereby sold to the highest cash bidder.

Newspaper Correspondence.—New wood sawing is now the order of the day.

—The first boat of the season for Bay Port landed at the dock at five o'clock p. m. on the 29th. Capt. Jesse Propeller Toledo, Capt. Peart.

—The new sidewalks are going up in town—the Rapids pattern, and a decided improvement they are.

—The proprietor of Newberry Hotel, Newberry, will take boarders on the evening of the 15th.

—The new Methodist church at Petoskey is ready for business about the 20th of this month.

—Our sucker season a come, the luckiest time of the year; and well they we rejoice, for there's neither pork, beef nor beer.

—Harrison is farming up considerable. It is said that a man in town actually saw a $10 greenback a few days since.

The Tribune says that Johnson, Hinds & Co., of Northport, got cut about 15,000 cords of wood the past winter.

Steps—The village school will commence on Monday next, with Wynn Lottie Ainsworth and Alice Ayers as teachers.

Lost—Geo. W. Estrely & Co., have got out during the winter 1,500,000 feet of logs for the coming season's sawing.

Live—As we go to press the wind is still southerly, and the ice in the bay yet remains firm enough to keep out propellers.

Dance.—Messrs Carpenter & See and W. C. Newman have the pills drawn for stocks on Round Lake, back of their store.

Pension Oce.—The bonus of Jesse Wright, in South Arm, with nearly all its contents was destroyed by fire on the 22d inst.

Wanted.—A girl to do general housework during the summer. For particulars apply at this office, or of H. O. Rose, Petoskey.

The called meeting of the Board of Supervisors will take place on Monday next, in this village. It will be an interesting session.

A Correspondent up north writes us that vessels and propellers are passing through the straits by way of the North Channel.

New Arm.—We call attention to the new advertisements in this issue. They will interest those who desire to buy land, or take homes in music.

Harbor.—A Pier, Fay, has taken the contract of constructing the bridge across Pine River in this village, for the sum of $300. Work is in progress.

The propeller Fountain City came aground of this place Wednesday evening, and made vain endeavors during the night to work her way through the ice to the dock.

Cabinet-Ware.—O. D. Mason of this place has the timber out for a building 32 feet in size, on the south side of Round Lake, which he designs using as a cabinet-shop.

Incorporated.—Orrenfus Doltz was created in Wilson Co. Tuesday, on a charge of maltreating his daughter, 25 years of age. Justice Wing imposed a fine of $10, and in default of payment he was brought to this village and locked up. He will have to be fed by the county 90 days.

Ministerial Association.—The Ministerial Association of the Grand Traverse District M. E. Church, will hold its session at Norwood May 12th and 13th. Thomas for leaving discussion have been announced as follows.

J. W. Miller—Review of "Buckle's Theory of Man."

D. Eagle—Office of Presiding Elder modified.

A. J. Wheeler—Scriptural view of the Resurrection.

M. Bradley—The sacrifices of the Itinerancy.

J. J. McAllister—Elements of power in the Ministry.

N. W. Stowe—Review of Smith's essence and Revelation.

L. Ballard—Range vs. Genesis, 1st, 27th.

D. R. Lothian—How shall we be employed in Heaven.

P. M. Jones—Is the present temperance movement a moral agency?

S. L. Hamilton—Evidences of an increase of moral power by the M. E. Church.

W. Sinclair—How to promote revivals.

G. L. Coles—Is it criminal to fail in the ministry from causes not Providential?

The preachers, traveling or local, to whom license does not issue assigned are requested to prepare essays on themes of their own selection.

Published by order of committee.

From Torch Lake.

Torch Lake, April 24, 1874.

Last evening our usually quiet village was thrown into a tremor of excitement by the appearance of an apparition in human form. Those who know best say it was the return of our own hearty, colonel, light hearted, and happy editor of the Charlevoix Sentinel, and that his present reasonable and fastore condition is accounted for by the fact that the high and lucrative office of Constable was ruthlessly wrested from him at the late election just as that long cherished ambition seemed to be a certainty. How are the mighty fallen! The sporting editor had labored faithfully and well to secure the office. He had certainly shaken by the hand nearly every elector he met for ten days previous to the election. He had plead earnestly and long with fair women and brave men, but all was in vain. Alas for human hopes. The writer can and does sympathize with the political ambition editor, for he knows what it is to have a longing desire to hold a public office. I would seek to console friend Smith, and revive his spirits but think it too late, and fear that he will miss Tobacco the memorial Greeley.

Compliments From Our Neighbors.

Willard A. Smith, Esq., editor of the Charlevoix Sentinel, was in town a day or two this week, and made us a call on Monday. He was the guest of Mr. Phelps, while here.—Big Rapids Magnet.

Our friend Smith, of the Charlevoix Sentinel, has been in town. His paper is steadily increasing its circulation and influence. It already has more subscribers than the Herald had at twice its age.—Grand Traverse Herald.

Willard A. Smith, of the Charlevoix Sentinel, called on us last Tuesday. He is a nephew of Dr. Phelps, of this city. He is now Treasurer of Charlevoix county and Postmaster in the village. Mr. Smith understood our Holly water works and pronounced them a success.—Big Rapids Pioneer.

Personal.—Mr. Smith of the Charlevoix Sentinel passed through town last Sunday on his way to Grand Rapids. We hope Mr. Smith will not always be in so great a hurry when he passes this way, as to prevent his dropping in to see the Elk Rapids brethren.—Progress.

—The new sidewalks are going up in town—the Rapids pattern, and a decided improvement they are.

—The proprietor of Newberry Hotel, Newberry, will take boarders on the evening of the 15th.

—The new Methodist church at Petoskey is ready for business about the 20th of this month.

PROCEEDINGS

Of the Board of Supervisors at a Special Session Held May 4th, 1874.

On the 16th day of April, 1874, the Clerk received a written request to call a special meeting of the Board of Supervisors, signed by Supervisors Samuel M. Secor, H. H. Park and John Ward, to convene on the 4th day of May, 1874, which was accordingly done by mailing a written notice to each member thereof.

On the said 4th day of May the Board, in compliance with notice, met at the office of the County Clerk, and on calling the roll of the several Townships, each Township were found to be duly represented as follows:

Charlevoix—Edward H. Green.
Wayne Valley—Enoch K. Robinson.
Kasagonine—Hugh R. Miller.
Evangeline—Asa Smith.
Marion—John Wood.
Norwood—Orvis D. Wood.
South Arm—James A. Keat.
Hudson—George W. Bailey.

On motion of Mr. Green, James A. Keat was elected Chairman for the ensuing year.

The journal of last meeting (February 20, 1874,) was read, and after some verbal amendments, suggested by Mr. Green, had been made, it was approved.

CLAIMS.

The following claims were presented and allowed:

W. A. Smith, printing,	$12.75
E. H. Green, services in settlement with State,	3.00
E. H. Green, services in case of People vs. Robert Henderson,	5.00
Total,	$20.75

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

E. H. Green, appointed by the Board at the last session to ascertain from the Auditor General, to ascertain what reports, returns, etc., were required from the County Treasurer in order to effect a settlement of accounts between the County and State, reported as follows:

The Auditor General requires:

1st. From Jackson County, the former Co. Treasurer, a return of sales of State Tax Lands in 1867.

2d. Payment of sales money received by said Jackson in 1870, and 1872.

3d. From Willard A. Smith, the present Co. Treasurer, duplicate Certificates of Sale for sales of 1872, and in 1873, as required by Section 30 of the Tax Laws.

4th. From said W. A. Smith the payment of money received by October, 1873.

5th. Replies to letters in regard to errors in Sales Book.

Mr. Green submitted a transcript of the account of the County with the State as it stood March 18, 1874, which transcript shows a balance due the State of $272.52.

The report was accepted and the committee increased by adding thereto Messrs. Wood and Ward, and the committee were instructed to act until a final settlement between the County and State shall be effected.

On motion of Mr. Green the Board went into

for the purpose of agreeing upon a basis of taxation.

After continuing some time in Committee of the Whole, the Committee rose and reported such basis to the Board, which was adopted.

A letter from Carkin & Stickney, dredge contractors, addressed to the Co. Treasurer was read, in relation to the non-payment of a note, signed by said Treasurer, for a balance of $275.51, now over-due, and protested at bank, for services in dredging the upper channel of Pine River.

On motion of Mr. Green, the Board voted to receive said letter to the County Treasurer, and instruct him to reply to the same in his discretion.

A petition extensively signed by citizens of the county, for an appropriation to improve the navigation of Pine River by county tax or loan, was presented by Mr. Green, and, on motion of Mr. Green, was received.

Mr. Ward moved that the Board vote for a tax for the object named by said petition, to be paid on the first day of June, 1876, in the sum of $500, pending which, the Board took a recess until 7 o'clock, p. m.

7 o'clock, p. m.

Roll called; all the members present.

Mr. Ward's motion was withdrawn.

Mr. Green moved to raise $1,000 for the improvement of Pine River, between Lake Michigan and Pine Lake.

After some discussion, Mr. Green withdrew his motion.

Mr. Robinson moved to submit a vote to the people of the county to raise $2,000 for the improvement of Pine River.

Motion withdrawn.

Mr. Green moved to raise $1,500, $900 of which is to be paid on the 1st day of March, 1876, and $600 to be paid March 1st, 1877, for the improvement of Pine River, on condition that a secured contract could be made to secure six feet depth of water for two years.

Motion lost.

Mr. Green moved that the several Township of the county be allowed to vote on the question of raising a township tax for the improvement of Pine River, to the amount of one per centum on the assessed valuation of the several Townships.

Motion withdrawn.

Mr. Robinson moved that a special election be held on the 6th day of June next, to take into consideration the raising of $4,000 for the permanent improvement of the upper channel of Pine River, and to insure the lower channel for two years, by a tax or loan, which motion prevailed by yeas and nays as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Robinson, Green, Miller, Smith, Ward, and Bailey—6.

NAYS—Messrs. Wood and Keat—2.

Mr. Green moved to raise $500 for the improvement of the navigation of Pine River, to be paid March 1st, 1876.

Pending which motion, the Board adjourned until to-morrow morning at eight o'clock.

May 5, 8 a. m.

Board met pursuant to adjournment. Roll called, and every Supervisor elect found to be present.

Journal of yesterday's proceedings read, amended and approved.

The motion of Mr. Green to raise $500, was put, and did not prevail.

On motion of Mr. Bailey, the Board adjourned to the month of Pine River.

On re-assembling, the motion of Mr. Robinson, passed yesterday, was reconsidered. Pending which, Mr. Robinson offered the following resolution as a substitute:

RESOLVED, That a Special Election of the electors of the County of Charlevoix be held on the 6th day of June, 1874, for the purpose of determining the question of raising by a County loan the sum of $4,000, for the purpose of deepening the two channels of Pine River to said county, and securing the same by providing the necessary ways or piles; and that, if voted for by ballots on which are written or printed the words "For the improvement of Pine River," by a greater number of the qualified electors of the county than the number of ballots on which are written or printed the words "Against the improvement of Pine River," shall be recognized by county boards, payable as follows: $1,000 on the 1st day of March, 1877, and $2,000 on the 1st day of March, 1878; and the avails of such bonds shall be channelled under the direction of the Board of Supervisors. And the day for the Township Canvass, the voters' and Special Election shall be the 15th day of June, 1874.

Which resolution was passed by ayes and nays as follows:

AYES—Messrs. Bailey Green, Keat, Miller, Robinson, Smith and Ward—7.

NAYS—Mr. Wood—1.

On motion of Mr. Green, the Board voted to authorize the Register of Deeds to purchase a blank book for recording village plats.

On motion, the Board adjourned till the 15th day of June next.

☞ The new King of the Sandwich Islands belonged to the Hawaii Engine Company, No. 4, for 13 years, and when he went to the throne they came out in torchlight procession in honor of their old comrade. He made them a speech in which he said he should still consider himself an active member of the company, and whenever occasion arises, would deem it his duty to take his place at the brakes and labor to save. This sounds as if there was to be an election shortly in Hawaii and that Mr. Kalakaua intended to place himself in the hands of his friends and run for aldermen.

Cremation Exemplified in Philadelphia—Burning of a Body.

The Philadelphia papers contain an account of a case of cremation which actually occurred in that city. It will no doubt be interesting to many of our readers, as it revives a custom in practice among the ancients long ago:

An actual case of cremation occurred in this city on Friday last. The body of George Oppdyke, son of Dr. Francis Oppdyke, was burned in the cellar of his residence, 1,349 North Fourth street. George died Wednesday morning. Orders were immediately sent to Sharon, Pa., a boiler-maker for a boiler like contrivance, six feet and a half long by two feet six inches in diameter, closed and riveted at both ends, and opening in the middle on a hinge; it was to be made of the best boiler iron, to a bricklayer to construct a furnace in the cellar, closing up with it the large opening beneath the chimney, and making a floor of brick; half way in the furnace and half way in the chimney up the brick floor were erected two little brick towers, some six feet apart, upon which the boiler or coffin, first upon one side, then to rest, for to lends of yellow pine.

The orders were all filled, and the work done by Thursday night, and on Friday morning at six o'clock, the ceremonies commenced. The body, perfectly naked, was placed within the iron coffin, which was riveted and screwed together, put up on the little towers, which rose about a foot above the floor, the fire thrust piece taken from the chimney, wood piled underabout, and all around the iron coffin, and set on fire. The cellar windows were open for better draught. It will, of course, be understood that, to prevent the boiler bursting, holes were placed for the escape of the gases all along the upper sides. It was begun at 8 while last until 4 o'clock p. m., when they ceased firing up. A cord and a half of wood was used.

It was first thought that the coffin could be opened about midnight, but it was afterward determined to allow it to remain as it was until daylight. It was then drawn forth. When opened not a vestige of the body remained—nothing but about a quart of whitish gray ashes. These ashes were collected and are now in an urn on the mantle in the doctor's study. There is not a particle of bone among them, and the doctor declares that when the ancients buried their dead on funeral piles and collected the ashes they took with them many pieces of bone, for, he says, nearly all the old burial urns opened contained small bits of bone.

During the burning, which the doctor himself superintended, and which was attended by several prominent physicians and other gentlemen, there was little if any unpleasant odor in the cellar. It was about 7 a. m. that the ashes were deposited in the urn. When we called upon the doctor he showed us about a teaspoonful of these ashes. They are to the touch much like pulverized sugar, and perfectly odorless. The vase is shaped like a common flower vase, carved and sealed with red sealing wax, and is about eighteen inches high. Inscribed upon it is the date of the birth and death of George Oppdyke.

SIR:—In reply to your advertisement in the Progress of May 1st, I would say: If you pay attention to all the gossip you hear you will shake a little this warm weather as you have to walk considerable. Now, sir, I have said, and say now, that it the duties of Mr. Marshall, of Norwood, had been learned on the ship, near the head of the Fresque, three weeks before it was learned in the abdomen, as at present, that I told you I did not blame you in positively false; I told you I did blame you for not calling counsel when you found that the swelling could not be reduced, and during our conversation you said you did not agree with Dr. Bailey in his diagnosis of the kidneys. Your sculpture man needs some sculpture to save him, for I never made that impression concerning you. Now, I understand that you are representing yourself as having been with me at the time of the operation, and that you continued to treat him afterwards. Why, sir, if you have the assurance, after making this false representation, to claim the credit for his recovery, I believe you would have the cheek to claim a seat in the Kingdom of Heaven without asking our Heavenly Father to forgive you for the great wrong you committed in keeping young Marshall so long on a bed of suffering. I will excuse letter say. If you would submit Gray's Anatomy, and find that the liver does not lie in the hip, so many of your patients would not have the liver complaint according to your diagnosis. Then your little pill would be better for your prognosis.

Yours, Dr. L. HARRIS.

VEGETINE

Purifies the Blood and Restores the Health.

SEVENTY-ONE YEARS of AGE

MR. STEVENS, Mansfield, Aug. 27, 1870.

DEAR SIR:—I am seventy-one years of age; have suffered many years with kidney Complaint, weakness in my back and stomach. I was induced by friends to try your Vegetine, and I think it has done me more good for weakness of the kidneys than all I have ever taken. I have tried many remedies for the complaint, but never found so much relief as from the Vegetine. Send me three bottles more of the wholesale agents. Many of my acquaintances have taken it, and I never knew it to fail to do good for all the complaints for which it is recommended.

Yours, JOSIAH H. STEVENS.

A Source of Great Anxiety.

My daughter has received great benefit from the use of Vegetine. Her declining health was a source of great anxiety to all of her friends. After the failure of the Vegetine restored her health, strength and appetite.

MRS. H. TIBBETS,
Insurance and Real Estate Agent, No. 19 Sears Building, Boston, Mass. June 5, 1872.

Recommend It Heartily.

MR. STEVENS—Dear Sir: I have taken several bottles of Vegetine, and can conscientiously say it is a valuable remedy for Dyspepsia, Kidney Complaints, and general debility of the system. I can heartily recommend it to all suffering from the above complaints.

Yours Respectfully,
Rev. MERRITT TAYLOR, Athens st.

What is Needed.

Boston, Feb. 13, 1871.

MR. H. R. STEVENS—Dear Sir: About one year ago I found myself in a feeble condition from general debility. Vegetine was strongly recommended to me by friends who had been much benefitted by its use. I procured the first bottle, and after using several bottles was restored to health and discontinued its use. I feel quite confident that Vegetine is a good, safe superior to it for those complaints for which it is especially prepared, and would cheerfully recommend it to those who feel that they need something to restore them to perfect health.

Respectfully,
H. L. PETTINGILL,
Firm of S. M. Pettingill & Co., Boston.

Vegetine extends its influence into every part of the human organism, commencing with the incunabula, correcting diseased action and restoring vital power, creating a healthy formation and purification of the blood, driving out diseases, and leaving Nature to perform its glorious task. Vegetine is sold by all druggists.

Farms & Farming Lands

Bought and sold on commission.

We are now preparing an Abstract of Titles of Emmet County. It will be completed in a few weeks, and we can then furnish Abstracts on short notice.

We have some of the most desirable locations of Indian reductions of Farming Lands, which we offer at very low figures.

No. 1. 80 acres. First rate farming land. Situated 21 miles from Little Traverse bay, fairly well timbered—beech and maple; soil, deep, sandy loam; will be sold very cheap. S ½ of sw ¼ of section 30, Town 36 North, of Range 6 west.

No. 2. 156 acres. N ½ of ne ¼ of sw ¼, and fractional east half of section 25. Will be sold in separate descriptions or in a body. Has a large creek running the whole length, with good water powers. Well timbered, and will be sold cheap for cash. This is one of the best chances in the country for a person wishing to engage in the milling business.

We have also a great many descriptions of Farming lands near Petoskey City, which we will sell at reasonable prices. Some of these lands have old Indian improvements, and can easily be made into farms.

Fresh Bear at Newman's.

Four steamers wooded at Norwood on Sunday.

One aged matron residing in this Township has 40 grandchildren.

Cooper is renovating, repairing and replastering the Fountain City House.

The propeller Idaho passed down yesterday, without stopping at this port.

The propeller Fountain City wooded at Norwood on Tuesday on her way down.

The schooner Emma, Capt Way, will next week take a cargo of staves to Beaver Island.

REMEMBER—J. M. Clark, Esq. has commenced the erection of a residence on Antrim st.

WE are informed that Mr. J. H. Silkman is having a boat built to run on Torch lake.

WE call the attention of our readers to the new advertisement of S. C. Fuller, in another column.

WE learn from Traverse City papers that that jaunty craft the Gen Sheridan is again afloat.

Richard Hoffman has retired from the Manistee Times and Alp. M. Smith and Charles A. Glaucner have taken charge.

The propeller Idaho made a vain effort to work her way through the ice to the dock on Monday. She wooded at Norwood.

The schooner St Cloud entered this port on, Friday, her ultimate destination being Petoskey. She has a cargo of flour and whiskey.

THERE are many of our patrons whose term of subscription commence with this and the preceding number. It would assist us greatly if they would renew at once.

THE people of Elk Rapids are engaged in a lively crusade against the liquor traffic at the place, and we learn from the Progress that they are meeting with good success.

Rev. J. W. Miller writes us that the Ministerial Association, appointed to be holden at Norwood on May 12th and 13th, has been postponed until May 19th and 20th.

A construction train attempted to pass over the new division of the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad a few days ago. It went as far north as Macedonia, Antrim county, but could go no further on account of snow yet on the track in places.

PETOSKEY.—From H. O. Rose, who called upon us last evening, we learn that our construction and one passenger train have been at Petoskey during the week. Thirty passengers were left—mostly homestead seekers. The telegraph will be in operation to-day.

A fleet of twenty propellers and over fifty sailing vessels, grain laden, on route from Chicago, passed through the straits on the 1st. Three vessels have on board an aggregate of a million and a half bushels of grain. The low freight rates, however, are having depressing affect upon vessel men.

The Herald says: Supt. Wallen was in town on Tuesday. He informed us that a train would be put on the road to the northern terminus soon as the snow was off sufficiently and a turn table could be put in at Petoskey. The train, as has been before stated, will run up one day and back the next.

THE VAN BUREN.—This steamer left off this place Wednesday noon and after laboring in the ice until Thursday morning, reached the dock. We have previously described the steamer, and it is only necessary to say that she is perfection in outfit and appointment. The familiar countenances of Capt Dedrick and Engineer Daley make it seem that the Iona and Idaho are both in port.

TORCH LAKE.—Last week Thursday we were called upon to take a little trip to this village, to aid Squire A. E. Palmer, and Hon. E. H. Green, of Charlevoix, in arbitrating a little matter which a couple of our Bucks friends were unable to agree upon. To speak plainly, we believe two of us arbitrators were bought up and were unbiased in their opinions, and the Justice Palmer was really the only impartial man in the business. However, we do not find fault, for as friend Green was bought by the opposite side to the one we "shod bean" by, the result was doubtless a just one. While there our hungry brother Smith, of the Sentinel, put in an appearance, being on his way home from Grand Rapids where he had been, ostensibly to get repairs for his printing press; but as he went out in charge of the Sheriff of Charlevoix, we are not prepared to testify that his broken press was the real object. Smith puts on an innocent air, goes back boldly to his former career and creates quite an impression in his favor, and even has the boldness to confess that he escaped from the Sheriff at Big Rapids. He doesn't put it just that way, but casually remarked that he stopped at Big Rapids and the Sheriff "went on." But we presume it's all right, of course, and that friend Smith as successful an escape at all those, or rather that he may never have occasion to escape. Frank Lewis is getting ready for his summer's work and as everything is good ahead—Progress.

☞ Affairs generally at the South, are represented to be in a deplorable condition. There is little on which to base encouraging expectations. Ex-Gov. Orrin of Va., who has just returned from a tour through the Southern States which occupied a month, recently said to a newspaper reporter: "I don't know what can be done for the South. Its life is gone. It seems hopelessly ruined. One sees fifth hat waste in the country, empty habitations and stores in the cities, and hears nothing but the refrain, 'Debts, debts debts.' A nightmare broods over the whole South, and the people cannot shake it off."

THE ISSUE.

Will the People of Charlevoix County Vote Against Their Own Interests?

On the 6th day of June next, will be submitted to the people of this county for adjudication, a question which has occupied their minds since the region has been inhabited by them; a question of vital interest to them, and a question which, perhaps, is the keystone to their destinies. On that day will be submitted to them for decision the question whether the county shall raise by tax the sum of $9,000 for the improvement of Pine River—including both channels—or not. The board of Supervisors, failing to agree on a plan, have referred it to the popular vote. We think as intelligent people will mete the question fairly, and in pronouncing their non-decisories they will not err. The paramount hope of every resident of the Pine Lake region is the ultimate free and unobstructed navigation of Pine Lake. This is but natural, as the ultimate success of every citizen hinges upon this event. During a period of five years giant strides have been taken in this direction, but unpropitious circumstances have caused a certain degree of retrogression. Comparing our situation now with what it was five years ago, who can say that great things have not been accomplished? In the neighborhood of $15,000 has been expended, and it is estimated by competent calculators that the judicious expenditure of $5,000 will, in the contemplated improvement, afford a degree of relief to our people which will more than counterbalance the burden thus imposed. Any arguments introduced to disprove this fact we took upon as false logic, and do not hesitate to pronounce it so. It is not sought to secure a great—and consequent temporary—depth of water, but such depth as can be rendered satisfactorily permanent even if the depth do not exceed eight feet. It is estimated that the amount asked for, if judiciously expended, will make nine feet of water in both channels, pile and plank the banks of the upper channel, and put the necessary cribs on the south side of the mouth of the lower channel. It is folly to expect permanence as the result of such an expenditure, for permanence means duration, hardness. There are no permanent harbors on Lake Michigan, as every year they receive large expenditures. Let not this fallacy lead the people into error at the polls. Neither can it be said that the burden will be great, as the exigency of the case will warrant. The amount can be raised by a tax of a fraction over one per centum on the taxable property of the county. This would not be an excessive tax even if raised in one year. But the plan submitted will only require the inner a tax of about five-eighths per centum for two years. What candid man can doubt the security of such an investment? Even eight feet of water in Pine Lake would, in a few years build up a commerce which would demand from the general government the rapid completion of the harbor. There is no better way of calling the attention of Congress to our wants than by increasing our commerce. Will apathy and stinginess on the part of a people develop their commercial resources? No! Such a popular disposition will dwarf and cripple them, and drive from our borders those who have the strength to assist in bringing about the ultimatum. It is a problem which every person can solve. Without labor and investment there can be no income. It is only a question of whether the people will help themselves, or help rival localities which must profit by their stupor.

☞ MONEY ORDER OFFICE.—The Postmaster General has issued an order that the Charlevoix postoffice as a Money Order office. The postmaster has not been informed of the date on which the money order business is to commence, but it is presumed about July 1st.

EVANGELINE.—A technical error in the ballots cast for E. D. Park for Supervisor in the Township of Evangeline, has been decided by the Attorney General to be fatal. Therefor H. R. Miller, the former Supervisor, who received the greatest number of legal votes, will fill that position for another year.

OCT.—The Herald office has just published about 5,000 copies of a small pamphlet, entitled "A guide to the Trout Regions of Northern Michigan." It will serve well its purpose, and will do much in the way of advertising the region geographically, it is a credit to the office.

EASTPORT.—Our Eastport correspondent, under date of May 5th, writes as follows: "At last the ice is out of our part of the Bay, and the people of this vicinity were roused to a sense of their duty on Sunday, by the familiar whistle of the old Sunbeam—as she is generally dubbed—and a general stampede of parishes individuals ensued. It was refreshing, indeed, after the long, dull winter, to see such manly, energetic movements, on the part of our citizens, to greet the long-expected steamer, and once more we can detect on our neighbors' shoulders traces of saline deposit."

For the week ending Friday noon, May 15th:

Saturday, 9th—Brig Henry Howard, from Chicago, light, for Ida Fall.

Monday, 11—Tug Hattie, from Traverse Bay; Traverse City, up.

Wednesday, 13—Schooner, Mr. Wade and barge, up; Van Hattie, from Pentwater, same day, from Ludington.

Total tonnage, 1,052.

Telegraphic cable across the Straits has been repaired.

We shall publish the new Constitution in supplement form next week.

Thanks are due Rev. Mr. Giddings for a jar of fine maple syrup.

The steamer Oneota is making regular trips up Pine Lake and the Arm.

Clam Lake will soon be in running order as an incorporated village.

Many of that dollar tea, and plenty of fresh groceries of all kinds at Byron Sea's.

Eli Miller, brother of Geo. W. Miller, of this place, has started a drug store at Traverse City.

C. Parkinson has been appointed Postmaster at Elk Rapids in place of H. W. Seacy, resigned.

DENTAL.—Dr. A. L. Curtis, a practical dentist, of Cheboygan, will be in town next week, to do work in his line.

BURNED OUT.—The store and residence of Robert Itoe, on South Fox Island, were entirely destroyed by fire on the 8th.

We call the attention of our readers to the new advertisement of John McNeill, in another column.

The propeller Fountain City made her appearance here on Monday. This steamer is officered the same as last season.

The tug Con. Platt was launched on Monday. She is in prime condition and is officered the same as last season.

MILLINERY.—Mrs. H. L. Miller announces the arrival of a full stock of millinery and fancy goods and all of the latest styles.

How J. S. Dixon has been chosen as a Grand Juror for the May term of the U. S. Court to come off soon at Grand Rapids.

The Cheboygan Independent says there will be about 25,000,000 ft. of logs cut and run for the mills in that place this season.

We learn from Ben. Campbell, who just came over, that 2,000 cords of propeller wood has been got out on Beaver Island during the past winter.

Capt. Conlen, who last year sailed the Mohawk, is this year in command of the Montana. Capt. McFarlan takes his place in the first named boat.

CARPENTER & SOE have received a fine stock of goods of all kinds; new stock of millinery in the same building; a quantity of seed oats also received.

FOSTER'S MILL on Pine Lake, is in operation, and will grind every Wednesday until further notice. The steamer Oneota stops regularly at Porter's dock.

FIRES.—The grain barn of Robert Price of Wilson township, was destroyed by fire on Saturday. B. Baker, of South Arm, had a barn burned about the same time.

A MAN KILLED.—A wheelsman on the propeller Wenona was killed at Cheboygan on Wednesday in a very singular manner. While at his post, a log struck the rudder of the steamer, and one of the handles of the wheel tore out his entrails.

LIFE INSURANCE.—Charles Barker, Resident Agent for Grand Traverse for the Home Life Insurance Co., of New York, is in town, and will remain a few days. Secure the future of your families by insuring your life.

HOUSE FALLS.—The Railroad Company established a side-track and water-tank at Boyne Falls on Tuesday. A telegraph office has also been established there.

ANDREW BERRIAN returned from Chicago on Thursday. He selected an extensive stock of general merchandise, which will arrive Monday. He says they will sell good cheaper than ever this spring.

PERSONAL.—Mrs. Robert Jenkins, of her two sons, have been spending the winter at Oberlin, Ohio, returned home this week. Mr. Jenkins will return home in September.

—Wm. Alexander, of South Arm, who has been suffering during the winter from ill health has gone to Canada for medical treatment.

THE Postoffice Department has changed the ridiculous ruling requiring agricultural to be printed in the office issuing them, so that they may be printed in other offices, ill-designed for genuine improvements to the paper using them, and fateful to the papers without subjecting them to extra postage.

FIRE.—Owing to the extremely dry condition of everything about the village great caution is necessary in setting fire to brush or log piles. It is suggested by some that the people of the village turn out some day or night and burn everything in this line surrounding the village. Let some one move in this matter.

TEMPERANCE.—The spirit of the temperance reform seems to have reached Charlevoix at last. A temperance concert was given at the school house on Wednesday evening, at the close of which the preliminaries for the opening of the crusade here were inaugurated. A meeting will be held on Monday evening to take more active measures. We say God-speed to any movement which will be likely to bring about a reform on this question.

—The people of Elk Rapids have commenced on the rum-sellers in earnest, and but one saloon now remains open.

OUR TOURISTS.—We are pleased to announce that our school authorities have closed negotiations with Hon. Thorpe, of Buffalo, whereby he is to take charge of our school next fall. In order that our readers may the better judge of his capabilities, we will state that he is now Principal of the Buffalo Grammar School, which numbers 1,000 scholars, and twenty teachers.

IRON.—The Iron Company are now contemplating the construction of a new bridge pier to run out to the place for loading vessels. The dockage down to the old one by the bridge was quite expensive, and it will be repaired only for the purpose of driving wagons over, and the new one will be the used for hauling the Iron ore from the vessel to the terrace, and for the hauling the pig iron from the furnace to the dock for shipment.—Elk Rapids Progress.

The Alpena Pioneer has the following joke on Capt. Stickney, a gentleman well known to our people: "Captain Stickney has taken a contract of $150,000 in good wards of dredging at Goderich and will soon take his dredge from this place to put on the job. The Saginawian says, 'If Nat Stickney, who comes the nearest to a living representation of one of those horrid Andersonville prisoner pictures of any man in Saginaw Valley, don't fat on that contract with the unequaled facilities over Goderich offers in that direction, added to bed better day up and go into the mummy business."

We hear a great many commentaries against expending County funds for the benefit of a few individual dockers who have lumber, posts, or cordwood which they must ship this summer or lose money on them. It is claimed that there is no justice in taxing the county for their benefit. But is there any more justice in holding back on a public improvement because a few individuals are so situated that they can make more money with five feet of water in the river than with ten. We believe in a Republican Government—in referring every question to the decision of the majority, and leaving individuals to take their chances. Especially we believe that the great laboring class should go in heartily for all public improvements, and that in this direction they cannot well go amiss.

A Telling Argument.

MR. EDITOR:—

Last fall I came to this village from my farm in Marion with 50 bushels of potatoes for sale. I could not find a market unless I took store pay at 40 cents per bushel. I made up my mind to take it, but before I delivered them I found a vessel to Round Lake that was paying cash for potatoes, and 50 cents per bushel at that. In other words, I obtained $25 in cash for what I would have been obliged to take $20 in store pay; and all because the river was so that sail craft could reach us.

Truly yours,

HORACE HULL.

Will the Money Raised for the Improvement of Pine River be Thrown Away?

MR. EDITOR:

We want to candor acknowledge that if the expenditures heretofore made for this purpose some mistakes have been made, and serious loss sustained. For example, the old channel of the upper river was dredged, re-dredged, and dredged again, year after year, and now it is an undisputed fact that that channel is less navigable than it was in its original state of nature. How much might have been saved if nine years ago work had been commenced on the new cut, and all the labor and expense wasted on the old channel had been put on the new! It is true that this mistake did not involve the loss of State or County funds, but as contributors, in the opinion of the writer, no sufficient argument against continued efforts in the same direction for the improvement of the river. Shall we then fold our hands and relinquish all idea of ever building a new bridge? Not at all! Aided by past observation and experience we are now building a better one for one-fourth the outlay.

Is it any more the dictate of good common sense or a will of enterprise to decide that we can get eight feet of navigable water in the two rivers because what has been done has failed to accomplish all that we thought and hoped for? Is it not true that mistakes and consequent failures more or less are characteristic of all early efforts by the people to improve the navigation of rivers and construct harbors? Shall we learn by experience in all other affairs, public and private, and not in this? What five thousand dollars, say the objectors, "will not do it." Do what? "Will not make a depth of eight feet of water in the two rivers and keep it so for two years." Possibly not; but it will pay the expense of removing the two cribs on the south side of the lower river, and of dredging what has washed in between them; and of piling the upper river, in part, if not in full. It will not be wasted effort in taking the county to secure the business interests of one man"—for the people decide. If only one man is interested there will be only one vote for it, and there will be no need of appealing to the courts for an injunction to stay proceedings. "But it bears hard on some parts of the county, and on some individuals not so much interested as others." True. So does all taxation. A land highway benefits some more than others. A free school is a public benefit. But the burdens and the advantages are not distributed by a perfectly even hand. Congress has declared all navigable water flowing into the St. Lawrence to be public highways. Our Board of Supervisors, and the State Board of Control have, in accordance with the general sentiment, indorsed by their action that this is our highway. Let us show by their votes that we agree with them.

INFLAMMATORY DISEASES.

Dr. Trask was engaged for twenty years in a course of experiments upon the mineral properties and medicinal virtues of herbs, roots and barks combined. At the age of seventy years he discovered a remedy which was the result of those researches, a combination of vegetable forces, the power of which in removing disease is explained in the words of Moliere:

His discovery consists in a combination of those forces which, when brought in contact with the human system, will develop Electricity or Magnetism in the form of an Ointment.

Certain it is, that the remarkably mild and soothing influence whom has attended its application in the cure of Piles, Burns, Scalds, etc., is the greatest discovery of the age, and calls for a trial and close examination by all sufferers.

It never fails, under these remedial efforts, to relieve pain, control and regulate the circulation of the blood, and thus restore a controlling power to gained over the human forces of disease, which cannot be obtained from any other combination.

Such is the power of this combination, that it penetrates to every portion of the human frame, reaching the remotest vein, nerve and fibre, it acquires an intimate control over the purifying and healing influence. Hence it cures as readily with internal as with external disease.

Numerous instances are on record where this remedy has restored health in a little as one day, after the most eminent physicians failed to produce any effect, and pronounced the case beyond the reach of medicine.

No patient ever need die with this disease when the Magnetic Ointment is obtained.

For Inflammatory Rheumatism this Ointment is the most complete remedy ever discovered. Think how Throat and Lung troubles

In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, it will effect quite relief in the worst cases of Nervous Headache in three minutes.

For Nervous Diseases in all forms it is of immense value.

Affections of the Spine, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Chronic Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Sciatica, Sore Mouths, Attacks of the Piles or Bowels, Burns, Scalds, Felons, Boils, Sore Breasts, Erysipelas, Inflamed Eyes, Every Sore and Wound, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, etc., will be relieved by the use of Dr. Trask's Magnetic Ointment.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

PURELY WALKER'S CALIFORNIA BUCHU

VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease that is to be. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sedative, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn months, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by great derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In the treatment of a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, in their functional derangements, is necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS. They will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restore the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fortified.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Scald Head, Ringworm, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors, and Diseases of the Bones, in these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and chronic cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases. Persons engaged in Mines and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold beaters and Miners, as they advance in life are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the stomach of so many human beings, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuge, no anthelmintics will free so speedily from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

☞ Congress has agreed to adjourn on the 23d of June.

☞ The silver bowl which is to be presented to Sir Lumbervein Hinrichs by some Nevada miners, weighs fifteen pounds.

☞ Cleveland, Ohio, now eighteen miles of streets of solid cutting figures last Tuesday four gentlemen and a half to each mile, except Sundays.

☞ It cost the British Government 20,000 pounds local to get to Amateur engrave. The average cost to the United States of killing Indians is five cents.

☞ The court of enquiry in the case of Gen. O. O. Howard late of the Freedmen's Bureau, closed its session on the 9th inst. Their findings generally acquit the Gen. on every charge.

☞ Miss Nellie Grant has purchased her outfit for the grand wedding, which will take place early in May next. The Hon. Hilary Herbert, of Washington to attend the ceremony.

☞ There is one good point about Butler's proposed finance bill. It provides that the National banks shall reserve the total amount of the interest which they receive on the bonds deposited to secure their circulation.

☞ The Carlists have met with another defeat. The former is capture Bilbao, resulting as it did in the loss of the Biscay town, was bad enough; but now that Alfonso has been defeated, and the end is approaching.

☞ The Pope is unable to find the proper female sovereign to crown his golden rose. He gave one to Queen Isabella of Spain, and another to the Empress Eugenie, but it failed to bring good fortune to either of them.

☞ During the month of April the Navy vessels, six, collected almost $2,000,000. It appears from this that the business of the Nation is rapidly recovering from the drawbacks inflicted by the panic of last year.

☞ The Czar of Russia arrived at Gravesend, England, safely and was received by the Prince of Wales, who handed him a copy of the Pall Mall Gazette containing an account of the duties and arrest of his brother, the Grand Duke Nicholas.

☞ The rivers for the Arkansas governorship, Brooks and Baxter, are both preachers in the same Methodist church in Little Rock. There has been a great deal of madness in their Methodism of late. The president has proclaimed Baxter to be the lawful governor.

☞ Weston, the pedestrious humbug of a pedestrian, commenced a 500 mile walk at the hall of the American Institute on Monday. He expects to complete his task by Saturday noon next, and show conclusively to the world that the feats are not all dead yet.

☞ Wm. H. Peck, of the Detroit Commercial Advertiser, has been found technically guilty of violating the law relative to lotteries by his proposed gift distribution, and has been bound over by the Police Justice in default of bail before the Recorder's Court. This will probably end the newspaper gift business in our State.

☞ Secretary Bagley gives notice that the State Public School at Coldwater for destitute children will be open for the reception of inmates on the 18th of this month. County Superintendents of the Poor will be duly notified of the time when children may be taken to the institution.

☞ Cannon, Delegate in Congress from Utah, officially represents the Mormon Church, in that he has more than one wife. His seat has been contested on the ground that he is himself a criminal and was elected by the votes of criminals. The House Committee on Elections has taken a common-sense view of the case. It is that Mr. Cannon's claim to his seat is not affected by the number of his wives. They recommend that he be given a seat, and that a committee be then appointed to inquire into his matrimonial relations and decide whether the morals of the House are likely to suffer by contamination.

☞ Private papers brought by the latest mails show that the season has set in with unusual heat all over Europe. In Paris and London the weather at the end of April was hotter than it usually is in May. There had been a scare of cholera epidemic in Paris, but the state of mortality was not unusually high.

☞ A New York letter-writer in the Chicago Times says Henry Ward Beecher is, in spite of all his great earnings, about $100,000 a year, poor, and that his property, all told, will not exceed $100,000 in value. He is in such decided low spirits himself that Mrs. Beecher is seeking rest cheap.

☞ On the 17, 11 Grand Jury found the Boston Herald for $20,000 for saying that Carroll Hunt was a hunchback. Did we assume the function of serving every paper who ever printed the charge to the same cause, the Detroit Tribune says on the subject, other readers will have to write what we have always spoken in the highest terms of the Cardiff Giant, and never doubted its genuineness. Still, we should like to have Mr. Hunt know of this."

☞ There is no end of the wrinkles in the Underwood case. A new one is finely developed, though it is exciting no small amount of merriment among the Englishmen in the city. It appears that all the deeds of English land require the release of the so-called Dower. Because he was arrested after the close of the regular term of court, and therefore abroad. To obtain Uncle Newcastle's release from custody will create a new precedent supplanting the old ones. If this view should prevail, of course, it would not help him to the Tichborne estate, as no proceedings in that line can be resorted to, but it would set him free, restore the sense of Order, and leave him a man without a cause.

☞ Another illustration of the saying that "the world moves," was given in the House of Representatives at Washington the other day. The House went into Committee of the Whole on the Indian Appropriation bill and Speaker Blaine vested Mr. Dawes of Mass., in the chair. This is the first time in the history of the government that a colored man has occupied the speaker's chair in the House of Representatives. Such a colored man in the chair, a number of whom were in the floor were speaking in favor of reciprocity for Indiana. Think of a negro in the chair, a number of whom were in the floor were speaking in favor of reciprocity for Indiana. Think that

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLIARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

SATURDAY, - - MAY 30, 1874.

A man from the Sault Ste. Marie states that vessels drawing over 11½ feet cannot enter the canal. The repairs have been made and the dangerous rocks at the entrance removed.

☞ An exchange says: "One hundred and seventy-four inland lakes of Michigan have been stocked with white fish, which are doing well." The average number to each lake is about 7,000."

☞ The Massachusetts Legislature decided to allow Michigan a monopoly of the Woman suffrage fight this year, and last week rejected the proposition to submit to the people a constitutional amendment bearing upon the subject.

The Board of Supervisors for Mecosta County have impeached Judge Giddings, of the 11th Judicial Circuit, and now the Oceana County Bar has requested him to resign. But the Judge can't see it; he refuses to resign. All that ails the Judge is whisky.

☞ The finances of South Carolina, which have been gradually growing worse since the war, have at last culminated in almost absolute repudiation. The reputation of that state in the money market, and with her creditors, home and foreign, is of a most unenviable character.

☞ The Crown Prince of Holland expects to marry the Princess Thyra of Denmark; on this fortunate Dutch family will number another crowned head among its members, which already includes the King of Greece, the future Czarina of Russia, and the future Queen of England.

☞ Nellie Grant was married at Washington on the 21st, and immediately departed for her new home in England. Her husband is Mr Sartoris, the heir of a rich English commoner. The match is said to be one of mutual love, and we hope, as we presume, her wedded life will be unmarred by any unhappiness.

☞ The Republic, of Lake Superior, is undoubtedly the richest iron mine in the world. It is said that it could be made to yield 300,000 tons of ore easier than any other mine in the Lake Superior country could be made to yield half the amount. A charge of 15 pounds of nitro-glycerine recently threw down 1,600 tons of ore, at one blow.

☞ A letter to the Times Paris says: "It is the impression here that the new ministry will shortly exhibit Alfonist tendencies. Unquestionably a large proportion of the better classes of Spaniards look forward to the enthronement of the Prince of Asturias as offering the best chance for the prosperity of Spain.

☞ Edward S. Stokes and his wife have been mutually divorced. Though they at first compiled a great deal of public attention as high-toned convicts, Stokes and Walworth have finally settled down to the ooze of prison life like ordinary thieves, and are unthought of until some incident like the foregoing brings them into the mind of the world again.

☞ A dispatch from the scene of the Mill River disaster, Saturday, says the last two bodies have been found and the total loss of life is now known to be 147. Some also may be formed of the terrific force of the rapid stream of death by the statement that the floods in the raised barrier shows that the flood must have started a volume 175 feet wide and thirty-five feet deep.

☞ The arrest of the forty three Crusaders in Cincinnati, for wilful and determined violation of the city ordinances has produced an unwonted excitement in the temperance ranks, as well as among the clergy of that city, the most of whom sympathize with the victims who are thus forcibly debarred from further operations against the saloons.

☞ A citizen of Brownsville, Texas, employed a Mexican to transport $10,000 in silver from Saltillo to Brownsville. While the messenger was still in Mexico, en route for Brownsville, he was set upon by desperadoes and severely wounded, but he fought his way back to Brownsville and delivered the silver to his employer, proof of the defiance that he had made of the confidence that had been bestowed upon him. The night following, the question of confidence being out of the way, he enticed his employer's horse, killed him and carried the silver away.

☞ The term of Senator Zach. Chandler will expire March 4, 1875. A strong effort will be made to prevent his reelection. He is about 60 years old, and is now serving his third term. Governor Bing would have been a formidable rival had he not gone off with the Greeleyites. Chief Justice Campbell has been brought forward as an opposing candidate.

☞ The nineteenth century may have reached the greater part of the people of the world, but it most certainly has not reached some portions of Mexico. At Sinaloa, recently, several hapless human were burned alive for alleged witchcraft. At this late, in a land where republicanism is trying to gain sway, and under the eyes of religious (?) priests and liberty-loving (?) officials.

☞ The vexatious question of female suffrage, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, in a lecture delivered in Howell, the other evening, said she "expected to live long enough to see women vote, and that she had resolved not to enter into the kingdom of Heaven disfranchised." At the close of her lecture she asked those ladies present who were in favor of woman's suffrage to stand up, but less than one quarter expressed a favorable opinion of the movement.

☞ The bill concerning lands granted to railroad companies, recently passed by the House of Representatives, provides that whenever the lands granted by the government have legally inured to the company, they shall become taxable by the state or territory in which they are situated, whether the company has taken out patents for them or not. Heretofore it has been the practice of companies to neglect applying for patents, and thus while holding the lands under the grant, avoid state or Territory taxation

☞ On Thursday morning 21st at a few minutes before 4 o'clock, the tug Tuscarora, while off White Rock, Lake Huron, exploded her boiler, killing six men and injuring several others. The tug had just come alongside the bark Zach Chandler for the purpose of taking her in tow when the explosion occurred. Capt. James Robinson, of the tug, was instantly killed, as were R. Dyson, second engineer; Dennis Barron, fireman; T. Connors and J. McIntyre, firemen of the tug, and W. Johnson mate of the Chandler. The names of those on the tug who were saved are James Lynn, mate; Wm. Hand, engineer; John Hock and Frank Hay, wheelmen, and Maggie Heach, cook.

☞ One year ago the Pope of Rome passed through a dangerous illness, and now again, after a season of uncommonly robust health for one of his age, he has received another attack. At a time when the Pope and the church have calculated so hopefully upon the bringing about once more of the temporal power, the health of the head of Roman Catholicism becomes a matter of special importance to that body. Hill with the anxiety which manifestly exist upon the Catholic church at this time, were Germany is so irreverent, Italy so unstable, and Austria subtitter toward the sect, it would not be surprising in if the result should prove even more serious than the illness of the Pope—Ex.

☞ The King of Denmark has sent a decoration of the highest class to Marshal MacMahon—a fitting reward for his full name and address in the New York Tribune, declares that the Granger's benefit nobody but the few men at their head, and that they have already taken $3,600,000 out of the pockets of the farmers.—A ship went down in the Zuyder Zee recently one hundred years ago, laden with one million pounds sterling of gold, and now they are going to hook for it.—Prince Arthur has been made Duke of Connaught and Lord of Strathnaim, and, also, received the title of the Earl of Sussex.—Andy Johnson has got so far along already in his canvass for the United States Senate to declare: "Across who all his long life has been a friend of the people," &c. &c.—Hon. H. M. Look, formerly of Pontiac, has been elected City Attorney of Port Huron.—Nesbitt, a low character of Cheboygan, eloped with a married woman named Williams, and now regrets als folly in the county jail.—President Grant says that he agreed to part with Nellie on the grounds that she should visit him twice a year and stay six months at a time.—A German woman at Marshall didn't want to yield to the crusaders and she couldn't hold out, so she cut her throat with a pair of shears.—A letter from Rome, in the Progress of Verona, says that the relations of the Vatican with the government of Marshal MacMahon have lately been anything but of a friendly character.

Newspaper Advertising

Newspaper advertising is now recognized by business men, having faith in their own wares, as the most effective means for securing for their goods a wide recognition of their merits.

Newspaper advertising dispels mystery, and when the article offered is of good quality and at a fair price, the natural result is increased sales

Newspaper advertising is a permanent addition to the reputation of the goods advertised because it is a permanent influence always at work in their interest.

Newspaper advertising is the most energetic and vigilant of salesmen; addressing thousands each day, always in the advertiser's interest, and constantly at work seeking customers from all classes.

Newspaper advertising promotes trade, for even in the dullest times advertisers secure by far the largest share of what is being done—John Manning.

THE tug Minnie Warren is out again in fine condition, with Capt. Tuluse at the helm.

A daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Anson Gaylord, on the 17th, was the first child born in that Township.

COMING events cast their shadows before, and the landlords are already beginning to set their houses in order for the summer travel.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. Mr. Cole will preach at the union church to-morrow, both morning and evening. Evening service to begin at six o'clock.

A contract has been made with Henry Morgan, Esq., to remove the south pier to the bank of the channel, and connect it with the shore.

PERSONAL.—Rev. Dr. Carrot, of the Marshall Congregational Chapel, arrived by propeller on Wednesday, and has gone up the lake with his fishing-rod.

A kernel of buckwheat sown in each hill of potatoes throughout a field will keep off potato bugs. A pint of buckwheat will go a good ways, and the employment will keep your children out of mischief. Try it once.

THE MOSES.—Capt. Hoss is expected hourly with a tug and steam-dredge to get off the schooner F. J. Morse, which went ashore near this place last fall. Capt. Young, her Master, does not think that she is damaged to any great extent.

FOR canned oysters or canned fruit, go to Byron See's.

We have advanced the price of hard wood lumber for some years may be taken as pretty good evidence that the sum is decreasing at a rapid rate, or that the demand is increasing faster than facilities are furnished to put it in the market.

NEW STEAMER.—A new steamer called the Chicago has been placed on the Goodrich line along the western shore. She is a side wheel steamer, with a keel 205 feet in length, and 30 feet beam, and she is a staunch and finely modeled craft.

FIRE PROTECTION.—Messrs. Fox, Rose & Buttars have recently placed in their store two "New Chicago" Fire Extinguishers, and will soon place in the rear of the store a force pump and one hundred feet of hose, capable of supplying fifty gallons of water per minute, and of throwing a stream eighty feet. They propose to let these precautions constitute their only insurance.

The River Improvement Question.

The special election which has been ordered to take place on the 6th of June next, and the question at that time to be settled, have been the objects of much controversy for the past four weeks. Those there are who have opposed the scheme because the amount proposed to be raised was insufficient to secure a noticeable benefit; others opposed it because it would seem to be an unjust burden upon certain portions of the county; still others because the validity of the transaction was questionable. To satisfy oneself on the latter point we placed the matter before the Attorney General, and the following is his answer:

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
May 19th, Mich., May 18 '74. }

WILLARD A. SMITH, Esq., Charlevoix.

DEAR SIR:—Yours of the 6th inst. was duly received, but in some unaccountable manner has been overlooked.

I have carefully examined Sections 9 and 11 of Article X, and Section 1 of Article XVIII, of the Constitution, and from such examination I am of the opinion that a tax is not a felony within the meaning of Sec. 9 Art. 10.

The call for a meeting of the Board of Supervisors signed by E. D. Park, under the circumstances stated by you, was, and the proceedings held in accordance with such call are legal.

Respectfully,
ISAAC MARSTON, Att'y Gen'l.

The opinion of Hon. S. C. Moffatt has also appeared in a lengthy letter to one of our citizens, and which is substantially a reiteration of the Attorney General's opinion. Coming from these sources, we cannot refuse to accept these opinions as true interpretations of the law in this case. We yield gracefully to that faction which may be termed the opposition, and re-gird our armor to battle for this, the people's interest, on any field where the gauntlet may be thrown down, or in any manner which past experience may dictate, or future emergencies prompt. But we do not wish to be understood as favoring an entire abandonment of the scheme which has been so suddenly frustrated. Let the people throughout the county, by their ballots on the 6th of June, prove that they are at least willing to tax themselves for the object, and the record of the election will constitute a strong argument in favor of Congressional aid.

Try some of that coffee at Byron See's. It is cheap and good.

To BE RAISED.—It will be remembered that three years ago this season Capt. Paul Pelkey discovered the hull of the propeller Westmoreland, which went down about twenty years ago, off the Manitous. We understand an expedition is now being organized to raise her.

BARGE YARD.—Geo. W. Crouter, Esq., of this village, is establishing a brick yard on his land opposite Little Island, on Sunset Arm, where he has inexhaustible deposits of excellent clay. James Reed, an experienced brick-maker, will superintend the yard. We hope the enterprise may prove a successful one.

MARINE.—On Sunday last, from the bluff in the rear of the village, the waters of the harbor and vicinity presented a lively appearance. At ten pier a propeller and barge were lying, and in the harbor were five schooners and a sloop—in all representing a tonnage of over two thousand tons. Who says Charlevoix has no commerce?

NEW JEWELRY.—Ream has filled up his shop with a splendid assortment of clocks, which he sells cheaper than any firm north of Grand Rapids. Also fine and gents' fine silver watches, silver spoons, butter-knives, napkin-rings, thimbles, ladies' fine gold sets, bracelets, rings, gents' gold and silver chains, studs, cuff-buttons, charms, specs-protectors and spectacles, concave spectacles for near sighted persons, pocket-compasses, etc.

BRIDE JAIL.—Yesterday morning when Deputy Sheriff Johnson visited the jail to attend to his prisoners, he discovered, to his surprise, that the door was open, and one of the prisoners—Johnson—had "skipped the country for the country's good." The other prisoner—Willis—remained, preferring rather to become a martyr to the cause of justice than to be cavort abroad with an escaped jailbird. Sheriff Johnson "beat the bush" Thursday for his wayward namesake, but he could not be found. The jail door was opened from the outside, by the staples being pulled.

FROM MACKINAW.—Our Mackinaw correspondent sends us the following items:

—S. Higlstone and lady returned from an extended trip in Germany, on the 22d.

—We came very near having a fatal accident, lately, in the cistern that is being excavated in the rear of the Hospital. Private Bowman had prepared a blast, and was preparing to ignite it, when it prematurely exploded before he could scramble out of the hole. Miraculously, he escaped with but a slight burn and a bruise or two. The rear windows of the Hospital were demolished, and about a wheelbarrowful of rock, dirt and glass was thrown into the ward among the sick men. Rocks as large as a man's head were thrown over the Hospital building with great force.

THE CHANNEL.—Never in the history of Charlevoix has our harbor presented the lively appearance that it has during the past week. Three 20-ton schooners arrived on Saturday for Newman's shipping-wood, and were towed into the harbor. The Maple Leaf and Horace Greeley both a little more than filled their holds in Pine Lake. The former vessel came through the upper cut without any difficulty, but the latter was forced to lighter her deck-load. The Maple Leaf went out with nearly a full cargo, on Tuesday, without any difficulty. The Wescott went out drawing seven feet, with but very little trouble. The captains of all these vessels went away pleased with our harbor, and will return for cargoes.

PORK, flour, wheat and oats, at Newman's.

IT has been satisfactorily demonstrated during the past week that we have little reason to feel discouraged in regard to the situation of our harbor, but rather to feel encouraged at what the week's experience has brought to the surface. It has been supposed that the bar at the mouth of the river would barely admit one of the tugs and we had little hope of being able to see a vessel of any size enter the river this summer unless the channel were dredged out. Our people, then, we say, have reason to feel encouraged when they see vessels carrying 20 cords of wood go through the channel into Lake Michigan with nearly a full cargo. Considering, then, the condition of the channel in early spring, we feel confident that a very little labor expended on the south pier would procure a depth of eight or nine feet. As a dredge is daily expected in this neighborhood, an opportunity will be presented which we hope will be taken advantage of.

NOT TRUE.—There are those who still harp in and out on the old cry of "bad management" in the prosecution of our harbor improvement. However much may have been wanted in the opening of the upper channel, we boldly assert that no harbor on the shore of Lake Michigan can show as great improvement, done with as little expense, as can Charlevoix harbor. About $15,000 has been expended, and now, nearly one year after being dredged, there is a depth of seven feet of water over the bar. As a point in striking contrast, we refer our readers to the harbor at Frankfort, where the Government has expended over $200,000, during a period of seven years. Within two years vessels drawing seven feet have at various times grounded in the channel, and still the Government keeps on "improving it." How striking is the fact that one-quarter the amount that has proven so inefficient at Frankfort would make a permanent harbor of refuge at Charlevoix. When we make Congress believe this we will receive aid. And in what manner can we better prove the fact to them than by showing what we can do on a more limited scale?

THE CRUSADE.—A temperance meeting was held at the school house on the 22d, and quite a lively interest was manifested. Over twenty signed the "prosecution pledge," and thirty-six that of total abstinence.

—On Wednesday A. O. D. McCabe was arrested and brought before Justice Miller on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, and fined $5 and costs. Later in the day he was incarcerated and compelled to tell where he procured his liquor. He made revelations which implicated one Joseph Johnson, a transient individual. The said Johnson was thereupon arrested, and Justice Miller imposed a fine of $25 and costs, and in default of payment he was sent to jail for ten days.

—John Willis was the same day convicted guilty of having been drunk and disorderly, and in default of the payment of his fine of $5 and costs, Squire Miller sent him to jail. He was released in the morning, however, on the payment of his fine. During the trial, under the stern interrogatories of Justice Miller, he made affidavit that he procured the liquor of G. W. Crouter, druggist.

—Yesterday, G. W. Crouter was arraigned before Justice Miller on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor. He put in a plea of guilty, and paid his fine of $25 and costs. Defendant claimed that the aforementioned Willis procured the liquor under the false pretention that it was for medicinal use.

MORTGAGE SALE.—Whereas, default having been made in the conditions of a certain Mortgage made and executed on the nineteenth day of January, A. D. 1874, by Peter Wessels, Charles Ridgeway, Frank Wessels, James Wessels, Daniel Nieskawski, Simon Kilgenbrenner, James Kilgenbrenner and Joseph Scallion, of Little Traverse, Michigan, to Walter Clifford, which mortgage was duly recorded in the office of Register of Deeds for the County of Emmet, in the State of Michigan, on the nineteenth day of January, A. D. 1874, at two o'clock p. m., in Liber one, (1) of mortgages, on pages 208 209 210 and 211, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of three hundred and ten dollars ($310) principal and interest, for the recovery of which no suit or proceeding at law or equity has been taken or instituted. Therefore Notice is hereby given, that on account of the power in said mortgage contained and the statute in such case made and provided the lands and tenements described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage, with interest and the costs and expenses allowed by law, and attorney fee of Fifty Dollars agreed in said mortgage to be paid, will be sold at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder, at the outer door of the School House, in the Village of Little Traverse, in said county of Emmet, (that being the building wherein the Circuit Court for the County of Emmet is held) on Saturday, the first day of August, A. D. 1874, at ten o'clock in the afternoon. Said mortgage premises are situated in said county of Emmet, and State of Michigan and are known and described as follows, to wit: Block number two (2) and number three (3) of Block number one (1) and the south half of lot number four (4) in Block number one (1) in the Village of Little Traverse, according to the recorded plat of said village as now laid out and platted. Also the south half of the following described parcel of land, to wit: Commencing at the Northeast corner of Range four (4) West, containing one acre and forty rods more or less, to the place of beginning.

$5 to $20 PER DAY easily made by any one. We want an agent in every town, and will pay the above amount to the right parties all over the country to sell our new and wonderful Chromo, Lithograph, Illuminations Photographs, etc. We now publish the finest assortment ever placed before the public, and every person who sees them at once buys. Any one can become a successful agent. Those who engage at once will find this a rare chance to make money. No one who engages fails to make it rapidly. We have many old agents at work for us who have made hundreds of dollars. Some have been employed for years, and they all say that they can turn much more money in our employment than in anything else. Our prices are so low that all can afford to purchase, and there are the pictures sell at sight at almost every house. Nearly everybody—as well as agents who have had large experience, for our beautiful pictures and low prices are appreciated by all. To make large sales everywhere all an agent has to do is to show the pictures from house to house. Don't look for employment elsewhere until you have seen what great inducements we offer you to make money. We have a plan to explain all how, but send us your address and we will send full particulars free by mail. Don't delay if you want profitable employment for your leisure hours, or for your whole time. Now is the favorable time to engage in this business. The pictures are the finest and most pleasing in this country, and are endorsed by all the leading papers, including the New York Herald. Those who cannot give the business their entire attention can work up their own localities and earn a handsome sum without ever being away from home over night. Let all who want profitable employment, with small investment required, or their address at once and find out all about the business themselves. Address GEORGE STINSON & CO., Portland, Maine. 1m6m

VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of Vinegar Bitters in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and drought, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy function of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. A dose occasionally will check the tendency to disease.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the lungs, Pain in the region of the kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Tumors, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Tape Worm, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display such an undoubted and decided influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

STEALING AND EARNING.

Never try to chew your neighbor;
Don't cheat or lie a tool;
Let your living go hard before
Bear it amid the cold world;
If you try to play a sharp game,
And, according, get a penny,
The time it will mean when tricks the same
Will be pasted on you in turn.

Having you gain in knavery,
And by certain dishonest science,
Labor lost by toil and sweat,
Adding daily to your means;
But you'll find it's not so lasting—
You'll be cheated soon yourself;
In your old age you'll be lacking,
With your friend has lots of pelf.

Ten honest cents are worth more
Nearer reaching the true end
Of your life, than all your store
Honestly by your neighbor
Earned by the sweating freely for each penny
Others by his stench dug;
He saved a less, while you spent many:
Here's the future of day.

THE SILVER CUP.

The palace of the Duke de Montre was decorated for a banquet. A thousand wax lights burned in its stately rooms, making them bright as mid-day. All-day the walls glowed the priceless tapestry of the Gobelins, and beneath the feet lay the fabrics of Persia. Rare vases, filled with flowers, stood on the marble stands, and their breath went up like incense before the lifelike pictures shining in their golden frames above. In the great hall stood immense tables covered with delicacies from all lands and climes. Upon the sideboard glittered massive plate, and the rich gems of Mexico, Brazil, Golconda and Ind now hold and blush. Seated in through the spacious corridor, and was answered at intervals by tones of magic sweetness.

All was ready. The noble and gifted passed into the gorgeous saloons. Sirks rustled, plumes waved, and jeweled embroideries flashed from limbs of every. Country and foreign born, all were there. Even the Duke de Montre had made a new step in the path to power. Wit sparkled, the lamps went round, and his guests pledged him in wine that a hundred years before would have been drunk in blood. Then the Duke rose, and his cheek paled with passion, for his son sat motionless before his untasted cup.

"Why don't you drink, boy?" he said, "and thy whole face will be in a flame."

"Father," he said, "I have learned a lesson that sank into my heart. Let me repeat it, and then, at thy command, I will drink my cup. I was a lounger one day in the door of a gay shop. He held in his hand the earrings of a week, and his wife, a lovely babe and the fascination of the hour, clung to his garments and besought him to enter. He lost himself and sweet, for his thirst was strong, and, for the sake of a stranger, his family would have perished.

"I went on, and, father, a citizen of noble air and majestic form descended the wide steps of his fine mansion. His wife was just back the curtains, and watched him eagerly and wistfully as he rode away. She was very, very lonely, fairer than any lady of the court, but the shadow of a sad heart was fast falling on her face. When he came in her gaze crossed upon the desolate splendor of her saloon, and then clasp her hands in his with agony of despair. When he returned her husband by helpless on a couch, and she sat weeping beside him.

"There more we paused. A carriage stood before a palace. It was rich with burnished gold, and the armorial bearings of a duke were visible in the moon-beams. We waited for its owner to alight, but he did not come, and he gave orders to drive to the servants came crowding out; sorrowfully they lifted him in their arms, and I saw that some of the jewels were torn from his mantle, and his pointed cap was crushed and soiled, as if by the pressure of many footsteps. They bore him into the palace, and I wondered if his sickness kept like his beautiful wife and fair children.

"As I looked on all this, my soul told me it was the work of the red wine, which heaps gaily up, and laughs over its victims in demon merriment. I shuddered, father, and resolved never again to taste it, but I too, should fail. But your word is law to me. Shall I drain the cup?"

"No, my son, touch it not. It is poison, as thy voice told thee. It frees the brain, weakens the intellect, destroys the soul. Put it away from thee, and as thou shalt grow up wise and good, a blessing to thyself and to thy country."

He glanced around the circle. Surprise and admiration were on every face, and, moved by the same impulse, all arose, while one of their number spoke.

"Thou hast done nobly, boy," he said, "and thy rebuke shall not be soon forgotten. We have congratulated thy father upon the acquisition of honors, which may pass with the passing season. We now congratulate him upon that best of all possessions, a son worthy of Peance and of himself."

The haughty courtiers bowed a glowing assent, and each clasped the hand of the boy. But the father took him to his heart, and even now, among the treasured relics of the family, is numbered that silver cup.

By the terms of the treaty stipulations under which Great Britain assumes control of the Fiji Islands, the King is to receive a salary of $15,000 per annum.

The Congress-Sibley Wedding.

From the Washington correspondence of the Cincinnati Commercial we copy the following with the recommendation that its readers make ample allowance for the "sounds" with which it is manifestly decorated:

The days Washington society was in a flutter of curiosity over the announcement that on the 14th May there would be, at the residence of Mrs. Daldgren, a wedding in high life. The names of the contracting parties was a profound secret, and conjecture ran riot, people even going so far as to assert that the bridegroom was no other than Mrs. Dahlgren herself, and the groom a General in the army. Others whispered with a knowing nod and wink that General Schenck and Mrs. Hooker were the happy pair, and the wedding was to take place here, that the President and other high "stags" might be present, but the time brought relief, and we were told on Friday night that the wedding was that of Mr. Cooper, member of Congress from Michigan, with Mrs. Sibley, widow of Maj. Sibley, United State Army. She was Miss Humphries, daughter of Judge Humphries, of the Supreme Court of the state of Ohio, and twenty-seven years ago was officiated to Mr. Cooper, then a handsome young youth. They quarrelled and parted. In six months the quarrel was forgotten, and they were again engaged. Miss Humphries was pretty, a belle, and a flirt, her flirting propensities did not please Mr. Cooper, and so remonstrated with her, being a high spirited girl she again and finally broke the engagement, telling to she should never marry him. He left the State. She married and he married. Major Sibley fired twelve years, there were no children, and at his death she went abroad. Mrs. Cooper lived a few years and left three children. In October, weary of European life, Mrs. Sibley determined to return to her home in Cincinnati. Arriving in New York it occurred to her to come to Washington for a few weeks. Oh, woman, how unfathomable are the ways! One day, time hanging wearily on her hands, she wandered (?) to Congress of course, never dreaming that in this august body sat her affinity. An hour passed; the debates were prosy and solemn. She gathered her shawl about her, she prepared to leave the gallery, when there was a tap on her shoulder. Turning, who did she behold but the lover of her youth. After commonplace greetings in an agitated voice, she made the inquiry, "I suppose your family are with you?" "No, I am now all that my wife was dead!" With tragic start she averred she did not. They wandered some time and on leaving she said, "I am at the Arlington, will you come and see me?" Hesitation on his part, blushes on hers, and then in a low voice replied Cooper: "I will come if you tell me what you said to me twenty-five years ago." "I will," she answered, and she wilted. The engagement was very brief, and the happy twain were married last Saturday morning at eleven o'clock. The bride wore a pearl colored satin trimmed with diamond ornaments, and looked very well, albeit she could not hide sentiment, for she is not very young, and has grown some what portly. The groom is tall, of commanding figure, and looks every inch a soldier. He has himself aware, for his thirst was strong, and, but for the care of a stranger, his family would have perished.

"I went on, and, father, a citizen of noble air and majestic form descended the wide steps of his fine mansion. His wife was just back the curtains, and watched him eagerly and wistfully as he rode away. She was very, very lonely, fairer than any lady of the court, but the shadow of a sad heart was fast falling on her face. When he came in her gaze crossed upon the desolate splendor of her saloon, and then clasp her hands in his with agony of despair. When he returned her husband by helpless on a couch, and she sat weeping beside him.

"There more we paused. A carriage stood before a palace. It was rich with burnished gold, and the armorial bearings of a duke were visible in the moon-beams. We waited for its owner to alight, but he did not come, and he gave orders to drive to the servants came crowding out; sorrowfully they lifted him in their arms, and I saw that some of the jewels were torn from his mantle, and his pointed cap was crushed and soiled, as if by the pressure of many footsteps. They bore him into the palace, and I wondered if his sickness kept like his beautiful wife and fair children.

"As I looked on all this, my soul told me it was the work of the red wine, which heaps gaily up, and laughs over its victims in demon merriment. I shuddered, father, and resolved never again to taste it, but I too, should fail. But your word is law to me. Shall I drain the cup?"

"No, my son, touch it not. It is poison, as thy voice told thee. It frees the brain, weakens the intellect, destroys the soul. Put it away from thee, and as thou shalt grow up wise and good, a blessing to thyself and to thy country."

He glanced around the circle. Surprise and admiration were on every face, and, moved by the same impulse, all arose, while one of their number spoke.

"Thou hast done nobly, boy," he said, "and thy rebuke shall not be soon forgotten. We have congratulated thy father upon the acquisition of honors, which may pass with the passing season. We now congratulate him upon that best of all possessions, a son worthy of Peance and of himself."

The haughty courtiers bowed a glowing assent, and each clasped the hand of the boy. But the father took him to his heart, and even now, among the treasured relics of the family, is numbered that silver cup.

By the terms of the treaty stipulations under which Great Britain assumes control of the Fiji Islands, the King is to receive a salary of $15,000 per annum.

Nellie Grant's Presents.

Among the most costly gifts was a dessert set of eight-fair pieces, by George W. Childs, and a complete silver dinner service, by A. J. Drexel, of Philadelphia, the combined value of these being probably $1,500. Secretary Fish gave a large silver tankard; General and Mrs. Sherry, of New York, a cup with a stone cameo set with diamonds; Postmaster General Creswell, a very handsome silver ice-cream service; ex-Senator Cameron, a diamond ring of five stones; L. H. Morton, New York, and ourrosell and diamond ring. These rings are probably worth $1,000 each. Secretary Belknap gave a solid silver, gilt, tea urn elaborately finished and of the style of long XIV.; N. T. Hart New York, one of the largest sized lace handkerchiefs such as sells for $300; General Babcock, an elegant Valentinoness lace fan, with a smoked-pearl frame with the coat of arms of the bride in gold. There were a silver cake basket, presented by the ex-Queen of nature ore, and manufactured in that city. The workmanship is very fine. Also, a pair of mountone earrings, both handsome and curious; several superb point lace handkerchiefs, a flounce of Valenciennes lace, two point lace veils; a Venetian antique mirror, with carved frame of ivory furnished also, with mongrams on the top. This is for a toilet table; two antique candlesticks to match, with a way candle in each. Flowers are painted on the candles. There were several handsome gold necklaces and many jackets. A superb bracelet of wrought gold, an immense number of silver pinch bowls, ladles, salt cellars, and epergne glass bowls of fine gilt and carved wood. Mr. Starbuck presented his wife with a large collection of flowers. The present of the father of the bride is $10 000. All the immediate members of the President's family gave handsome presents. The presents were arranged and classified by George A. Bradford, and sent to New York by express and placed on board of the vessel on which Mr. and Mrs. Sartoris have taken passage for England.

The New Constitution.

It looks very much as though if the people should vote to adopt the Constitution they would be defeated by the first amendment article of the old Constitution has two sections. The first provides for the proposing of "any amendment or amendments in the Senate or House of Representatives," and the submission thereof, when agreed to by two thirds of the members of each house, to the electors at the next general election thereafter." The second section reads as follows:

"At the general election to be held in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, and in each sixteenth year thereafter, and also at such other times as the Legislature may, by law, provide, the question of the general revision of the Constitution shall be submitted to the electors qualified to vote for members of the Legislature, and if a majority of the electors so qualified, voting at such election, shall decide in favor of a convention for such purpose, the Legislature at the next session shall provide by law for the election of such delegates to such convention. All the amendments shall take effect at the commencement of the year after their adoption"

Without entering here into any argument of the question it seems very clear that the framers of our present Constitution intended to make and did make a distinction between a general revision and amendments, and that while the latter is very easily done the mode upon the proposition of the Legislature, the former cannot be made without a formal expression on the part of the people to that effect. It is claimed by some that the instrument which is to be submitted to the people for revision is a revision, and its adoption by the people will give it no force.—Kalamazoo Gazette.

Mercredy Perplexed.

When Mucredy, the actor, visited this country he found many things to puzzle and perplex him, for he was as credulous and eager as Greenhorn. The idioms and the eccentricities of the Yankees were beyond his comprehension. At one of our theatres, where he was performing an engagement, he had occasion to find fault with the supporting actors, who were a particularly free-and-easy set. Going to the manager one day, he said:

"Mr. Manager, you have deceived me, sir. You have told me that which was not true, sir."

"How so?" cried the manager, in surprise, "how so?"

"About your actors, sir. Did you not tell me that Mr. A——was a high?"

"Yes."

"And that Mr. S——had a touch of the tangle foot?"

"Yes."

"And that Mr. P——had a brick in his hat?"

"Aye, that was what I said."

"And is the explanative of the conduct of Mr. H——you told me that he had a snake in his boot?"

"Certainly I did."

"Well, sir," announced the great tragedian, in his most stern and indignant manner, "I find, upon critical examination, that these men are all drunk, sir! Aye—all drunk!"

"My waiter, Egypt me a buckfrask, cockeled rare." "Were have no beef steak," was the reply. The country gentleman, getting angry at being mimicked, rose, and was about leveling a blow upon the impudent fellow, when a second one rushed up and exclaimed: "Ration's strike that man; he consumers the source as we do."

Presence of Mind.

One of the severest tests of presence of mind is a fire in a theatre. The other day a three-year-old child climbed through an attic window and walked along the edge of the roof, thirty-two feet from the ground, the whole length of the house, and there stood unconcerned and enjoying the prospect. She was seen by the maid-of-all-work, who pleasantly called out "Come down; I've got something for you." "All right," cried the little one, and she turned her steps and disappeared through the attic window in safety. Most girls would have screamed on seeing the child in such a position, said how dangerous it was, and how she would fall, and the little creature would have fallen, and very likely have been killed.

Wonder He Lied.

Bill Mason, a resident of Wind in the Fayette county, Pa., poorhouse, formerly drove a stage coach between Uniontown and Morgantown. In that time he wouldn't own a horse that had more than enough skin to cover his bones, and through which the moral law could not be read. His animals were queer geometrical problems—combinations of angles, right, obtuse, and acute. One day he came driving into Uniontown at full speed, and just as he drew up in front of the hotel one of his horses d

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

SATURDAY, - JUNE 6, 1874.

☞ It is stated that Chicago has thirty miles of dockage. The figures are doubtless not overdrawn.

☞ The President has appointed Hon. Bristow as secretary of the Treasury, in place of Richardson, resigned. The Senate has confirmed the appointment.

☞ The World says the Woodhull-Claflin Association have gone to San Francisco to open a brokers office, and permanently remain.

☞ The new Insane Asylum will probably be located at Detroit, the citizens of that city having already promised to raise $80,000 toward purchasing the site.

☞ Queen Victoria's birthday, the 25th inst., was celebrated in several cities in the United States and Canada. It was observed as a general holiday throughout the Dominion.

☞ It is suggested that nitro glycerine it can run on the bottom of the St. Lawrence River in the fall, and connected by a wire by which all can simultaneously be electrically exploded, will help the ice get out of the way of navigation in the spring.

☞ No trait of character is more valuable than the possession of a good temper. Home can never be made happy without it. It is like flowers springing up in our pathway, reviving and cheering us. Kind words and looks are the outward demonstrations; patience and forbearance are the services within.

☞ The Chicago Tribune has heard from 73 more Northwestern papers in regard to the President's veto message. The total number now heard from lacks only five of a thousand, and 569 of them sustain the veto, while 435 oppose it. This probably represents about the division of popular sentiment in the Northwest.

☞ Several well-authenticated cases of death from trichinæ have occurred in this State recently, and the warning they give should be heeded. The medical authorities agree that the disease is caused by eating raw or partially cooked hog's meat. The thorough cooking of the flesh prevents all danger. Let every household take this simple warning home to themselves.

☞ The granite statue for the soldiers' monument at Antrium, which is twenty-one feet high and weighs about twenty-five tons, being probably the largest statue of modern times has just been completed at Batterson's quarry in Westerly, R. I. Conradi, of Hartford, designed it, and it is pronounced by good judges to be a genuine work of art. It will be in position by September 1st.

☞ Michigan will be the second State in the Union called upon to decide by a vote of the people on the question of woman's suffrage, Kansas having voted on the same question in 1867. The election occurs next November, and the contest promises to be lively. The form in which the question is to be decided is by a vote on a constitutional amendment, which, if adopted will extend the right of suffrage to every woman of age in Michigan.

☞ A Washington dispatch says the Senate Committee on Commerce have considered the river and harbor bill, and agreed to insert various amendments to the amount of half a million dollars. Many members of the House and Senate were much dissatisfied with the fact that the bill was passed in the House without a chance to debate or amend, and on this account they claim that quite a number of meritorious works were entirely omitted. The Senate committee has attempted to supply these omissions, and has consulted those who were not able to obtain a hearing on the floor of the House in regard to them. Here is a chance for Mr. Hubbell to "swing in" something for Charlevoix harbor, and we hope he will make an effort.

☞ The case of Wm. H. Bark, of Detroit, against whom suit was brought, upon the charge of having maintained a lottery in the interest of his paper, the Detroit Commercial Advertiser was brought up for final hearing in the Recorder's Court, in Detroit on Saturday last, and a verdict rendered. The scheme of Mr. Bark, as advertised by himself, is that of distributing $30,000 in cash to his subscribers in whatever way he might deem best. The Recorder in charging the jury, submitted his opinion that if Mr. Bark intended in good faith to give $30,000 to his subscribers, without reference to the mode of distribution, the jury could not convict Mr. Bark of carrying on a lottery. The jury were out but ten minutes when they returned with a verdict of "not guilty."

Hon. Wm. H. Brockway, President of Albion village, has his bank burned and his station wrecked by broken on the night of May 6. Mr Brockway is an outspoken Temperance man, and these outrages are attributed to the friends of the liquor traffic.

PROBATE ORDER.—State of Michigan, County of Mackinac—ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Mackinac holden at the Probate Office, in the village of Mackinac on Monday, the sixth day of April in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy four.

Present, George C. Ketchum Judge of Probate.

In the Matter of the Estate of Mary Chapman, a ward. On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Levi Chapman, guardian of Mary Chapman praying that license may be granted him to sell certain real estate belonging to said ward.

Thereupon it is Ordered, That Monday, the fifteenth day of June at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the petitioner, the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the village of Mackinac and show cause, if any there be why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted: And it is Further Ordered, That said Petitioner do give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Sentinel, a newspaper circulating in said County of Mackinac, for successive weeks, and also by causing the same to be personally served at least fourteen days previous to said day of hearing, upon all persons at law or said ward if they be found in said County.

"WE And Our NEIGHBORS

is the latest and richest work by

Harriet Beecher Stowe,

Author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "The Minister's Wooing," "My Wife and I" and other powerful stories, each the literary sensation of the period; and this story possesses a like genuine and wholesome sensation. It leans directly on social topics of interest, embracing the romance of domestic conquests, the brightness of happy homelife, the spicy conversations of unprejudiced associations, and such telling and profound domestic miseries as have led to the widespread Temperance movement of to-day.

Mrs. Stowe is now in the prime of that genius which wrote "Uncle Tom," ripened by years of study and observation. Her novels are immensely popular, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" alone outselling by hundreds of thousands any edition of any original work ever published save the bible. Her book ten years ago, "My Wife and I," created every contemporary such a furore and excelling most as "We" and "Our Neighbors" should be read by every home. This new serial is now running exclusively in the Weekly Family Newspaper,

THE CHRISTIAN UNION

HENRY WARD BEECHER, Editor.

In religious matters this paper is Evangelical and conservative; in political affairs independent and outspoken. It contains the best articles, and both short and serial stories from the foremost writers; it aims to maintain the highest standard in Religious Literature, Poetry, Art, Music, Science, News, Politics, Household and Family Affairs, with Sermon, Review Puzzles for the children, etc. Nothing is spared to make it a complete Newspaper for the Family, pure, entertaining, wide awake, and up with the times—a journal influencing in every one in the Household, young or old. Potato bugs are marching in vain for their favorite food. As yet the little creatures are poor in flesh and look rather discouraged at the prospect for a good crop.

Penis Rebbetz.—W. H. Earls, Professor of Criminical Absolism and Craniological Tripes—writes in English means "charter,"—has arrived in town and proposes to settle down among us. We believe a barber is a public benefit, and hope he will be patronized as such.

Confusion Endings.—A Buffalo paper says: "The King Iron Works have recently put into the propeller Dean Richmond one of Ley & Perry's compound engines, and the first round trip, just transpired, has shown quite satisfactory results in the economy of fuel as compared with the old engine. Some fifty to sixty of these engines are in use on the lakes."

HARDWOOD TIMBER.

Its Abundance in the Pine Lake Region.

The idea embodied in the brief item on the subject last week, seems to call for a more extended consideration of its merits. The vast Pine resources of Michigan have attracted the attention of the world, have made millionnaires, built up cities, and enlarged enormously the marine commerce of the Lakes. The extensive capital employed in the pine trade, and its attendant influence, have long ago drawn the attention of Congress in that direction, and scores of laws have been made, at an expense of millions of dollars. To such an extent has this pine commerce been entered into, that the great markets have been glutted, and stagnation in the pine lumber trade has been the result. In consequence, attention has been drawn to the situation of affairs as regards hardwood lumber. Throughout the older portions of the Northwestern States, where twenty years ago were forests of hardwood timber, no traces now remain but the bare stump. The axe of the pioneer has been called a "civilizer," but it has, at the same time, been a despoiler of riches, even in this new county. It is true that hundreds of men have been down the primeval wilderness and carved out homes in the deep forests, but in almost every case they have done so with scarcely a thought or a care about the value of the timber which fell before their axe-strokes. They selected their sites for their dwellings and their clearings upon considerations into which the relative or prospective value of different kinds of wood did not enter. Their "slashings" took no account of varieties or kinds of wood, and the forests have been wofully depleted of their wealth. It is sorrowfully true that in the Pine River region but limited opportunity has been offered for the utilization of hardwood timber, and that its wanton destruction has been a necessity, that the soil might be made to bring forth its fruits for the sustenance of the people. In view of these fact, we are glad that public attention has been drawn in this direction, and hope, ere long, to see the day when every hardwood tree will be made to serve some useful purpose. The appreciation in the price of hardwood, referred to last week, is mainly owing to the wholesale destruction which has been so common, and as the rate of consumption increases, the prices must continue to be enhanced. The great treeless West is becoming rapidly peopled, and farming implements of every character must be distributed. Hardwood is as indispensable as iron in their construction, and the fact that Michigan must furnish the greater portion of that commodity, suggests the importance of greater economy of our timber, and more emphatically suggests the necessity of rendering it more accessible to milling agencies. Along the shores of Lake Michigan are a score of harbors, built indirectly by Pine interests, but where on the shore has Congress paid any attention to the subject to which we desire to call your thoughts? So long as the present condition of affairs last, the great wealth of this region must be destroyed by the settler's torch: but when the proper opening of Pine River harbor takes place, the marketing of our hardwood iron will assist its owner in the preservation of timber that would otherwise be destroyed, that his children may harvest the profits of its increasing value. It is a true saying that "one generation of men owe something to posterity." From every point of view the subject is an important one, and we are confident that its importance is every day becoming more apparent.

Tare.—An exchange truly says: "If a village, though it may have all the natural advantages of a beautiful location, and be surrounded by productive farming country, where the rich soil needs but half cultivation to yield enormous crops of grain and fruit, will sit down without effort, and wait for some man, or company, or corporation to come along and inject life and energy into it with a syringe, it will wait in vain. Capitalists do not go about the country seeking dead things to animate. They do not seek communities that make no effort, and force them to be prosperous in spite of their inactivity. They rather seek localities where activity instead of sloth is the rule.

The Country Paper.—The position of a country editor is attended with many responsibilities, and is one of great benefit or considerable damage to a community, in proportion as the editor improves or abuses his opportunities. The country paper is a standing advertisement to the outside world of the place where it is published. If prosperous looking and cheerful in tone, men say that paper has a patronage and represents a liberal community. If well filled with advertisements, they argue that the business men are progressive and wide awake, with a sharp eye to their interests, whether times are good or not. A well supported country paper, is a splendid advertisement for its locality, and powerful magnet of immigration; while a slipshod, half-starved, ill-patronized sheet, argues either poverty or meanness in its patrons, and acts as a certain repellant to capital and population."—Ex.

Correction.

The report now being industriously circulated that a certain merchant of Charlevoix, who solicited subscriptions for dredging on the lower river had paid Capt. Mahoney $25 and appropriated the remainder to his own use, has no foundation in fact, but is merely circulated to deter persons from subscribing toward the present dredging. The essential points in this statement can be satisfactorily proven by the subscribers.

D. C. Nettleton.

June 6, 1874.

The Rivers.—In company with Henry Morgan, Esq., on Thursday, we made a careful examination of the immediate mouth of the river. Our observations firmly convinced us that after the completion of the contract, already let, of removing the north pier to the bank of the channel, nine feet of water can easily be kept. We believe, as we go to press, arrangements are being made to secure the dredge for a day or more—part of the work to be put on the upper river. We hope our people will take advantage of the favorable circumstances, and subscribe liberally to the fund.

The Elk Rapids Progress says: "The Charlevoix Sentinel has our thanks for its compliments to the Pioneers. Brother Smith knows how to say a neat thing. We also notice that he is thoroughly aroused on the subject of improving the outlet of Pine and Round lakes. We should judge the project to raise $5,000, to improve the channels, meets with opposition, though we are hardly able to see on what grounds our intelligent objections can be based. The proposed improvement is a much needed one, and would prove of great vale to the entire county. Investments of that nature are always profitable."

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE — FREE FROM — ALCOHOL

PURELY — MEDICINAL

DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the foul, colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fortified.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc., in these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and malignant cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent, Intermittent, and Chronic Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Scurfiness, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

TROUT.—Hon. A. B. Turner, and Hon. Norman Bailey, during their recent trip up the Jordan, caught over 600 speckled trout. They left for another expedition yesterday.

THE Election came off on Saturday last, and the reports seem to indicate that a large majority of the votes were cast in favor of the loan. Charlevoix went unanimous for it, and Norwood nearsimous against.

THOMAS.—The propeller Fountain City which passed down on Thursday, had on board 12,000 pigiron, taken from the vicinity of Frankfort. The firm which netted those pigeons have shipped over 3,000,barrels from this district to Eastern markets.

JOHNSON.—A schooner lately went ashore on Fox Island, and jettisoned 20,000 bushels of corn. J. Wagley, of Oconto Village, picked up 4,500 bushels of it with his schooner, and Tim Smith, of this place, arrived on Wednesday with a cargo in his new boat.

CAPT. STEGNER'S steam dredge arrived in the harbor yesterday, and dredging has commenced in the upper river. It is hoped that we may be able to secure seven feet of water in the upper channel, and nine in the lower. Work will be commenced on the south pierhead soon.

SAD ACCIDENT.—The large show-bill board erected on Bridge street by Magner & Co., fell on Sunday morning last, breaking the thigh of a six-year-old son of A. G. Aldrich, of this village, and slightly injuring a young daughter of the same gentleman. The boy is doing well.

MARINE.—It has been another busy week for Charlevoix. The schooner Grosbeak was loaded with Morgan & Bartholomew's lumber, and left on Wednesday for Kingston. The schooner Ithica, and scow Contest, from Kewaunee, with wood for Newman, and the schooner Driver, from Chicago, took away a cargo of posts, ties and telegraph poles for Morgan Yesterday the scow Agnes, from Cheboygan, entered the harbor for a cargo of lumber for Esterly & Co.

TAN BARK.—An opportunity has presented itself whereby our people may utilize an article of which every farmer has an abundance. A gentleman from Kenosha proposes to pay $3.00 per cord for hemlock bark delivered on the banks of Pine Lake or South Arm. See advertisement.

SIDE WALK.—A wide and substantial side-walk has just been completed on Bridge street, from the bridge to Mr. Ainslie's residence. We hope others will follow the example, and provide cut clings with walks. The expense to each one is not great, and, taken altogether, the improvement to the village will be surprising.

APOLOGY.—The plasterers and painters intended as from our office immediately after our last issue, and we were unable to resume business until Thursday last, which circumstance accounts for the curtailed appearance of our paper this week. We are now very easily situated, and invite our friends to call and see us.

The Charlevoix River Improvement.

A project has run against a legal snag and sunk in the bed of the stream. The Board of Supervisors recently decided to submit, on the 6th of June, to a vote of the people, the question of authorizing them to borrow by tax several thousand dollars, for the purpose of forwarding the improvement. The subject was receiving a lively discussion throughout the county and considerable opposition especially from that class of croakers who always oppose any public improvement. It also seems that there were valid reasons for questioning the propriety of such proceedings. Some persons are always more forcibly impressed in such projects than others, and are too apt to push them through regardless of consequences. The result is that they often overreach their ends and destroy the prospects they might have had of accomplishing any legitimate object they might desire in the premises. In this case, the legal objections raised were finally decided by the more intelligent friends of the project, of sufficient importance to warrant investigation. As individuals they applied to two sources, Hon. S. C. Moffatt and Isaac Marston, Attorney-General, and procured just such opinions as might have been officially procured by the Board of Supervisors. Indeed, among the illegal steps The action of the Board was strictly based on its supposing that a river is a highway, and that they were consequently authorized to take such action by virtue of sections 9 and 11, of Article X of the Constitution. After a careful examination the Attorney General is of the opinion that a river is not a highway, within the meaning of said sections Mr. Moffatt's opinion agrees with this position. This knocks the piss from under the Supervisors. The friends of the project accept these opinions as correct, and consider their actions "suddenly frustrated." The improvement itself is desirable as it may be for the general interest of the county, has received a check which will be difficult to recover from. The opposition will take courage, and the indifferent and lake warm supporters of the measure will lose confidence in the wisdom of their County Representatives and the active supporters of the scheme. These opinion could just as well have been procured by the Board beforehand and saved the appearance of ill-advised action They do not seem to have been sought for at all by the Board, but were finally obtained by individuals, in the hope of overcoming some real or pretended legal objections urged by the opponents of the scheme. Now to the chagrin of the friends of the measure they suddenly find themselves all in the wrong, and the Board in the attitude of asking the people to vote an illegal tax. It shows that ill-advised action is worse than no action. We do not mean to be understood as saying that town and county officials should always follow the legal advice they may get, but they assume too many grave and unwarrant-

ELECTION NOTICE.

CHARLEVOIX, Michigan, {
May 7th, 1874.

TO THE ELECTORS OF CHARLEVOIX COUNTY:

You are hereby notified that at a Special Meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Charlevoix held on the 4th and 5th days of May, 1874, it was ordered by said Board that a special Election be held in the several Townships of said County on the 6th day of June next for the purpose of determining the question of raising by a County loan the sum of four thousand dollars to be expended in deepening the two Channels of Pine River in said County and securing the same by providing the necessary public buildings, said work to be under the direction of said Board of Supervisors. Said loan to be negotiated by issuing County Bonds payable as follows: One hundred and one of said bonds for two hundred dollars each the first day of March, 1876, and the balance on the first day of March 1877.

Electors coming in favor of the proposed loan will vote on the said last day of June, deposit ballots on which are written or printed the words "For the loan" and those voting against such loan will have written or printed on their ballots the words "Against the loan."

By order of the Board of Supervisors.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at Charlevoix, the day and year above written.

☞ The mail that went out of the two hundred newspapers in the State last one fourth of the number have come out and expressed opinions on the important questions of current interest.

☞ The Saginaw Republican says: "Three Hunters, named Lee, on the Pinconning river, killed, in one day, 200 ducks, which is one of the largest of killing records."

☞ Of May 31st in the United States Court fell a verdict in Hopkins judgement was rendered against the township of Allegan for $92,000, which amount was one of the largest ever paid by that town in and of railroads.

☞ Frank Brownell, the avenger of Col. Ellsworth, this week, and was in Troy the other day. He is a modest young man and pockets nothing which the region to pushing himself on exhibition.

☞ A lewd-town horse may be controlled by passing the rein from the ring on the off side over the head and through the left ring. The horse cannot resist this purchase, and will at once yield to the rein.

☞ There have been shipped from Marquette, Mich., for the season up to May 21, 24,650 tons of iron ore and 7,97 tons of pig iron. From Escanaba during the same time there were shipped 20,550 tons of ore, and 1,510 tons of pig iron.

☞ The whole family, including Mrs. Victoria Woodhull, Miss Tennie C. Claflin, Mrs Claflin and Col. Blood have all turned up in San Francisco, where they intend to go into business as stock brokers.

☞ One of the principal subjects brought before the State convention of Methodists at Jackson last week, was that of establishing an exclusive State paper to advocate the interests of the cause, as the Michigan brethren deem their educational. Passage to final action was agreed upon the paper will probably be started soon.

☞ On the morning of the 31st, Harvey Thomas, residing in Mayfield, who has been paralyzed in the lower part of his body for years, wheeled his chair up to his wife, kissed her, then threw her across over her head and stabbed her in the abdomen, inflicting a wound about eight inches deep. He then cut his own throat with a knife.

☞ While some Michigan cities and villages have gone rapidly since the commencement of there have decreased in population during the same time. Among the latter, is Saginaw, which in 1870, and had only 4,115 now. Flint in Jesse county had a population of 3,761 in 1870, but has only 3,000 now.

☞ Work is about to commence on the Centennial Exposition buildings this and a half acres of ground will be devoted to the art gallery which will cost $1,500,000, or within one Permanent given $500,000 and the city of Philadelphia $500,000. The machine hall will cost $600,000; the conservatory $200,000, the agricultural hall $400,000, and the cost of the main building will be $2,000,000.

☞ Hardly can but be admitted by all careful farmers, to be better for making flesh or milk than that which is half ripened and consequently is half woody-fibre. As a animal will eat constantly of hay which had its seeds matured before being cut, without increasing in flesh. Not so when fed on dried grass of early cut hay. Whatever reasons may be advanced by the advocates of late mowing, they are not supported by careful experiment or analysis.

☞ The Czar's visit to England has evidently put some modern ideas into his head. He is weakening very decidedly in the direction of the Nihilistic. Finding that there is no hanging about them, and that they are ready to make unlimited sacrifices for their principles, and that they are in earnest in securing homes in the United the police power and the stringency of the army laws, and even going so far as to say that they shall not be subject to military service. The change of policy is wise, but it is rather late. They have become pretty well settled in this immigration and will probably make thorough work of it.

The population of Port Huron this year by the official census is 7,419; an increase of 2,502 within four years.

The champion hen of Michigan is now worn by a hen belonging to John Hanson of Homer, Calhoun County, which laid an egg last week that measured 9 inches by 7½ in circumference, and weighed 6 ounces.

☞ According to late dispatches a terrible state of affairs exists on the frontier of Texas. There seems absolutely no safety for persons or property. In Nueces and Live Oak counties the cattle owners have abandoned the ranches, and are asking for authority to organize and put down themselves. The Indians have driven off over one hundred head of cattle Cooches within the last few days. At Corpus Christi a committee of safety has been appointed by the citizens with authority to act immediately. It is probable that the military will soon be there at once.

☞ A Bay City despatch to the Detroit says: Meteors appear to be flocking in this vicinity today. Since August last a watch was kept on the north. In two hours and forty minutes it noticed one from the east, one from the west, and two from the south. Between 10 and 11 o'clock this morning a meteor appeared in the south, and in the course of the next forty minutes, to the three seen by the watcher there were ten meteors.

SATURDAY, - - JUNE 29, 1874.

☞ It is on the rapid enhancement of the marketable polygamy a season in Utah has favored both houses of Congress.

☞ There are now six vessels in process of construction at Manitowoc, Wis., designed for parties in Milwaukee and Chicago.

☞ The Roman Catholic pilgrims from the country have made a favorable impression at Paris, and were cheered and kissed by the Archbishop.

☞ It appears that the Manistee Times meddler has at last come to a focus. The replacing line of Pioneer co. Hudson has been decided in favor of the latter, the jury bringing in a verdict of $4,000.

☞ State Senator Moses F. Brown has decided that a man cannot become a Grangee who is following another pursuit, though he owns a farm tilled by members of his own household; neither can a miner or manufacturer of agricultural implements.

☞ The date of the Republican State Convention has been fixed at August 26th, and Lansing is designated as the place. The time will afford all the opportunity that is needed for a brief and effective campaign.

☞ Queen Victoria has gone to Balmoral Castle, Scotland, and it is thought that the Princess of Wales, who usually stays behind to superintend house cleaning at Windsor, will shove it off this year on the husband of Edinburgh.

☞ A bill has been introduced into Congress providing for a canal connecting Lake Michigan, the Illinois, the Mississippi, and Rock rivers. The bill proposes a canal sixty-four miles long to be constructed, at a cost of $8,000,00. An improvement of this kind is very much needed, and it is hoped that it will meet with no opposition.

☞ We have received a Bill which has passed the House, establishing life-saving stations on the sea and lake coasts in which we see the following for Lake Huron:—Point au Barques 15; complete life-saving station: North Point Thunder Bay, a lifeboat station; Forty-Mile Point, a complete life-saving station

☞ Gen. Grant has recently given publicity through Senator Conkling to his financial views. They sound enough on resumption of specie payments to satisfy the hardest hard money man. The inflationists got no information from them. It is believed that he would not approve of any currency bill that does not provide for a return to specie payments during his administration.

☞ Secretary Boutwell pays to Lake boatmen generally observed through the Northern States sand on any former occasion in Washington the graves of both the Federal and Confederate dead were decorated; but in the States South of the Ohio no attention seems to have been paid to the day except in some cases by the colored population.

☞ Ben Butler is opposed to the removal of the tax from bankers' extract, giving as his reason that it would prove a rapid destruction to the bankers' forests. If Butler will visit Michigan this summer he will find just large timber forest that if he was set down in the centre of one he would need a considerable length of time, pluck and energy to extract himself out of it.

☞ The Senate Committee on Commerce, in reporting the River and Harbor Appropriation bill, recommend the insertion of $25,000 for the improvement of the Detroit River. The committee recommend striking out the second section of the bill which directs surveys and examinations to be made at a large number of specified points throughout the country. An appropriation of $50,000 was made by the House for this purpose.

☞ To brain-workers frequent short holidays are better than longer ones at wider intervals. Some men work like slaves for about eleven months in the year, and then think to make it all right by a month's holiday. This is a mistake. One or two days a week, taken regularly, would do much more beneficial without disarranging the system and the habit. He should take our work as our food—never too much or too little at at time.

☞ Jay A. Hubbell, was born at Avon, Michigan, September 15, 1829, graduated at the University of Michigan in November, 1855; was elected district attorney of the Upper Peninsula in 1857, and again in 1856; removed to Houghton, Michigan, in 1860, was elected prosecuting attorney of Houghton county in 1861, '63, and '65, was engaged in the practice of law until 1870, and has been identified with the development of the mineral interest of the Upper Peninsula, was elected to the Forty-third Congress as a Republican, receiving 11,551 votes against 7,156 votes for S. P. 22y, Liberal Republican and Democrat.

☞ The other day an Illinois member of Congress who has but a slight personal acquaintance with Blaine, concluded it his duty to unduly remonstrate with the Speaker on his presidency in the chair during the preceding day. He accordingly stepped up to the desk. In a low tone he said: "Mr. Blaine, I am not very familiar with you, and so I cannot speak as freely as I would to an old friend. But I feel I ought to tell you that you made a d—d fool of yourself yesterday." Blaine answered, with a sigh, "I'm afraid I did forget myself." Then breaking into a chuckle, he added: "What kind of language do you use when reproving a man with whom you consider yourself thoroughly intimate?

☞ Weeds are again gathering over France. A Paris special to the Times reports 1,278 Orleist today will generally subscribe a bill, the first clause of which declares the Republic according to the bill of 1873, and the second fixes the date of the dissolution of the assembly. The Gaulois says that civil war will be the immediate consequence of the dissolution. It is generally thought that the cost of dissolution, the assembly, before dispersing, will authorize Marshal to govern six months, probably a year without the assembly, and will authorize him to dissolve the next assembly. The crowd at the depot and evening numbered 10,000 and the police cannot manifested sympathy with the Democratic.

State News.

A canal between Grand Rapids and Lake Michigan is proposed.

A correction in the census returns of Bay City makes the population 10,058.

Seven large bears were trapped near Farewell, last week, by a party of hunters. It is barely possible they were caught.

During the month of May, 26 convicts were received at the State Prison, 12 discharged, one died and one pardoned, leaving 600 in prison.

A dwelling house belonging to Oscar Lewis, of Hillsdale, was destroyed by fire on Thursday last; loss, $700.

During May the lumber shipped under the law in Bay City was 16,700, 434 feet, from Saginaw, 14,160 911.

Six of William H. Vanderbilt's horses to compete at the Grand Rapids races have arrived in that city by special car from New York.

Ralph C. Smith, a well-known real estate dealer and on old citizen of Detroit, committed suicide last Saturday, with pistol said. Cause, mental derangement, caused by financial troubles.

The Marquette Journal remarks patriotically: "A few of the Marquette ladies observed Decoration Day here Saturday. Their efforts were all confined to their own premises.

A Calhoun county cow of native breed, weight 800 pounds, and the property of Samuel Closson, of Marengo, gave 30½ pounds of milk between May 10 and 16.

During the past week 20,325 pieces have been rafted out the Tittabawassee boom. The total number of pieces rafted out to date, is 516,272, scaling about 80,000,000 feet.

There is a board in the Lumber Inspector's office of the Saginaw district that is regarded as a curiosity. It is 12 feet long and 12 inches wide and contains 610 knots.

A Philadelphia firm has purchased a tract of land near Kent, which contains 40,000 00- feet of timber, and propose to erect a fine mill.

The body of Wm. Jacklin was found recently dead, on the old Palmyra Railroad track by the side of a freight car, at Adrian, on the 5th. He had prepared a noose about his neck and hitched the end to an iron hand piece on the car. Then he shot himself through the head.

A fighting cock owned by M. Henry Gabriel, of Spring Arbor, Jackson county, imbedded its spur so deep in the temple of a child 10 months old that the spur had to be broken off, and child had to be taken to Jackson to have the part left in the bone extracted. So says the Patriot.

It has just been ascertained, from certain correspondence of Mason, Slidell, and other representatives of the Confederate archives purchased by the Government some two years ago, that the British Government proper was absolutely opposed to any countenance or recognition of the movement to dissolve the Union; that Mason tried in vain for over a year to get an audience with the then Premier of England for the purpose of pressing his request and demanding recognition of belligerent rights, and that he has London in disgust and regard to these, where, as a result, himself and family and with green envelopment, living in the late Emperor Napoleon a warm sympathizer. These papers and documents are likely to prove of very great value in writing out a faithful history of the rebellion.

The following is said to be one of the best applications in cases of burns or scalds, burns especially where a large surface is denuded of the skin: Take one dram of finely-powdered aloes and mix thoroughly with the whites of two eggs and one teacup of fresh lard; spread on a cloth and apply to the parts burnt. It gives almost instant relief from pain, and in excluding the air prevents inflammatory action. The application should be changed at least once a day.

Farms & Farming Lands

Bought and sold on commission.

We are now preparing an Abstract of Titles of Emmet County. It will be completed in a few weeks, and after that time further Abstracts on short notice.

Charges Reasonable.

We have some of the most desirable locations of Indian selections of Farming Lands which we offer at very low figures:

No. 1. 80 acres. First rate farming land. Situated 2½ miles from Little Traverse harbor; well timbered—beech and maple and, with sandy loam; will be sold very cheap. S. ½ of sec. of section 30, Town 36 north, of Range 6 west.

No. 2. 40 acres. S. ½ of S. ½ of sec. 30, Town 34 North, of Range 5 west. 2½ miles from Petoskey City, with 10 acres cleared; small log house; will be sold at a bargain.

No. 3. 160 acres. N. ½ of S. ½ of sec. 1, and fractional one-half of section 37. Will be sold in separate descriptions or in a body. Has a large creek running the whole length, with good water powers. Well timbered, and will be sold cheap for cash. This is one of the best chances in the country for a person wishing to engage in the milling business.

We have also a great many descriptions of Farming lands near Petoskey City, which we will sell at reasonable prices. Some of these lands have not been improvements, and can easily be made into farms.

CROCTAN comes out this week with a new advertisement. His Mosquito Preventive has already become famous.

THE propeller Fountain City grounded at the mouth of Chicago harbor on the 10th, drawing only thirteen feet of water.

CARPENTER & SEE, in their new advertisement this week, tell the people in a few plain words what they are doing, and will continue to do. Read it.

THE Grand Rapids and Indiana R. R. now run tri weekly trains to Petoskey, connecting with steamers to Mackinaw, making it a pleasant route.

POTATO BUGS.—Farmers from around about say that the potato bugs have fairly made their debut, but so far in no very alarming numbers.

STEADY employment at getting out hemlock tan-bark will be given to all who desire to take advantage of the opportunity, by applying to the publisher of this paper.

FESTIVAL.—The ladies of the M. E. Church Aid Society are arranging for a Festival and entertainment for the Fourth of July. A full programme will appear next week.

THE FOURTH AT BOYNE.—The good people at the head of Pine Lake are to celebrate the Fourth in good, old-fashioned style. Hon. E. H. Gross, of this place, is to be the orator.

JUSTICE COURT.—Alexander Mason (Indian) was arraigned before Justice Miller on Thursday, on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, and fined $5 and costs. Next.

ACCIDENT.—Henry Shores had a finger so badly injured in the machinery of the mill, at Norwood, on Thursday, that amputation was necessary. Dr. Lewis performed the operation.

FROM FRANKFORT.—The wrecking schooner Active has been searching for the propeller Westmoreland, which sank in Platte Bay some sixteen years ago, but has abandoned the work.

THE ARNIS arrived Sunday from Muskegon, having on board Capt. Moss' family. This little steamer is making regular trips up Pine Lake and the Arm. Her cards and time-table will appear next week.

DURING the month of May there were 25 Homestead entries at the Land Office, in Traverse City, covering 2,602, 60 100 acres; 35 "final proofs," covering 3629 19 100 acres; $1200 cash entries, covering 320 acres.

MEMS.—Hon. A. H. Turner had a fine collection of speckled trout stolen from the ice house of the Fountain City House, on Monday. Cooper offers a reward of $10 for any information that will lead to the detection of the thief.

MARRIED.—At the residence of the bride's father, in Norwood, on the 15th inst., by the Rev. Geo. L. Cole, Mr. Willard S. Spaulding, late of Norwood, to Miss Linda M. Stafford, of Norwood. That the happy couple may enjoy a long and prosperous wedded life, is the wish of the editor.

PERSONS.—T. L. Utley, of the firm of Utley & Co., of Neenah, Wis., has been in this section for the past few days in search of pigeons. This firm probably carry on the most extensive business of their line in the country. They shipped from Shelby, Oceana Co., this season, 300 barrels of pigeons, averaging 25 dozens to the barrel, and 21 barrels were shipped from Frankfort, by the same firm:

MARINE.—The scow Agnes took out a cargo of lumber for Geo. W. Easterly & Co., of Tuesday. The three-masted schooner Travis left the harbor Wednesday, with 119 cords of wood for Newman, destined for Chicago. The scow Maple Leaf left last evening for Chicago with a cargo of posts, lime, etc., for Morgan. Some difficulty was experienced in getting through rivers with full cargoes, owing to the unfinished condition of the channel, the situation of which is explained elsewhere.

NEW RESIDENCE.—Roy Peckham, Esq., of this village, has just completed a residence at the foot of Bridge street, which is a credit to the village, and a model of convenience. It has three floors, including basement, and is designed for a private boarding house for pleasure-seekers and invalids during the warm season. There is certainly no more pleasant village in which this class of people can sojourn, and we know of no more more comfortable nor homelike quarters than can be found with Aunt Peckham.

THE RIVER.—The improvement now in progress in the rivers has inspired our citizens with new courage. Two days' dredging has been done in the upper channel, which, with one half day more, will make a uniform depth of eight feet—which time will probably be expended. As we go to press the dredge is at work on the lower channel, and will continue until a depth of nine feet has been secured to lake Michigan. We hope those who have the matter in charge will be prompt in removing the south piles, as contemplated. Our people have responded liberally in the call for funds, and $850 has been subscribed during the past ten days. A certain degree of encouragement, however, is due to the kindness of Capts. Howard Stickney.

THE expression of an arrogant old Scotch woman that she was open to conviction, but he would like to see the man that could convince him," is a condensed but substantial epitome of the argument of certain individuals in our place, who still cling to their old opposition schemes. We advocated the measure up to the hour of its death, in good faith, believing that its wise progenitors knew what they were doing; and as a scheme calculated to promote general prosperity, it succeeded. It received ready support by the mass of the people. Circumstances well known to our readers frustrated our plans, and all contemplated proceedings in this direction were decided to be illegal. The illegitimate conception, we are sorry to say, was allowed to develop until its death was a struggle. It is plainly evident that yet a severer struggle would have been the result of delay in showing the people where they stood in the premises. We agree with the Progress that this still-born project should not have been conceived. Therefore, we say that those who refuse to take the Attorney General's opinion regarding its invalidity, as sufficiently correct to dissolve the project, evince a conceit not unlike that of the old Scotchman.

BOYNE FALLS.—A traveler reports that Boyne Falls, in this county, gives signs of future growth and prosperity, notwithstanding the hard times. A passenger train runs one way each day, carrying a respectable number of passengers. A depot building and water tank will soon be built, also a building for a store. Work on the dam at Boyne River is being prosecuted, and before long a first-class sawmill will be in operation, the machinery for which is ready to put in, fastened in which is a Jaffell water-wheel costing $600. The dam is being to constructed that that there will be two mill-sites afforded—one on each end. The east end will afford the site for the sawmill, while on the opposite side just as good a site will be afforded for a grist-mill, whenever the interests of the region shall demand it. PROCEEDINGS

Of the Board of Supervisors of Charlevoix County.

At a Meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Charlevoix held at Charlevoix on Monday, the 15th day of June, A. D., 1874, the following Supervisors were present:

Charlevoix—Edward H. Green.
Norwood—Orvis D. Wood.
South Arm—James A. Kost.
Marion—John Ward.
Boyne Valley—L. S. Robinson.
Evangeline—Hugh R. Miller.
Hayes—George W. Bailey.
Eveline—Asa Smith.

On motion, the proceedings of the meeting of June 4th were read and approved.

The following claims were presented and allowed:

W. S. Johnson, Dept. Sheriff,	$32 25
W. A. Smith, printing, etc.,	9 16
Asa Smith, attendance June 4,	3 50
" " mileage,	4 60
John Ward, attendance and services on Co. Treasurer committee,	10 50
James A. Kost, attendance, etc.,	13 62
W. A. Smith, printing, etc.,	1 25

The Committee on settlement with Co. Treasurers reported progress.

A petition from fifty-four citizens and freeholders of the Townships of Wilson, Boyne Valley and Evangeline, that the Board of Supervisors lay out and establish a highway from or near the quarter-post on the north section line of Section 1, in Town 32 North, of Range 8 West, thence in a south-easterly course to the east section line of Section 16, at or near the quarter stake on said section, in Town 32 North of Range 6 West, through the Township of Wilson and Boyne Valley, was presented, and, on motion, laid on the table.

The following resolution was introduced and adopted:

RESOLVED, That the County divest itself of all further responsibility in regard to the scow owned in common by the County and the Township of Eveline, and that the same be placed under the control of the Commissioner of Highways of the Township of Eveline; provided, that if the said scow be sold, the County to receive one-half the proceeds of said sale.

The Board then proceeded to canvass the votes cast at the Special Election held on June 6th, 1874, for the $5,000 River Loan, and found the following to be the result:

Number of votes cast "For the Loan,"	117
" " "Against the Loan"	47
Majority for the Loan,	70

On motion the Board adjourned.

JAMES A. KOST, Ch'n.
ASA BUTTARS, Deputy Clerk.

MORTGAGE SALE.—Whereas, default having been made in the conditions of a certain Mortgage made and executed on the nineteenth day of January, A. D. 1871, by Isaac Wixom, Highland Frost, Frank Wixom, Josiah Wixom, David Nimmons, Simon Wixom and Joseph Wixom, of the Town of Newton, of Little Traverse, Michigan, to Walter Clifford; which mortgage was duly recorded in the office of Register of Deeds for the County of Emmet, in the state of Michigan, on the nineteenth day of January, A. D. 1871, at two o'clock, p. m., in Liber one (1) of mortgages, on pages 206, 211, 212 and 213; on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of three hundred and ten dollars ($310) principal and interest, for the recovery of which no suit or proceeding at law or equity has been taken or instituted; Therefore, Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, the lands and tenements described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due of said mortgage, with interest and the costs and expenses allowed by law, and an Attorney fee of Fifty Dollars agreed in said mortgage to be paid, will be sold at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder, at the outer door of the School House, in the Village of Little Traverse, in said county of Emmet, (that being the building wherein the Circuit Court for the County of Emmet is held), on Saturday, the 22d day of August, A. D. 1874, at two o'clock in the afternoon. Said mortgaged premises are situated in said county of Emmet and State of Michigan, and are known and described as follows, to wit: The south half of lot numbered two (2) of Block thirteen (13), and the south half of lot numbered four (4), of Block thirteen (13), in the Village of Little Traverse, Michigan, according to a recorded plat of said Village as surveyed by Isaac Winter. Also the north half of the north-east quarter (¼) of fractional section six (6), in Township thirty-five (35) North, of Range five (5) West, containing seventy-nine and forty one-hundredths acres of land.

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

SATURDAY, - - JUNE 20, 1874.

☞ A bill for the rigid enforcement of the law against polygamy a crime in Utah has passed both houses of Congress.

☞ There are now six counties in process of construction at Manitowoc, Wis., designed for parties in Milwaukee and Chicago.

☞ The Roman Catholic pilgrims from this country have safely landed in France. At Paris they were sheltered and blessed by the Archbishop.

☞ It appears that the Manistee Times muddle has at last come to a focus. The republican convention of Bower vs. Hodgman has decided in favor of the latter, the jury bringing in a verdict of $1,321.

☞ State Senator Mooney, D. P. Brown has decided that it is rather unsafe to become a Granger who is following another pursuit, though he owns a farm tilled by members of his own household; neither can a miner or manufacturer of agricultural implements.

☞ The date of the Republican State Convention has been fixed at August 26th, and Detroit is designated as the place. The time will afford all the opportunity that is needed for a brief and effective campaign.

☞ Queen Victoria has gone to Balmoral Castle, Scotland, and it is thought that the Prince and Princess of Wales, who usually stays behind to superintend home-cleaning at Windsor, will share at all this year on the Duchess of Edinburgh.

☞ A bill has been introduced into Congress providing for a canal connecting Lake Michigan, the Illinois, the Mississippi, and Rock rivers. The bill proposes a canal sixty-four miles long to be constructed, at a cost of $4,000,00. An improvement of this kind is very much needed, and it is hoped that it will meet with no opposition.

☞ We have received a Bill which has passed the House, establishing life-saving stations on the sea and lake coasts in which are the following for Lake Huron :Point au Barques a complete life saving station; Tawas a complete life-saving station; Sturgeon Pt. a complete life-saving station; North Point Thunder Bay, a life-boat station; Forty-Mile Point, a complete life saving station

☞ Gen. Grant has recently given publicity thro. an Senator Conkle to his financial views. They sound enough on assumption of specie payments to satisfy the hardest hard money men. The inflationists go: no inspiration from them. It is believed that he would not approve of any currency bill that does not provide for a return to specie payments during his administration.

☞ Memorial Day seems to have been more generally observed throughout the Northern States than on any former occasion. In Washington the graves of both the Federal and Confederate dead were decorated; but in the States South of the Ohio River no attention seems to have been paid to the day, except in some cases by the colored population.

☞ Ben Butler is opposed to the removal of the tax from bankers extract, giving as his reason that it would prove a rapid destruction to the bankers forests. If Butler will visit Michigan this summer he will find both large bankers forest, that if he was set down in the centre of one he would need a considerable length of time, pluck and energy to extract himself out of it.

☞ The Senate Committee on Commerce, in reporting the River and Harbor Appropriation bill, recommend the insertion of $25,000 for the improvement of the Detroit river. The committee recommend striking out the second section of the bill which directs surveys and examinations to be made at a large number of important points throughout the country. An appropriation of $50,000 was made by the House for the purpose.

☞ To brain-workers frequent short holidays are better than longer ones at wider intervals. Some men work like slaves for about eleven months in the year, and then think to make it all right by a month's holiday. This is a mistake. One or two days a week, taken regularly, would be much more beneficial without disarranging the system and the habit. He should take air work as we take our food-never too much or too little at at time.

☞ Jay A. Hubbell, was born at Avon, Michigan, September 12, 1839, graduated at the University of Michigan, in November, 1859; was elected district attorney of the Upper Peninsula, in 1862, and again in 1866; removed to Houghton, Michigan. In 1869, was elected prosecuting attorney of Houghton county; in 1870, '72, and '74, was engaged in the practice of law until 1870, and has been identified with the development of the mineral interest of the Upper Peninsula, was elected to the Forty-third Congress as a Republican, receiving 11,651 votes against 7,345 votes for S. P. Ely Liberal Republican and Democrat.

☞ The other day an Illinois member of Congress who has but a slight personal acquaintance with Blaine, conceived it his duty to nobly demonstrate with the Speaker for his pro-slavery in the chair during the preceding day. He accordingly stepped up to the desk. In a low tone he said: "Mr. Blaine, I am not very familiar with you, and so I cannot speak as freely as I would to an old friend. But I feel I ought to tell you that you made a d—d fool of yourself yesterday." Blaine answered, with a sigh, "I'm afraid I did forget myself." Then breaking into a chuckle, he added: "What kind of language do you use when reproving a man with whom you consider yourself thoroughly intimate?"

☞ Canada are again gathering over France. A Paris special to the "—" says the Left Center to-day will probably introduce a bill, the first clause of which creates the Republic according to the bill of 1873, and the second fixes the date of the dissolution of the assembly. The Gazette de France says that Count —— will be the immediate consequence of the dissolution. It is generally thought that in the event of dissolution, the monarchy will have dispersing well authorized Marshall to govern six months probably a year without the assembly, and who will authorize him to dissolve the next assembly. The crowd at the depot last evening numbered 10,000 and the police closely manifested sympathy with the Bonapartists.

The body of Wm. Jacklin was found seated, dead, on the old Palmyra Railroad track by the side of a freight car, at Adrian, on the 5th. He had prepared a house about his neck and hitched the end to an iron hand-piece on the car. Then he shot himself through the head.

A fighting cock owned by M. Henry Talbott, of Spring Arbor, Jackson county, imbedded its spur so deep in the temple of a child, 10 months old, that the spur had to be broken off, and child had to be taken to Jackson to have the part left in the bone extracted. So says the Patriot.

It has just been ascertained, from certain correspondence of Mason, Slidell, and other representatives of the Confederate archives purchased by the Government some two years ago, that the British Government proper was absolutely opposed to any countenance or recognition of the movement to dissolve the Union; that Mason tried in vain for over a year to get an audience with his then Premier of Ministers for the purpose of presenting his case and demanding recognition of belligerent rights, and that he left London in disgust and rejoined in Paris where, as is known, himself and Slidell met with open encouragement, flattery in the fine Monsieur fashion, a voice accordingly. The following is said to be one of the best applications in cases of burns or scalds, more especially where a large surface is denuded of the skin: Take one dram of finely-powdered alum and mix thoroughly with the whites of two eggs and one teacup of fresh lard; spread on a cloth and apply to the parts burnt. It gives almost instant relief from pain, and in excluding the air prevents inflammatory action. The application should be changed at least once a day.

CARPENTER & SON, in their new advertisement this week, tell the people in a few plain words what they are doing, and will continue to do. Read it.

PERSONAL.—Hon. John S. Biron, who has been in Grand Rapids for the past few weeks, in attendance in U. S. Court, as Grand Juror, returned home Thursday.

POTATO BUGS.—Farmers from around about say that the potato bugs have fairly made their debut, but so far in no very alarming numbers.

STRAIT supplyment at getting out hemlock tan-bark will be given to all who desire to take advantage of the opportunity, by applying to the publisher of this paper.

FESTIVAL.—The ladies of the M. E. Church Aid Society are arranging for a Festival and entertainment for the Fourth of July. A full programme will appear next week.

THE FOURTH AT BOYNE.—The good people at the head of Pine Lake are to celebrate the Fourth in good, old-fashioned style. Hon. E. H. Green, of this place, is to be the orator.

JUSTICE COURT.—Alexander Macosa (Indian) was arraigned before Justice Miller on Thursday, on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, and fined $5 and costs. Next.

ACCIDENT.—Henry Shores had a finger so badly injured in the machinery of the mill, at Norwood, on Thursday, that amputation was necessary. Dr. Lewis performed the operation.

FROM FRANKFORT.—The wrecking schooner Active has been searching for the propeller Westmoreland, which sunk in Platte Bay some sixteen years ago, but has abandoned the work.

THE ANNIE arrived Sunday from Muskegon, having on board Capt. Moss' family. This little steamer is making regular trips up Pine Lake and the Arm. Her cards and time-table will appear next week.

DURING the month of May there were 25 Homestead entries at the Land Office, in Traverse City, covering 3,042, 60 160 acres; 35 "final proofs," covering 3602 10 160 acres; $1200 cash entries, covering 730 acres.

MEAN.—Hon. A. B. Turner had a fine collection of speckled trout stolen from the ice house of the Fountain City House, on Monday. Couple offers a reward of $10 for any information that will lead to the detection of the thief.

MARRIED.—At the residence of the bride's father, in Norwood, on the 15th inst., by the Rev. Geo. L. Cole, Mr. William H. Spaulding, late of Norwood, to Miss Louis M. Stafford, of Norwood. That the happy couple may enjoy a long and prosperous wedded life, is the wish of the editor.

PERSONAL.—T. L. Utley, of the firm of Utley & Co., of Neenah, Wis., has been in this section for the past few days in search of pigeons. This firm probably carry on the most extensive business of their line in the country. They shipped from Shelby, Oceana Co., this season, 300 barrels of pigeons, averaging 25 dozen to the barrel, and 91 barrels were shipped from Frankfort, " the same firm.

NEW BUSINESS.—Ray Peckham, Esq., of this village, has just completed a residence at the foot of Bridge street, which is a credit to the village, and a model of convenience. It has three floors, including basement, and is designed for a private boarding house for pleasure-seekers and invalids during the warm season. There is certainly no more pleasant village in which this class of people can sojourn, and we know of no more more comfortable nor homelike quarters than can be found with Aunt Peckham.

THE HOUSE.—The improvement now in progress in the rivers has inspired our citizens with new courage. Two days' dredging has been done in the upper channel, which, with one half day more, will make a uniform depth of eight feet—which time will probably be expended. As we go to press the dredge is at work on the lower channel, and will continue until a depth of nine feet has been secured to lake Michigan. We hope those who have the matter in charge will be prompt in removing the south jetty, as contemplated. Our people have responded liberally in the call for funds, and $550 has been subscribed during the past ten days. A certain degree of success, however, is due to the kindness of Capts. Hoeland Stickney.

THE expression of an arrogant old Scotchman that "he was open to conviction, but he would like to see the man that could convince him," is a condensed but substantial epitome of the argument of certain individuals in our place, who still cling to their opposition to the Boyne City R. R. We advocated the measure up to the hour of its death, in good faith, believing that its wise progenitors knew what they were doing; and as a scheme calculated to promote general prosperity, if successful, it received ready support by the mass of the people. Circumstances well known to our readers frustrated our plans, and all contingent further proceedings in this direction were decided to be illegal. The illegitimate conception, we are sorry to say, was allowed to develop until its death was a struggle. It is plainly evident that yet a severer struggle would have been the result of delay in showing the people where they stood in the premises. We agree with the Progress that this still-born project should not have been conceived. Therefore, we say that those who refuse to take the Attorney General's opinion regarding its invalidity, as sufficiently correct to dismiss the project, evince a conceit not unlike that of the old Scotchman.

BOYNE FALLS.—A traveler reports that Boyne Falls, in this county, gives signs of future growth and prosperity, notwithstanding the hard times. A passenger train runs one way each day, carrying a respectable number of passengers. A depot building and water tank will soon be built, also a building for a store. Work on the dam at Boyne River is being prosecuted, and before long a first-class sawmill will be in operation, the machinery for which is ready to put in, included in which is a Leffel water-wheel costing $600. The dam is being so constructed that there will be two mill-sites afforded—one on each end. The east end will afford the site for the saw-mill, while on the opposite side just as good a site will be afforded for a grist-mill, whenever the interests of the region shall demand it. Co. Treasurer committee,	16 50
James A. Keat, attendance, ect.,	13 81
W. A. Smith, printing etc.,	1 25

A petition from fifty-four citizens and freeholders of the Township of Wilson, Boyne Valley and Evangeline, that the Board of Supervisors by act and enactbish a highway from or near the quarter-post on the north section line of Section 1, in Town 32 North, of Range 6 West, thence to a south-easterly course to the east section line of Section 16, at or near the quarter stake on said section, in Town 32 North of Range 5 West, through the Township of Wilson and Boyne Valley, was presented, and, on motion, laid on the table.

The following resolution was introduced and adopted:

RESOLVED, That the County Treasurer of the County of Charlevoix be and he is hereby authorized to sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the outer door of the School House, in the Village of Little Traverse, in said county of Emmet, (that being the building wherein the Circuit Court for the County of Emmet is held) on Saturday, the 22d day of August, A. D. 1874, at one o'clock in the afternoon, said mortgage premises are situated in said county of Emmet, and State of Michigan, and are known and described as follows, to-wit: The west half of the southwest qr. (2) of Block thirteen (13), and the south half of the northerst qr. (4) of Block thirteen (13), in the village of Little Traverse. Michigan, according to a recorded plat of said village as surveyed by Isaac Weaver. Also the north half of the north east quarter (4) of sec. (1) of section (8), in Township eighty-five (85) North, of Range One (1) West, containing seventy-nine and forty one hundredths acres of land.

Dated, May 22, A. D. 1874.

WALTER CLIFFORD, Mortgagee.

S. B. GRANT, Attorney for Mortgagee. [13-26]

MORTGAGE SALE.—Whereas default having been made in the conditions of a certain Mortgage made and executed on the nineteenth day of January, A. D. 1874, by Truax Wagner, Charlevoix County, Michigan, Jonas Wagner, Isabel Niswander, Simon Kirchgessner, Susan Kirchgessner, and Tamah Nicholson, of Little Traverse, Michigan, to Walter Clifford, which mortgage was duly recorded in the office of Register of Deeds for the County of Emmet, in the State of Michigan, on the nineteenth day of January, A. D. 1874, at two o'clock p. m., in Liber one (1) of mortgages, on pages 301, 302 and 303; on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of three hundred and ten dollars ($310) principal and interest, for the recovery of which no suit or proceeding at law or equity has been taken or instituted. Therefore, Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, the lands and tenements described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage with interest and the costs and expenses allowed by law, and an Attorney fee of Fifty Dollars agreed in said mortgage to be paid, will be sold at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder, at the outer door of the School House, in the Village of Little Traverse, in said county of Emmet, (that being the building wherein the Circuit Court for the County of Emmet is held) on Saturday, the 22d day of August, A. D. 1874, at one o'clock in the afternoon. Said mortgage premises are situated in said county of Emmet, and State of Michigan, and are known and described as follows, to-wit: The west half of the southwest qr. (2) of Block thirteen (13), and the south half of the northerst qr. (4) of Block thirteen (13), in the village of Little Traverse. Michigan, according to a recorded plat of said village as surveyed by Isaac Weaver. Also the north half of the north east quarter (4) of sec. (1) of section (8), in Township eighty-five (85) North, of Range One (1) West, containing seventy-nine and forty one hundredths acres of land.

Dated, May 22, A. D. 1874.

VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease that is kn' to mankind. Their use will convince the most skeptical of their curative powers in a short time by the use of these bitters.
Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, or vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these bitters.
For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.
Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

THE OAK.

His Past a Wreck—The Future Grim and Ominous.

The Oak must be soon ground to fine powder or it will refuse to run their mill to the Wendell mill. The Detroit Telegraph says:

"The party made their longest halt in the factory where the Nasmyth hammer, the largest in the world—lifted with ten thousand pounds falling weight of the dread falling weight of the monster the oil mill added by a full pressure of ninety pounds to the square inch—a weight of fifty tons can be given by it with an equal control as a child can crumble paper into wadies. The imperial party accepted a specially-prepared platform to witness the lowering of the trunnion and one of the guns. The Grayonitish nut was screwed on a needle pointing with the minutest accuracy at a certain point. The massive bore of the human was waved, and on a fine invisible line the cannoneer of the gun stood. Then the whitehot cast-iron monster was lowered three feet into its cradle. The party then retired to the house of inspection, closed and open the colors, and the word of the steam hammer was given and the gun's under the manner. Three of our personal aides, known to the service, but the rest most of the hammer rendered representers unnecessary. Then coal, in the pudding is lazy, was added and the fire in the tank vibrating with the tremendous shock. The force wielded by such a steam as the lever of the cranse was screwed up, and the hammer was subject to a steam power upon forged iron. Then the [illegible] assembly in one test piece on the bottom passed unscrupulously through the heavy injury and rejoicing cross, where they might have seen thick slices of metal peeled off the party [illegible] gun as quickly as a carpenter shaves. The party without breaking moves than a passing glance on the [illegible] cross on the bottom of the gun. Again we witness the surprising ease of the [illegible] hammer, which, in their new pulsels, by a comparatively [illegible] of steam made to [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible] under the manner. Thirty of our personal aides [illegible] the steam power

Lake freights are looking up.

The population of Flint is 8,106.

A great scarcity of local news this week.

The Echo Reporter has been converted into a large.

Rowers or Mayer Cards for sale at Crouter's.

The following is an epitaph over the grave of a sea captain near Thurso: "He's done a catching cod, and gone to meet his God."

The copartnership existing between Julianus, Hinds & Co., of Northport, has been dissolved, Mr. Hinds retiring from the firm.

The large steam barge Jamison, which went ashore on North Manitou Island last fall, has been released, and was towed to Detroit on Thursday.

NOTICE.—We are requested to announce that the stores of Fox Rose & Buttars, Carpenter & See and Byron See's, will be closed at three o'clock on the 4th of July.

BOOTS AND SHOES.—R Hutton, an experienced boot and shoe maker, has established himself in the Chamberlain building and asks for a share of the public patronage. See advertisement.

A business man at Spencer Creek writes us: "I like your paper tip top. You seem thoroughly wide-awake; and now that the cars are running through to Petoskey, our interests seem nearer together than heretofore. I wish you success."

REVIVAL.—Preaching in this village to-morrow both morning and evening, by Rev. Geo. L. Cole.

—Rev. Geo W. Wood will preach at the Bear River school house to-morrow at 11 a. m. and at Petoskey at 4 p. m.

REMEMBER the Ladies' M. E. Church Aid Society is to hold a festival and entertainment on the Fourth of July. The company will be served with ice-cream, strawberries, etc, and the entertainment will be composed of singing, speeches and recitations.

SODA FOUNTAIN.—Dr. Lewis has received his new Soda Fountain, and has it in operation. We now have two of these fountains in the village, and both are well patronized. No more cooling or healthy beverage can be found this warm weather than a glass of soda water.

ENLARGED.—The Big Rapids Magnet comes to us enlarged to a six-column quarto, and otherwise greatly improved in its make-up. We considered the Magnet one of our best exchanges before, but now we consider ourselves highly favored by having it upon our exchange list.

The prospects for crops are greatly improved by copious rains throughout the county.

THE GRAND TRAVERSE Herald says: Messrs. Worley & Burnett sold this week over a half ton of pork to fishermen at their packing house at Leer's point, twelve miles down the bay from this village. These men have four large operations in the business, and before long can be carried on here successfully and profitably. They put up a large amount of pork last winter and expect to ship fresh while fish and trout in Grand Rapids Kalamazoo, Fort Wayne, Richmond, Cincinnati and other places.

ODD FELLOWSHIP.—The following newly-elected officers of Charlevoix Lodge, No. 287, F. & A. M., were publicly installed at Fox & Buttars' Hall by Past Master F. J. Lewis, of Torch Lake, on Wednesday evening last: W. M., A. Holmes; S. W., Jackson Ingalls; J. W., A. G. Ashley; Treas., Amos Fox; Sec., M. J. Buckman; Chaplain, Rev. Geo. L. Cole; S. D., R. Cooper; J. D., O. S. Washburn; Stewards, S. M. See, W. H. Garr; Tyler, Newton Balch. The lodge is well officered, and in a prosperous condition.

OUR AIMS.—In our editorial appointments the conviction crept in by necessity, of a Blue Lake steamer? In these hard times it becomes a duty to foster and encourage every such public interest. If this Blue craft should be driven off from our waters by a short-sighted system of parsimony, it would be a retrograde movement indeed. If such be the case, there is reason to rejoice, when repentance would be of no avail. At present, small boats come to town and return loaded both ways; while the steamer is so poorly patronized that its owners have reason to be discouraged.

"RIVER IMPROVEMENT."—After all the cry of "river improvement" which has been supported here in the name of the Republican party, by an appropriation for Charlevoix harbor, the late Congressional report on the Harbor and River Appropriation Bill, shows an excess of $1,000 over that of last year. Of this $2,000 is for surveys. This report was adopted without any considerable opposition, which seems strange after the expressed sentiment of Congress in the direction of retrenchment. We have confidence, however, that Mr. Hubbell did all in his power to secure something for us. We are "in line," and when our turn comes, we apprehend our position will be liberal.

JAMES BROWN, of Kalamazoo, has decided that a woman cannot be forced to testify as to the loving drunk intoxicating liquors at a certain time and place, if such actions occurred under cover of the conjugal vessel and to criminate herself. To be drunk in a private place is a misdemeanor punishable by fine and imprisonment, and the fact of the witness having been a couple drunk would not judge him to be a fool in the eyes of matrons going to grave such decisions. A witness of course knows whether he has been drunk on a particular occasion, and whether the wife knows accurately as to whether she is a criminal prosecution, and if he or she thinks he is justified in refusing to answer.

THE MARINE.—Work progresses slowly in relaying the tramway Marine. A channel has been dredged from the outer water along her side, and repeated efforts have been made by the tug, and the use of screws, to pull her into it. Owing to the nature of the soil in which she lies, the enormous hawsers have been several times parted in pulling on her. Another large tug has been sent for, and with the additional assistance this is to be afforded, and by use of new lines, it is hoped she will be got off. It has been a very expensive job thus far for both owners and contractors—about $10,000 having already been expended in the vain endeavors to release her. She is one of the largest and finest vessels of her class, and is valued at $60,000. Her owners are the most anxious to get her off.

OFF THE RIVER.—The steam-dredges finished digging in the river on Tuesday noon, and was towed to Cheboygan on Wednesday. We have now eight feet of water over the outside bar, and seven and one-half in the upper river. It is the intention of those who seem to be engineering the matter, to put in the necessary slab-work, and remove the south pier as soon as the heavy fall winds are over, and the channel fills up, so that vessels cannot pass up to distinguish them. There are no thieves in sight, and it would be a wide departure from our reputed laxity to look the stable-door until after the steed has been stolen. The elements will, of course, take cognizance of our situation, and delay Lord's gentle breezes until a convient occasion arises for us to prepare to meet them.

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

SATURDAY, - - JULY 4, 1874

☞ Postmaster General Cresswell has resigned and Hon. Eugene Hale, of Maine, has been appointed.

☞ Andrew Johnson, the celebrated ex-President of the United States, is to be nominated to deliver the Fourth of July oration in Rhode Island.

☞ A terrible accident happened lately on the sea of Marmora. An Egyptian vessel ran into and sank a Turkish craft. Three hundred and twenty out of three hundred and forty passengers were drowned.

☞ The St. Petersburg Gazette announces that railway officials have received orders to make arrangements for a visit of the Queen of England, who is expected to arrive in Russia about the 14th of September.

☞ The Dutch have suffered at the hands of the Achenenese a thorough defeat, according to dispatches published elsewhere. Their second expedition to subjugate this nation of warlike barbarians has been annihilated, the Dutch losing 1,000 killed and 4,000 wounded.

☞ A bill recently passed both Houses in Congress, providing for a pension of $240 per month for each or both feet both hands, or both feet, or both eyes, or other wise totally disabled; also $24 per month for those who have lost an arm above the elbow, or a leg above the knee.

☞ The act of losing happy lies in the power of extracting happiness from very common things. If we pitch our expectations high, if we are arrogant in our contentions, if we will not be happy except when our self-love is gratified, our pride stroked, our vanity fed, or a fierce excitement kindled, then we shall have but little satisfaction out of this life.

☞ The Carlists, notwithstanding the statements, of late, that they were becoming demoralized and weakened by the advent of Alfonso to the throne, are reported as constantly defeated factions, seem to have had sufficient cohesive and distructive power to make a terrible defeat for the Republicans before Estella. The defeat, if correctly reported, is a terrible one for the regular government.

☞ One day more these weeks since, a book-keeper in the employ of a lumber firm in Detroit, Michigan, became suddenly ill, and the Free Press says the several physicians who were called decided that one of his lungs was effected with a disease caused by reaching his side across the table. He was told that the disease would break within two days, and the chances were that he would die. He made preparations for his decease, and his death occurred within a few minutes after the above broke.

☞ The French Assembly has finally taken a stand. Asks the numerous "indicators" and attempted compromises of the past few weeks, in which the factions have been thrown into endless confusion, that portion of the Right representing a personal sentiment, and represented, for the nonce, alike by Legitimists, Bonapartists, and MacMahonites, has achieved a signal victory. It rests all hopes of either a monarchy or permanent republic at the hands of the Committee of Thirty, and yet insures MacMahon's term of service.

☞ A copy of Theodore Tilton's extraordinary letter reopening the Plymouth Church scandal was sent by special messenger lately to the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, now on his farm at Peekskill. Early in the day the Rev. Dr. Edward Beecher, a brother of Henry Ward and a sharer, with Thomas G. Shearman, lawyer, in the managements of Plymouth Church with references to the Beecher scandal, was asked what he thought of the new phase of the scandal. He replied that he could give no opinions but supposed Tilton's letter could be answered satisfactorily if it should be deemed necessary. He sent to the office of Shearman with whom he had an interview several hours long. Shearman subsequently said he did not believe Tilton's allegations of Beecher's guilt. A dispatch from Peekskill, states that Henry Ward Beecher in answer to a query as to what course he will pursue in view of the recent statement of Tilton, says he will not break the silence he has hitherto observed.

☞ Washington dispatch says that Mr. Cushing, the United States Minister to Spain, has made a peremptory demand upon the Spanish Government for full indemnity for the Virginius prisoners slain by order of Gen. Burriel, and for consequential damages. The same authority makes Secretary Fish say that the American Government has made a present demand, and one quite as decided and peremptory as that made by the British Government, for indemnity for the lives of the prisoners destroyed and the loss to their families.

☞ A committee of conference has reported, Congress has passed and the President approved a new currency bill which provides for the redistribution of the National currency, taking $27,000,000 from the Eastern States and assigning it to the West. It limits the volume of greenbacks to $382,000,000, the present amount outstanding. It also abandons the system of greenback reserves required to be held by the National banks, which, if taken advantage of by them, will set $70,000,000 more currency afloat. It is thought by many, however, that the banks will continue to hold their reserves though not compelled by law to do so now one opinion is that the act will affect the currency very little either one way or the other. We shall soon see, however, how it will work in practice.

☞ The Big Rapids Magnet upsets the renomination of Gov. Bagley, and injures L. G. D. Hadley by contrast—Saxe, while it also announces itself in favor of Hon. J. A. Hubbell for Representative in Congress from the Ninth District. Concerning the latter the Mag. and speaks as follows:

"Mr. Hubbell has labored earnestly for the interests of his constituents during the long session now nearing its close, and is no one opinion entitled to their hearty thanks and further support. At the commencement of the session, although a new member, his superior ability was recognized by the Speaker when he assigned him a position on Banking and Currency—and this from the most important in Congress. In addition to that, he was appointed upon the special committee to investigate the affairs of the District of Columbia which nearly or quite doubled its taxes, and although they have been arduous, he must performed them well. He has been absent from the capital scarcely a day since the beginning of the session, early in December last.

From Houghton Lake.

D. P. Creyts, Esq., has just returned from the upper waters of the Manistee.

He gives some interesting information of that country. He states that Houghton Lake is fourteen miles long and seven wide, and that it is only about 8 feet on the average, and a good deal more of it is only 3 or 4 feet deep. That Messrs. Davis & Hall are building a large boat, and that several million feet of logs are being put in there this season.

He built a cedar raft in town 25, 7, 02 which he floated in five days to the lower Manistee.

He found about 9 million feet of logs above the east line of Manistee county.

He found that the upper part of the river was in a better condition for floating logs than the lower part, it being more free from fallen trees.

Herald was three tons in pieces and he got into the river two or three times and floated on a log a long way. He had a narrow escape.—Dunkirk Advertiser Times.

Farms & Farming Lands

Bought and sold on commission.

We are now preparing an Abstract of Titles of Emmet County. It will be completed in a few weeks, and we can then furnish Abstracts on short notice.

Charges Reasonable.

We have some of the most desirable locations of Indian selections of Farming Lands which we offer at very low figures:

No. 1. 80 acres. First rate farming land. Situated 24 miles from Little Traverse harbor; well timbered—beech and maple; soil, rich sandy loam; will be sold very cheap. E½ of set. of section 30, Town 36 North, of Range 6 west.

No. 2. 40 acres. S½ of sec. section 30, Town 34 North, of Range 5 west. 24 miles from Petoskey City, with 10 acres cleared; small log house; will be sold at a bargain.

No. 3. 160 acres. N½ of sec. and E½ of sec., and fractional one-half of section 32. Will be sold in separate descriptions or in a body. Has a large creek running the whole length, with good water powers. Well timbered, and will be sold cheap for cash. This is one of the best chances in the country for a person wishing to engage in the milling business.

We have also a great many descriptions of Farming lands near Petoskey City, which we will sell at reasonable prices. Some of these Lands have old Indian improvements, and can easily be made into farms.

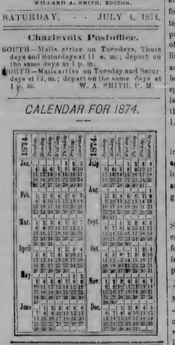
CALENDAR FOR 1874.



Local News.

Marine Report.

For the week ending Friday noon, July 3:

Friday, 26—Idaho—up, Van Haste, from Mackinac; Wade, up.

Saturday, 27—Van Haste, from Traverse City.

Sunday, 28—Montgomery, down; schr. Emma, from Algoma.

Monday, 29—Schr. J. Bean, from Chicago; Van Haste, from M.; Kobuck, down.

Wednesday, July 1—Van Haste, from M.; Gladiator, from Cheboygan.

Thursday, 2—Idaho, down; schr. Raleigh, from Chicago; Wade down; Van Haste, from Traverse City; tug Kate Moffatt, from Port Huron.

Total tonnage, 7,500.

The Rapids sawed 86,000 and has voted to pay it off.

The Postoffice will be closed at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The tug Kate Moffatt, of Port Huron, was at this port yesterday.

Rowen says a brick block will be erected in Charlevoix this season.

Thanks to Rev. Mr. Giddings for a basket of very fine strawberries.

The steamer Jamie makes three trips to the head of Pine Lake to-day.

Remember the ice-cream and strawberry festival in the grove on the west side of the village this afternoon.

The Benzonia Independent Company in Benzie County are manufacturing brick at the rate of 1,000 per hour.

Collision.—On Saturday, at Ludington, the schooner Dolphin collided with a sail scow and sunk in about thirty feet of water.

Geo. W. Ferrell & Co. are establishing a bedstead manufactory at Whitewater, Wis., to be run in connection with their mill here.

Residence.—Rev. Geo W. Wood has commenced the erection of a residence on the bank of Pine Lake, near Medad Thomson's farm.

Strawberries and pleasure-seekers are beginning to make their appearance in Charlevoix, and the season is now fairly over preparation for a lively season.

Hiram Carter has started a boot and shoe shop in the building opposite Fox, Rose & Buttars' store, and we recommend him to the favor of the public.

The several Township Treasurers are notified that the Primary School money assigned to their respective townships may be had by calling at the Co. Treasurer's office.

From all over the State comes the report that the strawberry crop is larger this year than it has been before in years, but the fruit-raisers say the season will be short.

Horse.—We regret very much our inability to accept the invitation to participate in the celebration at the head of Pine Lake. Prior engagements retain us at Charlevoix.

From all directions comes the cry of "hard times." The newer sections of the country do not suffer alone, but the rich lumber and farming regions are oppressed by the stringency.

The Rumors.—The Eagle has authority for saying that the Western Union Telegraph Company proposes to extend their line from Frankfort to Elk Rapids immediately, and to Charlevoix next season.

The following is said to be one of the best applications in cases of horns or scabs, upon especially where a large surface is denuded of the skin: Take one ounce of finely-powdered alum and mix thoroughly with the whites of two eggs and one teacup of fresh lard; spread on a cloth and apply to the parts burnt. It gives almost instant relief from pain, and in exchanging the air prevents inflammatory action. The application should be changed at least once a day.

July 4, 1874.

On this, the 98th Anniversary of American Independence, we send our paper forth to its readers, breathing general intelligence and local genius; telling the public of both the weal and the adversity of County, and State, and Nation; mingling in its budget the news from Kingdoms and Empires, whose people possess not the heritance of liberty. "Free press, free speech" are ours, and all over this great land a free people to-day arise and greet the world, as we now greet our readers. Long Live America!

There are ten iron steamers employed in the merchant service on the lakes, aggregating upwards of 10,000 tons carrying capacity. They all ply between Buffalo and Chicago in the freighting of flour and grain.

The work on the harbor of refuge at Sand Beach is well under way. It is estimated that it will require 50,000,000 feet of timber from five to ten years of labor and over $1,000,000 of money to complete it.

Military.—The new garrison for Fort Mackinac—Co. "C," 22d U. S. Infantry,—were on the propeller Idaho Thursday, on their way to their new quarters. They were formerly stationed at Fort Bauduil, Dakota Territory.

Religious.—Preaching to-morrow morning by Rev. Mr. Cole; evening, Rev. Mr. Wood.

—Rev. Mr. Wood will preach at the Geer school house, in Marion, at 10:30 A. M.

Lauren Pharmer.—The bids for the village property belonging to the Lauster estate were opened, and the following parties were found to be the successful bidders: Lot 5, Block 5, Bernard Burns, $200; Lot 8, Block 6, Ladies' Aid Society, $50; Lot 3, Block 5, M. J. Sheehan, $450.

Shipped.—The schr. J. Bean took out a cargo of wood for Newman on Thursday, and the schooner Travis is at the head of Pine Lake loading with wood for the same party as we go to press. The steamer Raleigh is at Lovely & Co's docks taking a cargo of lumber for Milwaukee.

Current Rise.—There will be a "boom" of men and teams in this village on Tuesday next to haul stone for the foundation of the Methodist Church edifice. Dinner will be provided for the men and grain for the teams. This will be an excellent opportunity for those who wish to assist in this good cause.

We visited the farms of Hugh Miller, S. S. Wakefield, and Medad Thompson, on Monday, and found the clover, potato-vines and log heaps spent a portion of the day in capturing wood chucks. It is exhilirating sport, and had not the mosquitoes driven us out we should have been there yet. Everything in this neighborhood looks thrifty.

We learn that Jas. A. Parsinnen, Esq., late of the firm of Williams & Parkinson, of Elk Rapids, has formed a law partnership with Jas. Hammill, of Jackson, Mich. He will not, therefore, return to the Traverse region. We are sorry to have Mr. Parkinson leave this part of the State, but nevertheless wish him the highest success in his new field of labor.—Herald.

Another Propeller.—A Detroit contractor is about to build a new propeller for Bridgeon's Sarnia line. It has already been commenced. The following are her dimensions: Length of keel 220 feet; length over all 235 feet; beam 36 feet; depth of hold in shoalest place 15 feet. Her cost will be about $100,000, and she is expected to be ready for service at the opening of navigation next season.

The Fountain City House.—R. Cooper, Esq., has secured the services of Mr. James Lewis, late of Elk Rapids, and a brother of F. J. Lewis, of the Palmer House, as General Manager of his fine hotel, and that gentleman entered upon his duties yesterday. Mr. Lewis is a gentleman who cannot fail to prove a successful caterer to the wants of the traveling and sporting public.

Take Notice!—A place has been appointed for Thursday next, to remove the crib and put in what at the mouth of the lower river. This is a matter of vital interest to every man who owns a tree on Pine Lake, and if there is not a general turnout on the day mentioned, the people deserve to live on leeks and slippery-elm bark for the rest of their natural existence. Turn out, every man!

The Mouth.—The schooner Mercer was successfully towed out of the dredged channel by the tug Com. Nutt, of this place, on Thursday, and the tug Gladiator immediately steered for Milwaukee with her, where she will go into dry-dock to undergo examination before taking a cargo. She leaks none, and it is thought that she is entirely uninjured. W. S. Johnson, of this place, has shipped aboard of her as First Mate.

"WE And Our NEIGHBORS

Is the latest novel issued from the pen of

Harriet Beecher Stowe,

Author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "The Minister's Wooing," "My Wife and I" and other powerful stories such the library committee of the period; and this story proves to be a genuine and unconscious sensation. It leans directly on social topics of interest, reviving the romance of frontier life, compares the manners of pioneer homes, the many complications of neighborhood communities, and sends a flood of light on domestic matters as little felt in the whirlpool of Transatlantic movement of to-day.

Mrs. Stowe's style in this volume of real genius which wears "Uncle Tom" ripened by years of study and observation. Her novel are immensely popular; "Uncle Tom's Cabin" alone, something by hundredfold thousands, any edition of any circulation were probably as well as the Bible. He took two years and a half of hard work to complete "Uncle Tom," and it extended every contemporary such a pure and unsullying stars as "We and Our Neighbors" should be sold in every home. Orders are being received at the rate of [illegible] per day.

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH,
Terms $1.00 Per Annum.

SATURDAY. JULY 11, 1874.

☞ Lord Dufferin's Wife has been presented Peer and to [illegible].

☞ The 1870 U. S. Census [illegible] 38,925 [illegible] 1874.

☞ Wisconsin has 56 counties, containing 4,445,241 souls, [illegible] 1,054,264 [illegible].

☞ The Chicago Post has declined the Democratic Convention and Hon. Marshall Jewell, of Hartford, has been appointed.

☞ In New Brunswick the temperance men have been unusually successful in the Legislature. A Prohibitory School act, four against it, and none doubtful.

☞ A reform is the work of the recent Council of Congress will show some very important laws passed, and nearly or quite all in the direction of progress and genuine reform.

☞ The new Postoffice law fixing the postage of two cents per pound on all newspapers goes into effect on the 1st of January next. It will then be compulsory on newspaper publishers to pay the post age in advance.

☞ The number of prisoners who visited the tomb of Mahomet at Mecca this year is said to have been 180,000 and owing to the precautions adopted by the Egyptian Government, their health has been unusually good.

☞ Dispatches from Spain report that the Republican troops are greatly excited over the reports of the number and ferocity of the wounded by the Carlists, and they feared they will make sanguinary reprisals.

☞ Garibaldi has seen his last days. He is now unable to walk in peril in his house or move his arm. He cannot by himself bring food to his mouth—indeed, he cannot move at all. He receives no one except his most intimate friends.

☞ Bedini gunpowder was an effective weapon against Garibaldi at the Porta, 20 for as the reports have come in from private sources, some wags entered the hopes of their fancies were killed outright by this old hero of the devil.

☞ The Paris Mail Gazette has in connection that the Czar has contracted his daughter the Grand Duke Nicholas, who ends his mother's misfortune to banishment for life, and deprived him of the Cross of St. George, bestowed for achievements in the Russian campaign.

☞ The government has accepted a company of State militia organized at Menominee, which fills the complement assigned to that line. The Quartermaster General is now issuing uniforms. A state encampment will be ordered by the Governor probably in September.

☞ The Canadian people bordering on Lake Huron are making strenuous efforts to have Bayfield improved upon, and make a harbor sufficient for the egress of all classes of commerce and vessels. Bayfield has already become a port of considerable importance. It is a short distance below Goderich, and is much better adapted for a harbor of refuge.

☞ Charlestown is an excellent weather prophet. It has been called the bright spot of the coast. It gives harmony in the east and is a perpetual song without words. It is unlicensed to appear. It establishes nature to recount its strength; whereas worry and discontent debilitate it, involving constant wear and tear.

☞ A quaint old fisherman clung toward dusk was fishing in a trout stream, and as he flung his fly over the water it was suddenly snatched by a large bat. The strange looking object dangled and dapped his wings at the end of the line. The fisherman's companion called out: "Pray, Sam, got anything?" "Yes," looking at the bat on his hook. "What is it?" "I don know; it's a cherubim."

☞ P. T. Barnum is now making arrangements for the ascension of a balloon which is intended to cross the Atlantic Ocean at an early day in charge of Prof. Donaldson. As many attempts have already been made by well-known aeronauts, all of which have proved failures, Mr. Barnum has decided to make several experiments for the purpose of first testing the easterly currents and making all requisite observations.

☞ The last log foreclosure says that about 10,000 trees are laid daily on the new Capitol walls.

☞ Saul Fox is more or less prevalent in Toronto, and throughout the Dominion of Canada, more so than for some years.

☞ Three negroes [illegible] belonging to rescue a person from drowning, and that is to approach him from behind, grasping each arm firmly and secure the chance to spring him up and carefully keeping him before you. This may be done by any good swimmer who keeps his presence of mind even when water is very deep. Let instructors while holding practice this method, if only for the amusement it affords and they will soon become experts.

☞ The number of ordinary postage stamps issued to Postmasters by the Department during the fiscal year ending June 30 was 632,735,420. The issue for the previous year were 601,50[illegible]. The value of the stamps issued in the last fiscal year was $20,927,000. In addition to the above over 52,000,000 official stamps were issued to the several Executive Departments, not including postal cards or stamped envelopes. The total value of all adhesive stamps issued during the year was over $25,000,000.

☞ A London journal says that the Pope has been presented with a copy of the address sent from the United States to Archbishop Lefebvre, bishop of Baton the holy father, in reply, spoke most cordially of America and said: "The United States is the only place where I am really Pope in the eyes of the Government. I am always afraid lest European governments shall oppose my contrary acts, whereas I can freely send practical documents to the United States without fear of opposition on the part of its Government."

☞ A serious row occurred at Fredericton, St. John N. B., on the 4th, on the occasion of the performances of a circus Company. A large number of boatmen were present, and some disorder arising at the ticket office, on the subject of charges, a row took place, which ended in the canvas people drawing revolvers and firing among the crowd. This instead of intimidating, only served to increase those present and as fast as those would-be were carried away, others took their places, till the Circus people were overpowered and some of their wagons were run into the river. At this time the riot assumed an alarming aspect. The fire bells were rung and the mayor, with a body of special police of constables, hastily went in, after some trouble, succeeded in clearing the ground. Thirteen of the circus men were arrested.

TILTON-BEECHER.

Another Statement From Theodore Tilton.

New York, July 2.—The Golden Age of Saturday next will contain the valedictory of Tilton, who resigns editorial charge to W. F. Cooke. It will also contain a further article on the Tilton-Beecher scandal, which those who have seen it interpret as giving a heavy blow on Tilton's part. The following are the important points of this second remarkable paper which the Golden Age says is written to correct misapprehensions created by the letter to Dr. Bacon. He had been assailed by Dr. Bacon, who was led to believe that he was a scandalmonger and falsifier who had tried to ruin the fair fame of sisterhood. And the silence on Mr. Tilton's part was a tacit acknowledgment of the justice of Dr. Bacon's aspersions and the correctness of the erroneous statements by which they were supported. One sentence of Mr. Beecher's life or pen would have drawn the poisoned teeth and sealed the asp's. Mr. Tilton called Mr. Beecher's attention to the offensive statement, and in the presence of two witnesses told him unless he corrected the misrepresentation in his (Beecher's) way it would be necessary for himself to correct them in his own way, which would be severe. Weeks passed and no correction was made. Longer silence on his part was impossible. Mr. Tilton is accused of intending to strike Mr. Beecher a staggering if not a fatal blow. Whoever reads his letter with care will see that he studiously refrained from striking any blow at all save at the thick, net-work of calumny misrepresentation that had been secretly woven for his own entanglement and ultimate destruction. His sole purpose was to save himself. After years of silence and endurance, and when a longer silence and endurance would have been fatal he refrained from committing Mr. Beecher at all, except as it was necessary to do so in order to set himself right. His reflections in this respect deserves commendation. If, in order to vindicate himself, he was obliged to lift the curtain and expose a series of disingenuous and inexcusable transactions, it certainly was not his fault. If Mr. Beecher wishes to exculpate himself, if Plymouth Church wishes to vindicate the character of their pastor, the way is open, and the world will await the issue with anxious solicitude. But as far way is from being Mr. Tilton's purpose to injure Mr. Beecher in any way that his sole invitation to publish the letter was the fear that it might injure Mr. Beecher. He said on personal friends who urged its publication, that he shrank from saying one word that could bring a pang to Mr. Beecher's affections, pierced and tortured heart. He said he would not lay so much as a finger on that sad and sorrowful soul. I would not injure by his ruin if I could." This has been Mr. Tilton's prevailing temper of mind and way of speech. He regretted nothing so much as the necessity which force him to say anything about the matter whatever. It is [illegible] thinks to be smitten by his own friend and his female friends for his love. But the essential point in this whole controversy remains untouched. With us should if all we have nothing to do. That is a matter for Plymouth Church and its pastor to attend to. If there is a quarrel in their midst they will probably come to open the door and sit directly [illegible] through its dark places. Whether and why suicide under the weight of an accusation of [illegible] is enough. But one thing in the whole matter is conspicuous and proud that it disgraces nobody it has not exposed. We refer to ourselves, the sympathy, the calumnies of the American people for a [illegible] and awful man under a cloud of suspicion that is not heavy enough to crush an ordinary character beyond recovery. Had this thing happened twenty-five years ago Mr. Beecher would have been dragged before an ecclesiastical tribunal for trial in less than a month after the accusations assumed a definite shape and [illegible] tried to preach forever after. He would have been mobbed. Today there is scarcely a man or woman in America but hopes he is innocent of the wrong, and likes to believe him so, in spite of circumstantial evidence confirmed by his own silence. His name is a precious household word. Perhaps the symbols of [illegible] people, who bend forward to save him from harm. There is something about silence in the eyes and [illegible] that is more eloquent of innocence, no matter the form of rumpled [illegible] than any utterance understand, he did with [illegible] at last, as inevitably compelled to do so by the remonstrance of the case. Therefore the terrible [illegible] of weighing a whole life of unexplained unreasonableness against a momentary indignation, allowing fifty-five years of generous effort for the brilliant ends utterly away, because of what may have been done in a few [illegible], and if they condemn him at all, it will be for efforts to excite and conceal what should have been frankly acknowledged to be own people, at the least, and his willingness to shield bravely by allowing the innocent to suffer for his offences. So much for public good as vast the increase of charity. His greatest apostle has been in sad trouble, and to a people who are proud of its fame and jealous of his reputation, by a courageous avowment of the facts when it was found that the case was full of rumor and scandal. An abuse of modesty is such a world of cunning. All that Mr. Tilton asks for himself, or all that his friends demand for him, is justice. He demands nothing else they to others and the natural delicacy of his household document reserve from the book or his own breast. He has been guilty of nothing but too great confidence in unworthy people and mistake of judgment but were prompted by an impulse temperament and a kind heart. The act for which he has been most severely censured was committed by a desire to save and help others and was done under the best of [illegible] motives which made it impossible for him to resist the cent to himself. He frankly confesses a mistake for which he now paid full dear. He asks public toleration or sympathy, but simply for that justice which is [illegible] to the [illegible] of the American people, and which in the long run they are sure to render to whom ever confides in them without concealment or dupish dealing.

We hear that James Lewis of this place, is going to Charlevoix to help Dick Cooper run the Fountain City House there. We regret to have Jim leave us here but what can we do when Charlevoix's gain. Lewis is a gentleman of social affairs manners and we believe will greatly enhance the reputation and popularity of the Fountain City House. If he does connected with it. Jim is the family. His brother, Frank Lewis, of the Pioneer House, at Three Lakes, ran the neatest and most popular House around the Bay.—Progress.

Tuberculous cows are infectious. There are many reasons why cows should avoid their cows who are not pure from any taint or infection. They are liable to [illegible] various ills to [illegible] to keep in the warmest, well ventilated, dry, and [illegible] quiet conditions, as more chopped and 15 or 20 per [illegible] the use of good clothes, this [illegible] with [illegible] bones. Harriet Beecher Stowe,

Author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "The Minister's Wooing," "My Wife and I" and other powerful stories, each the literary creation of the period; and this story promises a like genuine and wholesome sensation. It is magnificently embellished with original designs, engraved upon wood, by the most eminent artists, and printed upon fine tinted paper. Nothing has been taken at second hand. Portland had rather a funny celebration of the Fourth. The aldermen refused to confer with the Common Council in making an appropriation, and as a body of citizens had by Capt. J. B. Willard, imported guns or ten dozen crackers from Boston, and set them to work altogether in the bank in the heart of the city. They resound away until evening, when the people turned them around on joggers to the residences of the aldermen for a serenade. The last of the joke was that one of the aldermen, having been called on to say a few words in response to a toast, had put down $5 with the knowledge that he was in store for him. The affair attracted great attention, as the morning papers had announced that there was to be a concert by an Italian band.

JUDGE GIDDINGS.

He Attempts to Commit Suicide in a Saloon—His Recovery—Consideration Doubtful.

A H. Giddings, Judge of the Northern Judicial Circuit, went to Chicago early in the week and made an attempt to commit suicide. The particulars we find narrated in the Tribune of Thursday, 9th, as follows:

At noon yesterday, Mr. O. Shepard, of No. 222 West Madison street, a lumber cutter, while walking along Dive street, on the North Division, observed a man over White street, endeavoring to kneel on his trains with a portion of a brick. He ran toward him, but before he could reach him the party had thumped heavily on his head and caused the blood to flow freely. Mr. Shepard caused him to stop, and taking hold of him demanded the reason of the strange conduct. He said he knew he had been doing wrong, and had so disgraced himself that he ought to be tortured. He appeared delirious, the officer apparently of an exhaustive description, of an exhaustive description, of an exhaustive description,

MORTGAGE SALE.—Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain Mortgage made and executed on the nineteenth day of January, A.D. 1871, by Peter Wagner, Christine his husband, Frank Wagner, John Wagner, David Wagner, Simon Kirchenbauer, Frank Kirchenbauer, and Teresh Nachtsar, all of Little Traverse, Michigan, to Wilkin Hamill, which mortgage was duly recorded in the office of Register of Deeds for the county of Emmet, in the state of Michigan, on the nineteenth day of January, A. D. 1871, at two o'clock p. m., in Liber one (1) of Mortgages, on pages 208, 209, 210 and 211, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of three hundred and ten dollars of said principal and interest, for the recovery of which no suit or proceeding at law or equity has been taken or instituted. Therefore, Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and of the statute in such cases made and provided the lands and premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage, with interest and the costs and expenses allowed by law, and an attorney fee of Fifty Dollars agreed to in said mortgage to be paid, will at said public vendue, to the highest bidder, at the outer door of the County Building in the Village of Little Traverse, in the County of Emmet, that being the building wherein the Circuit Court for the County of Emmet is held, on Saturday the 8th day of August, A. D. 1874, at one o'clock p. m. of that day, the premises so described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage, with interest and the costs and expenses allowed by law, and an attorney fee of Fifty Dollars agreed to in said mortgage to be paid, will be sold at

THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Proprietor and Publisher.

SATURDAY, - - JULY 25, 1874.

☞ The total amount of loss by the Chicago fire foots up, it would pardon to chest $48,000,000, on which there is presently an insurance of $9,000,000.

☞ A large number of foreigners are returning to the old countries owing to the hard times experienced in this country and the cheap rates of steerage passage to this other.

☞ An attempt was made on Monday to assassinate Prince Bismarck, while riding in the country toward Hennigen, but the ball missed marksmanship, and the young man who fired it was promptly arrested.

☞ The friends of Mr. Beecher are strong to prove Mr. Tilton mad by stating that his brother was in an insane asylum. Mr. Tilton is well very sane individually, but not, perhaps, in the sense of the Beecher insinuation.

☞ Hon. J. S. Hoyt, of Port Huron, has just netted a very generous deal in obligating himself to secure $10,000 in cash good for conditional subscriptions to the endowment of Olivet College. This act deserves a liberality in order to save the conditions.

☞ The Grand National Regatta to come off at Spring Lake under the auspices of the Grand Haven and Spring Lake Rowing Association on the 12th of next month will be a tremendous affair, and one reasonably attended. It will round off with a ball at the Center House.

☞ A fire occurred at Manistee on Tuesday afternoon, destroying six stores and a part of their contents, and the Eagle Hotel, which latter was not on fire. Total loss, $30,000; partly insured. One of the proprietors of the hotel has been arrested, charged with setting the fire.

☞ Hosea Corbett, the avenger of Lincoln, resides at Hamilton, N. J. On week days he follows his trade as hatter, in Philadelphia, and Sundays he preaches at the Independent Methodist Church in Carlisle, where he is very popular. Darning the week he labors for the heads of his fellow-men; on the Sabbath he appeals to their hearts.

☞ Manistee still has trouble with her gals, the Bayer says. The last one was named Robins, who united an officer, but escaped. The result is they are in hot water, as they set much of the Lake in Manistee. Mayor Ingles had a hand in Robins escape, and now Prosecuting Attorney B. M. Nicholson is censured for not arresting him. Manistee can't get along without excitement.

☞ Sickes is getting along fairly in Sing Sing. He wears the company suit there, and has his whereabouts at night locked after But though the glistening locks through which the taper fingers of the Manifaid used to guide are scrubby now, his mind is allowing to assert itself, and he had worked robust. He occupies the position straight for by so many young men, that of "assistant keeper in the manufacturing department."

☞ Hon. Joseph Hooker is credited with saying that he is prepared to show that the heaviest grab Gen. B. F. Butler ever made was while he was in command of the negro troops on the James River in Virginia. He says that Butler issued orders at that time requiring all the officers and men of the colored regiments to leave their money at headquarters to be taken care of. When a man was shot, Hooker says, his money left with Butler has never heard of again, and he estimates the latter made at least a million dollars in this way.

☞ The rebels are in luck. A decision of Judge Hughes in the United States District Court at Richmond, Virginia, restores to George Washington Custis Lee some still property once belonging to his father, Gen. Robert E. Lee, in Fairfax county. It was sold for taxes by the United States, but the sale is invalidated by the courts. It is said, although not upon recognized authority, that the United States now holds the Arlington property by the same tenure, and that a suit brought by the Lees would result in its restoration to them. They have already safely seized Congress for it, and a decision which should give back a National cemetery for Union soldiers to the most prominent rebel family in the whole country would be bitterly resisted and resisted. The present generation of loyal people, at least, would not stand it.

The Tilton-Beecher Scandal Continuing.

The latest development in the Tilton case has given a statement to the world which, if true, proves his wife to be a scoundrel, of very serious and libelous character. In specific it is a libel, and damning the libel one we would hesitate to publish in our columns. Mrs. Tilton's own confession implicates Beecher with having through a period of years occasional criminal relations with her, causing the same by powerful argument and a blending of her moral sensibilities. Beecher's confession with reserves and silence and the deceitful record but to most confusion.

☞ The Postal Department are engaged in establishing a very extensive system of distributions for the delivery of the letters and other important things in the country. It will come into use on the 1st, when additional forts starting a considerable distance outside of the cities delivering, and within these the walls already in operation are to be surrounded by a new grade of fortifications. The fortifications of Lyons are said to be handsome and strengthened, and Verdun, Bourbonne, and Bleving are to be fortified and the first rate. Belfort, Langres, Dijon, Lille and Dunkirk are to be made very strong. Where new lines of railway cross these forts are to be erected, and all the power reside at the Morves committee are to be appointed.

☞ Dickens are mixed considering at Spain as a national power representing the property of Catholic when existing was the land hadn't to heavy penalty to the relation to Republicans now and heavy exchange a special reserve of an hour men. The government consensus in its call of orders that it will not permit the shooting of prisoners in accordance to Castelar's recalls. The Times denies the statement Imbert's intends to resume his act of abdication.

☞ A fallow in a recent issue of the writer: "The Merchantry is flat city and throughout the state is languishing. Only excited over the business season of old and, 000, which is not acknowledged to the rightful owners in Rockford. Sunday less than a century ago a great wrong of the cause of Mars died in that cannon a and killed his entire cannon which will in once, to the family who have their home in the United States, and the descendants are now actively engaged in endeavoring to establish their claims. Nothing of those bearing the family name has been called at Lansing, Hopefully."

☞ The continued heat of city, hot weather, is being materially felt in many localities throughout the West, and a set ready exerting an influence in many parts of the State, which if rain does not come soon, and that too in large quantities, the crops will be almost a failure. Potatoes, corn oats and all late crops are suffering badly, and will be almost an entire failure if this hot weather should continue a week or two longer. In Illinois in many localities the drouth and chinchbugs have almost destroyed the corn and oat crops prete, but in other localities sufficient rain has fallen to warrant a good crop. In Charlevoix County crops never looked better.

☞ The propeller Iosco, which was wrecked last fall on Lake Michigan, five about two and a half miles south of the north of Grand Haven harbor, and was first discovered by a passing steamer, on to the wreck up a rope. A diver descends to the wreck every day from the deck of the steamer Dungeon, but no gold coin has been brought from it. A good deal of the machinery is reported to be in fair condition. The Northern Transportation Company are insured to have it from the insurance company, but the latter ask $25,000 for it, which is considered unreasonably high. Parties have agreed to raise the vessel and bring it to the dock for $5,000.

☞ Hiram Lasher, one of the deputies of the German Reichstag, and one of the best speakers in the Chamber, is a lawyer by profession. He has an income of about $1,000 a year, which he has inherited, and this he lives upon, refusing to accept compensation from his district for our professional service that he may continue to be chosen to practice law for the sole purpose of devoting his abilities to the maintenance of just and righteous causes such as he always assumes the cases of his own clients to be. Of course, practicing on such terms he has no lack of clients, and his popularity is unbounded among them.

To live is a privilege few can estimate To live for a purpose, nothing others begrip, improving your opportunities by endeavoring your good destiny, refining and strengthening the intellect, is noble. Live nobly, as befits immortal spirits which have an inheritance of eternal life, and which shall be witnesses of the toil of ages, and the mighty revolutions of the universe. Can your lives be less and employed with this end in view?

In Chicago, the other day, a window full of pot plants suddenly descended into the street, filling the hack, bonnet, and hair of an elderly party, with bulbs earth, florets, and last pots. As soon as he had recovered the spasm he called that he was a pilgrim and a stranger, but held he—had if he couldn't kick the man that touched of that powder.

☞ A large body is talking are on the war path among the Kiamat Beattie and the lives and property of the settlers in great imminent danger. Lone Wolf and Kicking Bird are the leaders, and the numerous following seem to insist with serious remarks. A special from Fort Sanda, Wyoming Territory, says: The Indians going out with their band, or Tuesday a fight was attacked yesterday and fifteen were killed. Before being they captured Lieut. Colby and Dallas and wounding two others. The men fought hand to hand, but were at last overpowered by the Indians. Colby and Dallas were killed in the fight. The Indians have not returned to their village.

Senator Jerry, of the House was one of the evidences at Washington Friday of the General speaking of the great trade interests over the Mississippi River.

On Saturday last Mrs. Horton, accused of Thirty Gardner, on a Yacht, was tried with the theft morning in Circuit Court, Isabel City.

Reward for Information.—The Queen has offered a reward of £100 for information that will lead to the discovery of the murderers of Lord Mountmorres, who was killed in a duel with Lord Beresford, near Hampton Court, on the 21st of January last.

Congressman Conger, from Michigan, a free State, have been elected by the West Congressional District, consisting of Wayne, Livingston and Washtenaw counties, by a majority of 1,000 over Judge Kinne, Democrat.

A cannon from Gen. Custer's expedition to the Black Hills, Dakota Territory, has been brought to Chicago, and will be placed in the Lincoln Park. The cannon was captured by Custer's command from Sitting Bull's band of Sioux Indians, and they show unmistakable signs of honorably.

The Niagara suspension bridge is now about 29 years old, and has been over belonging pronounced the greatest suspension bridge in the world. Although it has upon the Centennial bridge, it is a strength and heavier construction. Its span is eight hundred and twenty-four feet, its height is two hundred and forty-five feet above the water. Its towers are seventy-seven and eight-tenth feet high, its cables are four in number, and of the inches diameter. There are four thousand tons of wire in the cables and about one half the total weight of the bridge. Connecting the two towers are four iron trusses, each 1,043 feet long, and weighing 1,000 tons. The bridge cost $500,000.

WRITING PAPER for sale at this office.

WHEAT promises well and will be ready to cut in a short time.

SUMMER—The Summer term of our village school closed on Wednesday last.

GREEN APPLES, Peaches and Pears for sale at Byron Seely's, also canned and Dried Fruit.

NEW STORE.—A store building is being erected at Porter's Mill, near the head of Pine Lake.

DOCK.—A. Fox & Co. are getting out piles and timber to rebuild their dock, and work has already commenced.

TENNESSEE.—Capt. Clifford is about to convert his large store-building on the south side of Round Lake, into tenement dwellings.

THE Steamer Van Raalte broke down last week, and was compelled to lay up at Traverse City three days for repairs.

SOME of our subscribers must imagine that it costs nothing to publish a newspaper, that it is simply a pastime, and should be distributed gratuitously.

CARPENTER & SEE are almost daily receiving fresh invoices of groceries, provisions and dry goods, which they are selling as low as at any store in the region.

A young feather-less pigeon alighted on the premises of one of our neighbors on State street, on Wednesday night. The old pigeon is daily seen hovering around that portion of the street.

MARINE.—As we go to press, the schooner Wenell and scow Agnes are in Pine Lake, loading with lath and wood for Kenosha. The schooner Ralph is at Beverly, & Co's dock, loading with lumber for Milwaukee.

REVIVAL.—Rev. Geo. L. Cole will preach at the school house in this village to-morrow at the usual morning hour Rev. Mr. Wood in the evening.

—Rev. Mr. Wood will preach at the Geo. school house, in Marion, to-morrow morning.

THE CHURCH.—The ground has been staked away and excavated, and work is now in progress laying the foundation of the new Methodist Church. Definite arrangements are being made to lay the corner stone, with the usual ceremonies, on the 12th, when a large deputation of Ministers will be present.

THE DOMINION SOON.—The steamer Grace Dormer has been sold to Capt. Frank Welcome, of Port Huron. Capt. James Moffat purchased the craft when she was in a very bad condition, and has since rebuilt and fitted her up in good style, and now she presents as fine an appearance as any boat of her size. Capt. Welcome resigns command of the tug Sweepstakes.

HISTORY—It is just becoming known that Charlevoix is in the front rank of resorts for health and pleasure-seekers from all parts of the State and country. Hon. A. B. Turner and his companion, Mr. Chaney, after having started early in the week for Escanaba, returned, and now propose to spend two weeks more among us. They prefer our country to any of the famous resorts, not excepting Saratoga and the Adirondacks. Hon. H. M. Williams, of Lawrence, Mich., is still sojourning among us, and will remain until Sept. 1st. A Chicago party are now "doing" the place, and a company from Muskegon lately arrived. The record at the Fountain City House is filling up rapidly with the names of City people from all directions.

Our Future.

It is not an easy matter to truthfully prophesy the future history of individuals, but by the aid of physiognomy and its kindred sciences, we are standing forth the native elements and leading traits of a person, and by the aid of that knowledge we can more than approximate whether greatness or obscurity is reserved for him. Even the "Race of Nations" that has established a science of physiognomy by which the future of undeveloped localities can to a certain extent be prognosed. It is no unemployed forest, the climate and temperature are congenial to an exterior fertility of soil. It is easy to conclude that the section so favored will be peopled by an enlightened and intelligent humanity, and that from Nature's enormous great wealth will rise into their coffers. Upon the face of the great Northwest, Nature has not endowed a region with more or better evidences of future greatness than in the Pine Lake region. This has been made known to the world by various sources, the most potent of which has been the press, undergoing the laborious travail of pioneer life, that posterity might reap the reward. Upon the face of our beautiful region the reflection of a great future promised itself—a greatness not isolated, but identical with that of the boundless Northwest. The Pine Lake region, with two outlets—either one of which is an all potent power for utilization—presents to the eye of the practical man a field for labor, and with axe in hand he enters the forest, and upon all sides of us we see the results. The same natural blessings which have enticed so many here in search of health and enjoyment, also hold out to view the wealth of our soil and forests. The natural resources of our region and drawing, and settle products flow downward upon the broad waters, and out upon the broad lake to its last marts, an industrious people will garner the fruit of their labor, and in their declining years will be able to wrap their mantles about them, and to fall view of their broad, productive acres enjoy the rest which they will have richly earned. It is no place for drones, but the active and energetic young man can find here a field on which to engage in a fitness of his character of which we speak. Many more yet remain untried. On all sides of us we see the evidences of a growing prosperity, and we rejoice that our prophecies of years ago are proving themselves true. We have not ceased to prophesy, and as Cæsar, in his mind's eye, fired the city Rome to flames, so we discern in the future a great importance for the Pine Lake region.

PASTIMES of all kinds must be discarded as rapidly as possible. If property located in the city can be cut out a week or two after those in the country have started. If crops are to be raised farmers must supply plenty of manure—so that the trees will not be robbed of nourishment. In planting have the trees set in straight rows. Nothing looks more slipshod than trees planted irregularly.

"HE can ever notice that the fellow who won't take the paper, because, by withholding his patronage he thinks he can break it up, is the first one to gobble the copy of some paying subscriber's. This looks a little inconsistent, but it's a fact. This kind of a man will swear that he wouldn't touch the worthless sheet with a pair of tongs, ditt he will sit around the stores on the morning of issue, and before the paper is dry from the press will pounce upon it like a duck upon a June bug."

Bessie Falls,
CHARLEVOIX, July 28, 1874.

EDITOR SENTINEL:—

Prof Winchell stated in his report of the geological survey of the traverse country that this region would in time be the home of rich farmers and thriving villagers; and now, while this language is still fresh in the memory of the early settlers, we see the rapid fulfillment of his graphic predictions.

One has only to make a short trip around our beautiful lakes—which are like mirrors unrolled in the sun—or follow the rapid, rippling rivers, to whose crystal water the wild lauryl has recently lived and refreshed, to see the growth and the thrift of improvements which twenty-five years ago would have required the combined efforts of men and nature for twice as many years to have realized—and still the work goes bravely on. The last platted village promises to eclipse all previous efforts at village-building. Boyne Falls, we believe, is the youngest city on the G. R. & I. R. R., and yet not one from Grand Rapids to the terminus of the road can excel the efforts of nature in her attempt to assist man in beautifying and perfecting the earth; and it is safe to challenge any town on the road to name two citizens who can surpass Messrs. Nelson & Powers in their energy, skill and ability to plant and develop a young city.

The village of Boyne Falls is handsomely platted, and laid out with broad streets and beautiful parks, wooded with the native growth of maple and elms, upon a magnificent table-land, overlooking one of the finest tracts of rich agricultural land in the Northwest.

W. C. NEWMAN.

THIS SPACE

Is reserved especially for W. C. Newman, dealer in Groceries, Provisions, Dry Goods, etc., Charlevoix, Mich. Your patronage most respectfully solicited.

Bridge St., On Round Lake.

The village plat extends on its elegant, level and high bank one half mile to a point where one of the tributaries of Boyne River runs, giving the town a system of water works which supplies the railroad and village without the aid of artificial power or pumps.

Messrs. Nelson & Powers have one of the best water-powers in the State, and their extensive experience has taught them how to utilize it. These gentlemen have erected a large mill, which is nearly completed, and when done will furnish employment for scores of skilled laborers of all sorts, for it is understood that they design to manufacture material from all kinds of lumber for the western market, as well as to meet the wants of the growing trade at home.

Parties desiring to enter into business of any kind, or who are seeking a place to open a trade, will do well to look over this field, knowing with the beauties of young village life. X

From Petoskey.

EDITOR SENTINEL:—

Petoskey continues to flourish like unto a green bay-tree. Building is going on all around us, and everybody that can handle a saw and hammer is busy with them. Even the Doctor is putting up an addition to his house. Our new hotel promises well if present appearances are anything to judge by.

H. G. Watt & Co. have received a portion of their stock, and will soon be prepared to supply us with hardware.

H. O. Rose is now working at his lime-kilns, which he expects to have in working order soon.

McMillan's 15x80 stands awaiting further developments.

Mr. Rose is making preparations to move into his new house.

Rose's addition to the village of Petoskey is now to market, and includes some of the finest building sites in the place. Lots in Petoskey has also had a survey made with a view of bringing some more Petoskey into market.

The fast-sailing steamer John A Dix is making regular trips between here and Mackinac, and passengers by her enjoy hugely their pleasant ride on deck, with no shelter, on a 102° day. Next week the elegant steamer Music will take her place on the route, and passengers will not be compelled to enjoy Sol's heat.

Our temporary building for the purpose of holding Church Sabbath School, and other public meetings, is nearly completed.

Raspberries and huckleberries plenty, full scarce.

The depot location still hangs fire. Whose fault is it??

☞ The grasshopper plague seems to have set in Nebraska fully as heavily as Minnesota in proportion to the remainder of the two States, and the cry is "still they come!"

☞ The Detroit Daily, Weekly and Tri-Weekly Union is discontinued. The good-will of the establishment has been sold to the Detroit Evening Post, which paper now enjoys a circulation of considerably more than 20 the that of any other daily paper in Detroit.

☞ The Gazeteer Cultanil of Flint has adopted a resolution asking legislature of Michigan at the next session to appropriate $5,000 to pay for arbitrating, and it is rumored that the amount will be raised to $7,500 as soon as it is found expedient.

☞ Mormonism are warned by one of the Chicago papers to keep away from that city as it already has all the settled ones it needs and if more were to arrive it would only serve to increase the army of tramps.

☞ The utmost efforts are being made by that veteran scoundrel Ex-Senator Pomeroy, to escape from the prosecution for bribery which is pending against him, and which if carried through to a just completion, will result in sending him to the State's prison.

☞ Science says that some of the stars of the Milky Way are so far off that their light, travelling 185,000 miles per second, would require 15,000 years to reach us, and tell of events on distantly neighborly that they must have been in existence 8,000,000 of years before their light could get here.

☞ Prince Bismark's son recently fought a duel with pistols, at Dusseldorf, with H. Buchanan, an officer of infantry. The encounter took place at 6 A. M., ten paces separating the combatants. Three shots were in vain fired by each, but the first shot of the German took effect in his adversary's abdomen, and afterwards proved fatal.

☞ A dispatch says a gentleman, late from Cuba, states he was assured for the past two months, and that he does not believe that the Spanish can hold out much longer, for their finances are sadly deranged. It is was not for the fact that the people of the United States are made to contribute the largest proportion of the expenses of Spanish rule in Cuba, it would have been ended long ago.

☞ Mormondom had an election for a Delegate to Congress and local officers on the 4th in Salt Lake City there was much excitement almost resulting in a riot between the Mormons and the Gentiles, and George Q. Cannon the present incumbent, is no doubt re-elected as Delegate to Congress, notwithstanding the declaration of Congress that no polygamist would hereafter be allowed a seat in that body.

☞ Husband and wife who have fought the world side by side, who have made common stock with joy or sorrow, and grown aged together, are not unfrequently found curiously alike in personal appearance, and in pitched tone of voice. He has gained something feminine which brings his manhood into full relief; she has gained something masculine which acts as a foil to her womanhood.

☞ There is in the political horizon no cause probable event than the renomination of Hon. Jay A. Hubbell to Congress from this District. The press of the District are nearly unanimous in the expression of that view, and we are sure that Grand Traverse will send Hubbell delegates. Mr. Hubbell has attended well to the interests of his District, and is an able and active member. Charlevoix county will give him our vote.

☞ The Flint Globe, a Republican paper discusses the third term question and says: "Abolishing the suggestion of a third term for President Grant is more a frivolous attempt to sound the popular mind than a genuine design to press the matter to a conclusion, but we deem it of sufficient significance at the present time to warrant us in giving the subject the current consideration we have, and to take this opportunity to say this early in the campaign of third term for us."

☞ Certain Vanderpool purposes to mark Macinac Island name.

☞ The State Prohibition Convention met at Lansing lately, nominated a full State ticket and nominated a full State ticket. The Democrats are not likely to have any market, following upon so many excuses this fall.

☞ Consul-General Farnsworth, of Canada, has arrived at the Cheyenne Agency report that they left the Black Hills expedition in camp, and found at long Horn, and that up to that time no battle had occurred between the Indians and the fourth Army.

☞ Vic-Woodhull handed the end and bearing ear of the Pacific railroad last and with the speed of the fastest railroad train has hastened to New York to take a hand in the Beecher-Tilton scandal, where has told the public business, of all first-class in the city of the world, and what we don't know about "spot lighting" Tooh out for stockings and corsets.

☞ It is evident that the powerful head of the Vatican cannot be 20 hundred feet of cool to command and respect the temporal affairs. Germany has already pensioned against the Church authority and threatened to make provision to the court of Spain to prevent them, and now it is said that Austria and a minister note to the great powers of Europe asking them to unite in obtaining some concessions. To this request Austria has already responded favorably.

☞ In a letter to the Bishop of Lincoln and the Bishop of Manchester are quarreling over the cremation question. The Bishop of Lincoln maintains that bodies that are buried can never have to rise again, but those who cremated them to enjoy immortality. The Bishop of Manchester then enquires what has become of the martyrs who were burned at the stake, and their ashes scattered to the winds of heaven. The Bishop of Lincoln is also fighting the ending with a view of finding a way.

☞ The effect of ice water in the stomach is said to be extremely injurious. It absorbs animal heat so rapidly as to interfere with the circulation of the blood, and it arrests digestion. Dyspepsia, consumption and disease of the bowels are brought about by its careless use, and the remedy is to be to end to the cause of evil by discontinuing it. The doctors say that ice or very intensely water and must be prevented, and cool weather and cold black tea are the only true, worthy quenchers of the thirst that rages in the summer months.

☞ The notorious Colonel Gordon Dade, who fled from Jacksonville under circumstances of a very startling character, has been in this country for several years, and who, in consequence of his operations has frequently been handled by the officers of the law, engaged of the last case against him on Saturday night, by committing suicide in Monticello, where he had been arrested by a Canadian detective on the charge of defrauding a jewelry firm in Scotland. This individual in the news "Lord" who operated so nobly among leading capitalists of New York, and who managed to skin more of them out a little by his decent and beautiful operations. To avoid prosecution in his for several months resided across the line, where his life was ended.

☞ John G. Stevens, of Hoboken, had about $25,000 000 cash in his pocket, and was fearful in proportions, clothed with hair and strangely resembling a bear, which covered a large portion of his face and cook. The next physicians and surgeons of Europe had been consulted in vain, the physicians of the new thought, as some others do, that the honored American country hasn't anything worth while in it, while Mr. Willard Parker, of New York, expressed a belief that Mr. Stevens could be removed from the two without danger. Mr. Stevens was in motions to accept that he offered Dr. Parker $150,000 cash if he would perform the operation successfully, and he did. The patient is now happy at the loss of his lifelong affection, and Dr. Parker has a daily income staggering $150,000 around in his trouser's pocket—the largest reward ever paid as a physician's fee outside, and perhaps, inside, of royal practice.

☞ The influence of imagination on the vital functions has always been recognized, and it was this recognition that enabled the ancient physicians to be so successful with charms, amulets and incantations.

Editorial Experience on the Beecher Scandal.

From the N. Y. Times.

To Mr. Bonner has been an opportunity of losing heart by the public, it would be grossly unfair to assume that there is a possible acquaintance of the Brooklyn who regards any part that have succeeded by Mr. Tilton. The fact remains, that he had a reasonable time to flatter their views and to confide to the public what they believed to be the plain statement of the case. Interesting to "scandal" has not diminished since it started on the subject the latter. The obvious temptations to meddle over the ground of the case are hardly so powerful to without to some extent operating it.

From the N. Y. Tribune.

Unless our freshest experience a answered of prophecy had fully, the most fortune pair of the world are ever more, since the time Paul grounded on the hill of Mars, is about read the life of the greatest preachers in the world to exhibit. It is human to fall upon the faintest of a glorious and glorious course. There is no longer room for or dog ity in the pursuit of an object which will bear to will honour the most passionate of it he were no words at his own to us explained. No man living least of all the cynical mankind, would have the right to come here and put up to a conscientious of his own hand-loom and throw to both witness and jury.

From the N. Y. World.

When Mr. Beecher shall have been and found with those fatal words, and Mr. Beecher's testimony can be weighed, will go against them, it will be in order to form a final judgment as to the truth or falsehood of the charge which, after all is risks on saying one wastes the range of the vision of the public, rests upon their testimony. But all to Mr. Tilton we need no further evidence than his own. He stands before us now by his own act, naked, shameless and unashamed. In matter, he does not mind for that, is the characteristic attitude of manhood, but to speaks before us, a hireling, obscene shape.

From the N. Y. Herald.

Having dismissed Mr. Bill too from this as act of justice to his great strength, we come to the statements contained in the letters of Mr. Beecher and Mrs. Tilton. We find many of them marked with feeling, anxiety, care—indeed, a condition of life that would not be regarded as happy. We find no letter that can be construed into the admission of the crime of adultery.

The Vocation of Newspapers.

Newspapers are not, fairly upon party personal or political questions and epidemic can they be founded on high sounding pretences and promises which are never redeemed. They must be fair all solid things in this world, in social life, in business, work, wealth. Within, and if they touch whether or exceed it in one or to them. They owe it to the public to adhere to the element and the public owes to them prompt payment of all the money they earn, and no more.

The paper which favors business to come to it because business pays for the whole if they do not patronize it, is an overbearing asset. What would be thought of a dry goods that where cannot be found in for fear that otherwise no soul could enter? Or a hotel which would have no bread because it could not get it cheaper? When the public learns to treat a newspaper manager, who feels it owes a few cents in his name, with the same fervor with which it treats a dry goods or hotel keeper, and fewer they and newspapers will be tempted into the commerce on the mind that it is an easy road to wealth which it is not.

PROBATE COURT.—State of Michigan, county of Charlevoix.—At a session of said Probate Court for said County of Charlevoix, held at the Probate Office, in the village of Charlevoix, on Wednesday, the 29th day of August in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

Present, Hon. Richard Cooper Judge of Probate.

In the Matter of the Estate of Lydia Fisher, late of the Township of Norwood, in said County, deceased. On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Samuel D. Fisher, administrator of said Estate of said deceased, praying for an order to sell certain lands and tenements described in said petition described.

Thereupon it is Ordered, That Monday, the seventeenth day of September next at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be an assigned for the hearing of said petition, and the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the Village of Charlevoix and show cause, if any, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted: And it is Further Ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Sentinel, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County of Charlevoix, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

We are now preparing an Abstract of Titles of Emmet County. It will be completed in a few weeks and we can then for MIO Abstracts on short notice.

Chippewa Representing

We have some of the most desirable tracts of Indian selections of Farming Lands which we offer at very low figures.

No. 1. 80 acres. First rate farming land. Situated 21 miles from Traverse bad, new; well timbered—beech, maple, and rich sandy loam; will be sold very cheap. ¼ cleared; balance timber.

No. 2. 40 acres. Sej of nwj section 30, Town 34 North, of Range 5 west. 24 miles from Petoskey City, with 10 acres cleared; small log house; will be sold at a bargain.

No. 3. 186 acres. N½ of nej, nej of swj, and fractional one half of section 22. Will be sold in separate descriptions or in a body, as a large creek running the whole length, with good water powers. Well timbered, and will be sold cheap for cash. This is one of the best chances in the country for a person wishing to engage in the milling business.

We have also a great many descriptions of farming lands near Petoskey City, which we will sell at reasonable prices. Some of these lands have old Indian improvements, and can easily be made into farms.

Total tonnage, 3,191.

When is our County Convention going to be called.

The Tribune, says Northport has had a case of genuine cremation.

Gen. Thorp was the successful bidder for the Lanster farm, on South Arm.

Our old friend Geo. Hughs has returned to Charlevoix, and will engage for a season in trapping pigeons.

One of Capt. Falcon's submarine divers died at Mackinac lately, from the effects of staying down too long.

Aron Herran returned Thursday from Chicago, and brought with him goods to replenish his stock in every article.

Brick.—Parties wishing brick will do well to apply at once to either Geo. W. Crouter, or Carpenter & See.

Grain Freights from Chicago to Buffalo are down to 3 cents per bushel, which barely pays expenses of shipment.

The steamer Janet is making her trips to the head of Pine Lake and South Arm with regularity, and seems to be doing well.

The Fountain City House register is filling up rapidly, and the boats and gulfes of the house are constantly employed up the Jordan and Boyne rivers.

There are no bequests about a newspaper office, but sometimes the contents of the editorial sanctum are left to the heirs by any other name would smell as sweet.

The corner-stone of the new Methodist church edifice arrived last evening by propeller. It is of granite, beautifully hewn, and was the gift of J. M. Whitney, Esq., of this place.

Personal.—Among the visitors to our village during the week were Hon. Wm. A. Howard, of Grand Rapids, and Smith Harnes, Esq., of the firm of Hannah, Lay & Co., of Traverse City.

Burned Out.—Among the sufferers in the late Muskegon fire, was Capt. Wm. Moss, owner of the steamer Janet, of this place. The property consisted of two dwellings, valued at $8,000; insured for $3,000.

Dock.—As previously stated, A. Fox & Co. are at work re-building their dock, at this place. At equal distances between the old beats new ones are being placed, which will make it stronger than ever before.

Harness Shop.—We call the attention of our people to the advertisement of Chester Denton, in another column. Mr. Denton is a practical harness maker, and has sold in separate descriptions or in a body, than a large creek running the whole length, with good water powers. Well timbered, and will be sold cheap for cash. This is one of the best chances in the country for a person wishing to engage in the milling business.

We have also a great many descriptions of farming lands near Petoskey City, which we will sell at reasonable prices. Some of these lands have old Indian improvements, and can easily be made into farms.

Pictures.—McManus Brothers, from Traverse City, have arrived in town for the purpose of taking pictures of all kinds —Views, Photographs, Ambrotypes, etc. This is an excellent opportunity for those desiring pictures of themselves or children to secure them. They expect to remain in town but a short time.

New Mail Route.—The Postoffice Department has ordered the establishment of a mail route from Charlevoix to Nelsonville, (head of South Arm) and service thereon will be commenced as soon as the contract can be let. The route proposed is by way of the Hipp neighborhood. The establishment of this route brings us into direct connection with Boyne and Advance Postoffices.

South Arm.—We visited the head of South Arm on Tuesday, and called on our friend Empey, who is conducting the mercantile house of Morris & Empey, at that place. They seem to be well prepared to supply the people of that section with merchandise. We also found that incorrigible, don't care-a-cuss chap known as Sol. Isaman doing business here, blackguarding everybody, yet retaining his universal popularity. Everything is lovely at the head of South Arm.

Town Talk.—Our Torch Lake correspondent humorously remarks: "Dr. Harris, of Eastport, has recently become a member of our hitherto healthy and prosperous village. Of course, now, every good citizen, who believes in patronizing home industry, must be sick, and employ the Doctor. Those who have but little time to spare, will naturally make arrangements to be cured quick, even though they have to pay the Doctor the same as if he put them through a full course of fever."

The Outlook.—It is plainly foreshadowed by intelligence which every day reaches us from other sections, that the tidal wave of hard times will pass over us the coming fall and winter. We believe our situation will be somewhat easier than that of many sections of greater wealth. While there will be little demand for labor in this section the coming winter, our abundant crops form a bold contrast to the light crops of other localities, where also little demand for labor will exist. The majority of our farmers have enough of their own raising to last them through the winter, and the merchant, mechanic and printer will be the ones to suffer from the sparce circulation of money.

Religious.—The Ministerial Association of Grand Traverse District will hold its session in this place the coming week, commencing at ten o'clock on Tuesday, and continuing through the evening of Wednesday. The exercises will consist of essays, criticisms, etc. It is hoped that there will be a good attendance on the part of our citizens during the session.

—The corner stone of the new church edifice will be laid at 2 o'clock on Wednesday.

—The District Camp Meeting will be held on Pine Lake, near Daniel H Pierce's August 13–17. The steamer Janet will touch at the camp ground twice on each trip during the meeting.

—Preaching at the school house in this village Sabbath morning and evening, by Rev. Geo. L. Cole.

Change of Base.—Although Charlevoix may yet boast the citizenship of Gen. T. J. Thorp, we have lost the immediate prospect of his services as Principal of our public school. A. S. Barnes & Co., school book publishers of New York, have made him the offer of a very handsome salary to act as their agent in Western New York, which proposition the General—after having been released by our school authorities—saw fit to accept. He left, with his family, on Thursday, for Buffalo. As the general is now considerably interested in our county and village, by virtue of the possession of several farms here, we hope to see him frequently among us. The School Board will at once enter into the necessary correspondence to secure another teacher for the coming term.

Burned Out.—Among the sufferers in the late Muskegon fire, was Capt. Wm. Moss, owner of the steamer Janet, of this place. The property consisted of two dwellings, valued at $8,000; insured for $3,000.

Dock.—As previously stated, A. Fox & Co. are at work re-building their dock, at this place. At equal distances between the old beats new ones are being placed, which will make it stronger than ever before.

Mr. Denton is a practical harness maker, and has sold in separate descriptions or in a body, than a large creek running the whole length, with good water powers. Well timbered, and will be sold cheap for cash. This is one of the best chances in the country for a person wishing to engage in the milling business.

THE MUSKEGON FIRE.

Half a Million Dollars' Worth of Property Destroyed.

From the Muskegon Daily Chronicle, Extra, August 2.

Saturday, August 1, 1874, will be long remembered in Muskegon, as marking the most important event in the history of our city.

Yesterday Barnum & Co.'s managerie visited our place, and, we may add, Satan and his imps came also. For, while the people were enjoying the evening exhibition, a band of cutthroats and thieves, who usually follow in the train of such circuses, were rifling the houses of those absent at the circus, and about ten minutes before 12 o'clock a fire alarm was sounded. Some one had lighted shavings in a barrel at the rear of the Grand Eastern boot and shoe store, and almost instantly thereafter the flames completely enveloped the whole end of the building. With such celerity that it is clearly evident that not only the torch, but kerosene, had been used to render sure the villainous work. About the same time, and before the alarm was struck, two suspicious characters were seen running at full speed, in the middle of the street, towards the upper depot, and soon after disappeared. There is no earthly doubt but that the fire had an incendiary origin. In less time than we are writing the, Hart's boot and shoe store was enveloped in flames, and, a strong lakebreeze blowing at the time in a southeasterly direction, a sheet of fire soon lapped across Western avenue and took full possession of the Leonard Block. It was now evident that both blocks would go down in spite of all human efforts. The alarm was given to neighboring cities, and engines from Whitehall, Grand Haven, and Grand Rapids, were soon speeding to our assistance; but, before their arrival, and notwithstanding the almost superhuman efforts of the firemen and citizens generally, the fire could not be prevented from crossing Pine street. It had hardly struck the National Hotel when it crossed over to Herbst's block, and at the same time to the Pioneer saloon, opposite.

By this time the elements seemed to rage to the wildest fury, the flames darting forewward in a sublime and terrible manner; nor did they cease till twelve blocks were laid in ashes, and a space of 100 acres in the heart of our city burned over; and they only stopped when they had spent their force and reached the high bank and steep cut of the Chicago and Michigan Lake Shore Railroad, which seemed to present their further progress.

The fire began on Terrace street, and swept diagonly across Western avenue, Water, Center, High, Holbrook, Webster, Pine, Spring and Cedar streets taking to all the business portion of Western avenue up from Terrace; all the business part of Pine street, nearly all of the sawdust section, and skirting along the top of the hill or bluff till it reached the railroad bridge in the valley between Western and Myrtle streets. Here the firemen became masters of the situation, and checked the march of the fire at about daylight this morning.

By this terrible casualty scores of business men are greatly crippled, and hundreds of families rendered homeless and destitute, which appeals to the charities of those who have not suffered.

MORTGAGE SALE.—Whereas default having been made in the conditions of a certain Mortgage made and executed on the fifteenth day of January, A. D 1874, by Peter Wasson, Charles Rigglesbeest, Frank Wasson, James Wasson, Daniel Nieuwkamp, Simon Kiggisbeest, Susan Kiggisbeest, and Tamah Noahion, of Little Traverse, Michigan, to Walter Clifford which mortgage was duly recorded in the office of Register of Deeds for the County of Emmet, in the state of Michigan, on the thirteenth day of January, A. D. 1874, at two o'clock p. m., in Liber one (1) of mortgages, on pages 200, 201, 202 and 203, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of three hundred and ten dollars gold, principal and interest, for the recovery of which no suit or proceeding at law or equity has been taken or instituted. Therefore Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and of the statute in such case made and provided, the lands and tenements described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage, with interest and the costs and charges allowed by law, and as Attorney for of Notice Peters agreed in said mortgage to be paid, will be sold at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder, at the outer door of the Court House, in the Village of Little Traverse, in said county of Emmet, (that being the building where the Circuit Court for the County of Emmet is held) on Saturday, the 22d day of August, A. D. 1874, at one o'clock in the afternoon. Said mortgaged premises are described in said county of Emmet, and State of Michigan, and are known and described as follows, to-wit: The south half of that numbered two (2) of Block thirteen (13), and the south half of lot numbered four (4) of Block thirteen (13), in the village of Little Traverse, Michigan, according to a recorded plat of said village as surveyed by Isaac Mosher. THE SENTINEL.

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor and Proprietor.

SATURDAY, - - AUG. 15, 1874.

☞ The Michigan state fair will be held at Detroit commencing Sept. 15 to 19 inclusive.

☞ On the 24th inst. Mrs. Margaret, the second wife of Augustus Peters, a farmer of Antrim, died of the extreme old age of 104 years. On the 26th the bereaved husband was married to Miss Annie Glance.

☞ According to the statement of the Secretary of the Treasury the public debt was reduced $6,253,868 during July. The total reduction since the beginning of the fiscal year ending June 30th were $9,211,872 less than for the previous year.

☞ An exchange says: The person who will deliberately turn a gentleman's thermometer upside down this weather, and then do indecent gestures to get more perspiration to flow. A rascal did this thing the other day.

☞ If Darwin Hughes, the noted law student, can't be induced to defend a lecher after a licentious conspiracy and the following telegram: "I will defend a liar, a thief, a robber, a murderer, but I will never defend a man who stands behind a counter and cheats one dollar out of a fellow man."

☞ The Emperor William of Germany is going to Paris very soon, probably in the autumn. There will be a delightful interchange of courtesies between him and the Pope, of course. Imagine the prodigal returning some acceptable ass and the old patriarch with a roll of collection lying in wait for him behind the babyliner.

☞ The ex-Empress Eugenie, a few days ago, left Chiselhurst to visit Prince and Princess Christian, at Cumberland Lodge, near Windsor. It is still asserted by influential foreign papers that the ex-Empress intends soon to lease or for abode at Annemberg, on Lake Constance where Napoleon III passed literarily days.

☞ The Saginaw river is now used as a mere tow-house and decidedly out of logs to handle, it is really of little use to any to have to contend with it in this community. This sentence was originally printed in the Mclean, Ill., Reporter, but half the papers in the country have already adopted it to local purposes.

☞ The Treasury Department is making extensive arrangements to retire the many and mutilated national bank and legal tender currency, and replace it with clean crisply-printed notes of the same kinds, and of denominations to suit. This is to be accomplished under the provisions of the new currency bill just passed by Congress.

☞ The Isabella Enterprise insists the cause of Gov. Ralph Fly for Andrew General, subject to the approval of the Republican State Convention." The present Andrew General has, we believe, given general satisfaction, and, if a candidate for a second term, he will no doubt be renominated. While we do not wish to say much against him, Fly, we think, has Gen.

☞ The Nation says that the pre-posterousness of opinion is against the probability of the success of the female suffrage movement at the approaching election in this state, where it will doubtless be earnestly opposed by the "Brooklyn minister" in order to many of the ardent supporters are prominent actors, and are now all volunteering themselves to be reporters."

☞ The proceedings of the Beecher investigating committee proceed slowly, but their searches reveal but little new. Tilton freely refuses to have any more to do with them, on account of their being packed on Mr. Beecher's interest, and has written them a farewell letter in which he states that he has instructed his counsel to carry the case from their jurisdiction to a court of law.

☞ The count has been around the other side, showing its fantail to the Japanese. After a brief consideration the "west men" came to the conclusion it had special business with the Japanese Government. Japan is having a little disagreement with the Formosans just now and the presence of the count was plainly to help the Japs in their belligerent movements. So the Japs saluted the count, accepted its friendly offices, and "went for" the Formosans. As the Formosans are getting badly beaten the Japs are confirmed in their views as to the secretary purpose.

☞ Gen H Richardson, for the past three years city editor of the Saginaw Courier, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head with a revolver. The occurrence took place in the editorial room of the Courier, when no one was present but himself. He has been in depressed spirits during the past two weeks and the jury rendered a verdict that he came to his death while laboring under temporary aberration of the mind

From Charlevoix.

Correspondence Pine Paw Diggings.

This young and growing town, the County Seat of Charlevoix County, is situated on the S-shaped bayou, with one the southern entrances of Little Traverse Bay. Of all the thriving town scattered along the lake shore in the northern portion of the lower peninsula not excepting Traverse City, North Port, Old Mission, or Grand Haven, there is none combining in its situation more of the elements of real beauty than Charlevoix. As a summer residence it is exceeded by no other point we have yet visited, and we have succeeded to make our residence here till the fall of frighteners. Here the finest and most picturesque scenery meets sturdy meets the eye; here while the forest limits of the lower portion of our State are writhing in the agonies of contortion, and the sighs are simply in order all the days, we are on the quiet side and neighbor all are tempered by the constant breeze from Lake Michigan on one side, and an evening shading prevail, the breeze sets in from the south, encouraging the cool refreshing air from the crystal waters of Pine Lake and South Arm, or a distance of 15 miles, for the pleasant Sunday. Here we found no mosquitoes or gnats to annoying, to travelers. We were located at the Fountain City House, Samuel Foster Esq., proprietor, which is kept in first-class and spacious fashion to make all the numerous guests as comfortable as the most fastidious could desire. He is assisted by Mr. A. S. Lewis an estimable one of the most gentlemanly young men we ever met, whose constant attending to the wants of the visitors of the House seems to know no bounds. The Fountain City House is new, large and roomy, commanding the finest view of the Lake (Michigan) Pine Lake and Round Lake, as the ocean and beautiful channel leading from Pine Lake and Round Lake, the harbor of Charlevoix, to its entrance in Lake Michigan, being some 50 or 100 rods, in length. We are confident that here at the Fountain City House, should son of our Van Buren County chance ever be fortunate enough to stop they will never depart empty, but find large, well ventilated rooms, clean beds and an end of crockett cooked speckled trout, and all kinds of excellent fish and game of the season in great abundance. We can confidently say to our friends in Van Buren Co. they should they ever visit the portion of the State by all means, look at Charlevoix, take up your summer quarters here, and if you bring no one else up your absolute with you, but Cooper, and his right hand man, Lewis. He can look all the principal features of the numerous lakes now swarming east from Chicago. Here are two new and splendid steamer, Van Raalte, Capt. Hodge, for Traverse City, Grand Lake, Elk Rapids, North Port, Old Mission, Petoskey and Mackinaw. Here, from this thriving village you can twice a day, take the steamer Arrow, Capt. Morrow will take good travelers up Pine Lake, and the whole Arm some 15 miles, and land you in the immediate vicinity of the best brook trout fishing to be found in all the Traverse region. At the south arm of the lake empties the river Antrim, so famous for its large trout. In this little stream you can easily trips, see the crystal waters of the rapid stream flowing through the town, the mirror like beauty of Round Lake, with its terraced banks dotted with the white dwellings of the summer city. Hereto I close with my budget of word until and its setting of vastly rounded hills fading away in the distance—all combine to form a picture that cannot fail to charm one who has in his composition a particle of appreciation of the picturesque. The general government could confer no greater benefit to our whole side region, than by opening the mouth of Round Lake, and thus establishing a harbor, and a moderate expenditure would make one of the best on the lakes. Looking east you see steamers away in land to an immense extent, say twenty-six miles to Boyne City, Ironton, Charlevoix, Lake Antrim
